

CORPUS OF ATTIC VASE INSCRIPTIONS

This corpus is based on notes taken over the years from publications and illustrations, with some autopsy where possible. I am aware of the fact that a real corpus should be based mainly on direct examination of the documents, but in the case of pottery, scattered as it is over the globe, this is not attainable. The corpus is not complete, nor is it a finished product, and the information has to be used with caution. It has been made available by circulating hard copy in a few places and by CD's distributed individually. The Beazley Archive in Oxford has made extensive use of it, but without giving the corpus numbers. Since these have been quoted in a number of articles, I thought it only fair to make it generally available as a website. This issue is a second partial revision from that included about a year ago. Rudolf Wachter is preparing a more thoroughly revised version. See his website, <http://pages.unibas.ch/avi/>.

Bibliographical references with an asterisk are those used for the reading of inscriptions. I should note that a good deal of the secondary bibliography has been omitted since it can easily be found in the Beazley corpora.

The Greek is GreekKeys (Athena) Unicode with a few signs introduced from SymbolAthenian.

I would welcome corrections and criticisms.

- C] Int.: diagonally up, toward man's face: --]α[--.
- D] + B 88. Of A, only the lower part is preserved; tree in background.

(1)Beazley in ARV(2) says that the scene on the Ext. may have been a dokimasia as on Berlin 2296 (= ARV(2) 412/1), q.v. The Int. may have had a second man "and the pair would correspond to the officials beside the tree."

27.

Adria Bc 2 bis.

- A] Fr. of RF cup.(1) From Adria. Unattributed. 500-490? *CV, Italy 28, pl. 4, 2. Robinson-Fluck, Greek Love-names 74 n. 7. ARV(2) 1560.(2)

(1)or two frs. (2)Beazley points out that he has never mentioned the fr. (3)CV attributes the fr. to the painter of the skyphos Berlin 2316 [see ARV(2) 1559/1] and suggests as an alternative the kalos-name Aisimides on this fr.; Beazley obviously does not accept this.

Adria Bc 4.

- A] Fr. of RF cup. From Adria. Unattributed. Date? *CV, Italy 28, pl. 26, 8. R. Schöne, Le antichità del Museo Bocchi di Adria (Rome 1878) 72/188.

pl. 12,8. ARV(2) 872/14.

- B] Int.: head of youth.
- C] --]λ(.)σ(π)α[--. Interpreted in CV as [κα]λός πα[ις].
- D] CV's interpretation is doubtful, as the second preserved letter is a dot, and the pi is badly disjointed; the absence of the article is also suspect. Nonsense?

(1) may go with an Adria fr. listed in ARV(2) 872/13, which is not in CV. (2) the T. P. is listed in the ch. on the Pisto Xenos Painter and his group.

Adria Bc 12.

- A] Fr. of RF cup. From Adria. Unattributed. Ca. 480 (CV). (1) *CV, Italy 28, pl. 4, 3. R. Schöne, Le antichità del Museo Bocchi di Adria (Rome 1878) 114/387, pl. 12, 4. ARV(2) 1590/2.
- B] Int.: right hand holding a sprig with pointed leaves.

- D] For the rough breathing of the name see Malibu 77.AE.105 and GAI i, 501, and ii, 748 and 759.

(1) 500-490? (2) the reading is by M. Pellicciaro from the photo. in CV. The mu looks more like a nu. ARV(2) and CV give ἠασιμιδε[ς]. CV adds καλός in the bracket, Beazley, three dots. The name occurs with kalos on Berlin 2316+, RF skyphos (some resemblance to early Onesimos, see ARV(2) 1559/1): A: Αἰσι[μ]ιδε[ς] καλός. B: δοκεῖ ΧΣΥΝΝΟΝΙΙ. Also as kalos on Malibu 79.AE.139 (see Add.(2) 392). This does not mean that it need appear with kalos on our vase; it may be the name of the male in the picture. Does the name have any relation to the (pre-ostracism?) sherds Agora P 15,555 and 31,077, the former of which may be read: Εγεστρατος | ἠασιμιονι(δε[ς]) or -(δον)? See 'Script', p. 14, n. 21; and now LGPN ii, s.v. Αἰσιμωνίδης.

 C] Εὐθυμι[δες] εγραφε.(3)
 D] Beazley (in ARV(2)) points out that the plate has the same shape and checkers on white ground on the rim as the plate Boston 00.325 [read 00.335], which Hoppin attributed to Euthymides: see ARV(2) 29 - 30, top ("lacks his force: possibly his, but an early work?" 'Script' 764. *Robertson, AVCA 210-11 and fig. 222. *S.B. Matheson, Polygnotos and Vase Painting in Classical Athens (1995) 60, 257-58, *262, 350/P21, pl. 45. LIMC vi, 186, Laios no. 3.
- B] A: Death of Laios: at left, just below the top rim: club of a missing figure (Oedipus); part of a male figure (Sikon) with raised club; chariot horses; upper part of a female with raised right arm (Kalliopa).
- C] A: near Oedipus' club: [O]ιδιποδες.(1) By the left-hand male: Σικῶν. The woman: Καλλιόπα.

D] Alphabet Ionic. - The phot. in CV shows the first inscription. Sikon's club is his goad with which he hit Oedipus. Beazley (ARV(2) 1678) considered Kalliopa a muse representing all muses; C. Robert, Oedipus (1915) II, 315, a single muse in company of others. Perhaps a figure in Laius' retinue (CV). But according to Robertson, Kalliope marks the locale as Parnassus where the Muses walk. Webster, PP, connects the scene with the Laius of Aeschylus; but the vase is about 20-25 years later than the play (467 B.C.). Matheson suggests Sophocles' OT.

(1)so Matheson, p. 262; [O]ιδιποδης p. 350 (cat.).

- A] RF lekythos. From Agrigento. Terpaulos Painter (probable) (Beazley).(1) Early fifth. *Photo. *Haspels, ABFL, 70-74, pl. 21,a-e. *Beazley, CV, Great Britain 3, under pl. 49,15. ARV(2) 308/5, Para. 357, Add.(2) 212. J. Boardman, 'The Kleophrades Painter at Troy,' AK 19 (1976) 16 and n. 61, 11, fig. 4 (dr., after AA Palermo), pl. 3,1 (after Haspels). *M. Tiverios, 'Sieben gegen Theben,' AM 96 (1981) 146 and n. 8, pl. 45,1. Kurtz, AWL 79-81, 199, pl. 6,2.
- B] Arming: seven figures, one with chariot. Boardman suggests Seven against Thebes; Tiverios agrees.
- C] On the reserved lip, in BG: καλος ho παις.(2) Numerous nonsense inscriptions between the figures.
- D] Beazley in CV, GB 3, compares to Oxford 33 and gives other parallels for inscriptions on top of mouth. Haspels, pl. 21,a, shows]ςho παις vacat; hence the inscription is not a full circle; the whole text is given on p. 70 in Haspels).

(1)connected with Sappho and Diosphos Painters (Haspels), cited without comment by Beazley in ARV(2) 308/5 who attributes as probably by the Terpaulos Painter. (2)the photo. (among Beazley's photos.) shows only: σho παις (probably the same picture as that in Haspels). - Haspels, pl. 21,b and c seem to show letters on the figures: χ and ν, also traces of other inscriptions; but I could not find any reference in Haspels to the numerous nonsense inscriptions.

- C] A: high above Perseus and a bit to left: Περσευς. To right of his head, the first line a bit higher, left-aligned stoich. three-liner: Ευαιων|καλος|Αισχυλῶ. High above Andromeda's head: Ανδρομεδα.
- D] The kalos-name Euaion is found written in mythological scenes that could be used in tragedy, since he was a poet or actor (or both) - they are thought inspired by productions in which he participated; so Trendall and Webster (1971) 4f. See Robertson, AVCA 207 who does not commit himself. - Second white used.

- B] A: athletes. B: three youths.
- C] Under foot, Gr.: χοε, retr.(?).(1)
- D] Johnston considers this a vase name, but why not a measure?

(1)Johnston says that the Gr. is under some incrustation but clear and that there are no more letters in this part of the foot. He thinks the word is dual and retr., because of the direction of the epsilon.

L.-H., in the cat. of her book and in AK, gives the lambda of Heracles as Attic but the two lambdas of Apollo as Ionic.

(1)Shuvalov Painter (Orlandini, Trendall). (2)in AK 14. (3)P. Orlandini thought of a fight by Heracles and Apollo over a Delphic hind; L.-H. in AK thought of the Cerynian hind but in E.-M. 288 she is not sure.

D] = 61/35. - On Λοδα for Λυδα see ARV(2) 1615: the name must be foreign; M. Milne conjectures that it may be Boeotian. LGPN ii has Λόδα, but also shows a name Λύδη. - For ο = υ when pronounced u, not ü, see Threatte GAI i, 217 who allows no examples before the 4th cent.; he rejects κολιξ for κύλιξ on a vase from Al Mina (Eph. 1953/54, i, 205/10) as not Attic.

D] = 2189A. J.&J. note three other cups in the manner of the Antiphon Painter in Aleria, nos. 1836, 1903, 1956; I have not entered the last two from J.&J.

(1)Bea. Arch. db says that the attribution is by Beazley, but I cannot find it there; the attribution is given in Jehasse 1973. (2)J.&J. say that A is a symposium and B a komos, but I wonder if both do not represent some kind of symposium in the open.

 B] Int.: Conversation: boy and youth, the latter leaning on his stick; at left, a curious red line; at right, probably a pillar. A, B, each: a woman between two youths; between her and the youth at right, a shield in its cover and a sword in its scabbard(?), hung up.
 C] Int.: between the two figures: καλο(ς), retr. B: at head height, starting to left of left youth, interrupted by the central figure and the shield: κ^αλο^ς.
 D] The four-stroke sigmas look like low mu's when turned 90 degrees. Ionic alphabet. The peculiar shape of the sigma seems to be Penthesilean. - Both Bielefeld and Beazley say the figure in the center is a woman, but in view of the shield (not recognized by Bielfeld) I wonder, despite the chiton and himation worn by this person.

(1)so Beazley; Bielefeld says, putting it in. (2)I cannot see the final sigma of $\kappa\alpha\lambda\omicron\varsigma$ in the photo. (pl. 68,1) but Bielefeld gives it in the text. B. says that both parts of the inscription are retr.; they are not, but as they both face out, they are upside down in relation to the figure of the youth.

A] RF skyphos. Group of Naples 3067. Third quarter fifth. Ca. 460 (B.). *E. Bielefeld, CV, Germany 18, pl. 76,3-4. Klein, L.(2) 169. ARV(2) 1303/2.

B] Athletes: A, B, each: nude youth with strigil before a pillar. That on A faces right, while that on B turns back as if gesticulating to the youth on A.

C] A, B, each: κακος.(1)

D] B. says κακος occurs on both sides and he refers to AEM 18 (1895) 13/1 and Klein, L.(2)169 on fig. 46.

(1)the inscription on B shows in pl. 76,4: located between his left thigh and the pillar, downward and facing the youth. The letters are very small but the third letter is definitely not a lambda; it looks like an angular disjointed kappa. But I am not sure that the inscription κακος is found elsewhere. Could the inscription be retouched or even false? The position is very unusual. The opposite of καλος is καταπύγων.

B] Sacrifice: A: man pouring a libation. B: acolyte (boy with jug and sacrificial basket).

- C] A: Πολυευκτος καλος.(1) B: to right of the head, a bit higher, horizontal two-liner, oblique stoich.:
Σωφανε[ς] | καλο[ς].(2)
D] Mixed alphabet.

(1)after ARV(2). (2)after photo. CV, text gives: Σωφανες καλος.
(No missing letters.)

B] Only the upper portions of the figures are preserved. Left to right: Eros flying; woman; woman with mirror; seated woman with lyre; woman with chest; Eros flying. [I.e., two groups of 2 women each: two standing and one each seated and standing; those with mirror and chest are perhaps servants].
C] Ευδωρα. Ευδωρα. καλη. Καλλιππ[η]. καλος.
D] Done from ARV(2). The pertinence of the inscriptions is not clear. Ionic alphabet.

Amarynthos.

- A] Frs. of BF pots. From Aghia Kyriaki. Unattributed. Last quarter sixth. *E. Sapouna-Sakellaraki, Delt. 44 (1989), B 1, 163, pl. 101,α-β. Eadem, Kernos 1992 (then only in print).
B] (1): one fr.: from the right-hand bottom corner, framed on the right by a pseudo-maeander and lotus frieze: lower part of a draped female. (2): probably from the same pot, further to the left: parts of a woman and a youth; figure reclining on a couch; triangular object (net-bag?) hung up between youth and recliner.

(1)complete at end. (2)if the first sigma is right, which is not at all certain, then the word is nonsense. The bag intervenes.

Amathous.

- A] Fr. of Attic cup [surely BF or BG]. From a mixed deposit.(1) Unattributed. Amasis(?) potter. Sixth. *P. Aupert, 'Rapport sur les travaux de l'École Française à Amathonte en 1996,' BCH 121,2 (1997), p. 796, fig. 5 (exc. ph. of bottom of cup foot).
B] No figured decoration preserved.
C] On the bottom, around the center in a large curve, facing out and hence not retr.: [--]σις v.1 μεποιεσεν.
D] Very clear writing. Note word division. The surface to the left of -]σις is rubbed off and there is just enough space to restore [Αμα]σις. So Augert. [However, there may be a slight trace of a letter before the first sigma.]

(1)see BCH, pp. 797-98. The deposit is Hellenistic but much of the pottery is early.

- B] A: Eos and Kephalos. B: youth.
- C] A: καλος ho παυς, retr. Not retr.: καλ(ε) ηε παυς.(1)
- D] The vase was called to my attention by C.B. Welles and S. Dow in 1947-48. Letters misshapen as on some vases of the Penthesilea workshop. Morgan sent a faithful transcription. Apparently, the vase has παυς and not παλς, as some do.

(1)the first epsilon seems to be a correction for a second lambda.

Hesperia Art Bull. 2 (19), no. 68. Archaeology 20 (1967) 8, below. ARV(2) 274/43, Para. 353.
- B] A: two jumpers; in the center, trainer; to his right, pillar. B: draped man with stick, and draped youth.
- C] A: I think there are some letters on the pillar, in BG, down; can see, perhaps: [κα]λο[ς] or κᾰλος.

ABV 384/25, Add.(2) 102. Boardman, JHS 95 (1975), 1-12, pl. 3, a.
- B] Shoulder: chariot race: two chariots. Body: Heracles and Cerberus: Heracles; Athena turning to face Hermes; two-headed Cerberus held by Hermes; old man (Hades?).
- C] Nonsense: shoulder: under left chariot-horses: χενγ^ι. Similar under the right horses: χγχ^πλι. Body: to right of Heracles' face: (χ)γι^ε. To right of his middle: γχδ. Between H.' legs and Athena's skirt: δ(.)δχδο.(2) Between Athena's skirt and Cerberus: μκ(φ)^ογ(α), retr.(3) To left of Hermes' face: ιγγ, retr. (or χγι, not retr.). To right of old man's head: ογγ (resembling kionedon).

- D] Attic alphabet. Alpha with short vertical stroke? Gamma pointed and with uneven legs.

(1)the last two are probably one inscription, with Heracles' right arm intervening. (2)I cannot read the second letter. (3)the club intervenes. The phi resembles circular phi, except that the verticals are not centered; this is probably not a phi but a rho or an omicron.

- C] CV, Netherlands 6, fig. 16,b: to left of head: κα[-]. Considered nonsense by Hemelrijk, but probably κα[λος]. Below the right (crouching) leg: χ(.) (1) A: between the heads: (fig. 16,d:) [-]λι^χσ^ω[-]. B: -^(α)υ^(.)[-]. These are no doubt nonsense. On the wineskin held by the righthand figure: (κ)(α)λος.

- D] Ex Hague, Scheurleer. 13 frs.

(1)a hand intervenes; a letter should be missing between the two given in the facs. in the text; [Αντι]μ<α>χ[ος] would fit. There are 3-4 letters missing at the beginning. Was the alpha written?

Smit-Lub, CV, Netherlands 8 (1996), pls. 120,4-5 and 121-22 (all but 120,4 show inscriptions), fig. 48 (profile) (much bibl.). Cf. E. Schmidt, Der Knielauf, 273. ABV 199/2. LIMC vi, s.v. Nike 858/66.
- B] Int.: tondo, preserving very slight traces of painting. Ext.: A: in the center, winged figure (Nike) in knielauf to right; on each side nude and draped youths (three on left, four on right: athletes). B: in the center, a gap: similar to A, but only three figures at right. Under each handle: swan.
- C] A, B, each: numerous rows of dots, mainly vertical, but also at various angles; they fill almost all available space.

- D] Ex Scheurleer collection; bought in Athens 1902. Acquired by Allard Pierson in 1934. S.-B. thinks the winged figure is Nike, messenger of victory in games. Similar rows of dots also on New York 06.1021.159, the only other vase attributed to this painter. - Similar to Rhitsona cup BSA 14, pl. 9,1, but Attic (Scheurleer).

- B] Int.: wounded warrior retreating. Ext.: plain.
- C] On warrior's right, at mid-height, symmetrical with the stream of blood gushing from his left side, i.e. diagonally downward, not straight: κροο(ο)οι. This differs somewhat from an earlier CAVI entry.
- D] Coarse Attic writing, suitable for Agora Chairias Painter, but are there other vases with nonsense inscriptions by him? - I noted that there might be another line of inscription to the right of that reported.

(1)my reading from photo.; the facs. has the sixth letter as a blob and the last as an iota. The 'gamma' probably some other letter.

- C] Under one handle, Gr. in very tiny letters: hieron epoiesen, Considered modern by Hemelrijk H. obviously thinks the handle belongs.

Richter, Survey(2) 77. *ARV(2) 322/27.

- B] Athletes: acontist and jumper; discus in bag; pick axe at bottom. A-B: six athletes at two lavers. Some small frs. also show athletes.
- C] Int.: apparently around the circle:
Ευφρονιος <gap> επο <gap> [ιε]σεν <gap>, and then in small letters:(?)> κ(α)λ <small gap> ος.(1) A: on one fr. (fig. 22,d): [κα]λος. Similarly on three of the small frs. which Hemelrijk separates from this cup, although he says some of the small frs. may belong: καλος and [h]οπαις and καλος.
- D] Ex Museum für klassische Abgüsse and The Hague, Scheurleer collection. Beazley rightly says 'ruined'. - The signature is definitely written in larger letters than the kalos-inscriptions, and with some four-stroke sigmas, whereas the kalos' have three-stroke. Written by the potter or copied from a model? - Is this the cup mentioned, as 'Rome, Hauser', by Redford, JHS 35 (1915) 124, there said to be unpublished, from info. by Beazley?

(1) This differs from the rendering in ARV(2) in that only two letters are missing. ARV(2): Ευφρονιος επ[οιεσ]εν κα[λ]ος, with three-stroke sigma. The facs. in CV does not indicate the exact position of the inscription; presumably the figured decoration intervenes. It is not quite clear that the kalos is really in smaller letters; it seems to be at a distance from the epoesen; hence I wonder if it does not refer to the jumper (it seems to be alongside his right body). If it is part of the signature, could it be for καλω̃ς(?).

(1)so Beazley at ARV(2) 63/under 87, Copenhagen inv. 3877, Oltos, where Χιῶν also occurs and may be a kalos-name; he takes it with καλος there. On p. 1573, B. does not list the Amsterdam fr., but adds to Copenhagen 3877 a BF stamnos fr. in Reggio with Χιῶν as the name of a komast. But the old dr. I saw among Beazley's photographs seemed to show a lambda as the second letter (CV's statement disagrees with its facs.): nonsense or Χ<υ>λῶν? If Χιῶν is accepted, read Χ(ι)ῶν. (2)so CV, facs.; the letter smeared, and the inscription no doubt incomplete.

A] Fr. of RF plate. From Tarentum. Paseas (Cerberus Painter).

Last quarter sixth. *ARV(2) 163/9, 1577, Add.(2) 182 (no bibl.). According to Hemelrijk, Beazley wrongly used the Arndt number for the museum number which is actually 2856. *J.M. Hemelrijk, CV, Netherlands 6, Amsterdam, Allard Pierson Museum, University of Amsterdam 1 (1988), pl. 21,4,6 (inscr. not visible), figs. 18 (facs. of inscr.) and 64 (profile).

D] Ex Arndt (no. 2474) and The Hague, Scheurleer collections. Of the nine plates decorated by Paseas, this is by a different potter from the others (Bothmer) and also the only one decorated both at top and bottom. - On p. 1577 Beazley says: "The name [Epidromos] probably occurs on a fragmentary plate in Amsterdam, Apparently without kalos.

(1)so the text and ARV(2); the facs. in CV, has [--]ομος, retr. which is presumably wrong.

A] Fr. of RF bell krater. From Tarentum. Kadmos Painter. Last quarter fifth. *CV, Pays Bas 2, pl. 4,9; also facs. ARV(2) 1185/14, Add.(2) 341.

B] Apollo and Marsyas, with Athena.

D] Beazley compares the pelike Munich 2360 by the same painter, ARV(2) 1186/30.

(1)the facs. in CV has: ΑΟΗΝΑΑ, but this is hardly to be trusted.

- A] Fr. of RF cup. Antiphon Painter. First quarter fifth.
J.M. Hemelrijk, CV, Netherlands 6, Amsterdam, Allard Pierson Museum, University of Amsterdam 1 (1988) pl. 26,3-4 (composite photos. of Amst. + Leipzig frs; some letters show), figs 24,a (dr., part of Amst. fr.) and 24,b (fac. of inscr. on Amst. fr.). Meded VVAPM 40 (1987) 4-5, figs. 1-2 (combination). ARV(2) *339/60(Amst., att. to Antiphon Ptr.); 344/50 (part) and *51 (2 Leipzig frs., both att. to manner of Antiphon Ptr.), Add.(2) 218 (joins).
- B] Int.: Amsterdam fr.: part of maeander border; right arm and hand stretched out to left. A Leipzig fr. has only the border. Amsterdam plus Leipzig frs.: Ext.: A: symposium: nude oinochoos (head missing) rushing to left; youth reclining to left holds out a cup, no doubt empty.
- C] Int.: Amsterdam fr.: between border and arm, roughly horizontal: $\Lambda\upsilon\alpha\iota[\varsigma\text{---}]$.(1) A: Leipzig T 3579: $\Lambda\upsilon\alpha\iota[\varsigma\text{---}]$.(2)
- D] + Leipzig T 3632 (ARV(2), no. 50) and T 3579 (no. 51). Combined by D. Williams. Amsterdam fr. ex Hauser, Arndt (no. 8185) and The Hagues, Scheurleer collections. - Hemelrijk says that Beazley's description in ARV(2) of his no. 51 'male in himation standing to left' suggests that there were more frs. [in Leipzig] when Beazley saw them.

Vente Drouot, Coll. Hirsch, Paris 30 juin - 2 juillet 1921, 24/167. Bruhn, Oltos, 118. ARV(2) 149/8 (manner, may be his). ARV(1) 44/"a" (imitation of Oltos). Add(2) 179.
- B] Int.: woman dancing. A: hoplite; warrior mounting a chariot, with charioteer. B: nude warrior between two horsemen.
A: H. says: warrior descending from chariot to attack a fleeing opponent. B: hoplite pursuing Amazon (Beazley calls her wrongly a warrior).[sic! This does not agree with Beazley!]
- C] Int.: to left and right of the woman, starting near the head: $[h]o\ \pi\alpha\iota\varsigma$ (retr.) and $(\kappa)\alpha\lambda\omicron\varsigma$.(1) A: no doubt at head height, roughly horizontal: $h^{\circ}\pi^{\wedge}\alpha\iota\varsigma$.(3) B: $h\circ\pi^{\wedge}\alpha\iota\varsigma^{\wedge}\ \kappa[\alpha\lambda\cdot\lambda]i[\sigma\tau]o\varsigma$.(2)
- D] Ex Canino, Hirsch and The Hague, Scheurleer collections. The inscription on A is surely misread by CV.

(1)the ho is not given in CV, The Hague, text. In the facs. in Hemelrijk the kappa appears as a vertical line.

(2) I am not sure of the places where heads intervene. I am also not sure of the reading as my note is defective.

(3) κίπαις, CV, The Hague, text, in error. (4) differently CV, The Hague.

- C] A: handle zone: above the youth's bent elbow and above a leaf of the palmette, diagonally down, slightly curved, nonsense: five imitation letters.
- D] Ex Scheurleer collection (bought 1923 at Sotheby's, together with 58 other frs.). Acquired by Allard Pierson in 1934. P. H. compares with Painter of Villa Giulia 3559 (CAVI 7135).

- C] A: under the belly: nonsense: imitation letters: the first five are extant.
- D] Ex Scheurleer collection (bought 1923 at Sotheby's, together with 58 other frs.). Acquired by Allard Pierson in 1934. Attic alphabet. The fourth letter is a three-stroke sigma, written slightly backward.

Gnade, ed., Stips Votiva, festschrift C.M. Stibbe (1991) 21-20 (attribution).
- B] Int.: no tondo preserved. Ext.: A-B: handle zone: Amazonomachy with Heracles (some gaps in A; B is fragmentary).

- C] Nonsense: A-B: handle zone: most of the space is filled with imitation inscriptions, with some letters recognizable, e.g. three-stroke sigma and the same reversed, once epsilon. Others are very close to real letters so that we have a variety of shapes, which are hard to identify. E.g., the leftmost inscription on B, between handle palmettes and an Amazon's back, downward, not straight:
ευ<^f(σ)(.)f(.)(2) Between two warriors on A, horizontal but slightly curved: υρπ(χ)(ρ)οο.(3) Note that the letter forms in the two inscriptions are not the same, for the various imitation letters approach real letters in different ways.
- D] Ex van Branteghem, Somzée and Six' collections. Acquired by Allard Pierson in 1967. A multifigured band cup. - CV discusses forerunners of the Amazonomachy and the mock inscriptions on Tyrrhenian vases.

(1)Unattributed (Bothmer, Amasis 206). (2)Epsilon S 2; Digamma S 2 or similar; Sigma 1 written vertically (see chart in 'Script'). A spear intervenes. (3)the antepenulte, if omicron, has a very short foot (omicron S 11 turned 180 degrees?); it is perhaps koppa 2. Rho near 8. Sigma S 2.

Hemelrijk, CV, Netherlands 6, Amsterdam, Allard Pierson Museum 1 (1988) pls. 8,3 and 9-11 (9,3 shows the Gr.), figs. 8,a-f (8,a is facs. of Gr., 8,c,e, and f are facss. of nonsense inscriptions) (bibl.). *S.R. - B] Int.: a bearded komast with oinochoe and skyphos, running to right. A: at right, Dionysus reclining; at left, a satyr with drinking horn to right and satyr near a full wineskin to left. B: Heracles reclining in the cave of Pholos: at left, two centaurs attacking; at right, top of a pithos, with partially opened lid.
- C] Readings from Hemelrijk, CV: nonsense: Int.: (after fig. 8,c:) on the komast's left, starting at the head, and curving downward following the margin:
χαλοκ^εχ(.)(1); on the komast's right, starting at head, similar: χαλοεho. A: [no doubt at head height and roughly horizontal:] fig. 8,e: λοαχηροια; also: καλοι(.), retr.(2); also two letters at some distance from the preceding and from each other: κ and >. B: [no doubt similar to A:] fig. 8,f: (.)λοχχ; and at a distance, 'quotation marks'. On the rim of the pithos:

Readings from Wolf: the ph., fig. 130, shows to right of Heracles, at the right end of the scene, a huge pithos; above it, diagonally, a bar which looks to me like the cover which has just been opened. On the cover are letters in BG: $\chi\theta(\theta)\epsilon\nu$. Possibly another letter is hidden in a smudge. On the rim of the pithos itself are similar letters: $[\kappa]\alpha\lambda\sigma(\iota)\chi$, retr. (to judge by the lambda).

- D] Ex Amsterdam, Six (no. 29). - Hemelrijk: "The inscriptions seem to show that the painter could not write very well: they are corrupted from "kalos" and perhaps "epoiesen". - The pithos, left by Dionysus, was to be kept closed until Heracles arrived (Diodorus 4.12.3); when opened it attracted the other centaurs which led to the battle. See Wolf, pp. 171-72. Are the nonsense inscriptions placed on the pithos to indicate Dionysus' command?"

(1)a leg intervenes; the last letter a dot. Should be retr., but I did not note it. (2)the last letter unclear. The inscriptions on the Ext. are reproduced very small in CV, and the readings are not quite certain. (3)this could be read retr.; the letter indicated by θ is probably omicron S 8 or 9 in the chart in 'Script'. (4)cf. TGV 11B, fig. 4,f.

- D] CV has no facs. Bought 1986 in the Swiss market.

(1)the ph. shows only traces. (2)so the text, in Roman letters; the ph. shows καλ plus a partial letter which could be an epsilon, but is probably an omicron; then a hand; hence the final sigma (not visible) must be to right of the hand: καλο^ς.

- B] A: handle zone: in the center, Heracles and the Lion; at his left, Iolaus holding out a sword; at his right, Athena to left; at the far left, two youths looking on; at the far right, a youth looking on (an eighth figure on the right is probably missing).
B: handle zone, fragmentary: warrior approaching two horses, one black, the other white; on each side three onlookers.(1)
- C] A: handle zone: between the two onlookers at left, vertically down, nonsense: $\nu\sigma\lambda\omicron\gamma(\alpha)\sigma$; (2) behind Iolaus' upper body, vertically down and facing: $[\lambda]\omicron\lambda\epsilon\omicron\varsigma$, retr. To left of Heracles' back, diagonally downward: $\eta\epsilon\rho\alpha\kappa\{\epsilon\}\lambda\epsilon\varsigma$, retr. (this inscription is in larger letters than the others); between the lion and Athena, in a curve that follows the lion's tail, a faint nonsense inscription of 10 very small letters. Behind Athena's back, downward and somewhat curved, partly facing: $A\theta\epsilon\nu\alpha\iota\alpha$.(3) This inscription is also somewhat larger than the nonsense inscription, but is smaller than Heracles'. To right of the right-hand youth, downward, is another nonsense inscription of five preserved letters (unless at the top there is another letter to begin the inscription, with a break following, but the facs. does not indicate this). There are further traces at the right edge, I do not know whether of an inscription. B: each onlooker is given a downward nonsense inscription, usually not straight; the warrior has a horizontal inscription, of which the first four letters are preserved. The horses, which face right, seem not to be 'inscribed'.
- D] On loan from Amsterdam, R.A. Lunsingh Scheurleer collection. Not previously published. - An important vase for the mixture of sense and nonsense. Heesen 86 compares a vase in Winchester, ABV 303; the incriptions show that our vase is not by the Amasis Painter. - The nonsense inscriptions seem to use somewhat different letter forms, e.g lambda 1 (in the chart in 'Script') vs. lambda 2.

(1)P. H. thinks perhaps Achilles stalking Troilus. (2)the facs. however, has: $\lambda\omicron\lambda\sigma(\delta)\sigma$. The delta may be a miswritten omicron rather than alpha. (3)The first letter is retr. and not facing; it takes with it the next two letters (AΘE), but the next four letters face Athena and are not retr. The nu is somewhat misshapen.

Is the price in the second Gr. φρικώβολον with ligature or <ώβολιαῖοι> rather than τριδραχμοί (for which see Hackl, no. 578)? Very doubtful.

Arezzo 1465.

- A] RF volute krater. Perhaps from Arezzo. Euphronios. Last quarter sixth. 510-500.(1) Very late (Robertson). *FR ii, pls. 61-62 and p. 14. Mingazzini, Annuario 45-46 (1967-68) 336-67. ARV(2) 15/6, 1619, Para. 322, Add.(2) 152. 'Script' 359. *Musée du Louvre, Euphronios (exhib. 9-18 - 12-31 1990) 115/13 (ill.; bibl.); also in Berlin cat. D. Williams in M. Denoyelle, ed., Euphronios peintre (1992) 93.a. Robertson, AVCA 44-45 and n. 20. E. Simon in Euphronios und seine Zeit (Colloquium Berlin 19-20 April 1991) 92.
- B] Neck: A-B: komos. Body: A-B: Heracles and the Amazons.
- C] Neck: A: Χσενῶν and καλ{.}ος. Χοριθῶν. Τεισις. Χαινις. καλο(ς) and Καικειος. Λυσις and καλ{λ}ος. B: 6 nonsense inscriptions; the following read by Reichhold: χιχυος. .δες. υκον. 'Euphr.' reads a vertical καλον and 'quelques lettres dispersees sans signification.' Body: A: [Τ]ει[σ]ις? Τογσις. Τελαμον. ηρακλες. Κυδοιμε, retr. Υφσεπυλε, retr. Θρασοῶ, retr. Τεισιπυλε. B: Φιλ{λ}ιαδες καλος. Χσενῶν καλο(ς). Χ-)ιλα.(2) Under foot, Grr.: = Hackl no. XVI. plus a large E(?); facs., p. 118. Not in TGV or Hackl.

D] E. Simon dates the vase very late when E. already owned the pottery workshop. - The komos on the neck has 11 figures, not all inscribed, on A. The kalos' are portrait-kalos. On B, there are 8 figures, with nonsense inscriptions representing their names. Kaikeios and Hyphsepyle are miswritten; for ε = short ι, see GAI i, 138. [Τ]ει[σ]ις: Reichhold gives: .ει.ις, Bothmer ..]ει.ις. The name may be repeated as is that of Xenon. Furtwängler's ηε παις will not do. Readings mainly after FR. - Robertson 44-45: neck figures compared to Proto-Panaitian cup figures; note 20: R. cites Mingazzini who thought the neck pictures by Smikros. R. is attracted by Williams' idea tha the front figs. of the neck are by Euphronios, the back being by Smikros. Note that the neck pictures have sideways sigma, which Euphronios otherwise avoids; see 'The Lettering of Euphronios,' in Euphronios und seine Zeit (colloquium Berlin 19/20 April 1991) 52, where the Arezzo vase is omitted. R. Cromey has sent me readings but I have not seen a publication.

- B] Int.: warrior at a run. A: two duels, with onlookers. B: similar.
- C] Nonsense: imitation letters: between the helmets of the left pair of duelists, horizontal: 3 letters. A similar group of letters between the helmets of the right pair. B is not illustrated.

Argos.

- A] Frs. of BF cup. From Argos. Unattributed. Third quarter sixth. *J.-P. Michaud, BCH 95 (1971) 865, figs. 145 and 147. *Delt. 24 (1969) 109. pl. 88, a-b.
- B] Ext.: fr. a: kneeling warrior. Fr. b: a small portion of a similar warrior; duel between two warriors with large shields facing each other (upper part only).
- C] Nonsense: fr. a: to lower right of warrior: traces of four dots. Fr. b: between the two leftmost warriors: five dots. Further down: five dots preserved. Above the shields: eight dots.
- D] I think that the two frs. of figs. 145 and 147 are from the same vase; BCH and Delt. are unclear on this point.

Argos.

- A] Frs. of BG cup. From Argos, South wall of Classical Stoa (Kavvadias). Unattributed. Second quarter fifth (Delt., Kavvadias). 480-460 (the vase; BCH). *G.G. Kavvadias in J.H. Oakley, W.D.E. Coulson, O. Palagia, Athenian Potters and Painters: The Conference Proceedings (1997) 316 n. 2. *M. Pierart and J.P. Thalmann, Delt. 41 (1986) [Pub. 1990] 35, pl. 57, a. *BCH 111 (1987) Chronique 591, fig. 7 (Grr.). H.W. Catling, Arch. Reports 1986-87 (1987) 18, fig. 22.
- B] No figured decoration.
- C] On the BG underside of the foot, 2 Grr., the second curved: ΕΥ< . τῷ Ἡρόδῳ. (1)
- D] The pot is Attic. The two Grr. are by different hands, the first larger and probably of the previous owner who dedicated the vase in an sanctuary of the Hero. I doubt the reading in BCH: εὐ<χὴν> τῷ Ἡρόδῳ. A similar inscription is in BCH 80 (1956) 387, fig. 45. The hero is unknown. The second inscription is in the Argive alphabet: closed heta; three-stroke sigma reversed. The cup is dated by shape, which is Agora 12, nos. 410-413. - Kavvadias reads εὐ<χὴν>(?) τῷ Ἡρόδῳ (apparently after BCH).

(1)so the text in BCH. The last omicron is an irregular patch of BG which has splintered off (according to the photo.) and which is found in the space between omicron and sigma that are spaced in the regular manner. Therefore I wonder if the reading should not be: τῷ Ἡρόδῳ, with contraction.

B] No decoration preserved.
C] On the glazed underside of the foot, curved and following the rim, Gr.: Φα(ε)νιπ<π>ο̄.
D] H.Metzger, reporting on the BCH account, mentions that the cup foot is Attic; the name Phainippos occurs at Argos in the Hellenistic period. Metzger prints Φαενιπο. Dated in BCH by shape of foot (declared Attic there too). - The inscription is not Attic. Alpha 5. Epsilon 8 reversed. Nu 7. Pi near 6. See the chart in 'Script'.

C] On the wall, in two lines: αβγδε[-]|αβγδε[-].

D] Fr. of lower wall and bottom. Langdon thinks the two abecedaria are perhaps by teacher and pupil. The sixth letter in line two cannot be a zeta; hence it is perhaps a digamma; [the shape would be digamma 1 in the chart of 'Script' or near]. [As for line 1, I do not see what Langdon sees.]

- C] Dip. on the buff clay, in large letters: Λαμνῆ.
- D] Mitsos discusses the name at length on pp. 262-63. It is not found in Attica, where only Λαμια occurs, but it may be a parallel form. Note that there is a fish called ἡ λαιμία (a shark), for which there is a parallel form λάμνα/η. Unclear whether the reference here is to the fish or to a person; LGPN ii assumes the latter.

- C] On the underside of the foot, on the broad resting surface, around the funnel, with very irregular spacing: Ευεργιδες εποιεσεν. (2) There is also, as Beazley notes, a faint nu following the final nu: remains of an earlier draft? An illegible Gr. under the fillet is probably without significance.

 (1942) 146. Smets, no. 109. BCH 55 (1931) 465.

- B] A: Athena to left(1); shaft of the right-hand column. B: athlete and trainer (parts).
- C] A: to left of right-hand column, at some distance and close to Athena's garment, kion.: [Καλλι]μηδης αρ[χων].
- D] Frs. a - f. Ionic: calligraphic script with curved hastae.

(1)last example known of Athena facing left (the only one in the Nikomachos Series); the change to right occurs between 359/8 and 348/7 (Beazley, AJA).

- B] Int.: shield; young warrior pouring a libation on an altar. A: two warriors leaving home; woman. B: king and woman; old man seated; woman(?) with lyre (? so ARV(2); differently Talcott)(2).
- C] Nonsense: imitation letters: Int.: (γ)γσ. B: above the seated man's head: γ.(3)

(1)Mild-Brygan Group; near Dokimasia Painter. (2)not a woman, as ARV(2) with question mark. (3)the sketches on p. 321 in Agora 30 give: Int.: in front of the youth's face: πγσ. B: behind the woman's head: γα. Above the head of the seated man: γ.

Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 342/1570, pl. 148 (shows inscription) (much bibl.).
- B] Int.: youth tuning his lyre; hare.
- C] Int.: on WG, on a band separated from the scene by a line in dilute glaze, starting ca. 9 o'clock on the dial (probably taking up 1/2 circumference), in BG: [Ἐ]ρινος ^ κ[αλος].(1)
- D] Robertson thinks the vase could be from the Persian fill in the Agora, although others doubt it can be so early. Mertens, in MetMusJ 9 (1974) 101-103, fig. 23, attributes it to Douris, which R. finds difficult to accept; in AWG (1977) 186, pl. 34,1 she is less sure. B.-O. also does not accept the attribution to Douris. See also her 'Douris' (U of Mich microfilms 1976) 216-220 and cf. Wehgartner. - The words slightly separated. Tailed rho. Four-stroke sigma.

(1)Beazley in AJA: Earinos occurs in Martial 9.11-13; $\epsilon\alpha\iota\alpha\rho\iota\nu\acute{o}\varsigma$ at Thespiae (Bechtel, Frauennamen 44/3729). Talcott had conjectured $[\Phi]\rho\acute{\upsilon}\nu\omicron\varsigma$ with iota for upsilon, saying only one letter is missing. For the adj. $\epsilon\alpha\rho\iota\nu\acute{o}\varsigma$ see LSJ and add the Sappho ostrakon, PLF, Sappho fr. 2, line 10(?).

- A] Frs. of RF calyx krater. From Athens, Agora H 5 (P 44) and H 5-6 (P 5107). Unattributed.(1) Ca. 430 (Thompson, Moore). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 183/288, fig. 19, pl. 39 (two phs. show inscriptions). *Photos. *H.A. Thompson, Hesp. 6 (1937) 47-49, figs. 27-28 (P 44). LIMC iv 638/121 and 694/314.
- B] A: upper zone: Return of Hephaestus: P 5107: at left, heads of satyrs; Hephaestus on a mule to right, led by Dionysus with thyrsus and kantharos; leg of a satyr. P 44: figure holding a thyrsus(?), with one foot on a rock, to right; frontal figure; Hera seated to left, holding a scepter (see fig. 19). Lower zone: komasts: hand holding a torch; youth with a lyre; both to right; youth to left with a dipper(?).
- C] A: upper zone: starting to right of Hephaestus' forehead, horizontal and close to top margin: $\overset{\sim}{\eta}\epsilon\phi[\alpha]\iota\sigma\tau\omicron\varsigma$.(2) Above Dionysus' head and extending to right, in a similar position: $\Delta\iota\omega\nu\nu\sigma^{\wedge}[\omicron\varsigma]$.(3)
- D] + P 5107 = CAVI 332. Two frs. Inscriptions in white. Attic or mixed alphabet. Note the (peculiar) heta, but omega.

(1)Thompson connected it with the Eretria Painter. (2)The phs. on Moore's pl. 39 show the heta/eta and the phi clearly, but the rest of the letters are mostly dots. Unclear whether we have syllabic heta or Ionic eta: $H\phi[\alpha]\iota\sigma\tau\omicron\varsigma$, in the mixed alphabet as the sigmas are three-stroke. There is room for more than one letter in the break but the donkey's ears probably interfered. (3)the extant letters stop at the thyrsus held by Dionysus; to its right a small area is preserved on which the ph. may show smudges of two letters, but I am not certain of this and they are not indicated by Thompson or Moore. The omega is clear: omega for omicron ('Script' 167) or epic form?

- D] Ionic: calligraphic but rough. For the restorations see Dow.

- A] Fr. of BF prize Panathenaic. From Athens, Agora H 7.
Unattributed. 371/0? Archon Phrasikleides? *Agora 23, 136/273, pl. 30.
- B] A: part of right(?) column shaft.
- C] A: to left of column shaft, facing in: [--]σικ[λ--].
- D] Four-stroke sigma. Enough of the surface is preserved after the kappa to suggest a missing Ionic lambda. M.&P. suggest Phrasikleides, who occurs on the Panathenaic Alexandria 18,239 (Beazley, AJA 47 (1943) 455). Other possibilities are Ktesikles 334/3 and Antikles 325/4, but neither are found on extant Panathenaics.

- A] Foot of lekythos. From Athens. Unattributed. Early fifth.(1)
*Agora 21, 32/F 44, pl. 12 (dr.). *Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
GAI ii, 699.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the bottom, Gr. following the edge, facing in:
Τυρσανος.(2)
- D] The letter forms are indeed un-Attic for the early period, as claimed by V.&S. and Lang, but would be possible for a much later date. They are curiously neat and regular. The name is an adjective, not otherwise known as a proper name. V.&S. thought a slave or metic, Lang a foreigner. Listed as an owner's inscription despite the nom. Included in LGPN ii.
Threatte also favors a slave (ethnic for proper name).

(1)dated by shape: cf. Haspels, ABFL, pl. 41,2 (V.&S.).

(2)breaks occur immediately before and after the word; there could have been up to four letters more.

- A] Base of BG skyphos. From Athens. Unattributed. Fourth.(1) Agora 21, 41/F 168, pl. 18 (dr.). *Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the bottom, Gr.: Ηγησιπ<πος>.(2)
- D] Note the nom. Ionic alphabet. The pi has two equal verticals.

(1)dated by shape; cf. Olynthus v, 185 [or pl. 185?].

(2)"Scratches on the rim suggest an attempt at a final sigma," Lang, who prints Ηγήσιπ(ος). Neither she nor V.&S. add the second pi; the dr. in Agora 21 ends with the first pi at the rim.

- A] Base of BG skyphos. From Athens. Unattributed. Second quarter fifth. *Agora 21, 22/E 3, pl. 10 (dr.). *Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
- B] Rays at bottom.(1)
- C] On the bottom, Grr. along margins, one at the top, the other at the bottom: Αισχεα ΠΣ | Νικανορ.
- D] Lang's reading; she considers the Grr. as written on the sherd, which seems doubtful. She thinks perhaps a "tag" accompanying a consignment, weighing 5 staters, belonging to Aischeas and perhaps certified by Nikanor; or sent by Nikanor, son of Aischeas. V.&S. classify the inscription under love names, taking the sigma for the final letter of Aischeas, written over another letter which was started there by mistake.: Αισχεα(ς)|Νικανορ. - For the gen. in
-α (if that is right) cf. 'Script' 480, p. 181. The 'numeral' pi with sigma written within is a bit peculiar in that the pi has almost equal verticals and is very narrow while the sigma (which is four-stroke) is large.

- B] Three friezes. Top: (1) lower parts of two figures; lotus-palmette festoons. (2) komasts, with a large krater. Middle: (1) unexplained: part of a galloping horse, a male hand holding the reins; tripod and man holding a knife (or stick?) and carrying a sword.(1) (2) satyr pursuing a maenad who holds a stone in her left hand. (3) Calydonian Boar Hunt: man rushing to right, with leashed dog; Akastos and his dog attacking the boar from the left; Pegaios on the ground, bleeding; Meleager to left, spearing the boar; Atalante follows; behind her are traces of another name. Bottom: animal frieze.
- C] Inscriptions in red. Middle: Calydonian Boar Hunt: behind Akastos' back: [A]καστος. Above his dog, between Akastos and the boar's rear: Θερῶν, retr. Above Pegaios: Πεγαιος, (2) retr. To left of Meleager's face: Μᾶ[-, retr.(3) To left of Atalante's face: Αταλ[αντε], retr. Behind A.'s head: Π[ελευς?].
- D] Basically unattributed. - The rendering of the inscriptions in Agora 23 differs in small details from mine. See the full discussion there of the subjects. - Large letters. The style of the inscriptions is Corinthianizing

(1)Games in honor of Patroclus or of Pelias? Beazley in Dev.(1) opted for the former, in ABV, for the second. (2)Pegaios is otherwise unknown; the name should be Ankaios; Young believes the painter is following a different tradition. (3)Young reads Μῆ[λεαγρος], which is apparently accepted by M.&P. (see Agora 23, p. 178: now restored to bring M. close to the boar: see pl. 58, top); but the letter may be an alpha. R. Wachter, 'The inscriptions on the François Vase,' MusHelv 48 (1991) 92, notes 35 and 36: my reading (in 'Script', no. 76, and in CAVI), Μᾶ[-, is wrong; he suggests either Meleagros or Melanion.

- A] Fr. from wall of BF stand. From Athens. Unattributed. Third quarter sixth. Ca. 530 (M.&P.). *Agora 23, 172/553, pl. 53.
*Vidi. M.F. Kilmer, Phoenix 44 (1990) 101.
- B] Symposium: at left, back of a youth's neck; a lekane on the wall; two bearded men on a couch, looking at a youth coming up; at the break, a cup (possibly held up by a missing symposiast).
- C] Inscriptions in red: above the head of the right bearded
Φρυγιων, retr. (2)
- D] The description of the inscriptions in Agora 23 is in error; see also Kilmer, who adds: "Lokades may have touched Phrygion's genitals, making this the great-grandfather of the Hegesiboulos Painter's New York cup (ARV(2) 175, 1631)." (Bibl. on this point.) - V.&S., in their ms., in discussing P 16,812 (Φρύνῶν), read Κονάδεξ (Konades: may be Κῶνάδεξ). Delta open at the top. Rho with the vertical extended above the loop. Phi with extended vertical.

(1)a difficult reading: the first letter is clearly kappa and not a lambda as has been read. The third letter seems to be miswritten: I had suggested kappa (per epist.; but that was based on the first letter being lambda, giving Λοκάδες; I should perhaps have suggested a chi: Λοχαδες); David Jordan suggested pi, giving Λοπαδες. (These readings are in LGPN ii). The names are unknown, but λοπάς is a plate. The photo. in Agora 23 shows the first letter as a clear kappa (as Stamires and Vanderpool had read), written a bit lower than the other letters; the third letter might then be a nu or a badly miswritten mu: Κονάδες or Κο(μ)άδες? These names are also unknown, but LGPN has Κονιάδης. The name is no doubt miswritten. (2)a known name in Attic: see LGPN. Wrongly attributed to a bearded man in Agora 23.

A] Frs. of (BF) plate. From Athens, Agora G 6:3 (U).

Unattributed. Salax potter. Ca. 500. *Vanderpool, Hesp. 15 (1946) 276/17, pls. 27 (ph.), 28 (dr.) and 64. *Agora 23, 270/1407 (not ill.). D.M. Robinson and E.J. 'Script' 435, Fig. 97 (dr.).

B] Two groups of frs. The underside decorated with concentric grooves (glazed) and ridges (reserved); the rim reserved. No figured decoration.

C] In BG: on the outer reserved ridge:

(1) ∶ Εὐμάρῆς ∶ καλὸς ∶] Χ[αρία ∶ δο]κεῖ ∶.(1)

On the inner: (2) Σάλαχος [∶] ἔπο[ι]σεν ∶ ναί ∶.(1)

D] From the rectangular rock-cut shaft. Estimated diameter 0.228m. Vanderpool: σάλαξ is a miner's sieve; the name is unique, but appropriate for a slave or metic; cf. Bechtel, Hist. Personenn. 603 for other professional names similarly formed. Charias chosen by V. exempli gratia because it fits the available space. - Agora 23 has an inaccurate rendering of the inscriptions.

(1)each inscription a perfect, planned, circle, but they are not coordinated with each other.

D] From the rectangular rock-cut shaft. For the masc. see Agora P 15,790: δεμο[σ]ιος.

- C] A: fr. a: above the woman: [κ]αλος(1)
- D] Two frs.

(1)my guess. The sketch on p. 329 has αλο. Not visible in the ph. pl. 139.

- A] Base of BG kantharos. From Athens. Unattributed. Mid-fourth.(1) *Agora 21, 39/F 147, pl. 17 (dr.). *Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
- B] Rouletting on floor.
- C] On the bottom, along the margin, facing out, Gr.: Πανδι<>.
- D] PA has Πάνδιος, Πανδίων, but V.&S. prefer Πανδι<ονίς> (the tribe) as the owner, cf. P 16,905, which has Κεκρο[-]. But that can also be a proper name.

- C] B: at left, at some distance from Athena, kionedon: Θεμισ[τοκλης] α[ρχων].

Athens, Agora P 1905.

- A] Fr. of BF pot.(1) From Athens, Agora J 8. Unattributed. Last quarter sixth. *Agora 23, 321/1899, pl. 121.
- B] A: Parts of two friezes separated by parallel lines: above: a foot; below: heads and necks of a mounted youth and his horse.
- C] A: lower zone: nonsense: to right of horse's head: π(.)π.(2)
- D] Unclear. Perhaps an imitation inscription (see below).

(1)of an open shape. (2)the surface much abraded. M.&P.'s sketch shows Π|||Π, but I wonder if the second and third letters were not also pi's: ππππ. The pi's have verticals of equal length.

270.

Athens, Agora P 1990.

- A] Fr. of (BF) band cup. From Athens, Agora Q 13-14:1 (L).
Unattributed. Third quarter sixth. Ca. 550-530 (M.&P.). *Agora 23, 303/1706, pl. 111.
- B] A: no figured decoration preserved: handle zone only, with a bit of lip and of the BG area below.
- C] A: handle zone: nonsense: [--]οεμσοχα[--].(1)
- D] Large and coarse script. Was there a sense model for this inscription?

(1)the last letter from the sketch on p. 303, not visible in

Athens, Agora P 1993.

- A] Fr. of base of BG skyphos. From Athens. Unattributed.
Mid-sixth.(1) *Lang, Agora 21, 19/D 19, pl. 8 (dr.). *Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the floor Gr.: [O]υεσιβι[ος].
- D] The same name DAA, no. 107,2 = IG i(3) 652.2: 'Ου[εσι]βιος.
Name-on-herd, according to Lang, because the cup was small and deep.

(1)type, cf. Hesp. 7 (1938) 392, fig. 29/37 (V.&S.).

272.

Athens, Agora P 2022.

- A] Fr. of BG skyphos.(1) From Athens. Unattributed. Fourth quarter fifth (context). *Agora 21, 9, B 9, pl. 2 (dr.). *Vanderpool and Stamires ms. M. Lang, Graffiti in the Athenian Agora (1974), no. 37. *L. Robert, Bull. ep. 1977, no. 122. *'Script' 847, Fig. 167 (phot.).
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On inside, Gr.:
Σοσίνεος[ς] | ἐπέστειλε | Γλαύκοι | ἐς ἄστυ | ἔνδεσμο[ν].
- D] The open omicron in Γλαυκοι is probably not an omega. Is the beta shape of epsilon in ἐνδεσμο[ν] due to foreign influence? (Cf. 'Script'). Lang calls the inscription, which is clearly written on the sherd and which I think is complete at end because of the position of the last omicron, a "tag" or message, but Robert saw that ἐπεστειλε means that it is a letter. Translate: "Sosineos to Glaukos:
a bundle into the city (sc. I have sent)." Sosineos: IG i(2) 671 and 999 = DAA 42 and IG i(3) 1195. Lang translates:
"Sosineos sent a bundle to Glaukos in town."

(1)for the type see Hesp. 5 (1936) 340, fig. 8, lower row;
3rd - 4th quarter fifth (V.&S.). (2)V.&S. read the last line as εναΒΣΜ (with three-stroke sigma), which is unlikely.

273.

Athens, Agora P 2029.

- A] Fr. of BG bowl. From Athens. Unattributed. First half sixth (Lang).(1) *Agora 21, 30/F 10, pl. 11 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the bottom, Gr.: ΕΥΤΕΚ[--].
- D] ΕΥΤΕΚΝΙΟΣ (Roman), Pape. Not in LGPN ii.

(1)context: sixth.

274.

Athens, Agora P 2030.

- A] Fr. of roof tile glazed on one side. From Athens. Unattributed. Early sixth. *Lang, Agora 21, 17/D 6, pl. 7 (dr.). *Vanderpool, Hesp. 8 (1949) 407/d, pl. 60.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the glazed side, in an up-and-down curve, Gr.: Γοργιας ἠο Σὺβαριος, retr.(1)
- D] NOT A VASE. Name-on-sherd. I wonder if the inscription is not Boeotian, with adj. for the Patronymic.

(1)so Lang. Vanderpool read: Γοργιας ἠο Σὺβακιο, retr. Neither reading quite conforms to the photo. (in Hesp.) or the dr. (in Agora 21), but the letters are coarse and hard to identify. V. omitted the final stroke, but his reading of kappa is better than L.' tailed rho (this is very early for tailed rho), so perhaps: Γορ(γ)ιας ἠο Σὺβακιος?? Closed heta.

Athens, Agora P 2045.

- A] Fr. of BF prize Panathenaic. From Athens, Agora I-K 6-8. Unattributed. First half fourth. *Agora 23, 138/281 (not ill.).

- D] The chi of the name is an upright cross, the numeral is X.

(1)two choes.

Unattributed. 316/5. Demokleides archon. *Agora 23, 139/296, pl. 32. Peters, JdI 1942, 146. Beazley, AJA 47 (1943) 465. A. Smets, Ant. Class. 5 (1936) 98/110.

- B] A: part of a column shaft.
- C] A: on its right, kion.: [αρχων] Δημοκ[λειδης].(1)
- D] Smets read ΔΗΜΩΝ and considered Thoudemos (353/2) or Aristodemos (352/1), but as M.&P. say, the last letter cannot be a sigma. But the lettering looks earlier than the end of the fourth cent. Ionic; not calligraphic.

(1)so Beazley and Agora 23.

- B] Fingers; object (wing?).
- C] Vertically in two lines: Αλκμε[ων] | καλο[ς].
- D] Uncertain whether this is the same Alkmeon as the kalos of the Brygos and Berlin Painters, ARV(2) 1563/1,2 and Hesp. 49 (1980) 307-8, on vases which are of the very early fifth century. On Alkmeon see Πρακτικά του Η' Διεθνούς Συνεδρίου Ελληνικής και Λατινικής Επιγραφικής Β' (1987) 283-85 (but this and the other occurrence of uncertain identification in ARV(2) are not mentioned there: they are about 20 years later).

- B] Int.: woman seated, holds mirror; dwarf. A: four standing figures; two animals; a third under the handle.

B: part of a seated and part of a standing figure.

- C] Int.: imitation letters. B: imitation letters.(2)
- D] From rectangular rock-cut shaft.

(1)Robertson in Στήλη attributed to early Kleophrades Painter, which he has since withdrawn orally. Moore compares some features with the Nikoxenos Painter. (2)the phs. in Agora 30 show nonsense (imitation) letters scattered on Int. and A. The sketch gives an inscription for the Int., but not for A or B. [I assume that there are letters on Int. and B, if I copied the information from Vanderpool correctly.] Vanderpool does not mention an inscription for A.

- B] Int.: hanging bag; man seated to right holding stick and flower.
- C] Nonsense: to man's left, in a downward curve: σεσεσγ. To man's right, down: [-]εγ. In the exergue, in BG: (σ)εμ[.]σ.(1)
- D] Type C. From rectangular rock-cut shaft. All inscriptions nonsense. Inscriptions not in exergue are in red. Done from Vanderpool, but corrected from the pictures in Moore.

(1)very sloppy writing. The ph. in Agora 30 shows that σεσεσγ is right against the reading in the sketch on p. 341: σε(ν)ε(ν)γ with reversed nu. In the exergue (in BG) read (σ)εμ[.]σ, as there is a piece missing where the fourth letter should be.

- D] From the rectangular rock-cut shaft.

(1)very close to the Pithos Painter. (2)Kappa with parallel short strokes, or digamma = F. The sketch in Agora 30, p. 334 has: γαγ(κ)υ, with gamma 2, alpha S 1, kappa near 6 angular and with curved vertical, upsilon 3. [The numbers refer to the letter chart in 'Script'.] But the ph. seems to confirm my reading, esp. as regards the 'kappa' (which is not an alpha).

- A] Fragmentary RF cup. From Athens. Pithos Painter (Vanderpool). Manner (Moore). (1) First quarter fifth. Ca. 490. *Vanderpool, Hesp. 15 (1946) 283/45, pl. 34. ARV(2) 139/18. *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 334/1516, pl. 143 (shows some letters).
- B] Int.: Light-armed warrior kneeling.
- C] Int.: Scattered around the field: blobby imitation letters. (2)
- D] From the rectangular rock-cut shaft.

(1) Moore cites ARV(2) where however the vase is listed as by the Pithos Painter. (2) The sketch in Agora 30, p. 334 has: $\upsilon\upsilon/\lambda\lambda$, with lambda 5 and upsilon 3 (see chart in 'Script').

Athens, Agora P 2582.

- A] Fr. of RF cup. From Athens, Agora G 6:3. Unattributed. Ca. 500 (Moore). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 349/1626 (not ill.).

- C] Behind him: nonsense: imitation: three dots.
- D] Sketch on p. 349.

- B] Int.: heels and buttocks of a figure crouching to right.
- C] Int.: behind the buttocks, at the break, downward: $[-]\alpha$. (1)

(1) perhaps alpha 3 in the chart in 'Script', but the letter is so close to the break that I cannot identify it with certainty.

283c.

Athens, Agora P 2584.

- A] Fr. of RF cup. From Athens, Agora G 6:3. Unattributed. Late sixth (Moore). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 348/1624 (not ill.).

- D] From the rectangular rock-cut shaft. Vanderpool rejects the tentative attribution to Onesimos by J.P. Johnson in AJA 42 (1938) 347.

(1)the two-liner not left-aligned; the sketch in Agora 30, p. 341 is very unclear.

- A] Stem of BG kylix. From Athens. Unattributed. Early fifth, context (Lang). 490-480 (Vanderpool). *Vanderpool, Hesp. 15 (1946) 277/18, pl. 28 (phot.). *Lang, Agora 21, F 24, pl. 11 (dr.).

- A] Frs. of BF plate. From Athens, Agora G 6:3 (U). Kleiboulos Painter (Feytmans). First quarter fifth. 490-480. *Vanderpool, Hesp. 15 (1946) 309/186, pls. 56 and 64. *Agora 23, 271/1414, pl. 96. Bothmer, Amazons 49/128, pl. 39, 6. Callipolitis-Feytmans, Les plats attiques (1974) 395/C 1, fig. 71.
- B] Heracles and Amazons. Fr. b: Heracles. Fr. a: two Amazons.
- C] Fr. a: behind Heracles (between quiver flap and rim):
lo[-]. (1)
- D] Frs. a - b. From the rectangular rock-cut shaft.

(1) so Vanderpool. M.&P. read: [-]ολ., retr. This might give [l]ολ[εος], if the name was continued elsewhere, although no trace of him is preserved. For V.'s reading there are many possible restorations (e.g. Iolaos, Iodope, Ioxeia, Iobes, or a contemporary name: see V.'s discussion on p. 309). Note that the photo. in Agora 23 does not show the diagonal of the presumed lambda and the blank space that follows does not show other letters; hence it is unclear whether it is nonsense or a name.

292.

Athens, Agora P 2769.

- A] Frs. of BF skyphos. From Athens. Manner of the Haimon Painter (M.&P.). First quarter fifth. Ca. 500-490. *Vanderpool, Hesp.

- C] Fr. a: near the head of each animal: dots in added red.(2)
- D] Frs. a - d. From the rectangular rock-cut shaft.

(1)frs. b and c may preserve the rear ends of the animals on fr. a. (2)Vanderpool; not mentioned in Agora 23.

- A] Frs. of RF pot of closed uncertain shape (Moore). From Athens, Agora G 6:3. Unattributed. 490-480. Ca. 500-490 (Moore). *Vanderpool, Hesp. 15 (1946) 288/59, pl. 34. *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 352/1651, pl. 155 (shows inscription).

- C] Fr. a: between the figures, vertically down: [κα]λ[^]ος, retr.(1)
- D] Frs. a - b. From rectangular rock-cut shaft. Attic alphabet.

(1)both the ph. in Agora 30 and the sketch on p. 352 show only λο. The stick intervenes.

294.

Athens, Agora P 2841.

- A] BG oinochoe. From Athens. Unattributed. Late fifth - early 4th (V.&S.). Ca. 410-390 (Lang)(1). Agora* 21, 38/F 127, pl. 16 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms.

- C] On the shoulder, Grr.: Δη<>. Δηξιο.(2)
- D] The same(?) name Agora P 8621, Agora 21, F 136: Δεξιο[--]. Perhaps Δἡξιῶ, etc.? But listed as Δηξιος by Lang in the index and in LGPN ii.

(1)context. (2)probably no letters following; this would exclude Δηξιο<νος>, which is possible on P 8621.

294a.

Athens, Agora P 2986.

- A] Fr. of RF cup. From Athens, Agora R 13. Unattributed. Ca. 450. *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 323/1434 (not ill.).

- B] A dove perched to left on the abacus of a Doric column which supports an architrave; at left (and lower), top of a head to right.
- C] To left of the column (in two lines according to the sketch on p. 193, not visible in the ph.): (ν)σ|λσ.(1)
- D] Surely nonsense. Inscriptions in white. Unclear lettering.

(1)the nu looks more like sigma S 3; see chart in 'Script'.

295.

Athens, Agora P 3120.

- A] Fr. of BF prize Panathenaic. From Athens, Agora F 15. Unattributed. Fourth. *Agora 23, 138/285 (not ill.).

- A] Fr. of RF cup. From Athens, Agora F 14. Unattributed. Late sixth (Moore). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 348/1620, pl. 152.
- B] Int.: male to right (forearm, small of back, buttock), holding a stick.
- C] Int.: to left of the stick: [h]οπα[ις].
- D] Done from the sketch on p. 348; not visible in the ph.

296.

Athens, Agora P 3534.

- A] Fr. of a large unglazed amphora. From Athens. Unattributed. Late seventh - early sixth. *Agora 21, 17/D 5, pl. 7 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] [--]εδιοος vacat.(1)
- D] Probably name-on-sherd.

(1)e.g. [Αρχ]εδιοος.

297.

Athens, Agora P 3535.

- A] Fr. of cup foot. From Athens, Agora H 8-10(?). Unattributed. ...s potter. Third quarter sixth. *Agora 23, 313/1813 (dr. of inscription only). *Vidi.
- B] Decoration not preserved.
- C] Under the foot, in BG: --ς επιεισ[εν].(1)

D] For signatures under the foot see 'Script' 49 and n. 47. M.&P. refer to some of the cups mentioned there: Agora P 7902 (Nikosthenes); Tarentum I.G. 4435 and 4434, both Droop cups by Antidoros (ABV 159/1 and 160/2). But the verb lacks the iota in these and the handwriting is different.

(1)so my reading: the first sigma is preceded by a near horizontal stroke at ground level, not an omicron or epsilon. M.&P. give [---]ς only. The extra stroke could conceivably be from an upsilon or chi: Salax, Thrax??

Athens, Agora P 3557.

- A] Frs. of BF prize Panathenaic. From Athens, Agora F 11:2. Unattributed. Third quarter fourth. *Agora 23, 140/301 (not ill.).
- B] A: fr. a: on the far right, part of Athena's drapery. Fr. b: similar.
- C] Fr. a: at upper left, kionedon: [τον Αθε|νεθε|ν αθλον].
- D] Two frs.

299.

Athens, Agora P 3559.

- A] Mug (terracotta dry measure). From Athens. Unattributed. First half fourth. *T.L. Shear, Hesp. 4 (1935) 347, fig. 5. Hesp. 5 (1936) 354 and n. 1. Hesp. 6 (1937) 166/b. M. Crosby, Hesp. 18 (1949) 111, pl. 5/5a.
- B] Reserved except for the BG lip; stamp of Athena with owl.
- C] Below the lip, in large BG letters, making a complete circle: δημοσιον.
- D] It is pointed out in Hesp. 6 that the best parallels for Athena and owl are on silver coins of 365-359 BC. For a discussion of capacity see Crosby.

300.

Athens, Agora P 3629.

- A] Fr. of foot of a large LG vase. From Athens. Unattributed. Late eighth (sherd). Sixth (Gr.).(1) *Vanderpool, Hesp. suppl. 8 (1949) 405-408, pl. 60 (phot., dr.). *LSAG 76/9e, 70, pl. 2 (dr.). Lang, Agora 21, D 1. 'Script' 48. GAI i, 17, 54, 190, 572.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] Gr., name-on-sherd: Πισιστρατος, retr.
- D] I think that the inscription is clearly sixth century. - Vanderpool thinks it is perhaps a vote for the banishment of Peisistratus the tyrant delivered in the Areopagus; it could also refer to P. the archon in 669/8; see further, pp. 407-408. Further, Hesp. 8 (1939) 63, and Annuario 3-4 n.s. (1941-42) 118-24. There is no external evidence for the date [of the Gr.], the only diagnostic letter is alpha, which looks early with its curved leg; parallels exist in 7th cent. vase inscriptions (so Vanderpool; but see 'Script' 23/79 and 132 (shape 8)). Three-stroke sigma (once) and four-stroke (twice).

(1)First half of seventh (Jeffery, implied by Lang). Seven or sixth (Vanderpool).

301.

Athens, Agora P 3630.

- A] Fr. of prize Panathenaic. From Athens. Unattributed. Fourth. *Hesp. 26 (1957) 344/30, pl. 82.
- B] Decoration not preserved.
- C] kion.: τῶν [Αθηνηθεν αθλων].
- D] Ionic.

302.

Athens, Agora P 3631.

- A] Frs. of BF prize Panathenaic. From Athens, Agora F 10:1. Unattributed. Third quarter fourth. Ca. 340-330 (M.&P.). *Agora 23, 139/298 (not ill.).
- B] A: fr. a: left edge of panel; at right, top of an Ionic column surmounted by a figure (lower garment). Fr. b: parts of Athena's garment and shield. B: fr. c: leg of an athlete(?). Fr. c: upper right-hand corner of a panel (A or B?).
- C] A: fr. a: in the field(1), kionedon: αρχω[v---].
- D] Four frs.

303.

Athens, Agora P 3721.+

- A] Base of a plastic vase(?). From Athens. Unattributed. Second quarter fourth. *H.A. Thompson, Hesp. 6 (1937) 89/under f, fig. 46 (mention).
- B] No figured decoration preserved.
- C] On the bottom, Gr.: [--]ημονος.
- D] Thompson says that the base probably goes with a fr. of a plastic vase, Agora P 3720. Not included by Vanderpool and Stamires (ms.) or in Agora 21. - E.g. [Φιλ]ημονος.

304.

Athens, Agora P 3782.

- A] Fr. of BF prize Panathenaic. From Athens, Agora F 11:2. Unattributed. Bakchios or Kittos potter? Second quarter fourth. *Agora 23, 136/274, pl. 31.
- B] A: part of the left column shaft.
- C] A: to left of column: [--]ς [---].(1) To right of the same column: [τῶν Αθ]ηνη[θεν αθλων].(2)
- D] The column is no doubt the left-hand column because of the prize inscription. M.&P. suggest the names of Bakchios or Kittos, since they are the only potters of Panathenaics so far known from signatures. The nearest parallel for inscriptions on both sides of a single column is Istanbul she renders it).

(1)context: sixth and fifth century pottery. (2)so Lang, but the facs. on pl. 54 gives the bottom of a vertical stroke before the iota, which does not favor a theta. But ούτ[ρας] seems reasonably certain.

307.

Athens, Agora P 4238.

- A] Fr. of lip cup. From Athens, Agora E 14:11. Unattributed. Third quarter sixth. Ca. 550-530. *Agora 23, 301/1696, pl. 110. *Photo. *dr.
- B] Decoration not preserved; handle zone and and the dividing line above.
- C] Nonsense: (.) vac. δπυ(δ)(α)[--].(1)
- D] A small fr., no doubt from the handle zone. Unclear letters.

(1)uncertain reading; the upsilon could be lambda; the second delta is a triangular smudge with irregular outline (kappa is not excluded); the last letter is delta or alpha. M.&P. read:]_ απλκδ, which is wrong at right. I do not think the smudge at the left edge, here marked (.), is part of this inscription as it is a bit lower.

307a.

Athens, Agora P 4244.

- A] Fr. of RF cup. From Athens, Agora E 14:11. Unattributed. Late sixth (Moore). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 348/1623, pl. 152 (shows one letter).
- B] Int.: left foot and calf of a male running or crouching to right.
- C] Int.: to left of the ankle: ι. To its right: σ.(1)
- D] Attic sigma.

(1)[probably [ho πα]ι^ς [---(?)].

308.

Athens, Agora P 4245.

- A] Frs. of RF column krater. From Athens. Unattributed. Late sixth - early fifth. *Vidi + museum card.
- B] Heracles and centaurs? Legs; goat's head; lion skin.
- C] Nonsense? A few painted letters: --v vac.(1) [--]o[--]. --ς[--].

(1)first letter: bottom of a vertical.

Moore's entry under this number differs:

Athens, Agora P 4245 (part).

- A] Frs. of RF column krater. From Athens, Agora E 14:11. Unattributed. First quarter fifth. Ca. 490-480 (Moore). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 166/215, pl. 30 (frs. b and d).
- B] Heracles and satyrs?
- C] Fr. e preserves a dotted theta (and nothing else).

D] Frs. b-e, i, k, are separated by Moore from the frs. above.
Inscription in red. Done from the sketch.

309.

Athens, Agora P 4461.

- A] Fr. of BG krateriskos. From Athens, Agora. Unattributed. Late fourth.(1) *G. Kopcke, 'Golddekorierte attische Schwarzfirniskeramik des vierten Jahrhunderts v. Chr.,' AM 79 (1964) 48/244 (not ill.; no bibl.).
- C] In applied gold: [Σωτ]ῆρος.

(1)'Fortgeschrittenes viertes Viertel' of fourth cent. (K.).

310.

Athens, Agora P 4599.

- A] Amphora. From Athens. Unattributed. Ca. 600. *Young, Hesp. Suppl. 2 (1939) 22/II 1, figs. 8 (photo.) and 144 (dr. of Gr.). 'Script', p. 11, n. 10.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the shoulder, lying horizontally: B?
- D] Young does not think it is a letter.

311.

Athens, Agora P 4627.

- A] Fr. of a pan tile. From Athens. Unattributed. Late sixth - early fifth (Lang). *Lang, Agora 21, 20/D 32, pl. 9 (dr.). Young, Hesp. Suppl. 2 (1939) 121/B 47, figs. 87 (photo.) and 144 (dr. of inscription). Vanderpool, Hesp. Suppl. 8, 400, n. 20.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the inside, Grr. in two lines, the first retr., the second left-to-right(1): Νεοκ<λ>εδ<ς>, retr.(2) | Μελανθις.
- D] NOT A VASE. Names-on-shoulder (Lang) who rejects Vanderpool's suggestion of an unfinished ostrakon. The woman's name occurs also on an unpublished vase (of the last quarter of the sixth century?) in the Kanellopoulos Collection: see LGPN ii.

(1)Lang says boustr., but the lines seem to me to be by different hands; note especially the epsilons and nu's.
(2)enough surface seems to be preserved to show that the final sigma was not written.

312.

Athens, Agora P 4661.

- A] Fr. of a coarse unglazed tile. From Athens. Unattributed. Sixth or early fifth. *Vanderpool, Hesp. Suppl. 8 (1949) 403/17, pl. 59. AJA 39 (1935) 179, fig. 6 (bottom row, right). *Lang, Agora 25, 133/1052, fig. 26 (dr.).
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the inside, Gr. : Θρασκευε(ς).
- D] NOT A VASE. Not in Agora 21. Vanderpool says it is "not entirely certain" that this is an ostrakon, as the lettering looks early (alpha with curved top!); but the context extends into the fifth century. Lang in Agora 25, reading $\Theta\rho\alpha\sigma\kappa\lambda\epsilon\tilde{\iota}$, lists this fr. as the only ostrakon against one Thrasykles, while also stressing the uncertainty of its being an ostrakon, especially if the name is in the dative when it could be a tag. Cartwheel theta.

Athens, Agora P 4663.

- A] Fragmentary SG BG skyphos. From Athens. Unattributed. Ca. 650 (Young, Jeffery, Lang). *Young, Hesp. suppl. 2, 124/B 55, figs. 89-90; 226-27. *Agora 21, F 3, pl. 11 (dr.). Shear, Hesp. 5 (1936) 33, fig. 34. Guarducci, EG i, 137/2, fig. 29 (dr.). *'Script', p. 19, Fig. 11 (phot.). LSAG(2) 69, 76/4, 401, pl.1 (phot.).
- B] A reserved band in the handle zone, otherwise originally BG.
- C] Horizontally on the side, starting just below one handle, Gr. before firing (Young)(1): $\Theta\alpha\rho\cdot\rho\cdot\acute{\iota}\delta\epsilon\iota\mu\acute{\iota}\text{ποτ}\acute{\epsilon}\rho\acute{\iota}\omicron\nu$.
- D] As Lang shows in the index, the name is $\Theta\alpha\rho\rho\acute{\iota}\alpha\varsigma$ (not Tharrios); cf. PA 6587-88, 6592. It is not quite certain that the inscription is complete at the end. The BG has mostly flaked off. Shear's text is wrong in several ways. - Alpha with horizontal coss bar and curved top. Cartwheel theta.

(1)consequently under the glaze. A bespoke piece.

Athens, Agora P 4664.

- A] Fr. of a large seventh-century BG amphora. From Athens. Unattributed. Second half seventh (Lang). *Young, Hesp. suppl. 2, 126/B 56, 226. *Lang, Agora 21, D 4, pl. 7 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms. 'Script' 48.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the sherd, Gr.: $\text{Τρυπις|φομο}[?]$.
- D] Names-on-herd. The second name may be nom. or gen. Lang reads $\text{Q}\tilde{\omicron}\mu\omicron\varsigma$. She (and V.&S.) rightly reject Young's convivial interpretation. Trypis: cf. Argive coins of 3d - 2d centt. BC (BM Cat. of Coins, Peloponnesus 145f.). Komos: in Attica from 4th cent. BC on, IG ii(2) 11, 169; GGA 1899, no. 18 Z 6, S 117; Agora 21, F 212-13. Cf. LGPN ii. - B] Undecorated.

- D] Disjointed letters.

(1)or the nom. (as LGPN ii)?

- A] Fr. of lip cup. From Athens, Agora E-F 12-14. Unattributed. Third quarter sixth. Ca. 550-530 (M.-P.). *Agora 23, 301/1695, pl. 110.
- B] No figured decoration preserved: lower part of handle zone and BG area below it.
- C] A: handle zone: nonsense with some imitation letters:
---γξ(.)χσσο(κ)(ε)<ξ<. (1)
- D] Small letters. Uncertain readings.

(1)my reading from the photo.; the first five letters have lost their tops; not certain that the inscription is complete at the end. The sketch on p. 301 gives:
λκγελχ(ν)(σ)σκικλ.

Athens, Agora P 4674.+

- A] Frs. of RF column krater. From Athens, Agora E-F 12-14. Göttingen Painter (Beazley). First quarter fifth. Ca. 500-490 (Moore). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 164/200, pl. 29 (P 4674). ARV(2) 234/13 (P 4674); ARV(2) 234/14 (P 4694).
- B] Komos: A: P 4674: upper part of a youth to right, holding a skyphos; on his right, part of a cup held by one who was facing him. P 4694 (not ill.): part of a youth to left.
- C] A: P 4674: to left of the youth's head: σ. To its right: υ.(1)
- D] + P 4694. 2 frs. Three-stroke sigma reversed.

(1)so the sketches in the text; the sigma shows clearly in pl. 29, but I am unsure of the other letter.

Athens, Agora P 4683.+

- A] Frs. of RF stand.(1) From Athens, Agora E-F 12-14 (4683) and G 12 (4744). Euthymides. Last quarter sixth. Ca. 510 (Moore). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 223/585, fig. 32 (restored dr., shows inscriptions), pls. 60-61 (P 4683, a, c-f, i-j; P 4744, b). *Talcott, Hesp. 5 (1936) 59 ff. (ill., 4683 only). *ARV(2) 28/17, Add.(2) 156. *Vidi (parts).
- B] Fragmentary: Apollo citharoedus with Leto and Artemis, between two palm trees.(2)
- C] The last word horizontally between and above Leto and Apollo: [Ευθυμιδες εγραφσεν ho] Πολ·λ·ῑο.(3) To Apollo's middle, facing: [Απολ·λ·]ο̄[v].(4) Starting behind Artemis' middle: κα[λος---?].(5) To right of the trunk of the right-hand palm tree, vertically down and ending near the bottom of the scene: [--- επ]ο̄ῑεσ<ε>ν.(6) contains b. Frs. g and h are not illustrated by Moore (h is not even mentioned) and are not assigned to a number, although their pertinence to 4683 is implied in the list of measurements. Attic alphabet.
- D] + P 4744. Ten frs.: P 4633 contains a, c-f, i-j; P 4744.

(1)cylindroid, Beazley. (2)so Moore who discusses this in detail; it affects the position of the potter's signature; Talcott had only one palm tree. (3)the extant word is clear on pl. 60, fr. a. There is not room for the rest of the signature to have been in one horizontal line and I assume that it started out vertically upward and then turned horizontal. The potter's signature is also vertical. (4)so Moore; the omicron is mentioned by Talcott. It is in the lower right corner of fr. b and is faintly visible in the ph., pl. 60. Moore correctly draws the inscription leaning to the diagonal, otherwise some more letters would show on fr. b. I give the name with single lambda as Euthymides prefers this spelling (as against Euphronios' habit); see Antikenmuseum, Berlin, Euphronios und seine Zeit (1992) 50. (5)probably a kalos-name; Euthymides has Megakles and Leagros (see Moore). (6)fr. j: good ph., pl. 61. The last epsilon is definitely omitted, although the sketch on p. 224 gives it in error. There is one letter space left before the bottom of the scene. About 1/3 of the omicron is preserved.

- A] Fr. of a large closed pot, glazed on outside. From Athens. Unattributed. Early fifth. *Lang, Agora 21, D 35, pl. 9 (dr.). 'Script' 1061.
- B] No figured decoration.
- C] On the inside, i.e., on the sherd, Gr.:
[--]Ζηνο[---]ακιπ[---].
- D] The reading of line 2 is quite uncertain. Lang suggests cautiously Ζενοφων and Αλκιππος, both with the assumption of errors. The second line is unintelligible. In 'Script', I suggest: perhaps Ζηνο[φων] with syllabic heta; this is contested by Threatte, GAI ii, 685, who suggests Ζηνο[---], with eta for short e; see also 687.

318a.

Athens, Agora P 4733.

- A] Fr. of RF calyx krater. From Athens, Agora N 10:1. Unattributed. Last quarter fifth. Probably late fifth (Moore). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 181/284, pl. 38 (shows most of inscription); sketch on p. 181. *museum record card as reported by Moore.
- B] At mid-height, on the extreme left, a draped forearm and hand with spread fingers of what Moore and the card think may have been a child. Most of the fr. is a BG area.
- C] At the very bottom, horizontal: [-(?)]θυμη[---(?)].(1)

D] The inscription is in red.

(1)Moore reports that the record card suggests θυμε[λη], the platform for an altar [which is not shown in the fr. as preserved.] But the sketch shows the last letter as the upper part of a vertical (the lower part being lost in the break) without any horizontal attached to it. Unfortunately, I cannot see the stroke clearly in the ph. The position of the inscription in relation to the small hand does not make it likely that we have here Θυμη[δία], the name of a maenad on Boston 00.352 (CAVI 2692) and Agora P 9189 (CAVI 400). [Ευ]θυμη[α] would also fit the traces, and there are other possibilities. Was the 'child' standing at ground level?

- A] Fr. of RF cup. From Athens. Connected with Douris?(1) First quarter fifth. *Museum card. Non vidi. *ARV(2) 1570/31. *Photo.
- B] Flute case; male leg; drapery.
- C] Along the margin: Χαίρε[στρατος---].
- D] Written in the Dourian manner. Tailed rho.

(1)listed by Beazley in a group with the kalos-name Chairestratos "mostly connected with Douris."

- A] Frs. of BF Panathenaic neck amphora. From Athens, Agora (4749: from E-F 12-14). Rycroft Painter (Moore). Last quarter sixth. Ca. 510-500.(1) *Agora 23, 126/187, pl. 22. *Vidi. *Photo.
- B] 4749: woman to right (parts); tongue pattern, etc. 4823: tree; chariot to right (parts).
- C] 4749, fr. a: to right of the woman's head at a distance, in BG: ολτ(.)[-].(2) 4823: above the horses' heads: ο[-]. Both nonsense?
- D] Frs. a - c. + Agora P 4823. Beazley (letter to the Agora, March 1935) compared the inscription ολτσ(λ) (the last letter 'Argive' lambda) on North Slope AP 296, the style of which is similar. Beazley did not attribute the frs.

(1)so M.&P. (2)the last letter: ο on the Agora card and in my reading from the photo.; in Agora 23's sketch on p. 126, it is the upper part of a three-stroke sigma; in actuality it is part of a filled-in blob with a fairly sharp corner, which could be alpha, delta, theta, omicron, but hardly sigma.

- A] Frs. of BF column krater. From Athens, Agora E-F 12-14. Unattributed. Late sixth. *Agora 23, 162/480 (not ill.).

- B] A: symposium: frs. a and b: part of a couch; fr. c: pillow and part of a reclining figure; fr. d (from B?): raised male arm, and ivy.
- C] Frs. a + b: on the right: ν-νοσ.(1)
- D] Frs. a - d; a + b joining. Unclear whether nonsense or a name, e.g. Ν[ικοχσ]ενος. I do not know the length of the gap. The sketch of the inscription in Agora 23 may not be accurate.

(1)the bracketed trace shows the ends of two horizontal lines, such as top and bottom of zeta or epsilon. Done from the poor sketch in Agora 23.

- A] Fr. of RF pot. From Athens, Agora F 12. Unattributed. Pot: early fifth (Moore, Lang). Gr.: late fifth (Lang). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 355/1675, fig. 61 (dr.), pl. 156. *Lang, Agora 21, D 41, pl. 9 (dr., Gr.).
- B] A: uncertain remains: at left, drapery of one seated? at right, satyr's tail(?) and other remains.
- C] On the inside, written on the sherd and upside down to the pot, Gr.: [-]μῶν|[-]αλης|[-]ιλη vacat.(1)
- D] The lettering looks stoich., but that may be accidental. Ionic alphabet.

322.

Athens, Agora P 4794.

- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the sherd, Gr., the last letter written below the E|: Δειμενεια.(1)
- D] Name-on-herd. Fem. form of Δαϊμένης (Lang). The names are not in LGPN ii.

(1)there appear to be traces of a few small letters elsewhere on the sherd, including a kappa.

- A] Fr.: shape unclear. From Athens. Unattributed. Late eighth. *Young, Hesp. suppl. 2, ../XVII 2. 'Script' 4.

- A] Pyxis and lid. From Athens. Unattributed. Late eighth. *Young, Hesp. suppl. 2, 76/XVI 1, figs. 49-50 (phot.). 'Script' 5.
B] Undecorated. Two pairs of tie holes.
C] On the lid and the rim: one pair of tie holes: straight Gr. lines. The other pair has X.
D] "The crosses and bars incised on the rims and lids of pyxides of the last quarter of the eighth century (as XVI 1, fig. 50) do not necessarily imply a knowledge of writing, and certainly cannot be interpreted as demonstrating any knowledge of alphabetic writing. They are simply convenient symbols [of the potters] who used them to mark the corresponding parts of the vase and its lid." (Young). But writing was known in the late eighth century.

- A] Fr. of small shallow saucer, glazed. From Athens. Unattributed. Late fourth - early third. *Lang, Agora 21, 10/B 14, pl. 3 (dr.). *Vanderpool and Stamires ms. Hesp. Suppl. 4, 135, top.
B] Undecorated.
C] On the floor, Gr.: λοπαδη dish
μεγαλη: I large 1
ημισοπα: II half-size 2
[ο]βηλια: II long loaves 2
[χ]αρτη[s] papyrus roll?(1)

D] The readings seem uncertain. A list. V.&S. think the mistakes are due to the writer being a foreigner and perhaps a slave; found in Roman fill near the Tholos (where there was a public slave, IG ii(2) 1-13); no doubt a list of kitchen equipment in the Tholos. Unclear how much of this Lang would agree to.

(1) so Lang, who explains: λοπαδη presumably alternate form for λοπάς; ἡμίσιος, cf. Aesch. fr. 91 (something small) and Galen 13, 558. V.&S. differ somewhat:

λοπαδη
μεγαλη ημιθ: > # (a) οβηλια # (b) αρτη

(a): # = 8. (b): # = 5.

They explain:

λοπάδες μεγάλαι ἡμίθ[ραυστοι?] # (a).
ὄβελια ἄρτοι # (b).

- B] No figured decoration.
- C] On the bottom, Gr. In the center, circular:
Σοσίας καταπύγων. On the rim: ἡὸς φ(η)σὶν ἡο γράφσας.
- D] I follow Lang's reading. The Gr. has been read: Σοσίας καταπύγων, Ε[ὐφρόν]ιός φησιν ἡο γράφσας, although the inscription is probably too late for the vase painter. Lang has now disposed of this. No doubt Sosias is not the well-known potter either. - Beazley compares [Αλ]καῖος καταπυ[γῶν] on Agora P 5169 and says both this and the Sosias inscriptions are near Pherecrateans. Heta is of normal shape but the eta in φησιν resembles an 'Argive' lambda and has been compared with the South Italian rough breathing by M. Burzachechi, Mon. Linc. 1961, 345-47, but this seems doubtful. - A very similar Gr. on a vase from Cumae, Unlocated, is published by Gabrici, Mon. Ant. 22 (1913) 459, q.v.

- D] Pythodoros: cf. Acr. ii, 1506: Πυθο[δορ]οειμι. Alkaios: kalos on Berlin 2332, by Achilles Painter (ARV(2) 988/20); also in two other graffiti, Agora P 5167 and 5169; perhaps a different man from that of Berlin 2332. Melis: Talcott thinks a term of endearment rather than a name, but Lang in Agora 21 refers to SEG 22.237 [LGNP ii lists under unaccented Μελῑς, which does not settle the question whether the name is masculine or feminine]. Talcott gives parallels for the phrasing: CIG 541: Ἰππεος [sic] καλὸς Ἀριστομέδει δοκεῖ (Gr. on an unbaked tile). Cf. D.M. Robinson, TAPA 65 (1934) 135. RF alabastron, London E 718: Ἀφροδισία καλέ; and: τὸς δοκεῖ Εὐχίροϊ. RF lekythos in Naples (3135), Kretschmer, Vas. 109: καλέ δοκεῖς. - Phi with horizontal cross bar. - Attic alphabet.

(1)Agora 21, p. 14 prints τo, but comments: "τo seems to be τῶ; for the form see LSJ, s.v. τῶ(c) ['therefore, then'; but this seems to be poetic]." GAI ii, 340 suggests that TO is = τω<ο>, to someone'.(2)so Agora 21, with the comment: "the third letter was originally read as theta, but compare other theta-like phi's: D 15 [Agora P 12,212], F 43 [Agora P 8]." Talcott, reading Μεθερε, compares Acr. ii, 1493, q.v. [where Peek's reading is μ'ἔφερε, but should perhaps also be μὲ φέρει, do not ..] and an unexplained inscription cited by Kretschmer, Vas. 200. Lang does not explain what μὲ φέρει means.

- D] A kind of stoich., determined by the squares. The grid no doubt for a board game, see 'Script', p. 105, n. 36. Lang says about the second name: "The name ..., which should perhaps be read as Πρ<α>ξων, is more probably genitive and gives the paternity, whether physical or figurative, of Therikles." Entered in LGPN ii as Πύξων. - For the invocation θεοί see R. Pounder's dissertation on this subject.

- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the bottom, in two lines, Gr.:(2) [κα]ταπυγ[ὸν] and Αριστομε[νες].
- D] Numerous scratches over the word καταπύγων suggested to V.&S. that an attempt was made to erase the word. I am not convinced that the words are one inscription. It could be that we have a kalos-inscription for Aristomenes, while someone added the pejorative, which was then scratched out. Aristomenes occurs as kalos on a RF lekythos, Syracuse 21130, ARV(2) 535/1 and 1167, by the Aristomenes Painter who recalls the Alkimachos Painter; probably late in the second quarter of the fifth cent., hence not much, if any, earlier than the Gr. (which Beazley does not mention). - Mixed alphabet?

- D] Top of a rectangular sherd; neat. Not quite certain that it is an ostrakon (Vanderpool). Not in Agora 21. Lang in Agora 25 points to the differences in script and spelling from other ostraca of Eukrates and wonders if it is the same person (but still considers this sherd an ostrakon).

- D] + Agora P 3272. The readings of P 3272 after Lang; they seem very doubtful. Lang rightly considers these alphabets a series of exercises. The first line of P 6074 is an imitation rather than a false start. Digamma U-shaped. Theta once omitted. The rho in 3272 is reversed. The lambda is very uncertain.

- B] Head, shoulders and start of outstretched arm of wreathed youth to right.
- C] above the head, horizontal: --(ρ)[--].(1)
- L] Ionic? (The lambda is.)
- D] Inscription in white.

(1)so apparently the ph. in Agora 30, pl. 71, but the letters are unclear: the alpha may be a gamma and the rho is smudged; if a rho, it would be tailed rho with a round head. Van Hoorn's reading is impossible as there are probably only two letters on the fr. (unless a dot near the left-hand break is part of another letter); his λ α , λ κ , λ η (?) must be possible readings of the two extant letters. My earlier reading from van Hoorn's ph., 'λ κ ', is certainly possible. The sketch on Moore's p. 237 is altogether different and does not agree with the ph.: --ς. (.) is drawn as the bottom of a diagonal line from left to right.

(1)restored by Lang, who wonders if this indicates joint ownership. Note the form εμμ (for εμμμ), rare in Attica, GAI i, 176.

- D] Two frs. Most of center is missing. M.&P. say that the blots are either branches reduced to dots or imitation inscriptions; I think clearly the latter.

(1)silhouette technique.

and ending at the feet: [-]α. On the right, downward, somewhat higher up: [φιλ]οτεσιον.
- D] + Agora P 8890. [Large and irregular letters, probably written by the user, not the potter.] Attic alphabet. The alpha omitted in the text of Agora 21. The second inscription not certainly complete fore; see Beazley's remarks. For the word, see Lang, who cites Ar., Lysistr. 203. For subject of the Int., cf. also Shapiro, AJA 85, 1981, 133-143. Moore does not explain what P 8890 is; it must join. The restoration is

- C] A: fr. a: to right of the youth's head, in two irregular lines, roughly horizontal, : [Επιλυκ]^ος(1) and below, curved: καλος.
- . . .
- D] Two frs. The ph. in Agora 30, pl. 129, shows that ARV(2) is wrong about the kappa (printing as it does: [Επιλυ]κος). The sketch on p. 316 also does not show it. For Epilykos see H.A. Shapiro, 'Epilykos kalos,' Hesp. 52 (1988) 305-310. The inscription is in red.

- C] A: above Athena's aegis: κα[-]. In front of Heracles' chest: α[-].(1) B: behind the youth's head and above his arm: [-]α[-].
- D] Three frs.: a+b, c, d. [The letters are perhaps part of ho παις καλος.]

(1)the beginning of this inscription was probably to left of the figure of Heracles: [-]α[-].

- B] A: fr. a: head of warrior to right; upper part of another warrior to right, holding a spear; perhaps trace of another spear. B(?): fr. b: parts of two figures to right.
- C] A: fr. a: between the heads, horizontal: ^παι^[ς].(2)

D] Two frs.

(1)at one time connected by Beazley with the Chelis Group (see Moore), but not in ARV(2). (2)the iota is faint but shows definitely in the ph., pl. 129. ^ marks the two heads. The sigma may be to right of the right-hand warrior's head; the sketch on p. 1405 has παῖς. Probably [ho] παῖς καλός or the like. In fact, Roberts gives [ho] πα[ις καλός]. But it could also be just ho παῖς.-My note from Roberts says that this fr. is from a cup of the same diameter and by the same hand as Agora P 24,068. I think she means by the same potter's hand. Moore does not comment on the pottery work.

- C] Int.: On the BG offset rim, in purple:
Αγασικ<ρ>ατ[ε]ς : καλ[ο]ς.(3)
- D] Type C. Inscription in red. Large 'ornamental' letters.

(1)compared by Beazley with a WG/RF cup in Gotha (ARV(2) 20) which shows the influence of artists like Euphronios and the Sosias Painter; the Agora cup recalls Euphronios. (2)Mostly missing. (3)there is an excess of space in both bracketed areas, which I cannot explain.

- B] At left, part of a woman's head and raised hand(?); upper part of Zeus with scepter to right; eagle flying to right.
- C] Between the scepter and the eagle: Ζε[υς].(1)
- D] Two frs.

(1)the sketch on Moore's p. 237 shows a long vertical, dotted, and an epsilon; the ph. on pl. 71 shows a discolored area and an epsilon followed by a bit of sound glaze and a discolored area. But I think the reading must be correct

- C] On underside, Gr.: Δι(.). Ν.

D] Ligature of delta, iota and a beta-shaped letter (pointed).
Lang considers this non-Attic, with beta = ε or η. She seems to take it for the beginning of a proper name.

Context: 520-490. *Lang, Agora 21, F 15, pl. 12 (dr.).

need not be Attic.

- A] Fragmentary BG olpe. From Athens. Unattributed. Early fifth.
*Lang, Agora 21, 59/Ha 1, pl. 32 (dr.). Agora 12, 78, n. 12 and 380. *Vidi.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the shoulder, just below the neck and starting to right of the handle, Gr.: $\mu\eta\epsilon\tau\rho\iota\omicron$.
- D] A small vase. The rho nearly D-shaped. Lang reads $\mu\eta\epsilon\tau\rho\iota\omicron$, a measure (medium-sized jug, or referring to the contents, not strong or weak); her eta is a misunderstanding of the combination mu-heta (cf. e.g. Agora 12, p. 380). She does not discuss the ending, which seems unlikely at this early date, but Agora 12 compares a (possibly Attic) olpe from Rhodes (Clara Rhodos 3, 111, pl. 3) which has the BG Dip.
 $\mu\epsilon\tau\rho\iota\omicron$ [sic]. Nevertheless, a reading $\text{M}\eta\epsilon\tau\rho\langle\omicron\rangle\iota\omicron$ is intriguing: the olpe was found in a well containing many olpae (perhaps a cleanup from a public building, see Agora 12, p. 288, E 14: 5), in an area to the South of where the archaic Metroon was probably situated, and the rho has a shape somewhat resembling an omicron. The olpe would have been the property of the Metroon. A proper name $\text{M}\acute{\epsilon}\tau\rho\iota\omicron\varsigma$ does not seem to occur; compare however Agora P 8848, which has A[-] in the same position on a similar vase. -For $\mu\eta$, cf.
 $\mu\eta\sigma\langle\omicron\rangle\omicron\iota$, IG i(3), 1023 = i(2) 837, GAI ii, 330. - The inscription is now fully discussed by me in ZPE 151 (2005) 100-104, where I suggest $\mu\eta\epsilon\tau\rho\iota\omicron$ sc. $\omicron\iota\upsilon\upsilon$ (gen. of content).

(1)my reading. Beazley has Θυμῆ[-] and thinks probably Θυμηδία [name of another maenad]. The sketch in Agora 30, p. 197 shows the fourth letter as the upper part of a diagonal from upper left to center. This does not agree with the restoration of Thymedia, whether with epsilon or eta. The sketch must be in error. Moore's index on p. 419 has Θυμη[ηδία(?)].

- A] Fr. of RF cup. From Athens. Painter of Bologna 417 (Penthesilean). Second quarter fifth. Ca. 450-440 (Moore). *Photo. ARV(2) 913/114. *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 325/1443, pl. 136 (shows inscriptions).
- B] A: symposium(?) (Moore): shoulder of one to left; part of himation of another to left.(1)
- C] A: to right of back of head and shoulder of left figure, horizontal, non-stoich. and not left-aligned: καλος|καλος.
- D] In large letters. Typical Penthesilean writing.

(1)ARV(2) has only one figure.

Athens, Agora P 9275.

- A] Fragmentary BF stand. From Athens, AgoraM 17:4. Unattributed.(1) First quarter fifth. Ca. 500-490 (M.&P.). *Agora 23, 174/575, pl. 55. *T.L. Shear, Hesp. 7 (1938) 343f., fig. 24 (photo.) and 25 (dr.); idem, AJA 41 (1937) 179/80, fig. 4. D.B. Thompson, Garden Lore (Picture Book 8, 1963), ill. 38. J. McK. Camp, Gods and Heroes (Picture Book 19, 1980), ill. 14.
- B] Artemis mounting a chariot; palm tree; Apollo facing the horses; palm tree and deer.
- C] Nonsense: above the horses' backs: οιε. Between the horses' legs: ορειο.(2) In front of the horses' legs, facing them (rather than Apollo: οιφεογ).(3)
- D] Ht.: 13.4 cm. Largish letters.

(1)compared by Moore to work by the Diosphos Painter and the Golonos Group (ABV 481/δ). (2)so M.&P. and Hesp. 7; but photos. in AJA 41 and Agora 23 seems to show: ορε υ.ο. (3)so dr. in Hesp. 7; M.&P. give οιεειε; there is damage to the third and sixth letters: οιφεογ(??).

404.

Athens, Agora P 9356.

- A] Fr. of RF cup. From Athens, Agora M 18:8. Hermaios Painter. Last quarter fifth. Ca. 510 (Moore). *ARV(2) 110/9. *Photo. *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 337/1533, pl. 145 (exc. picture for inscriptions).
- B] Int.: lower part of male reclining and probably playing the flutes; his himation falls to below the couch; at left, part of a cushion; at bottom, trace of the reserved contour line.
- C] Int.: to left of the himation, under the couch: [---]φιλοςδ(v).(1) To right of the garment, also below the couch: vac. 1 voov, followed by a break.(2)

D] Inscriptions are in large clear letters. In red. Attic alphabet.

(1)the nu is reversed; it hits the garment. The restoration is Beazley's. I think a part of what is pretty clearly a phi is visible in Agora 30, ph., pl. 144.

(2)Beazley does not note the vacat before the first nu which makes a restoration more difficult. The inscription cannot be read retr., as the nu's are orthograde. Perhaps the writing is irregular. Beazley, in addition to suggesting φ[ίλος ὦν for the first inscription suggests a name such as [Χού]νοον or a snatch of song for the second; he compares the skolion Diehl 18: καθαρὸν θεμένη νόον. But it may be nonsense. Since the phi seems to confirm Beazley's suggestion and because of the large and clear lettering I no longer think the first inscription might be nonsense.

- A] Fr. of RF eye cup. From Athens, Agora L-N 16-18. Oltos (Moore). Ca. 510 (Moore). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 316/1400, pl. 129.
- B] A: part of an eye and eyebrow.
- C] A: to right of the eyebrow: κα[-].
- D] Done from the sketch on p. 316.

Athens, Agora P 9457.

- A] Fr. of BF prize Panathenaic. From Athens, Agora U 22:5. Unattributed. First half fourth? (M.&P.: but see below). *Agora 23, 137/279, pl. 31.
- B] A: part of a column shaft.
- C] A: to left of the column, not facing: [τον Αθε]νεθεν αθλον.
- D] Attic alphabet with Ionic lambda. The lettering is not calligraphic but stilted [it looks late]. - The inscription seems to be on the right side of the picture (right-hand column!) as there is a considerable vacat at the left; hence Athena probably faced right and the fr. is presumably later than mid-fourth. The prize inscription appears in this position in the Nikomachos series: London B 607, 336/5 B.C.; Louvre MN 704 (323/2); Louvre MNB 3223 (324/3); cf. also London B 607.1.

- B] A: left hand holding up a purse to right, belonging to a woman or a man (so Moore); at right, head and hand of youth or woman to left, wrapped in a himation.

- C] In the field: --[λ]ος. (.) is a vertical stroke the top of which disappears in a break; it is hardly an alpha. [A name?]
- D] Done from the sketch in Agora 30. [I would think this is a male lover approaching a boy.] Inscription in red.

- A] Fr. of a lekane glazed inside. From Athens. Unattributed. Second quarter fifth (Lang). Talcott, *Hesp. suppl. 5, 143, fig. 71/35. *Agora 21, C 14, pl. 5 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms. 'Script' 725a.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the outside, vertical to the pot, hence probably written on the sherd, Gr.:

--]|ος και h[--
--]σα και X[--
--]|ον ε̂βε[ν̄οντο--(1)
--]ε̂βε[ν̄ετ[ο-- vacat

- D] Restored as a list of couples who had heterosexual intercourse (βινε̄ιν). Cf. also Athens, Acr. ii, 256 (see Peek, ibid., p. 131; Collitz-Bechtel 7 and Bechtel, Griech. Dialekte ii, 829(Elis); Hiller von Gaertringen, Inschriften von Priene (1906) no. 317. - Note the word separation by spacing. Epsilons with short horizontal hastas (as on the Stoa of the Athenians at Delphi). On βινέω see GAI i, 138; cf. Acr. ii, 256.

(1)Or --|ον, a girl. The verb could be singular as is the following.

- A] Fr. from rim of a RF calyx krater. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *Talcott, Hesp. Suppl. 5 (1941) 141/30, figs. 69 and 70,b (drs.). *Vidi. *Photo.
- B] Band of slanting palmettes.
- C] Grr.: scratched in the reserved bands above and below the palmettes: upper band: (υ)[.]\'(τ)γ(ι)ρ.(1) Lower: ζh(ε)τυ.γ(ρ)ρ(.)[--].(2)
- D] Nonsense, i.e. meaningless scribbles? The first line nearly illegible, the second clear. One rho is miswritten.

(1)complete. (2)epsilon retr., but the inscription does not seem to be; the last letter, a hasta \, is uncertain.

409.

Athens, Agora P 9837.

- A] Fr. of SOS amphora. From Athens. Unattributed. Late seventh

- or early sixth. *Agora 8, 33 and fig. 1 (dr.).
- B] No decoration preserved.
 - C] Gr.: [--]εγϞ[--].
 - D] A small fr. not included by me in 'Script'. Not in Agora 12 or 21. How do we know that it is from an SOS amphora? - Attic gamma.

410.

Athens, Agora P 9978.

- A] Fr. (chip) of a clay object (lamp?). From Athens. Unattributed. Second half fifth. *Vidi + *museum card.
- B] No decoration preserved.
- C] On the outer face, in white, two non-stoich. lines following the rim are partially preserved:
 [--]θε[.]ν|[--]ηκεΠ[--]. Under the glaze,
 preliminary sketch:
 [--]θεφ[.]ν|[--]ηκε : Π[...]ς [---].
- D] From a massive clay object hollowed in the middle; two BG surfaces are preserved on this very tiny fr. Found in Tholos trench A in disturbed fill. NOT A VASE; probably a lamp. Probably a dedication, e.g. [ὁ δῆνα ταῖν or Μητρὶ]θεῶ[.]ν|[--]ἄνέθ[.]ηκε : Π[...]ς [nomen patris? ---]. But the eta may be a vertical plus an upsilon, hence the name of a female dedicator, and the pi may be an Ionic gamma; hence perhaps: [ταῖν or Μητρὶ]θεῶ[.]ν|-υκε : Γ[...]ς |[ἀνέθηκεν], which gives better spacing. The final sigma of the father's name is only a bit of a top diagonal stroke. Clearly a bespoke piece.

Athens, Agora P 10,007.

- A] Frs. of prize Panathenaic. From Athens, Agora B 13:5. Robinson Group. Second half fifth (M.&P.). *Vanderpool, Hesp. 15 (1946) 123/4, pls. 15 and 16,1,3. *Agora 23, 134/256, pl. 29. Meddelelser [sic?] fra Ny Carlsberg Glyptothek 37 (1981) 44, fig. 15. ABV 410/1, Add.(2) 106.
- B] A: Athena. B: fragmentary: chariot with charioteer.
- C] A: to right of the left column, starting under the capital and facing the column: τ[ο]ν Αθενεθεν αθλον].

412.

Athens, Agora P 10,019.

- A] Fr. of RF krater. From Athens. Unattributed. Third quarter fifth. *Vidi + *Museum card.
- B] A: at left, olive branch; below it, top of a head.
- C] A: above the head, in white, horizontal: Σκιρων.(1)
- D] Ionic alphabet. The sigma, two superimposed C's.

(1)small gaps between the first three letters.

Athens, Agora P 10,151.

- A] Fragmentary BG one-handled mug. From Athens. Unattributed. Context: first half seventh. First quarter seventh (Lang).

*Agora 8, no. 194, pl. 10 (phot.) and p. 33, fig. 1 (dr.).
Vanderpool and Stamires ms. *Lang, Agora 21, F 1, pl. 11 (dr.).
*'Script' 27, Fig. 4.

- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the side wall, probably starting to left of the handle,
Gr.: --]λατιχος, retr.
- D] Lang suggests Elatichos, unknown, or third declension genitive; she says that many other options exist. If the
Gr. started near the handle, the name should be longer.
V.&S., not seeing the lambda, suggested Straticchos. On the previous reading --]ατιχος and J.M.Cook's suggestion [Ψαμ]άτιχος see 'Script'. Only the lower tip of the lambda is preserved.

- B] Woman and man (parts).
- C] Between them, vertically: [Φσ?]ολεας επ[οιει].
- D] Psoleas? (Beazley, AJA). [Bo]λεας, Ruigh; see Brijder.
Psoleas from φόλος, soot, see 'Script'. Vanderpool restores the imperfect for reasons of space. Agora 23 gives no restoration.

(1)uncertain type. (2)ABV, Agora 23.

- A] Fr. of BF prize Panathenaic. From Athens, Agora G-H 10-11.

- B] A: at right, rim of Athena's shield to left.
- C] To left of it, vertically down, in two lines:
[---]εποιεσεν(2) and below: [hΑνδρογε]νῶς, both retr.(3)
Originally in three lines.
- D] The signature should be as on Ceramicus PA 443: Υπεριδης εποιεσεν hΑνδρογενῶς. Frel pointed out that the handwriting is the same on both vases. A third vase with this signature is Beaulieu-sur-Mer, Villa Grecque
'Kerylos', fr. q.v.

(1)Context: middle sixth. (2)there is a BG stroke along the left-hand edge after the nu, but it is lower than the letters and not part of the inscription. (3) claimed to be stoich. by M.&P., which is highly unlikely at this early date, and in fact does not work out if the inscription was the same as on Ceramicus PA 443.

Athens, Agora P 10,270.

- A] Fr. of RF pyxis. From Athens. Unattributed. Cf. Jena Painter (Beazley). Early fourth. 400 or a little later (Beazley). *Beazley, AJA 54 (1950) 320. *Vidi. 'Script' 828a. *Beazley Archive db, no. 16,199. LIMC iii, pl. 271 Demonassa 2,2.

- D] No column preserved; if there was one, the inscription would be to its left, between it and the margin. Probably a very early fr., perhaps ante 550.

(1)information from J. Binder. Not in Agora 23.

- B] Upper part of a youth to right, holding out his cloak. Above him, part of an open rectangle.(2)
- C] To right of his face, bearing slightly downward:
ηεκα[δεμος].
- D] Beazley's identification (in AJA) with the hero of the Academy is confirmed by the inscription [h]όρος τῆς ηεκαδεμείας on the boundary stone Travlos, op. cit., figs. 56-57; O. Alexandri, AAA 1 (1968) 101-103, cover. Large letters. Closed heta.

- A] Small fr. of a lekane, BG on inside only. From Athens. Unattributed. Early fifth (Lang). *Lang, /, 9 B 5, pl. 2 (dr.). *Vidi. 'Script' 1179.
- B] No figured decoration.
- C] On the inside, i.e., on the sherd, Gr.:

--]EPΓN[--(1)
--]ANTIB[--
--]ΕΣΟΝΑ[--(2)
--].ΝΔΟ.[--
--]E|υ.[--

- D] The above readings are a combination of Lang's text, Lang's dr., the museum card and my own (uncertain) readings. The text is difficult to read. Lang gives a slightly different text and a tentative restoration:

[ύπ]ἐρ Γν[άθωνος
ὁ δεῖνα] Ἀντιβ[ίω
]ος Ὀνά[σῶ
ὁ δεῖνα] Ἀνδοκ[ίδῶ
]ΕΙ [

Note that text and dr. in Agora 21 differ somewhat. - The alphabet probably Ionic. Neat and "bookish" letters.

(1)I saw a scratched-up letter, not a nu. (2)yje first letter not an omicron as Lang.

423.

- A] Fragmentary BG salt cellar. From Athens. Unattributed. Fifth. *Agora 21, 38/F 118, pl. 16 (dr.). Museum card.

- C] On the outside wall, in two lines, Gr.:

- D] Neat writing which looks rather early in the fifth century. Lang suggests Πολ]ύκτορος, which is "heroic and non-Athenian". Unexplained.

- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the inside, Gr. 1: Σμυ<. On outside, Gr. 2: ΠΑΡΑΜΥΝΩΤΟΣ, Lang, but see below.
- D] Regarding Gr. 2, I think that τος and νω were written after Παράμυ-, and with a broader instrument. The right end of omega goes over the end of the mu. Read Παράμυ·θος, cf. PA 11626-32. τος and νω are unexplained.-Listed in GAI i, 38, in a list of early occurrences of Ionic letters in Grr.

B: preserves parts of three youths, the first from the left turning back and carrying a Panathenaic amphora.

- C] A: starting above the forehead of the first youth from the left: Κοπρεὺς. Above the head of the flautist: Χρυσ[ογονος].(1) B: above the amphora: Εὐπονπ[ος].(2)
- D] The inscriptions after the sketches in Agora 30. Kopreus is known as a mythical name; Eupompos is given by Pape as a human name. But this is probably not a mythological scene. It cannot be connected with the Herakleidai of Euripides (Riemann). Inscriptions in white.

(1)the figure recognized by J. Binder as a flautist and identified with Chrysogonos, Alcibiades' flute player. See Moore further. LGPN ii, s.v. 17 refers to I.E. Stephanis, Διονυσιακοί Τεχνίται (Herakleion 1988) 2637. (2)Beazley, by letter, 1937. Bea. Arch. reads EUPOMP[OI]. [Seems doubtful to me.]

Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 199/390, fig. 23 (dr., shows inscription), pl. 49.
- B] A: high up: wreathed head of Triptolemos in 3/4 view, and his raised right hand; at right, part of a scepter (hence restore a female divinity); there probably was another female figure on the left.(1) T. was probably represented floating in the air in his chariot, not standing as Schwarz thinks.
- C] A: above the head: Τριπτολεμο[s].
- D] Widely spaced and neat letters.

(1)so Corbett, but see Agora 30: the remains beside the figure are on the left, there is no trace on the right (according to the dr., fig. 23). - A] Fr. of a large BG open bowl. From Athens. Undecorated. Late fifth. *Vidi. Vanderpool and Stamires ms. *Agora 21, 54/G 7, pl. 30 (dr.).
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the Ext., just below the rim, in a taenia with tassels(1), Gr.: [ὁ δεινὰ τοῖ Ἡφαίστοιοι ἄνέθηκεν.
- D] For the vase shape, cf. Agora P 10,577, Agora 12, 241/70, pl. 4, dated 425-400. For inscriptions in a taenia see the Jacobsthal Festschrift and S. Dow, HSCP 41 (1930) 63-72, pls. 1-2. The restoration was suggested by V.&S. (as "not the only possible one"), after a dedication to Hephaestus on a roof tile(2) found about 20m away (Hesp. 8 (1939) 214-15); it is followed by Lang. A deeply incised ornamental inscription in clear and even letters. Mixed alphabet.

(1)I think the taenia is incised too. Only the tassel at the right is preserved, but there is a vertical divider after Ἡφαίστοιοι. (2)not entered in CAVI, as no number is given here and it is not a vase.

- A] Fr. of BF calyx krater.(1) From Athens, Agora O-Q 18-19. Unattributed. Last quarter sixth. Ca. 520-510 (M.&P.). *Agora 23, 165/503, pl. 47.
- B] A: lower legs and feet of males to left.
- C] A: on the cul, in large and well spaced letters, horizontal: [-]ισπυγα[-].(2)

- D] The inscription is said to be a nonsense inscription by M.&P., but it is very well written and the ending recalls καταπύγαινα.

(1) from wall and cul, with start of handle. (2) the last letter the bottom of a diagonal stroke, alpha, gamma, lambda(?), nu(?), sigma(?), chi 1. The first letter is complete according to the photo.; the sketch shows it as incomplete.

445.

Athens, Agora P 12,212.

- A] Fr. from wall of a BG amphora. From Athens. Unattributed. First half sixth. *Lang, Agora 21, 18/D 15, pl. 7 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
B] Undecorated.
C] On the inside, Gr.: Ευ(φ)ρο[---], retr.
D] Name-on-sherd. - V.&S. discuss whether the third letter is an incomplete theta (Euthron occurs in an inscription from Issa in Dalmatia, CIG ii, 1834), but prefer Euphron or Euphronios, as does Lang (who also refers to Euthronios, Agora 21, F 43, Ευθρονηδ[ō], early fifth, which however is probably Ευ(φ)ρονηδ[ō], with phi miswritten as theta. For the shapes of phi see 'Script' 163-64, and the parallels given by Lang.

446.

Athens, Agora P 12,336.

- A] Fr. of base of BG pyxis. From Athens. Unattributed. Second half fifth. *Vanderpool and Stamires ms. *Lang, Agora 21, 53/G 6, pl. 30.
B] Undecorated.
C] Lang:
(a) Gr. on projecting flange:
ν]ε τον Δια και τον Α[πολλωνα ...]
]εοι τεισαιτο vacat
(b) Gr. within ring-foot:
και τον [---]
νε τō[ς αλλōς θεō[ς
(c) Gr. on floor:
]κος(1)
V.&S.:
(a) Gr. on bottom:
Ν]ε τον Δια και τον Α[πολλō και τον
Δεμετρα και τον Αθενασαν και τον Ποσειδō] και τον [Αρε]. νε τō[ς θεō[ς παντας] αι θ[εοι τε ισαι το vacat.
(b) Gr. on the floor:
--](.)ος
D] Schweigert saw that (a) is the formula of an oath; cf. Acr. ii, 1445: [---]ραι και Κλεταγορη φιλετα(ι)[ροι] | [νη τ]ον Δια και την Δημητρα. Lang thinks one or two other deities may have been added in the first line of (a), which must have been followed by a wish that a certain person be avenged or punished; (b) was then added to include one more deity and the other Olympian gods. V.&S. had considered (a) and (b) as one inscription and added many divinities. - τεῖσαιτο is clearly to be preferred to τεῖσαιτο, but since no personal name is extant we cannot know if the oath is an affirmation or a curse. Lang's version, however, lacks any reference to female divinities. The inscription needs further study.

(1)there are many scratches on this Gr.; see pl. 30.

- B] Youth (neck, chest, hair) with a mantle over his shoulder.
- C] On the left, at chest height: [-]v vacat.
- D] From the wall of a large closed pot; a very small fr. M.&P. think the inscription gave the youth's name; "thus, the scene is mythological."(1) Nu is P.-M.'s reading; V. said only, "traces of a letter(?) ..., perhaps nu or sigma". But nu seems right.

(1)Why is that? Names of daily life not this early?

448a.

Athens, Agora P 12,492.

- A] Fr. of RF bell krater. From Athens, Agora P 8:5. Time of Polygnotos (Beazley verbally in 1953). Ca. 440-430 (Moore). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 219/562, pl. 58. *ARV(2) 1613.

- C] A: Two-liner: [-]μος and below it: [κα]λος. Agora 30, index vi, reads: Νικοδημος(?).
- D] Not attributed in ARV(2). "Nikodemos would perhaps suit for

- B] Fr. a: an onlooker's staff; head and shoulders of a warrior with raised spear. Fr. b: part of a warrior's leg.
- C] Fr. a: to right of the warrior's helmet: nonsense: Ϝκνσ[-] .(2)
- D] Two frs. Small hasty letters. May be complete at end.

(1)M.&P.; by the same hand as Boston 98.923 (Bothmer), ABV 169/3, Para. 71/3, CV USA 14, pl. 25, which has similar inscriptions. (2)wrongly(?) given as]εκνσ in the sketch, Agora 23, p. 198.

- A] Fr. of (BF) band cup. From Athens, Agora. Unattributed. Third quarter sixth. Ca. 550-530 (M.&P.). *Agora 23, 303/1705, pl. 110.
- B] No figured decoration preserved: lower part of lip and upper part of handle zone.
- C] Nonsense? A: handle zone: [-]γξτισφε[-] .
- D] Unclear whether nonsense or sense. The letters are fairly large and archaic looking. The lower parts of all the letters are missing, but all except the first are unambiguous. Is $\text{[-]έαν] ξέτις φέ [ρεί[-]}$ too speculative?

Athens, Agora P 12,629.

- A] Fr. of an unglazed tile. From Athens. Unattributed. Third quarter sixth (context). *Vanderpool, Hesp. 8 (1939) 258/9, fig. 15. *LSAG 78/33, pl. 4 (phot.). *The James Sprunt Studies 46 (1964) 16/2. Lang, 0Agora 21, G 1, pl. 30 (dr.). 'Script' 293. GAI i, 177.

- B] Undecorated.
 C] Written on the sherd, Gr.: ἡρμ<εῖ> εἶμ' ἄγαλμα.
 D] NOT A VASE. - Vanderpool gives Schweigert's reading: Ἐρμ' εἶμ' ἄγαλμα, "I am Hermes' statue." Jeffery prefers: ἡρμ<εῖ>μ' ἄγαλμα..., "may be an imperfect draft ... for a sculptor who was making a Hermes statue for some client" (LSAG 74 and n. 2). Lang reads: ἡρμ<εῖ>|μ' ἄγαλ|μα, and says: "An informal label on a dedication: "To Hermes (someone dedicated) me, a pleasing gift." The above reading is from Sprunt Studies, where I also suggest an alternative: ἡέρμ(α)εἶμ<ι> ἄγαλμα. In both readings I assume an anonymous dedication of a 'stone' added to a stone pile. Perhaps metrical, since elided?

From Athens. Unattributed. Late fifth (Lang). *Lang, Agora 21, 90/L 7, pl. 56 (dr.). *Vidi.
- B] The only decoration is a band on rim and top of shoulder.
- C] Along the edge of glaze on the shoulder, Gr.:
[-υ]παίθριος ΟΒΟΛΟ[-].
- D] Unintelligible. Listed by Lang as an unclassified notation. She prints: ὑπαίθριος ὀβολός, with the comment: "But why a "spit in the open air"? A cook-out? Or is it ὑπαίθριος ὀβόλος?" βόλος is a throw or a catch; this may be right and the line poetic? - The first omicron seems to have been added later; the third has a short vertical line within. Rather good writing.

(1)glaze in band on rim and top of shoulder; inside unglazed. Wide mouth.

- A] Fr. of large G(?) pot. From Athens. Unattributed. Sixth (inscription); probably late sixth. *Agora 21, 20/D 26, pl. 8 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
- B] Traces of dull BG outside.
- C] Grr.: on the inside: Πανσιας.(1) On the outside: Πρα<ι>.(2)
- D] Names-on-sherd; used twice. A line on the inside is not explained. Mixed alphabet.

(1)a corner of the sherd is broken off at left. (2)or Πρα with an abbreviation mark? Name in Πραξι-?

Athens, Agora P 13,251.

- A] Fr. of large G(?) pot. From Athens. Unattributed. Sixth (inscription); should be late sixth. *Agora 21, 20/D 27, pl. 8 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
- B] Two BG bands.
- C] On the inside, Gr. with end boustr.: Διατελε|ς.(1)
- D] Name-on-sherd. The name is said to be unknown. There are some scratches in line 2. Mixed alphabet.

(1)only the final sigma is written under the line, as there was no space on the sherd; the preceding epsilon is cramped.

463.

Athens, Agora P 13,282.

- A] Fr. of a small closed vase, BG outside. From Athens. Unattributed. Early fifth (context). *Agora 21, A 4, pl. 1 (dr.). *Vidi. 'Script' 925.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On outside wall, Gr.: αβγδ[---
- D] Alphabet. Dotted delta: cf. Agora P 7247.

- A] Fr. from wall of a closed vase. From Athens, Agora. Unattributed. Early sixth (context). *Agora 21, 12/C 2, pl. 4 (facs. of Gr.). GAI i, 138 (parallels).
- B] No figured decoration.
- C] On outside of wall, Gr.: [--]ος βεν[ει --].
- D] From βινέω, to fuck. See Acr. ii, 256 (CAVI 1318).

464.

Athens, Agora P 13,323.

- A] Fr. of Late PA amphora.(1) From Athens, Agora F-G 12:1. Unattributed. Third quarter seventh (Brann). *Brann, Agora 8, no. 577, pls. 37 (phot.) and 44 (dr.). *Agora 23, 117/129 (not ill.). *'Script' 16, Fig. 5. LSAG(2) 430/5,f.
- B] Upper part of a bearded male, perhaps a male siren (Brann); protome or siren (Agora 23).
- C] From the back of the head and along the back: Νυχτροπαιδίας, retr.
- D] Brann read νυχτροπαιδίας; so also Agora 23.(2) I assume that Νυχτρο- is for Νυκτο-, but the name, if it is a name, remains unexplained. A bearded male siren appears on an Attic fr. from Izmir: BSA 53-54 (1958-59, 163/6; parallels). Four-stroke sigma, reversed and with curved hastae.

(1)from the neck. (2)the first two iotas given as short raised vertical strokes in the sketch.

Athens, Agora P 13,333.

- A] Fr. from the neck of a coarse unglazed water jar. From Athens. Unattributed. Early sixth. *Lang, Agora 21, 18/D 9, pl. 7 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms.

B] Undecorated.

C] On the outside, vertical to the pot, Gr.: Περαιαδ[---].(1)

D] Unclear. The inscription close to the top margin of the sherd, in the early manner.

(1)Περαιαδ̄ε (a label) or Περαιαδ̄<ε̄ς> (name-on-sherd, unknown) (Lang).

A] Frs. of BF(?) lip cup. From Athens. Tleson Painter. Tleson potter. Third quarter sixth. *Thompson, Hesp. suppl. 4 (1940) 14/d, fig. 12,d. *Agora 23, 300/1686 (not ill.). ABV 182/28. Museum card.

B] Only handle palmettes are preserved.

C] Fr. g: handle zone: [Τλεσὸν ἠο Νεαρχ]ῶ ἐποίησ[εν]. Fr.

h: [---]ν[---].(1)

D] 14 frs. Typical hand of Tleson Painter.

(1)so M.&P., saying it belongs to one of the two names. ABV wrongly gives a final, and reversed, nu. The museum card (also wrongly?) has: ---ν vacat, which would be from ΕΠΟΙΗΣΕΝ.

467.

Athens, Agora P 13,360.

A] Fr. of wall of coarse unglazed water jar. From Athens. Unattributed. Mid-sixth. *Lang, Agora 21, 19/D 18, pl. 8 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms.

B] Undecorated.

C] On the wall, Gr.: [---]λεσις | Λόρο[---?].(1)

D] Name(s)-on-sherd. Interpretation uncertain.

(1)V.&S. did not read the final sigma (which is reversed and looks different from the other) and suggested [Τ]λεσί[α]ς. Lang follows the dr. and restores: [κ]λε̄σις | Λόρο̄, "perhaps an invitation or a summons of a man named Lokros." This seems to me unlikely. Perhaps [Τ]λεσί<α>ς? The second name may be incomplete and thus be another man: Λόρο[ς]?

A] Fr. of RF cup. From Athens, Agora R 19. Unattributed.(1) Ca. 510-500 (Moore). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 344/1582, pl. 149 (shows inscription).

B] Int.: a woman seated to right and holding out a naked child (the heads missing); at right, a kalathos.

C] Int.: to right of the child, below his arm, upward and facing: ην^[-], retr.

D] Type C. Closed heta; for late occurrences of this see 'Script' 142. I doubt that the inscription is nonsense.

- B] A: horse head. B: similar.
- C] A: in upper left corner, Dip. in BG: η<ερος>.
- D] A similar inscription, Gr.: New York 51.11.3, related to Lydos. Bothmer refers to Hesp. 9 (1940) 187, fig. 25, no. 100. - η< is also found on Villa Giulia 74,967, BF Panathenaic, near Mastos Painter; see TGV 177/7 (bibl.). - Closed heta without the bottom horizontal.

(1)panel amphora. (2)for horsehead amphoras see ABV 15ff. Related to the New York - Athens Group (Birchall).

- A] Fr. of (BF) plate. From Athens, Agora N 18:7. Unattributed.(1) Last quarter sixth. Ca. 520-510 (M.&P.). *Agora 23, 272/1425, pl. 97.
- B] No figured decoration preserved.
- C] On the reserved rim, widely spaced, in BG: [-]λ[.]ια[-].
- D] M.&P. suggest [Μη]λ[τ]ιά[δε]ς], referring to Miltiades kalos on Oxford 310, RF plate by Paseas, ARV(2) 163/8. The name, with kalos, would fill 1/2 of the circumference, leaving room for another inscription. Another possibility is: [Καλ]λ[ι]α[ς]καλός] as on Malibu 86.AE.76, ex Bareiss 13, Para. 140/6, BF neck amphora, 3-line Group. [The double lambda is not an obstacle to the second suggestion.] Perhaps a bespoken piece.

(1)compared by M.&P. to BF plates by Psiax.

- B] Banding only.
- C] In front center of the neck, in BG: ΔΕ.(2)
- D] See also P 10,828. According to Lang, P 13,429 holds 1 kotyle. Berlin 2669 has the word δεμοσιον complete (Furtwängler, Beschr., pl. 3).

- B] Int.: leg of a warrior crouching to left; at right, end of a spear.
- C] Int.: along the margin, between the spear and the heel: κα[λος].(1)

(1)my restoration; presumably the end of a longer kalos-inscription: [--(?)] κα[λος].

Athens, Agora P 13,655.

- A] Fr. of coarse pot. From Athens. Unattributed. First half seventh (context). *Lang, Agora 21, D 3, pl. 7 (dr.). *'Script' 28, Fig.3 (photo.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms. *Vidi tracing.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the inside, vertical to the vase, hence name-on-herd, Gr.: Ανῆριτος.(1)
- D] Omitted by Brann. Letter forms from pl. 7 of Agora 21 and a freehand drawing from the V.&S. ms. For the name, see Bechtel, p. 195. V.&S. refer also to Hsch: ἀνῆριστα: ἀνῆριστα, ἄπλαστα.

(1)given by Lang with eta in the index. She refers to Bechtel, p. 195.

Athens, Agora P 13,745.

- A] Fr. of BF cup.(1) From Athens, Agora U 23:2 (M). Unattributed. Third quarter sixth. Ca. 550-540 (M.&P.). *Agora 23, 313/1809, pl. 116. *Vidi.
- B] Parts of 3 figures: drapery; legs of Hermes; lower part of a male.
- C] A: between the left figure and Hermes' legs: nonsense: [-]γ̣ειο(ν)ε(.).(2)
- D] Hasty letters. Cannot be from a signature, since there is no room for other letters after the last preserved. Uncertain reading.

(1)Uncertain type: too early for type A? See Agora 23. (2)fifth letter miswritten, taken to be a nu by M.&P., but it could also be a sigma or something else. The last letter like the tip of an alpha, gamma, delta, etc.

473.

Athens, Agora P 13,784.

- A] Fr. of BF panel amphora. From Athens, Agora P U 25:2 (U). Unattributed. Late sixth (M.&P.). *Agora 23, 115/115 [sic] (not ill.); sketch.
- B] A: top of panel: the inscription only.
- C] A: nonsense: $\chi\omicron[-]$.

Athens, Agora P 13,813.

- A] Fr. of BF cup.(1) From Athens, Agora U 25:2 (M). Unattributed. Ca. 530-520 (M.&P.). *Agora 23, 314/1816, pl. 117; p. 314 (sketch).
- B] A: Amazonomachy: face of an Amazon and upper part of a warrior.
- C] A: between the figures: two rows of imitation inscriptions, mostly 'hooks' (lambda or upsilon).

(1)uncertain shape.

475.

Athens, Agora P 13,814.

- A] Fr. of BF Droop(?) cup. From Athens, Agora U 25:2 (M). Unattributed. Ca. 530-520 (M.-P.). *Agora 23, 313/1815, pl. 117.
- B] A: parts of three shields, two spears, a helmet, of three warriors.
- C] A: above one shield: imitation inscription.
- D] A small fr.

476.

Athens, Agora P 14,379.

- A] Fr. of BF plate. From Athens, Agora N 10:1. Unattributed. Second quarter fifth. Ca. 470 (M.-P.). *Agora 3, 272/1424 (not ill.). Callipolitis-Feytmans, Les plats antiques (1974) 382, B 11, no. 36, fig. 63.
- B] A seated figure, with her right hand raised; at left and right, drapery of two other figures; in the field, vines with grapes.
- C] Nonsense: imitation inscriptions.

476a.

Athens, Agora P 14,386.

- A] Fr. of RF lekythos. From Athens, Agora N 10:1. Unattributed. Probably third quarter fifth (Moore). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 261/881, pl. 89 (seems to show some letters).
- B] Upper part of a woman with outstretched arms to right, in each hand a wreath.
- C] Above the left arm, roughly horizontal: $\kappa\alpha\lambda[-]$.(1)
- D] The inscription is in white. Probably $\kappa\alpha\lambda[\eta]$ or $\kappa\alpha\lambda[\epsilon]$.

(1)the ph. probably shows the kappa and the lambda, both faintly; the sketch gives all three letters. Moore says only: 'in the field'.

476b.

Athens, Agora P 14,393.

- A] Fr. of RF pyxis. From Athens, Agora N 10:1.
Unattributed. Late fifth (Moore). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 273/1001, pl. 97 (shows (part of?) inscription).
- B] Part of a woman to right lifting her garment with the left hand; upper part of Eros to left; branch; head and shoulder of woman to right.
- C] Above Eros' wing, bearing upward, in rather large letters: καλη.(1)

(1)so the sketch on p. 273, but this is uncertain as the ph. on pl. 97 shows no trace of the eta; hence: καλ<ος>, referring to Eros?

477.

Athens, Agora P 14,561.

- A] Foot and stem of BG cup (Acrocup). From Athens. Unattributed. Early fifth. *Agora 12, 266/439, pl. 20, fig. 22.
- B] No decoration preserved.
- C] Under foot, Gr. near the edge: Χα<>.
- D] Not certain that this is an abbreviated owner's name. For discussion of the purpose of these initials see L. Talcott, Hesp. 5 (1936) 352f., and n. 5.

Athens, Agora P 14,628.

- A] Frs. of RF pelike. From Athens. Unattributed. First half fifth. Ca. 460 (Moore). *Vidi. *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 144/68, pl. 14 (A: frs. a + c).
- B] Fr. a: lotus-palmette frieze at the neck; top of a woman's head. Fr. b: part of a pointed object.
- C] A: (frs. a + c, joining): above: [-]ειδ[-]. B: (fr. c, non-joining): above: [-]ελ[-].(1)
- D] Frs. a - c.

(1)epsilon and a very slightly inclined bar, the top of which touches the break. My reading of an Ionic lambda may be right. - My earlier readings: fr. a: to right of head: ε. Above it: [-]ειδ[-]. Fr. b: to left of object, horizontal: Ελ[-] or Εγ-.

479.

Athens, Agora P 14,636.

- A] Fr. of BG oinochoe. From Athens. Unattributed. Second quarter fourth. *Agora 21, 39/F 142, pl. 17 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the neck, Gr.: Γηρυος.

D] Owner's Gr. in gen. Ionic alphabet. For the name Γῆρυς see LGPN ii.

480.

Athens, Agora P 14,644.

- A] One-handled bowl. From Athens. Unattributed. Second quarter fourth. *Agora 21, 39/F 143, pl. 17 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the bottom, Gr. in a kind of circle: Σωστρατῶ.
- D] Owner's Gr.

481.

Athens, Agora P 14,676.

- A] Fr. of RF pyxis lid. From Athens. Unattributed. Second half fifth. *Vidi. *Photo.
- B] Egg pattern along rim.
- C] Around the central knob, Gr.: [-]αὐν κ[αλος].(1)

(1)the first letter can be alpha, gamma, delta, Ionic lambda, or nu(?). There are scratches between the first and second, and between the second and third letters, which are probably not letters. The spacing is wide.

482.

Athens, Agora P 14,687.

- A] Fr. of PG pot. From Athens. Unattributed. First quarter sixth (inscription).(1) *Lang, Agora 21, 18/D 11, pl. 7 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] In a curve, Gr.: Πύρϰρῶ Θῶρι|ἀδέξ.(2)
- D] Name(s)-on-herd, awkwardly placed. The lettering is partly tall standard (see 'Script' 17. Cartwheel theta.

(1)dated by context. (2)Lang reads this as one word: ΠΥΡΟΘΟΡΙΑΔΕΣ, boustr., and wonders about the unattested name. I follow Beazley's suggestion of the father's name preceding the name, since there is a break between the two words. [This is accepted in LGPN ii.] Thus only the second word is boustr. (the last four letters retr.). Lang also considers Πυρϰρῶ (fem.), Θῶριάδες, two separate names.

483.

Athens, Agora P 14,691.

- A] Fr. of SOS amphora. From Athens. Unattributed. Early sixth (Johnston). Late seventh (Lang). *Brann, Agora 8, p. 33, and fig. 1 (dr.). Lang, Agora 21, F 7, pl. 11 (dr.). *Johnston, BSA 73(1978) 108/65. 'Script' 42.
- B] Preserved decoration not known to me.
- C] On the shoulder, Gr.: Ατρ]ομετ[ο]ς.
- D] The dr. in Agora 21 omits the final sigma, for which see Agora 8. The restoration is Vanderpool's (see Agora 8) who considered it an owner's name, in which he is followed by Brann and Lang, but if the final sigma really belongs, the nom. is peculiar; see however Agora P 17,380.

484.

Athens, Agora P 14,693.

- A] Fr. of large coarse unglazed pot. From Athens. Unattributed. First quarter sixth. *Agora 21, 18/D 12, pl. 7 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the inside, Gr., with end-boustr.: Εὐθυμεινες(1)
On the outside, along the top margin: Ουδιμαχ[ος].(1)
- D] Names-on-herd; reused. Cartwheel theta. The two inscriptions are by different hands.

(1)the inside name is doubtful, as the reading of V.&S. and Lang does not correspond with the dr. on pl. 7. The dr. has an epsilon where V.&S. and Lang read a second upsilon; this must be an error. Note that the inscription on the outside shows that a piece is broken off to the left of Εὐθυμεινες and that there are traces of another inscription, perhaps upside down, under the inside name (so according to the dr.). It could be, of course, that the outside name was written first, and the inside name added after the sherd was damaged. The writing of the outside is superior to that on the inside.

485.

Athens, Agora P 14,705.

- A] Base of BG bowl. From Athens. Unattributed. Mid-fourth. *Lang, Agora 21, F 150, pl. 17 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
- B] Impressed palmettes on the floor.
- C] On the bottom, Gr. around the circumference:
Διονυσιος vac.2 Σωφρονας |(1)
- D] Disjointed writing with some attempt at calligraphy (curved strokes).

(1)the inscription almost fills a complete circle. V.&S. and Lang reverse the order of the names, on the assumption, no doubt, that S.' name was written first. I think that D.'s name was written first, and S.' after a short vacat; that name ran too close to the delta of the first name, whence the divider. Lang thinks of joined owners. According to my notes, V.&S. read Σωφρονας | Διονυσιος and classified it under love names, which seems unlikely.

- B] Triptolemos: fr. a: at left, flames of torch shouldered by Demeter (who is on fr. b); at right, top of Zeus' head to left. Fr. b (which continues the scene on A on the left): at right, head and shoulders of Demeter to left; at left, parts of scepter, branch and phiale held by a lost Triptolemos. Fr. c has some ornament and part of Athena. Fr. d (not ill.): foot, part of chiton and uncertain remains.
- C] Fr. a: above Zeus' head, horizontal : Ζ[ΕΥΣ]. To Zeus' left and to left of the top of the torch, once starting to right of Demeter's head, also horizontal: [ΔΕ]ΜΕΤΕΡ.(1)
- D] Frs. a - d. Moore, p. 171, corrects Schwartz' errors in the description of frs. a and b: the head facing left is not Triptolemos but Zeus. Schwarz omits the inscriptions. [Hayashi must also be wrong.] For the appearance of Zeus and Athena in this scene see Moore. Inscriptions in red.

(1)Both inscriptions show in the ph. of fr. a in Agora 30, pl. 32 and in Fig. 15 which is a composite dr. of frs. a and b showing the inscriptions.

- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the bottom, Gr. facing out: ΑΙΟΧΙ<. (1)

(1)so Lang. Could be from ΑΙΟΧΙΑΣ or ΑΙΟΧΙΝΗΣ. From the photo. I thought the last letter, which is longer than the others could be an abbreviation mark, whence ΑΙΟΧ<, e.g. ΑΙΟΧ<ΥΛΘ>.

- C] Nonsense: to right of the left-most column: $\nu\nu(\sigma)$.(1) Similarly to left of the second column: $(\pi)\epsilon\nu$.(2) Between the second couple: $\nu\nu$.(3)
- D] The letters are unclear in the photo.

(1)so the photo.; the sketch on p. 212 gives the last letter as iota. (2)the sketch has the first letter as an Ionic gamma, perhaps rightly. (3)sketch only.

- B] Winged Iris or Nike holding a box and bending over a flaming altar (i.e. sprinkling incense on it).
- C] $\kappa\alpha\lambda\omicron\varsigma$, retr., "and some uncertain letters" (van Hoorn).(1)
- D] Langridge has no information other than that found in van Hoorn.

(1)the sketches in Moore, p. 239, give: above Nike's head: $\kappa\alpha\lambda(\cdot)$, retr. (since Nike faces left? The sketch gives the last letter as two dots, placed horizontally; presumably καλ(ε); van Hoorn read καλος). At right: χαι. χαί[ρε] Further να.(?).

- B] Man with stick; youth.
- C] Above the two: the sketch in Agora 30, p. 234 shows: ο and below it (centered): [κ]αλ[ος].(1)
- D] Inscriptions in white.

(1)van Hoorn prints ΑΛΟ.

- B] No figured decoration.
- C] On the shoulder, Gr.: Λυσ<>, retr.
- D] Brann wrongly reads Λυσ<>.

- A] Fr. from upper part of an amphora. From Athens. Unattributed. Second half fifth (context). *Lang, Agora 21, K 6, pl. 55 (dr.). 'Script' 848.
- B] No figured decoration preserved.
- C] On neck and shoulder, Gr.: αντεγ[-|-]ψαρ[-].
- D] Lang reads the second line retr., but the individual letters are not retr. (at least the rho is not). She reads: ἀντέγραψ[ε] ὁ δεῖνα, and translates, with a query: "So and so checked the account". I accepted this in 'Script', perhaps too hastily. The psi is uncertain. Ionic alphabet. Perhaps not written by an Athenian.

495.

Athens, Agora P 15,113.

- A] Fr. of RF oinochoe (chous). From Athens, Agora H 19:1. Meidias Painter. Last quarter fifth. 420-410 (van Hoorn). Ca. 410-400 (Moore). *G. van Hoorn, Choes and Anthesteria (1951), 89/222, fig. 368. ARV(2) 1313/13 [sic]. *M.B. - B] Eros flying to right about to throw a ball or rock; above his arm, a spiral plant; at left, leaves of a plant.

C] To left of Eros' wing, fairly far down: [--]ολ υ.(1)

(1)so the sketch in Agora 30, p. 243 (|ΟΛ) and the ph., pl. 75. There is space for one letter (but no letter shows) between the lambda and the wing; it is unclear how this inscription could have continued; if it did not, it should be nonsense.

A] Fr. of a large unglazed storage amphora. From Athens. Unattributed. Second quarter fifth (Lang). 490-450 (context). 450 (letter forms). *Lang, Agora 21, B 7, pl. 2 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms. 'Script' 729.

B] Undecorated.

C] On the outside of the wall, written on the sherd, Gr.:

Εὐμελῖς ἦκ[ε]

ὅς τάχος.

Ἀρκέσιμος.

Above the upsilon of line one is a gamma; below the kappa of the last line, an epsilon; below, in the field (according to pl. 2) a chi, and a rho plus a diagonal line (iota?).

D] Found with P 15,209, q.v. - Lang's reading: "Eumelis, come as quickly as you can. Arkesimos." Lang also says that the ὅς τάχος was crowded in as an afterthought. The feminine Eumelis is not known; Arkesimos is found in Eretria (cf. Bechtel). - The problem is that the ancients do not sign letters on the bottom. - For ἦκε, V.&S. compare Ar., Peace 275: ἦκε νῦν ταχύ. - The alphabet is Attic except for eta, but that may possibly be syllab for he. Or mixed alphabet? - The Gr. may be amatory, cf. P 15,209.

Athens, Agora P 15,209.

A] Fr. of a large unglazed storage amphora. From Athens. Unattributed. Second quarter fifth (Lang). 490-50 (context). Close to 450 *Lang, Agora 21, D 39, pl. 9 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms. 'Script' 730.

B] Undecorated.

C] On the outside of the wall, written on the sherd, Gr.:

Μενεδεμος

Χαρίας

Ξανθες

Αμφιβολος

Προταρχος

Πενταριστε

Καλ·λίστρατε

D] Found with 15,208, q.v. - Mixed alphabet: Ionic letters are xi and lambda. Despite that, the letter forms are more old-fashioned than P 15,208 and not by the same hand. Both graffiti ought to be erotic. Cartwheel theta intended.- V.&S. state that Xanthes is unknown in Attica [but see now LGPN ii] except for IG I(2) 377,3, where the person is thought to be a Delian; the name is also found on coins of Klazomenai; see Collitz, SGDI 5, 610,8. Amphiboulos appears in Eretria in the 4th C.; IG XII,9, 249,b,97. It is uncertain whether we have here this name [so LGPN ii] or the unattested Amphibōlos. - Lang and V.&S. give a parallel for Pentariste:

AJA 51 (1947) 368 (grave stone published by D.M. Robinson). But see now LGPN ii under Παντ- and Πενταρίστη.

- A] Fr. of RF bell krater. From Athens, Agora G 18:1 (Moore). Unattributed. Third quarter fifth. Ca. 440-430 (Moore). *Photos. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 190/323, pl. 43 (shows inscription).
- B] A: Departure of Youth to right; at left, part of draped man with staff to right; at right, woman left with oinochoe and phiale. B: drapery. ...
- C] A: to left of woman's forehead: καλη.
- D] Inscription in white. Odd that the woman rather than the departing youth is praised. But I saw in another photo. perhaps a trace of a sigma to the left of the youth's head: καλο]ς(?). Moore does not indicate this and it must remain quite doubtful.

- A] Fr. of roof tile, BG on top. From Athens. Unattributed. Second quarter fifth. *Hesp. 22 (1953) 220/5, fig. 1 (dr.). *Agora 21, 14/C 24, pl. 5 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the BG top surface, Gr. in large letters:
Ευκλ[η]ς κ(α)ταπλυγων.
- D] NOT A VASE. Written on sherd. The extant letters are all Ionic, but the eta not being preserved, mixed alphabet is not excluded. The dr. in Agora 21 misrepresents the first kappa: see the dr. in Hesp.

499a.

Athens, Agora P 15,370.

- A] Frs. of RF oinochoe (chous). From Athens, Agora B 21. Unattributed. Ca. 430. *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 240/691, fig. 36 (shows inscription), pl. 69(?) (shows inscription). Van Hoorn, Choes and Anthesteria (1951) 90/228, fig. 33.
- B] Youth with a horse to left; behind the horse, a tree.
- C] In front of the horse, between it and the left margin, facing the horse: [---κα]λος(?) (1)
- D] Four frs. Inscription in white.

(1) I think, probably a kalos-name, because of the low position of the extant letters; but it could be a name or more likely a simple [κα]λος.

- A] Frs. of BF lekythos. From Athens, Agora B 21:20. Unattributed. Ca. 550. *Agora 23, 203/791, pl. 74. Vanderpool, Hesp. 15 (1946) 227/11, pl. 20,1-4,6. R. Young, Hesp. 20 (1951) 89, Grave 6, no. 1, pl. 39,b1.
- B] Body: Two youths; running youth; youth; horseman; eagle to left; youth. Shoulder: coursing hares; youths; runners; cock; dog.
- C] Nonsense. Shoulder: below the runner to right: ουγγι. Behind the draped youth who faces left: γ(.)υγ, retr.(1) Below the runner to left: [-]γγ. The body scene is not inscribed.
- D] Many small frs. Imitation letters, but rather large. Gammas vary in shape. Not in Agora 23.

(1)read as γγ[]γ by M.&P. The gammas could be read as pi's.

Athens, Agora P 15,379.

- A] Fr. of large non-Attic pot. From Athens. Unattributed. Late sixth (see 'Script'). Early fifth (Lang). *Vanderpool, Hesp. suppl. 8, 398/10b, fig. 4 (dr.). *Lang, Agora 21, C 8, pl. 4 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms. *'Script', 14 n. 21. *Agora 25, 48/129, fig. 7.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the outside, Gr.: Εγεςτ<ρ>ατ|ος.
- D] Vanderpool considered this an ostrakon, but in Vanderpool and Stamires ms. this is changed to 'name-on-herd,' late sixth. So also in 'Script'. No doubt the same person as in P 15,555, P 31,077 and P 31,078. - End boustr.

502.

Athens, Agora P 15,389.

- A] Fr. of BF thymiaterion. From Athens, Agora R 21:3. Unattributed. Last quarter sixth. *Agora 23, 317/1851, pl. 119.
- B] Upper zone: four women. Lower zone: heads and shoulders of five women.
- C] Nonsense: upper zone: between the women: a long vertical row of dots. Lower row: similar but not quite vertical and the 'letters' more irregular and smaller.
- D] Only a few rows are visible in the photo.

503.

Athens, Agora P 15,397.

- A] Base of BG bowl. From Athens. Unattributed. Late fourth to third. *Agora 21, 42/F 187, pl. 19 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
- B] Undecorated.

C] On the bottom, Gr.: Δημοφιλο(ς).(1)

(1) letters crowded toward the end; the sigma written over the omicron. Ionic alphabet. Phi with extended vertical above and below.

504.

Athens, Agora P 15,436.

- A] Fr. of RF chous. From Athens, Agora B-C 18. Unattributed. Third quarter fifth. *Vidi. G. van Hoorn, Choes and Anthesteria (1951), no. 228 bis (not ill.). ARV(2) 1575. *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 241/694, pl. 74.
- B] Upper left-hand corner: dotted egg frieze on top; hand.
- C] Above the hand, in the upper middle of the scene, non-stoich. two-liner: Διφι[λος] | καλο[ς]. (1)
- D] Beazley distinguishes this Diphilos from the son of Melanopos (mainly early Achilles Painter) as Diphilos III; he may be the same as Diphilos without kalos on London E 389, by the Kraipale Painter (ARV(2) 1214/5); or he may be a later one. D. also occurs without kalos on Chicago Uni., a small white lekythos ('Script' 673), which is earlier. The dating of these Diphiloi needs further study.

(1) the sketch in Agora 30, p. 241, differs slightly: Διφι[λος] | καλος. The photo. does not show the inscription.

505.

Athens, Agora P 15,460.

- A] Fr. of BF amphora.(1) From Athens, Agora E 2 (C 18:11). Unattributed. Date? Gr.: 480's?(2) *M.L. Lang, Ostraka (Agora 25, 1990) 118/866 (not ill.).
- B] A: parts of two draped standing figures.
- C] Inside, upside down, Gr. two-liner: Θμισθοκλεες | Φρεαρ<ρ>ιος.
- D] Ostrakon. The glaze has mostly peeled off.

(1) from wall. (2) see Lang 102: most Themistocles ostraca from the Agora come from the 480's.

506.

Athens, Agora P 15,555.

- A] Fr. from rim of an unglazed bowl. From Athens. Unattributed. Late sixth ('Script'). Sixth (V.&S. ms.). Early fifth (Lang).(1) *Vanderpool, Hesp. suppl. 8, 398/10a, pl. 58. *LSAG 76/9c, pl. 2 (photo.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms. Agora 12, under no. 1892. *Lang, Agora 21, C 8, pl. 4 (dr.). *'Script' 49. *Vidi. *Agora 25, 48/128, fig. 7 (dr.). ZPE 91 (1992) 114. *LGPN ii, s.vv. Αισμιωνίδης and Ἡγέστρατος 1 and 3.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the sherd, written inside, Gr.: Ἐγεστρατος | ἁσιμιονι<>, boustr.
- D] Vanderpool thought this an ostrakon.(2) Jeffery read: Ἐγεστρατος | ἁ<>σιμιόνι, "perhaps a label accompanying a gift." This was accepted by V.&S. Lang read, not boustr.: Ἐγέστρατος Ἰμοίμιογη, which is clearly wrong, as the person appears also on P 15,379, P 31,077 (here including Ἀσιμιονίδες) and P 31,078 (see 'Script'). I suggest in 'Script': Ἐγέστρατος Ἰησιμιονί(δῆς) or -(δῶν), assuming the second word to be the name of a family or clan. LGPN ii, however, following ZPE, reads Hegestratos son of Aisimionides and that may be correct, although I cannot accept their date of 485-480. LGPN dates P 15,555 in the seventh century (after Jeffery: see s.v. Hegestratos 1), but the rest of the occurrences in the early fifth). P.

15,555 and P. 31,077 both have closed heta, which I think cannot be as late as the fifth century. On the Hegestratos sherds see also GAI ii, 689.

(1)seventh? (Jeffery). (2)withdrawn by him in a ms. notation

- B] Animal frieze (part): panther; siren.
- C] Inside: vertically down, Gr. two-liner:
Καλλιχσ[ενος] | Αριστο[νυμῶ].
- D] Ostrakon.

(1)from the wall of a closed-shape pot; broken in the upper left corner and at right: so Lang; Ag. 23, however, says:
BF stand.

Unattributed. Date? Gr.: 480's. *M.L. Lang, Ostraka (Agora 25,

- A] Fr. of a large open bowl.(1) From Athens. Unattributed. Sixth.
*Lang, Agora 21, 19/D 25, pl. 8 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
- B] Band of red glaze both inside and out.
- C] Outside: Grr.: along the upper edge: scratches and:
Αργει[δῆς]. Along the lower edge, upside down relative to the first inscription: [Αρ]γιδεις.(2) In the field: υσ, ε(ι), and a big A followed by an incomplete line slanting down.

Inside: Grr.: along the (curved) top edge: Αργιδεις. Along the bottom edge, upside down relative to the previous inscription: --εσων.(3) In the center, many scratches, no doubt representing (illegible) letters.

- D] Names-on-sherd. --](.)εσων is in a different hand. The writing of the first name is very messy. Argeides is said to be unknown. Tailed rho.

(1)a piece of the original sherd is missing on one side. (2)so the dr. in Agora 21; Lang, however, copies the text of V.&S.: Αρ]γιδεις. So also LGPN ii. (3)so V.&S., suggesting [Μ]υεσων or [Τ]λεσων. Lang's dr. has [--]εσων, her text,].εσων.

- A] Fr. of large pot or pithos.(1) From Athens. Unattributed.
Sixth.(2) *Lang, Agora 21, 20/D 29, pl. 8 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
B] Undecorated.
C] In the center of the disk, Gr.: Βλοους.
D] Name-on-sherd. - Letter forms are given differently in V.&S. and Agora 21:(3) V.&S.: beta 1. Lambda 1 with curved short hasta. Omicron S 1. Sigma near S 1 and S 2. Upsilon near S 4. Agora 21, pl. 8: beta 3, open at bottom. Lambda 2, slightly backward. Omicron S 12. Sigma 1, once with attempted curve S 1). Upsilon S 2. Since the date is entirely dependent on letter forms, it remains uncertain. - V.&S. derive the (unknown) name from βλοουρος 'virile' and refer to the known name Βλόσων with reff.

(1)roughly cut into the shape of a disk. Probably prehistoric, Lang. (2)so Lang; V.&S. say that late seventh or early fifth centt. cannot be excluded, as the date is based on letter forms; see the comment above. (3)for the numbers of the letter forms, see the chart in 'Script', pp. xxii-xxiii.

- A] Fr. of BF amphora.(1) From Athens, Agora D-E 18-19.
Unattributed. First quarter sixth. *Agora 23, 103/25, pl. 3.
B] A: the upper left-hand corner of the panel is preserved, without the figured decoration.
C] A: in large letters below the top margin, starting in the D] Very large and fancy letters, highly archaic. Surely a name: kalos-name (rather too early) or a signature?

- C] Between the left woman's knee and the branch: [--]λ(η).(1)

(1)the sketch on p. 281 is quite unclear; it shows, after a break, a line diagonally to right and a kind of reversed nu with a long vertical. I think it could be a misunderstood eta, and I wonder if we could not have [κα]λη.

- A] Fr. from rim of a BG skyphos. From Athens. Unattributed. Late fifth. *Lang, Agora 21, 37/F 101, pl. 15 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] Below rim Gr.: Κεκρο[-].(1)

(1)Lang compares Κεκροπίδων, ΠΑ 8264, fourth cent. BC. V.&S. prefer the tribe Κεκρο[πίς] as the pot's owner.

- A] Fr. of RF oinochoe (chous). From Athens, Agora A-B 21-22:1. Unattributed. Ca. 410 (Moore). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 244/714, pl. 75. Van Hoorn, Choes and Anthesteria (1951) 91/234, fig. 153.
- B] Face of a youth to right; upper parts of two youths (lower than the first) with one having his arm around the other; at right, top of a column surmounted by a tripod.
- C] Above the heads: ανροναι.(1)
- D] I doubt that this is a nonsense inscription. The appearance of pointed and tailed rho at this late period, if correctly reported, is very odd (cf. 'Script', p. 157). The inscription is in white and very faint.

(1)I have only the sketch on Agora 30, p. 244, to go on; hence I do not know whether this inscription is complete either fore or aft. The location is also unclear, since the head of the first figure is much higher than the heads of the other two. 'Above the heads' is Moore's phrase. - Is this for ανδρ...? Are the two smaller figures boys in a ritual of manhood? The tripod suggests a victory in a contest.

- B] Top of the head of a youth to right.
- C] Above his head: δ(λ)ρ[.]α.(1)
- D] Not from the same vase as 16,911a (714).

(1)here too I have only the sketch on p. 244 to go on. If accurate, which it may not be, this must be nonsense.

- A] Fr. of RF oinochoe (chous). From Athens, Agora A-B 21-22:1. Unattributed. Second half fifth. Ca. 400 (Moore). *G. van Hoorn, Choes and Anthesteria (1951), no. 242, fig. 392. M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 246/734, pl. 77 (the nu of Nike shows).

- C] In white: Νικη.

- B] Back of a woman's head to left; upper part of Eros to right; top of head and hand at chin of a woman to left. Added clay.
- C] Next to Eros' wing: καλ[ος].(1)
- D] Inscription in white.

(1)or perhaps καλ[η], referring to one woman?

520.

Athens, Agora P 16,981.

- A] Fr. of BG skyphos, including one handle. From Athens. Unattributed. Late fifth (context). *Hesp. 25 (1956) 19/82, pl. 4. *Lang, Agora 21, E 5, pl. 10 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
- B] Decoration not preserved.
- C] On the inside, i.e., on the sherd, Gr.: κεράμῳς ΔΔΔΔΠ[-].
- D] The end of the numeral was on a piece of the sherd now missing; hence it may have been anywhere from 45 to 49. Probably a "tag" (the handle being convenient) of a shipment rather than a price list (V.&S.; Lang). - There seems to be a trace of a letter(?) near the fourth delta.

521.

Athens, Agora P 16,992.

- A] Fr. of RF pelike. From Athens, Agora. Calliope Painter. Last quarter fifth. 425-420 (L.-H.). Ca. 430 (Moore). *Lezzi-Hafter, Der Eretria-Maler (Kerameus 6, 1988) 305-306, 354/308, pl. 189,a-b. ARV(2) 1262/62. *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 142/46, pl. 12 (part of A).

- B] A: head and shoulders of a youth; at left, sponge, etc., hung up. B: part of a head(?); at right, satchel (tablets bound up and hung up).
- C] A: above the youth's head: καλος. B: above the tablets: καλη.
- D] L.-H. 305-306: discusses whether kale refers to a woman.

522.

Athens, Agora P 17,000.

- A] Fragmentary RF bell krater. From Athens. Unattributed. Ca. 400.(1) *P. Corbett, Hesp. 18 (1949) 104-107, pl. 4,1 and 2 (detail of inscriptions). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 200/391, pl. 49.
- B] A: Satyr and maenad with a torch, both looking back.
- C] Grr.: A: above the maenad's head: Λεωνιδας. Below it, an illegible inscription: α(ι)(.)[--]σ.(2)
- D] C. thinks Leonidas must refer to the Spartan king of Thermopylae fame. For the second line he suggests ἄπατος, Doric for the epic ἄπητος, 'wonderful, admirable' [which I cannot find in Cunliffe or LSJ] or a misspelling of ἄπαστος [but that means 'fasting'!]. L. Burn, The Meidias Painter (1987), ca. 34ff., mentions the Leonidas inscription as a sign of pro-Spartan sympathies. - Mixed alphabet (three-stroke sigma). - Moore says: "For a pro-Spartan interpretation of the inscription naming Leonidas see P.E. Corbett, Hesperia 18 (1949), pp. 104-107." [Does she think Leonidas is named? See Agora 30, index vi: Λεωνι[δας].] Inscriptions in white.

(1)Corbett makes an argument for 400-397. Moore dates ca. 400.

(2)quite uncertain reading; the relation of the inscriptions is:

.....

.. . .

The letters of the second line are much smaller than those of the first. - The sketch on Moore's p. 200 has:

Λ(Λ)ΝΙΑΑ(Σ)[--]

Λ(Υ)ΑΙΟ[--].

Line 1: the third letter resembles a modern λ; the last letter is probably four-stroke, but the bottom stroke is missing in the break. Line 2: the second letter is v-shaped upsilon but very small. Note that the sketch left-aligns the two lines and gives the second line the same-size letters as the first.

- A] Fr. from the shoulder of a coarse unglazed amphora. From Athens. Unattributed. Fifth or fourth. *Agora 21, 38/F 130, pl. 16 (dr.). *Hesp. 25 (1956) 23/103 (not ill.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms.

- B] Undecorated.
- C] Grr.: Διοκλ[-]. Below in much larger letters: ΠΔ, i.e. 50.
- D] V.&S. prefers Διοκλ[έως] to Διοκλ[είδο]; Lang does not restore. The delta is attached to the vertical of the pi. Ionic lambda?

- A] Fr. from base and lower body of a BG skyphos. From Athens. Unattributed. Third quarter fifth. *Lang, Agora 21, 14/C 27, pl. 6 (dr.). *Vanderpool, Hesp. 22 (1953) 32/7, fig. 2 and pl. 66,b. Vanderpool and Stamires ms. *Vidi.
- B] Rays above the foot.
- C] On the bottom, circular Gr.: Σικέλα καταπυ<αίνα> v.
- D] The letters are hard to classify, since they have been in part overwritten and erased. According to Vanderpool the writer first wrote καταγυ, then corrected to καταπυγ; according to V.&S. and Lang he first wrote καπυ (this version may be right). Finally an attempt was made to erase the inscription; Vanderpool says this happened in a number of καταπυγων inscriptions. For the form καταπίγαινα, see Hesp. 22 (1953) 216-17. Lang and V.&S. print Σικέλα, as does LGPN ii, but Pape has Σικέλη, 'the Sicilian woman.' The Doric form shows that she really was a foreigner.

- D] ζαμάτιον· τρύβλιον, Hsch. Lang's explanation is speculative.

(1)epsilon = u-shaped digamma.

- B] Upper portion of a horseman with two spears; facing him, a man holding a staff (hand only).

- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the bottom, Gr.: ΚϞ.
- D] The same letter on P 20,174-176. Young thinks the vases were part of the table service of the house (see ibid., pp. 188-95) and the owner's name began with a kappa.

- A] Fr. of BF thymiaterion. From Athens, Agora A-B 19-20:2. Unattributed. Late sixth (M.&P.). *Agora 23, 317/1853, pl. 119.
- B] From the bottom zone, heads missing: maenad; satyr turning

- A] Frs. of band or Gordion cup. From Athens, Agora J 18:4 (L). Unattributed. Hermogenes potter? Third quarter sixth. *Agora 23, 313/1811, pl. 116 (fr. a). ABV 188/17, Add.(2) 51.
- B] Int.: reserved tondo. A: fr. a: handle and area to left, with handle palmette. The lip black.
- C] Fr. a: handle zone: near the right-hand palmette:
[---] μεποίησεν.
- D] Two frs. M.&P. note the proximity of the verb to the palmette and think the name of the potter must have been long, such as Hermogenes. The handwriting would fit him well, but there could also have been a picture in the handle zone. The shape is given as of 'uncertain type.'

- A] Fr. of small RF bell krater. From Athens, Agora C-D 17. Unattributed. Third quarter fifth.(1) Ca. 430-420 (Moore). *Vidi. Museum card. *LGPN ii, s.v. Φιλίων 2. *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 196/365, pl. 47 (shows inscription).
- B] At left, arm and hand of a figure; head and shoulder of a boy.
- C] Above the boy in added white: Φιλίων.(2)
- D] Mixed alphabet or Ionic.

(1)"Time of Polygnotos," Beazley (orally, 1953). (2)the fifth letter could be omega; the sixth is at the edge of the sherd, hence the inscription could be longer. The sketch on Moore's p. 196 gives a meaningless sequence of letters: ΦΛΙΛΙΛ[-], but the photo. on pl. 47 shows clearly: ΦιλῖδϚ (the omicron is open at the left, the nu runs into the break; both letters are certain). The occurrence is given in LGPN ii, s.v., no. 2, I do not know from what source.

- B] Upper portion of a youth.
- C] Inside: on the BG, Gr., horizontal non-stoich. two-liner: Καλλ[ι]χσενος | Αριστ[ο]νυμω[ς].(2)
- D] Ostrakon.

(1)see Lang. (2)Lang prints: Καλλίχσενος ἈριστονύμωϚ, but says that the final sigma of Aristonymos, which is written above the line and nearly below the final sigma of Kallixenos, is more probably a repetition of the latter, since that could only be partially written in the available space; it is less probable that it is the final sigma of the patronymic. [But the final sigma of Kallixenos is quite complete. I think there is a possibility of confusion with the third declension.]

- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the bottom, in a complete, but irregular circle, Gr.: Μιλωνος ειμι.
- D] The letters get larger toward the end (to fill the circle). The writing is rather rough. An early graffito in the Ionic alphabet. V.&S. and Lang think he is perhaps the Milo who appears as kalos on Naples 2617, ARV(2) 65/108, a RF cup by Oltos. But I wonder if our man is not an Ionian.

(1)so Agora 12; V.&S. say second quarter, Lang, early fifth.

- B] No figured decoration preserved.
- C] A: handle zone: ---εϚ vacat. I.e.: [χαίρε και πιε]ιεϚ.
- D] Neat letters. - The trace after the break is uncertain, the sketch in the text of Agora 23 showing it a bit inclined, while the photo. (pl. 110) has it vertical; hence an iota is quite possible and since the lettering is very good, this should be the end of $\chi\alpha\iota\rho\epsilon\ \kappa\alpha\iota\ \pi\tau\epsilon\iota\ \epsilon\upsilon$ and not nonsense.

(1)from the lip and handle zone.

- D] Non-Attic alphabet. Lang restores Thamneus, because he appears on F 12 and 13 (P 17,825 and 17,826), both found in the same pit. "... a possible trace of the final upsilon is preserved" (Lang), but is not shown in the dr. Thamneus himself writes Attic, but this inscription is probably in Megarian script and dialect.- GAI ii, 757, mentions the heta in $\eta\delta\delta\omicron\iota$.

- D] + P 17,971. The first two lines of the "mu" intersect, hence V.&S.' reading. A Chlidon was active in Thebes in 379 BC: Plut. Pelopidas 8, etc. Others: Plut. Moralia 789B; BCH 24 (1900) 346. Midon may be the father, or teacher, of Lamprokles, Σ Ar., Nub. 968, who in turn may be in Alexis, Midon (Ath. 11.491c). LGPN ii accepts Midon, but not as related to Lamprokles. Chlidon seems slightly more likely as the mu would be very broad. - Lang says the strokes are unexplained.

- B] Hermes running to left, holding out his kerykeion.

- C] Between the handle and the raised kerykeion, roughly horizontal, Gr.: Μιδων vacat. Three of the four vertical strokes below the inscription are visible in the photo. in Agora 30. The ph. suggests strongly that the name begins with a mu, as Lang has it, and not with chi (Χλιδων, V&S); so also LGPN ii.
- D] Agora 21 combines P 17,971 and P 17,898. Moore gives only P 17,971; the other number is not found in Moore. The first two lines of "mu" intersect, hence V&S' reading. A Chlidon was active in Thebes 379 BC: Plut. Pelopidas 8, etc. Others: Plut. Moralia 789B; BCH 24 (1900) 346. Midon may be the father, or teacher, of Lamprokles, Σ Ar., Nub., 968, who in turn may be in Alexis, Midon (Ath. 11.491c). Owner's name, as Lang assumes. - Lang says the strokes are unexplained.

 B] Fr. d gives a palmette.
 C] Handle zone: Fr. a: ... ισ[---. Fr. b: ... σε... .
 Fr. c: ... εϐ[---.
 D] Frs.a - d. The letters copied from ABV, which however is not quite clear. Agora 23 gives the same letters. The letters of fr. a cannot be from a Hermogenes signature unless the potter made a mistake.

(1)Hermogenean skyphos rather than a Gordion cup? (Beazley).
 (2)the writing recalls P 17,489, signed Hermogenes (ABV).

- A] Base of lekythos. From Athens. Unattributed. Second quarter fifth.(1) Lang, Agora 21, 9/B 8, pl. 2 (dr.). *Museum card.
 B] No decoration preserved.
 C] On the bottom, in a long curved line, Gr.:
 vacat | οτιη ταυτα λεκ[---].
 D] Unexplained inscription. - Lang rightly says that the inscription was probably written on the sherd, with the end now broken off. - My reading, done after the dr. on the museum card, differs from that on pl. 2 of Agora 21: instead of Ionic lambda, pl. 2 has a very pointed alpha (unlike the others), and I have a three-stroke upsilon where pl. 2 has a V-shaped. Lang reads: οτιη ταυτα ακ[, and says that the vertical separates the beginning from the end of the inscription, but there is a considerable vacat. Perhaps the vertical stroke is a mercantile marker, such as are often found (see TGV 18C). She also thinks there was not room for an alternative (ὄπι).

(1)so Lang who gives the context as second half fifth, while the museum card says: down to fourth cent.

- A] Fr. of West Slope kantharos. From Athens. Unattributed. Hellenistic. Third. *Agora 2, 54/G 15, pl. 31 (dr.). Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
- B] Ivy garland.
- C] Below the garland, horizontal Gr.: πι(.)κακοδαιμων.(1)
- D] For the first word, Lang prefers a hortatory subjunctive with iota omitted: 'Let the evil-spirited drink,' to a second person imperative with the adjective in the vocative. I would prefer the latter: 'drink, you fool!.' - An attempt at erasing the inscription is visible.

(1)V.&S. read: πιθι, Lang, πιη; pl. 31 has uncertain traces with a vertical at the end. Could it be πιε!?

553.

Athens, Agora P 18,342.

- A] Fr. of a large BG amphora. From Athens. Unattributed. First quarter sixth. *Agora 21, 18/D 10, pl. 7 (dr.). *Vanderpool and Stamires ms.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] (1) Gr. at one edge, cut so that the letters are only half preserved in height: ΕΡΡΙΙΙΙ.(1)
(2) horizontally in the center of the sherd, upside down in relation to (1), Gr.: Πραχσ<ο>νε vac.
- D] Names-on-herd. The sherd first broken (no doubt accidentally) then reused. None of the readings of (1) seem reliable. Πραξινη is the fem. form of Πραξινος (see LGPN ii). Πρηξινος is known from Troezen, Hdt. 7.180 and the Suda (Pape).

(1)so V.&S.; Lang reads: Εὐρύτῃ, a mythical name, but the dr. on pl. 7 shows: ΕΙΡΡΙΙ (all letters except the epsilon incomplete). A mythical name is unlikely here.

Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 240/689, fig. 35 (dr., shows letters), pl. 73 (bibl.).
- B] Odysseus at Troy? (Moore): Odysseus bending forward, his left hand holding the top of a cross-topped stick and the end of a crooked staff which rests on his shoulder.(2)
- C] Above the figure, in (faded) white: [Οδυ]σσευ[ς].(3)
- D] Could also be [Ολυ]σσευ[ς].

(1)may be early, delicate work by the painter himself (ARV(2)).

(2)ARV(2) says Odysseus (on Skyros?); so also Corbett, while Brommer (see AA) thinks of Odysseus on his mission to Troy, since the picture shows self-inflicted wounds on O.'s arm (he misunderstood the lines on the right arm as wounds). (3)the dr. in Agora 30 is very poor esp. for the letters, but the sketch, p. 240, confirms the reading. The inscription is horizontal.

- B] A naked girl, frontal, her head to left.
- C] At lower right, horizontal, left-aligned two-liner:
ho [--] | καλος (1)

(1)the sketch on p. 354 of Agora 30 only gives the heta in the first line, but I seem to see a vertical line at the break, which being slightly curved, suggests ho παῖς καλος rather than ηε παῖς καλε. The inscription may have been stoichedon.

- D] Date of the vase not mentioned; date of ostrakon 417-415: Alcibiades the Younger; the traditional date is 417, but 416 or 415 are more likely (Lang). - The dr. shows traces of letters(?) to left of the Gr., not mentioned by Lang.

- C] Below the rim, horizontal Gr. in two lines:
[-]λυκο[ς] | [-]μυς vac.
- D] Lang says it is tempting to restore a proverb:
[γ]λυκό[εις] | [ὁ δρι]μύς [which I find unacceptable], but admits it could be two names: [Ἐπί]λυκο[ς] and Μῦς. But if Μῦς, read Λύκος; or read [-]λυκο[ς] and [-]μυς, as in [Δέρ]μυς.

Apollon; vi, 670/no no., s.v. Mousa, Mousai.
- B] A: upper part of Apollo, seated to right, playing the lyre; above him an object [I think a shelf with a pot(?) in it]; facing him, a Muse with a lyre.
- C] A: above Apollo's lyre: $\kappa\alpha\lambda\omicron\varsigma$.(2)
- D] Three non-joining frs.: a+b+e, c, d. [f does not belong; it is 1337 in Moore.] Clairmont considered (against Beazley) fr. f (which shows a satyr) to belong and hence the subject to be Apollo and Marsyas. R. Sutton, Interaction between Men and Women (diss.1981) ... has correctly read kalos rather than Apollon as suggested by Clairmont. Inscription in white.

(1)of Corinthian type. (Oakley). (2)the sketch on Moore's p. 307 only has $\kappa\alpha\lambda\omicron$, without indication whether this is complete.

(1) the reading is uncertain: of the first letter only an upper horizontal remains, which may or may not be curved: omicron or epsilon (not mentioned by (M.&P.)). - B] A: rim with tongue pattern; egg pattern; below: a woman's head to right.
- C] A: in the BG area between the rim and the egg pattern, in large letters, Gr.: |λυθει[--].(1)
- D] Lang in Agora 21 thinks that depending on the case to be supplied this could be either a dedication or a 'toast'. I think the former is more likely although the writing is coarse. Lang lists the inscription under Εἰλιθυία: |λυθει[αι] in the index. Moore does not give a text. The lettering is no doubt Ionic.

D] Cf. καλωϑ ΕΓΕΛΕΩΣ, RF bell krater New York 07.286.81 by the Achilles Painter, ARV(2) 991/61, 1582, 1677? But according to Moore this vase is considerably earlier than the Achilles Ptr. The sketch on her p. 308 gives the gamma as looking like lambda 5. Hence Ελε[---] is perhaps more likely; this root is often spelled without heta. The photo. does not show the inscriptions. [She does not give theta, as I had suggested earlier. The letter in the photo. is almost complete: circular phi. I think I can see the internal vertical. Moore thinks the man is probably Phoenix as tentatively suggested by Ashmead and accepted by Beazley. He must have been seated. The figure on the other fr. may be Hermes. B. Dohle, Klio 49 (1967) 105 thinks from a Mission to Achilles; so also, but with a question mark, J. Boardman, AK 19 (1976) 5, and this last is also Moore's view.

- A] Fr. of RF cup.(1) From Athens, Agora E 1 (A 18-19:1) Heraion Painter. Last quarter sixth. Gr.: 480's.(2) *M.L. Lang, Ostraka (Agora 25, 1990) 77/452 (not ill.). ARV(2) 143/17 (no bibl.).
 B] Int.: satyr kneeling; wineskin.
 C] Ext.: A: around the edge of the sherd, the letters facing out, Gr.: Κα[λλιχσενος Αριστ]ουμῶ.
 D] Ostrakon.

(1)from stem and floor; broken at right. (2)see Lang.

- A] Frs. of BF Droop cup. From Athens, Agora Q 10:1. Unattributed. Third quarter sixth. *Agora 23, 306/1749, pl. 112 (A).
 B] Int.: reserved tondo and two narrow bands on the lip. A, B, each: eye between palmettes; between each palmette and each eye, and between the eyes: satyr (and in one case, a wing).
 C] In each case, where preserved, there are nonsense (imitation) inscriptions (rows of dots) surrounding the satyrs; see Agora 23.
 D] Seven non-joining frs., a-d from A and e-g from B. - For the outside decoration, cf. Louvre F 120, ABV 630/1.

- A] Fragmentary BG cup. From Athens. Unattributed. Late sixth - early fifth. *Lang, Agora 21, 12/C 7, pl. 4.(1) *Vidi. Museum card.
 B] Undecorated.
 C] On the outside wall of the bowl, upside down, Gr. in a circle, facing out:
 Μ[ενε]κράτῆς [κ]αλὸς καὶ φίλος Λυσικλειῆ. vac.(2)
 D] The museum card suggests Ν[ικο]κράτες, a less common name.

(1)the fr. with -κράτες is misplaced. (2)mixed alphabet? Lang notes that the Ionic lambdas in φίλος Λυσικλειῆ suggest that the last three words were added by a second hand. However, the style of lettering changes only in the last two words; perhaps a different ending had been planned.

- B] Discus decorated with an owl in silhouette technique.
- C] Around the owl, blots imitating an inscription.
- D] Beazley in ARV(2) compares Athens, N.M. 17,281 (CAVI 918), also by the Bowdoin Painter, for a similar discus surrounded by letters. For owls on discuses, see also Beazley, JHS 28 (1908) 316-17.

- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the bottom, Gr. near the rim: Φαισ{σ}τιῶ.
- D] The name is unknown. Φαίστιος, LGPN ii. Why not Φαιστίας?

582.

Athens, Agora P 21,373.

- A] Fr. of base of semi-glazed krater.(1) From Athens. Unattributed. Second quarter fifth. 460-450. *Agora 21, 35/F 82, pl. 13 (dr.). C. Boulter, Hesp. 22 (1953) 99/136, pl. 38.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the bottom, Gr. in two lines close, and parallel, to the bottom: [--]ιψ vacat | [--]οντος.

D] Unclear. - Boulter says the letters suggest two names, but that the sherd is too large for an ostrakon. - I think that size is not an obstacle; the second name is in the gen.; hence why not an ostrakon, although Lang lists (two?) owner's name(s)? The problem is that -|ϣ is not a proper ending in this period; perhaps [-]|ϣο>ν?

(1)fragmentary, yet quite large as extant: max. dim. 0.135m.

Athens, Agora P 21,374.

- A] Base of BG bowl. From Athens. Unattributed. Second quarter fifth. 460-450. *Agora 21, 35/F 80, pl. 13 (dr.). *C. Boulter, Hesp. 22 (1953) 99/132, pl. 38.
- B] No decoration preserved.
- C] On the bottom, Gr. curved along the rim: Αριστι.(1)
- D] The same person perhaps on P 21,400, q.v. Four-stroke sigma.

(1)i.e., Αριστιο. The dr. shows only the lower dot and Lang says: "after the iota a sort of dot has been incised, perhaps the start of the next letter." The photo. in Hesp. shows two dots and Coulter thinks it is an abbreviation of the owner's name; this seems right.

- C] On the bottom, Gr.: Σκυθαο.(1)
- D] Four-stroke sigma.

(1)Lang: probably Σκύθαοινα, an ethnic. Coulter is uncertain whether the name is complete. The abbreviation assumed by Lang is peculiar.

- B] No decoration preserved.
- C] On the [reserved?] resting surface of the foot, Gr.: ΤΡ ΤΡ||.

D] Lang explains the ligatures as τρῶβλιον, which must be choinikes. The two vertical lines must be a smaller unit. Boulter did not understand the notation. Tailed rho.

C] Around the center of the bottom, Gr. in a complete circle:

Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 252/793, pl. 81 (side view only).
- B] Anodos: goddess (Aphrodite?), probably rising from the ground, between two goat-men. (2)
- C] Above the horns of the right goat-man (satyr or Pan): Σκ[ι]ρτων.
- D] Boulter wrongly prefers σκιρτων as a descriptive adjective (the left-hand goat-man is jumping high; of the right-hand one only the horns are preserved). Four-stroke sigma. Moore strangely refers to Skirtos (sic) and cites: N. Stambolides, ΣΚ[Ι]ΡΤΟΣ (Παρατηρήσεις στην εικονογράφηση του Σικελικού κρατήρα 9341), AAA 15 (1982) 143-151.

No doubt this is the cobbler who was a friend of Pericles and Socrates (Diog. Laert. 2.122); hobnails were found in

- C] Int.: nonsense, curved, to left and right of the helmet:
γαι^(γ)ι.
- D] Type C.

Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 253/803, pl. 82 (shows inscription).

- B] Part of a satyr crouching to right and holding the neck of a full wineskin.
- C] On the wineskin, through its middle, diagonally upward, in dilute glaze: κ(α)λ[ο]ς.
- D] The wineskin seems to be floating upward: is it full of air? The alpha lacks the cross-stroke.

- C] Int.: along the right-hand margin, facing in:

(1)Beazley's restoration; the name occurs without kalos for an athlete on Berlin 2180, RF calyx krater by Euphronios, ARV(2) 13/1. The part preserved is below the hoplite, upside down and following the margin.

Athens, Agora P 23,173.

- A] Frs. of RF column krater. From Athens, Agora H 12:15. Göttingen Painter or manner? (Moore). First quarter fifth. Ca. 490-480 (Moore). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 158/169, fig. 7 (drs. of frs. c and d); pls. 25-26 (frs. a, c, d).
- B] A: frs. a, c, d, and e(?): Athena and a giant. B: fr. b: calf of a man(?); ivy.
- C] A: fr. a: behind Athena's head: [-]οι. Fr. c: to left of the giant's head, diagonally downward: υ[-]; see fig. 7. Fr. c: to left of the giant's shield [probably running alongside it]: [-]ο; see fig. 7. B: fr. b (not ill.): between the leg and the border: σ.
- D] Five frs. Done after sketches in the text and the dr. in fig. 7. Inscriptions in white. [The inscriptions are probably nonsense.]

614.

Athens, Agora P 23,175.

- A] Frs. of BF/WG skyphos. From Athens, Agora H 12:15. Unattributed. Pistias Class. Ca. 500 (M.&P.). *Agora 23, 293/1615, fig. 19 (dr. of Gr.), pl. 106. ABV 716/15 bis, Add.(2) 145.
- B] Maenad(?) on a bull, between palmettes.
- C] Under foot, Gr.: h.(1)
- D] Two frs. Apparently a dedication (see below). A late use of closed heta.

(1)so text, but the photo., pl. 106, shows (albeit with distortion) not only the heta but also a vertical stroke to its right, which would give h<ερα> or the like. This might explain the archaism of the heta.

614a.

Athens, Agora P 23,301.

- A] Fr. of RF pyxis. From Athens, Agora M-N 15:1. Unattributed. Probably late fifth (Moore). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 279/1057, fig. 42 (dr. of Gr.), pl. 101.
- B] Top side: part of a kantharos or calyx krater standing on an egg-and-dot band.
- C] Underneath, before firing and glazing, Gr.: Α.(1)
- D] Type D. No doubt a marker to fit the lid to the pyxis.

(1)incomplete, the bottom missing; Α, Δ, Λ(?)

615.

Athens, Agora P 23,452.

- A] Fr. of BG cup. From Athens. Unattributed. Third quarter seventh.(1) Last quarter seventh (Brann). *Brann, Hesp. 30 (1961) 353/G 33, pls. 81 and 89 (dr. of inscr.). *Lang, Agora 21, F 5, pl. 11 (dr.). 'Script' 29.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the outside, Gr.: -]κλεος ει[μ], retr.
- D] The reading after Agora 21, pl. 11. There are slight differences between Lang and Brann.

(1)context; Lang.

615a.

Athens, Agora P 23,524.

- A] Fr. of RF bell krater. From Athens, Agora K 16. Unattributed. Probably third quarter fifth (Moore). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 194/344, pl. 45 (shows inscription).
- B] Rim: laurel wreath. A: Doric capital with decorated neck and with an indication of triglyphs.
- C] A: at the height of the column neck, roughly horizontal: Αιακος.
- D] Inscription in white. Clear letters. Three-stroke sigma. Apparently the earliest occurrence of the ancestor of the Aeacids.

616.

Athens, Agora P 23,549.

- A] Small pyxis lid. From Athens, Agora P-Q 7. Unattributed. Probably late fifth (Moore). *Vidi. *M.B. Moore, Attic Red- figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 279/1059, fig. 43 (shows Gr.), pl. 101. Agora 27, 168/12, pl. 31.

- B] Topside: wheel with a star-burst pattern in the center.
- C] On the underside [of the pyxis?], Gr. "incised before glazing" (Moore), i.e. before firing: Π.
- D] A 'matching marker'; the matching pyxis would have had the same letter. Cf. Agora P 5711. This presumably means that the lid does not belong as it does not have the same marking.

617.

Athens, Agora P 23,693.

- A] Fr. of bottom of BG alabastron. From Athens. Unattributed. Middle sixth (Lang). *Lang, Agora 21, C 3, pl. 4 (dr.). 'Script' 295. *Vidi.
- B] No decoration preserved.
- C] On the outside, upside down to the pot, in a spiral from inside out, Gr.: Ἀνθέμιε καλῆ, [τὸ δο]κεῖ Ἀισχ---
- D] Antheme is known from Eretria (Lang after Bechtel).

(1)my reading; the spacing seems to require two extra letters. Lang reads ... καλῆ [δο]κεῖ...

618.

Athens, Agora P 23,731.

- A] Fr. of stemless cup. From Athens. Unattributed. Second quarter fifth. *ARV(2) 1589/top.
- B] Int.: warrior.
- C] Int.: Καλλ|ικλ[εξ]?(1)

(1)suggested by Beazley; a kalos-name of this period.

- A] Fragmentary BG oinochoe. From Athens. Unattributed. Early fourth. Ca. 400-390.(1) *Lang, Agora 21, 39/F 131, pl. 16 (dr.). Museum card.
- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the handle, Gr.: Ἀνδρίσκῳ εἰμι δικαίως. On the wall, horizontal Gr.: [---]λλος.
- D] Probably two hands. Is the Gr. on the handle the answer to that on the wall? For assertion of ownership Lang compares Hesp. suppl. 7, p. 31 (Pnyx) and Agora P 23,835. The name Andriskos perhaps also on P 26,389. Ionic alphabet.

(1)i.e. 400 or shortly after.

- A] Fr. of polychrome oinochoe. From Athens. Unattributed. Ca. 400. *M. Crosby, Hesp. 24 (1955) 78/1, pl. 34,a (photo. and water color). T.B.L. Webster, Oikonomos Memorial Papers 2, 201. Idem, Hesp. 29 (1960) 279, pl. 65 = Webster. DMA B 2

(with bibl.). *Vidi. Museum card.

- B] Neck: ivy wreath. Body: part of a facing head.
- C] Body: above the head and to left of it (ending over it):
[Πηλευ]ς Τυρω' Νη'λευς.(1)
- D] Comic scene: recognition scene from Sophocles' Tyro (Crosby). Crosby remarks on the first extra stroke only (it is the only one drawn by de Jong), thinking it a false start for nu. But there is clearly a second one after the eta. Their use is obscure to me. Ionic alphabet. - Taking a second look, to judge by Piet de Jong's dr., one of the leaves does indeed come between the names of Tyro and Neleus, leaving the 'accent' after Tyro on its left. De Jong's dr. makes it look as if the 'accent' had been painted before the leaf, but this needs to be checked in a real photo. De Jong does indeed omit the second 'accent'.

(1)apparently the words were not separated, unless a leaf (now lost) came down between Tyro's and Neleus' names.

620a.

Athens, Agora P 23,897.

- A] RF pyxis with lid. [The pyxis BG, the lid RF.] From Athens, Agora Q 15:2. Unattributed. Late fifth (Moore). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 279/1058, pl. 101.
- B] On the topside of the lid: a chest with the lid partially open.
- C] On the bottom of the lid, incised before firing and glazing: φ.(1) On the underside of the pyxis, a similar Gr.: φρη.
- D] Type D. The Gr. done from the sketches on p. 279. The phi's must be the essential markers to fit the lid to the pyxis. For a similar chest, but with the lid closed, see Munich 2726A (CAVI 5348, where the subject is not mentioned).

(1)[Apparently a partial phi; but I read it formerly as K. In that case, the Gr. on the pyxis would not match that on the lid and the two would not be a pair.]

- B] Two fat-bellied figures facing.
- C] Over the left head: [Δι]φουσος. Over the head of the right-hand figure: Φορ[-].(1)
- D] Comic scene (Crosby). Four-stroke sigma.

(1)Φορ[μίων] is a possibility (Crosby).

- A] BG kantharos.(1) From Athens, Stoa Gutter Well. Unattributed. Late sixth - early fifth.(2) *Agora 21, 53/G 4, pl. 30 (dr.). Hesp. 22 (1953), pl. 29/38. Archaeology 10 (1957) 197. - B] Undecorated.
- C] On the outer face of the remaining handle, Gr. Ἐ(πό)νασος ηερμει̃.
- D] A small vase. Pi and omicron overlap: was the omicron added later? There is also a squiggle where they meet: perhaps another letter was written first. The dedication could have been completed on the missing handle.

(1)One handle is missing. (2)Lang; early fifth, Sparkes-Talcott, Roberts.

- A] Fragmentary RF cup. From Athens, Agora Stoa Gutter Well, Q 12:3. Related to manner of Epeleios Painter.(1) Last quarter sixth. Ca. 480 (Roberts). Ca. 510-500 (Moore). *Museum card. ARV(2) 153, Add.(2) 180. *S.R. Roberts, Hesp. 55 (1986) 19/27, pls. 5-6/27 (Int., A (part), B). *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 318/1408, pl. 131 (shows letters).
- B] Int.: jumper with halteres. A: fight. B: arming.
- C] Int.: to left and right of his head: ηο παις and καλος. A: ηο πα[ι]ς (κ)αλος. B: ηο (π)[αι]ς καλο[ς].
- D] Inscriptions done from the museum card and in part from Roberts. Roberts says that Agora P 7900 is a cup of the same shape and by the same [potter's?] hand. Pi reversed.(2)

(1)Beazley says that Tarquinia RC 1130 is in the manner of the Epeleios Painter and that parts of Agora P 24,068 resemble it. In Cypr. 38 Beazley connected it with the Chelis Group and with Palermo V 655, by the Thalia Painter (ARV(2) 113/3; cf. Roberts). Moore cites Beazley's comparisons and adds more (manner of Epeleios Ptr.). - The Int. shows a good many letters in Agora 30, pl. 131, but the Ext. pictures show only a few letters. Hence I have kept the readings from Roberts. The sketches in Agora 30, p. 318, seem inaccurate.

(2)according to the museum card.

(1)Talcott, once Robertson [but see AJA 83 (1979) 170, n. 14]. For other attributions see C.M. Cardon, G. Pinney, and D.C. Kurtz. Moore says not by Berlin Painter. (2)Beazley: Talcott saw it might be by Berlin Painter; very persuasively argued by Robertson "and I am inclined to accept it." "There are great differences, but the resemblances seem to outweigh them." "The heads are not like the Berlin Painter; but the attitudes and the details of the bodies, especially in Achilles and Memnon, are very like those that we know from him." ".. we are not absolutely sure that the Gorgos cup is by the Berlin Painter, although we think it very likely." Beazley discusses inscriptions, pp. 75-76: Kalos-name Krates is used by different artists and tells us little. Potter's signature of Gorgos: the adj. means 'fierce,' and is used especially of the eyes; used as proper name, masc. and fem. (Gorgo). The shield device on the Berlin Painter's Panathenais is a Gorgon and Robertson suggests that it refers to the name Gorgos. But Gorgos' signature is a potter's signature and he may or may not be identical with the painter. (3)Achilles' and Memnon's heads intervene. (4)the thyrsus and Dionysus' head intervene, the rest not being visible in the ph., pl. 130 (done from the sketch). - Further notes: Robertson no longer attributes to Berlin Painter; belongs to Group of vases placed by Beazley around Salting Painter and Carpenter Painter; see AVCA. - Bothmer, GettyMusJ 14 (1986) 14: discusses Pinney's paper on the Nonage of the Berlin Painter, and the Carpenter and Salting Painters. - Moore on attributions: Talcott first to attribute to Berlin Painter; M. Robertson, AJA 62 (1958) supported this attribution, but he no longer believes this. Beazley tended to agree (the Melbourne book) and included it as Berlin Painter in Add.(2) and Para. Cardon att. to Phintias workshop and named artist the Gorgos Ptr. Pinney accepted the att. to the Berlin Ptr., and formed a group of his earliest work, including Carpenter Ptr. and H.P. Ptr. Kurtz withdrew the cup from work of Berlin Ptr., and Moore agrees; she does not give an attribution.

- C] Below the top frame, horizontal, Gr.: Θηολι?[-] or Θηοδι[-].(1)
- D] I wonder if the eta is syllabic: Θηεο... Owner's name or dedication?

(1)Lang reads the fourth letter as Attic gamma (which is unlikely if Moore's date is correct). She restores Θηογι[τνος] or Θηοδι[που]. Perhaps: Θηολ·λι δδ Cf. LGPN ii, s.v. Θεολλίδης.

(1)seventh- or early sixth-cent. fabric. (2)Mid-sixth, Lang.

(3)Lang's reading, as names-on-sherd, with the final sigma written in the second line (end-boustr., but the sigma not retr.). But the dr. shows that the tau looks like a cross (chi?). I have tried to read the two Grr. not as names-on-sherd: Λυσία[-] and [-]εμυρχος, the epsilon being quite uncertain (and not shown in Lang's dr.). Perhaps a second masc. name: Μύρ<ρ><ι>χος? The whole perhaps part of a list of men's names.

- B] Uncertain subject: a narrow vertical, but curved, area is reserved [the rest must be BG]; on either side is an epsilon; at right a bunch of white dots.
- C] To left of the vertical strip, E, retr. (or upside down?) On its right, somewhat higher: E.

- C] Above the woman's head: - Above the man's head, horizontal: nonsense: ...(.)μππλ.(2)
- D] Inscriptions in white. Is the first inscription the end of a name?

(1)so the sketch on p. 238; not visible in the ph. (2)the ph. shows clearly μππ. I think there are a number of letters on the left; it is unclear whether the end, given here from the sketch, is complete. The sketch gives the letter here marked (.) as a very archaic nu. The last letter in the sketch is lambda 5 in the chart in 'Script'.

- B] Undecorated.
- C] Around the top of the rim, Gr.:
Τίτας Ὀλυ<v>πιόγ[ι]κος καταπύγῳ.
- D] For the accuracy of Agora 21, pl. 4, see Hesp. suppl. 19, 61, n. 13. The letters γ[ι]κ are quite uncertain. Vox suggests τίτας Ὀλυ<v>πιόδ[δ]ρος καταπύγῳ and interprets τιτας as 'paederast'. But the word order would be odd. See further, Hesp. suppl. 19. - Threatte in GAI ii 15, after examination of the vase, inclines to Lang's reading; he says that the dr. in Agora 21 is completely misleading although the Agora file card has an accurate dr.; see further for discussion of the individual letters. On pp. 67-68, T. discusses the name Τίτας which need not be Athenian; the gen. Τίτα is found in two Sicilian inscriptions.

- A] Fr. of RF cup. From Athens, Agora M 18. Painter of Agora Chairias Cups.(1) Last quarter sixth. Ca. 510-500 (Moore). *L. Talcott, Hesp. 27 (1958) 159 and nn. 30-31, pl. 46. *ARV(2) 1570/10. Museum card. *M.B. Moore, Attic Red-figured and White-ground Pottery (The Athenian Agora 30, 1997) 347/1606, pl. 151 (shows inscription).
- B] Int.: satyr carrying a large column krater.
- C] Int.: above the satyr, in a curve, upside down: Χαρ(α)(ς) [-]?(2)
- D] Moore says the vase is not in ARV(2), but it is listed in 1570/10 as unattributed but with the handwriting being the same as on 3 vases by the Painter of the Agora Chairias cups. Did Beazley think that the inscription might be put on by someone other than the painter of the figured decoration? According to Moore, Thompson, Hesp. 27 (1958) 159 n. 31, said that Beazley attributed the fr. to the painter of P 24,102 (i.e. the Painter of the Agora Chairias Cups). [Did T. get this verbally from Beazley?]. Moore compares the vase to vases of the Wider Circle of the Nikosthenes Painter, but does not give an attribution. Note that the inscription is put on in an odd way: upside down or retr. (it is hard to decide; the only certain thing is that the last letter from left to right is a chi). The sketch on p. 347 is inaccurate.

(1) my attribution after the statement in ARV(2): "The handwriting is the same as in [Agora P 24,102, 24,115, 24,116, 24,315, which are by this painter]." But Beazley did not attribute the fr. to this painter in his publications, although Hesp. 27 states that he attributed it [verbally?] to the painter of P 24,102. For Moore's discussion of Beazley's attribution and her own indecision see above, D].(2) positioned to avoid retr.? There may have been a kalos in the missing part (Beazley).

- B] Komos: youth carrying a large wine amphora and holding a jug. Youth looks back gesticulating. On the wall, a flute case. Most of the figured panel is preserved.
- C] On left side of panel, Gr., down: [-]υος(1) In the field, two Dipp.: to left of carrier's back: κ(o)(o).(2) To left of companion, similar: κ(α)λοε.(3)
- D] Dipp. in white. Moore follows Beazley's att. to Myson. Illiterate inscriptions. The Gr. not in Agora 21. - Robertson: "... seems to have only a superficial resemblance to the artist's [Myson's] drawing." R. implies that Berge (in her book on Myson) had difficulties fitting the vase in.

(1)so Hesp.; I though I saw [-]σος. Moore's dr., fig. 34, gives an unclear trace for the first letter, then -ος with 3-stroke sigma. Moore says: 'to left of panel'. (2)my reading, the omicrons both miswritten; not clear that complete. Hesp. 27 says, illegible, "perhaps also καλος." Moore's sketch on p. 230 gives: l|ω. [sic!] (3)clearly for καλος. The sketch: κ(α)λοε, without the iota. Cf. my example of kaloe in 'Script'.

(1)gen. Done from the sketch in Moore; the ph. shows a few letters. The form with initial epsilon occurs also on London B 301 (CAVI 4275); GAI i, 23 follows Kretschmer, Vas. 96 in assuming that the epsilon is a misunderstood digamma.

addition to Castor and Pollux, several standing males with scepters, as well as just scepters; also the head of a horse.

- B] Rays at base.
- C] On the base, in a circle around the outside of the reserved area, with the last three letters overlapping the first three, Gr.: Σικέλε καλεῖ τοι δοκεῖ τῷ μοιχῷ.
- D] Oakley: the first ΤΟΙ could be read either τοι or τῷ [but see now GAI ii, 340-41: 'to someone': τοι=τωι(?)]? Sikele is either a proper name or means 'the Sicilian girl'; cf. Lang, Agora 21, C 27: Σικέλα καταπύγ<αίνα> [which is listed as a proper name in LGPN ii. The date given by Lang is later than that of the present fr.]. Mixed alphabet (Attic with four-stroke sigma). - What does $\mu\omicron\chi\acute{o}\varsigma$ mean here? Adulterer or seducer?

- C] On the reserved bottom, along the resting surface, curved, Gr.: $\text{A}\rho\iota\sigma\langle\tau\rangle\alpha\gamma\delta\rho\acute{o}$ (1)
- D] Probably an owner's name. The sigma has been gone over several times.

(1)Oakley suggests $\text{A}\rho\iota\sigma\langle\tau\rangle\alpha\gamma[-]$ or $\text{A}\rho\iota\sigma\langle\tau\rangle\alpha\gamma[-]$. I slightly prefer the latter.

- B] No figured decoration preserved.
- C] On the BG bottom, across, Gr.: $\Sigma\omega\sigma\iota\acute{o}$.
- D] Owner's name. I cannot tell whether Agora 21, F 134, which is incomplete, might be the same person; the dates do not quite fit (see R. and O.), but R. and O. say the hand is "closely similar". The Gr. Agora 21, C 18 (CAVI 338), is much earlier. Ionic alphabet.

- B] No figured decoration.
- C] At the bottom of the neck, a groove, above which, horizontal, Gr.: $\text{H}\text{H}\text{H}\text{T}\text{I}\text{I}\text{I}\text{I}$.(1)
- D] From the bottom of the neck. A numerical notation, for which reff. are given: C. Boulter, Hesp. 22 (1953) 110-101/141-42, fig. 4. Lang, Hesp. 25 (1956) 1-24; Agora 21, passim (under section H). I take it the notation is probably Attic.

(1)Rotroff and Oakley say that there is a slight vertical line on the left, which they do not think is part of the Gr.

- B] Head and part of the upper body of a youth to right playing the lyre.
- C] To the youth's far right, no doubt referring to a lost figure: Σοτῆρ[ιδες(?)].(1)
- D] R. and O. says this might be from a signature or a kalos-name, but I think there is probably room for a second person, perhaps seated, in which case it could be a name label.

(1)so R. and O., but there are other possibilities; see LGPN ii.

- C] Grr.: inside: boustrophedon with second line retr.: Εγ<ε>στρατος | λασσιμιονιδες. Outside: boustrophedon with second line retr.: Τι(μ)οδεμος Φολυγλο. (1)
- D] Lang thinks this ostrakon is 'reversible' depending on which side was shown. I think it was re-used. The hands differ but I think both names are pre-ostracism. Note closed heta in the first. Cf. Agora P 15,379 and especially P 15,555 (for details of the names). GAI ii also thinks the lettering (of the obverse) looks sixth-century.

- D] A small cup. For the prosagoreuo vases (which are in the manner of the Euergides Painter), see ARV(2) 103-104. Beginning with sigma the letters are very well preserved, but the first four are rubbed off. Molly Richardson showed them to me, as well as the gamma, which I had not seen. Triangular rho.

(1)so my guess from the inscription. Bothmer is listed on the museum card as having attributed the vase as 'Epeleian'. (2)not figured with the other vases from this well in the ASCS Newsletter, Fall 1995, where 32,420 is

D] Ex Küsnacht, Hirschmann G 30.

(1)the cat. wrongly attributes to the Timiades Painter (Kluiver). (2) female; see Florence 70,993 (CAVI 3584 with corrections) and Iliad 9.667. (3)the Sotheby cat. wrongly spells ξ instead of χ. - "it is strange that the name starts with ησ- and ends with -ας, instead of λσ- and -ος respectively" (so BABESCH: is this really Ruijgh rather than Kluiver?). I.e. the text expects λσχιπ<π>ος. [The name is not in LGPN ii or Pape, but many other compounds with λσχ- are. I.e.: Ischippus miswritten as Hischipas. [The only irregularity is -ας.]

 - (c) Wolters: the dr. gives: ἀνδρὸς α(π) and εν(ο)ιο φα^ <space> (.)λ)ο and ο·οεκε ... (4)
 - (d) my attempt:
α[1-2]νδρὸς απ[.....]ε[2-3]ο(ι)ο[.?]πα[..]καθ[1-2].(5)Body, A: near mouth of one lamenting woman: ΟΙΑΠΟΙ.
- D] Vase has no bottom. I wonder if Conze's reading is not a reconstruction. ἀνδρὸς ἀποφθιμένοιο seems reasonable, the rest cannot now be read. Wolters refers to Brückner, JdI 6, 197 for the reading; he himself says the inscription is illegible. - On p. 96, Haspels speaks of 'the doubtful case of the inscription read by Conze on the loutrophoros in Athens', adding that a different reading is given by =>>Engelmann, ÖJh 8, p. 154, n. 5 [which I do not have]. On pp. 115-16, Haspels mentions the inscription, saying that only part now remains; the letters were painted in added white on the outer zone of the tumulus, a zone marked off by an incised line running parallel to the outline; apart from this zone the tumulus was all covered with white, now nearly all vanished, over the black, and on the white were incised figures, a large snake on the ground and little winged psychai. - Mommsen cites [Conze's] text attributing it to Collignon-Couve; she also cf. Cook, Zeus ii,2 (1925) 1057f. She also cites the reading in the prothesis scene, from the mouth of one of the women: OIAPOI, which she says is today no longer visible. Neither inscription individualizes the funeral.

(1)all previous illustrations derive from Mon. ined. viii, pl. 4, and are not always correct (CV). (2)much white used on this side. (3)in capital letters; the second gamma Ionic! (4)first pi = upper half of an omicron. First bracketed omicron likewise. The 'lambda' near 6 on the chart (Argive!). (5)the iota could be a kappa. (6)no longer visible (CV); I did not see it (through glass).

- C] Starting above Heracles' outstretched arm, on either side of Hypnos, in large letters: αλ[^]σει.(1)
- D] = Athens, NM 1258. - Beautiful letters. Andreae takes the inscription for the dative of the poetic word ἄλσος, and thinks it perhaps a reference to a literary work, the palm tree symbolizing the alsos. Except for the inscription, very coarse work. - Danali-Gkiolle derives the inscription αλσει from the theater (cf. ἄσσει), citing this vase and a lost BF lekythos by the Sappho Painter, which she (wrongly) says has τίσις and ἄλσει (Haspels, ABFL 227/40). For ἄλσει she cites, Snell, TrGF ii (1981) 279b. I list the other lekythos under 'Lost' (no. 4819).

Κεάλτῆς (μ)ἔγραψε : Μνεσ[ικλε]ίδες : ἔδωκεν : Φῶκιϝ : .
- D] Beazley was not certain of the attribution of εγραψε to Kealtes, but the differences in punctuation seem to me to suggest that he was right. The (μ) is here considered a five-stroke mu (mu 7) written vertically; it is usually considered punctuation. Φῶκι<ον>(?). Kretschmer considers Φῶκι a non-Attic dative; this is accepted by Threatte who says it is from a masc. noun Φῶκις. LGPN ii lists the name as Φωκίς, presumably fem. But an aryballos should be a gift for a man. The name appears to be unique. A signature plus a gift inscription. - For the shape, see Haspels, ABFL 3 n. 2.

The writing is possible for Exekias, but the cup is perhaps earlier. D] Inscriptions in applied pink. Unclear whether the alphabet is Attic or Ionic.

(1)uncertain, Beazley. (2)or (κ)α(λ)(η). The kappa with a short parallel stroke; alpha lacks the cross stroke; lambda, two short parallel strokes; epsilon smeared, could also be eta. This looks like an imitation of καλη. (3)my reading is of misshapen letters; the 'alpha' is like that in the first inscription. CC gives Υ(Γ)... and thinks probably Υγιεα, which is not right. Nonsense? (4)'Paris' apparently not inscribed.

- C] On the book roll: white dots imitating writing, roughly arranged in five rows and (as Turner saw) two columns of writing.

- C] A: to left of Dionysus' forehead: Διονυσοϛ.(3) Above and to right of the maenad's head: --?καλλοϛ.(4)
- D] Inscriptions originally in white. Four-stroke sigma. Upsilon with stem and curved bars.

(1)probably not 1259, as my note has it. (2)ARV(2) says: Dionysus and maenads. (3)the final sigma probably never written as the head interferes. (4)definitely two lambdas. This should be the maenad's name, but I can find no suitable one. Hardly Διονυσοϛ|καλλ{λ}οϛ as there is a trace of a letter before the kappa.

- B] In the center, a seated woman reading from a book roll. On the left, a companion holds out a wreath. On the right, another holds out a lyre; a third.
- C] Companion on the left: Νικοπολιϛ. Companion with lyre: Καλλιϛ. The third companion is not inscribed. The reader: Σαππωϛ = Σαπποϛ. On the roll, vertical on the rolled up parts: ἔπεα and πτερόεϛτα. On the sheet: θεοί. ἡερί|ων vac. |ἐπέ|ων v. |ἄρχ|ομ|αι A|I|N|Λ|N|T|T|I|N. The last word miswritten for ἀείδειν.
- D] Mixed alphabet. Lines 1-6 on the roll are stoich. - Matheson 289 argues against Williams' view that female musicians must be professionals and hetairai and thinks they are respectable women. Threatte, GAI ii, 259 disusses the gen. form Σαππωϛ, which may be for Σαπ(φ)ῶϛ or for Σαπ(φ)ῶϛ, with omega for ou.

- C] Int.: starting to right of helmet, i.e. from the face, curving down along margin and ending at warrior's mid-back: Φι^ντι^ας ε^ποι^εσ^εν. (1)
- D] Attributed to the very early Berlin Painter by Robertson, to the Salting Painter = Hermokrates by Pinney; not attributed to a painter by Beazley. - In AVCA, p. 45, R. suggests that the epoiesen phase of Phintias is later than the egraphsen, as in Euphronios. On pp. 81-82, R. discusses the vase; he feels now uncertain of his earlier attribution to the Berlin Painter, since there is not a single cup of certain attribution to that painter.

(1)the letters ε^ποι written upside down. A spearhead, the crouching legs, and a himation wound around the waist all intervene.

- A] RF epinetron. From Eretria. Eretria Painter. Third quarter fifth. Ca. 430. 425-420 (Shapiro). *ARV(2) 1250/34, 1688, Para. 469, Add. 176 (much bibl.). *'Script' 798, Figs. 141-44 (photos.). *A. Sinos, The Wedding in Ancient Athens (1993) 40-42, figs. 128-30 (phs. of A and B; dr. of end panel after Eph. 1897, pl. 9,1.).
- B] A: the bride Alcestis. B: the bride Harmonia. C (end panel): Peleus and Thetis.
- C] A: Θεω. Ερανω Αστεροπε. Ιππολυτε. Αλκηστις. One more name. B: Αφροδιτε. Ερωσ. Αρμονια. Πειθω. Κορε. ἠἔβε. ἡμερος. C: Αλτις. Μελιτε. Ευλιμενε. Πελευς. Θετις. Νερευς. Αυρα. Ναω. (1)
- D] Not all readings are certain. Here given after 'Script'. Beazley in ARV(2) points out that the names of Harmonia and Peitho are interchanged [caused by misapplication of Harmonia?]. In CV, Great Britain 3, on pl. 40,305 [Oxford 537], he says that the name Θεανω occurs on the epinetron; this must be the inscription I give after Collignon-Couve as Ερανω. For Theano see Oxford 537. - Robertson, AVCA 230-231 discusses the names. Esp.: Kore, here a maiden of Harmonia (the bride). The side with Harmonia is mythical, that with Alcestis from ordinary life; Hippolyte may be the bride's mother. - Shapiro 105-106: B: Aphrodite presides at far left as mother of bride. Eros holds a jewelry box and A. takes what is probably Harmonia's fateful necklace. At the other end Hebe confronts Himeros: her association with Harmonia and Aphrodite goes back to the Hymn to Apollo 195. In the center, Harmonia is attended by Peitho and Kore. See Shapiro, 'The Origins of Allegory in Greek Art,' Boreas 9 (1986) 15. Harmonia is portrayed as the hesitant bride being comforted by Aphrodite and Peitho. The vase combines the bride of Cadmus with the offspring of Aphrodite (Shapiro). A: represents the Epaulia with women bringing gifts. - Burn: Harmonia more the mythical bride of Cadmus than the personification; however, the actual bride may be Peitho rather than Harmonia [following Beazley, I think]. - O. and S. rightly reverse A and B, for the order of the wedding is: conquest of bride (end panel); preparations for wedding (Harmonia panel) and epaulia (day after, Alcestis panel).

(1) Slightly different readings in the cat. of Lezzi-Hafter: B: [A in L.-H.]: [Π]ειθο. A: [B in L.-H.]: Θεω. Χαρις. Θε[ε]ανω. Αστερο[π]ε. Ιππολυτε. Αλκ[ε]στ[ι]ς. [This is the complete list for this side.] C: Νερευς.

- D] Most of the Cartellino Painter's lekythoi are from Eretria. Probably not the name of a hetaera (Δωρίς), but the famous vase painter Douris. The tailed rho as in Athens, N.M. 1305. Dotted delta.

- B] Mistress and maid: a woman seated to right, confronted by a standing woman handing her a square object.
- C] The object is square and flat, with diagonal lines (strings?) across it; six vertical rows of 'hooks' from top to bottom (such as are sometimes used to indicate weaving); the row most to the right has a line under it.
- D] P.-S. identifies the scene as 'κυρία και δούλη με δέλτο'. Beazley says only: mistress and maid. Because of the way the object is held it can hardly be a basket. Then the 'hooks' should represent writing. But my wife suggests to me that these are tablets tied up with strings.

(1)I was not certain of the omega (for omicron?); it is almost in ligature with the sigma: clearly for Μελάνιππος. If omega is right, perhaps omega for omicron ('Script' 167). LGPN ii does not list this instance of the name. Four-stroke sigma. Omega with the left 'foot' only?

- D] Probably the name of a hetaera (Δωρίς) rather than the vase painter Douris; cf. 'Script' 86. In ARV(1) the vase was attributed to Douris as an early work. - For other vases with the inscription ὄ Δῶρι, [or Δῶρι?] see ARV(2), p. 1568: Bowdoin 30.1 (ARV(2) 328/114) and Acr. 873 (25/3) [but the last does not have this inscription, rather ὄ παῖ καλέ]. D] = 15,918 and 15,942. GAI i, 56 notes that [2035.1] may have a boustrophedon inscription, for otherwise "it is very difficult to explain the interpunct to the left of the theta in the uppermost line, cf. the photograph in [JdI 13, pl. 1,3]"; cf. also p. 328: Beazley's μεπῶξεεν (a very early omission of iota in εποιεσεν) is somewhat doubtful; it had been read με[γρ]αφσεν, cf. CV, Greece 1, pl. 1.1.

(1)probably from the same krater, cf. Para. 18/21.

Unattributed.(1) 'ᾰρειοᾰ' set. Third quarter sixth. 540-530
(Boardman). *Collignon-Couve, nos. 845-47, pl. 35. Wolters, Eph. 1888, 183/1-3, pl. 11. Kretschmer, Vas. 92, n. 5. W.

only). *J. Boardman, BSA 50 (1955) 60/11 and fig. (section), pl. 40,c,d (2412 and 2413 only). H.A. Shapiro, 'The Iconography of Mourning in Athenian Art,' AJA 95 (1991) 638 and n. 49 (not ill.). H. Mommsen, Exekias I: die Grabtafeln (Kerameus 11, 1997) 8 and n. 32 (bibl.), 22.
- B] 2410 and 2413: procession of men to left [of the prothesis]. 2410: four pairs of two men each (two not bearded) with raised hands in procession to right. 2410 has at the bottom a maeander band and at the top a framed inscription (Boardman, p. 52). 2412: is another procession, at the right.

C] My readings from CC.: In a zone marked-off at the top, Dip. and Gr.:

Dip.: --ος : σῆμα τόδ' ἔστι : ἀρεῖο. (2)

Gr.: [--].νος εστῶγιοντ, etc. (3)

Boardman's readings, p. 60: first incised:

...]νοςεστοδεστιναρειο; then correctly inscribed: ...]νος

: σεματοδεστι : αρειο. The first letter shown by the Gr. to have been a nu; hence: [--]νος σεμα τοδ' εστι Αρειο, probably continuing on the ff. plaques, as it is hexametric. The plaques were bespoke. [B. does not consider that αρειο may be an adj. Cf. Shapiro. Cf. also Mommsen who thinks even then a proper name followed, but I do not see that: it could be something like ανδρος, leaving the tomb that of an anonymous warrior.]

D] The 'areio' set comprises 2410, 2412, 2413; Technau had added 1246 and 2417, but Boardman put them with the Exekian

2414 and 2415 (see ABV). - The fr. 2410, the only one inscribed, preserves the upper right-hand corner. - Unclear whether areio is a name or an adjective ('war-like')

(Shapiro). - H. Mommsen, 8 and n. 32:

the inscription (this is the funeral monument (sema) of Areios, or of the war-like ...) shows that the plaque was affixed to a monument. Mommsen clearly thinks the epigram is incomplete at the end, but since it is also incomplete at the beginning, a noun or name agreeing with areio (if an adj.) could have preceded. For other plaques with proper names see ibidem. Mommsen, p. 24: this is the only series devoted to the funeral of a man.

(1)related to Group E, Beazley, JHS 59 (1939) 305, according to Boardman. Not so stated in ABV 687. Boardman: Exekian in style, not in quality, very close to Munich 1381 [ABV 142/5 Towry Whyte Painter, near Group E]. (2)the photo. shows a horizontal stroke for the first letter. See also GAI i, p. 426: original εστινΑρειο replaced by εστι: Αρειο (3)Done from a good photo. in CC; not clear whether the Gr. is under or over the Dip.; the letters seem to correspond one by one to the Dip.

- B] Inscribed is only Athens, N.M. 2414: part of a plaque with quadriga: at left, bird to right; top of head of woman to right; neck of white horse to right.
- C] Athens, N.M. 2414: above the woman's head, and to right of the bird, diagonally upward: [-]αριτα[-].
- D] Four frs., of which only the first (2414) preserves an inscription. Mommsen 47: this is the only parallel for the quadriga procession on the Berlin series; 63 gives the reasons why M., following Boardman, considers these frs. to be from a different series: different find spot; different height of reserved strip above maeander; 2414 does not fit into Berlin series because of the direction of the maeander.

(1)Collignon-Couve suggested restoring [X]αριτα[ιος], known as the name of a contemporary potter (cf. ABV 161). LGPN ii 1 lists ABV 161 and this plaque both for the potter, but ABV does not make the combination. In JHS Beazley says: Pollak suggested the potter Charitaios, but was shown wrong by Pfuhl. Boardman 60 rightly says it should be the name of the woman or a horse. - LGPN ii lists the ff. women's names: Χαρίτα (Roman imperial); Χαρίτη (iv B.C.); Χαριτιάνη (inc.); Χαρίτιον (100 B.C.); Χαριτώ (iv B.C.). B] No figured decoration.

C] Handle zone: A: Τελεσι(α)ις εποισεν. B: Τελεσι(α)ις (ε)ποι(ε)σεν.

D] Formerly wrongly numbered 2466. The vase had been mislaid but has obviously been found. Τελεσαις, miswritten for Τελεσίας? The alphas without cross bar. Τελεσίης occurs as a kalos-name: Add.(2) 399; 'Script' 367.

(1)ABV has a wrong reading: under each handle:

Τελεσ(.)εποισεε. For the two obscure letters see ABV.

The above reading is by Maria Pipili. Pollak had read:

Τελεσαια, which Beazley rejected.

(2) Guarducci, EG iii, 242-43, fig. 117. Kilinski, Boeotian BF Vase Painting (diss. Missouri 1974) 87, 160/51.
B] A, B, each, between palmettes: outline head of a woman to left.
C] Grr.: on the BG lip: A: Κλ(φ)ίχα καλὰ καὶ φίλα τοῖ (ἡσι)ραφσαγ[τι]. (3) B: upside down, originally starting over the right handle: [-]α καλὰ Ἐπορίμαι δοκῖ. (4) Under the foot, Gr.: Κλεφίχα. (5)
D] Ex Papademas collection. Ex Archaeological Society. For the (Attic) Logie Painter, see Para. 93, top. - P. says the writers recognize Kleiwicha as the protomes on both A and B; both lip Grr. refer to the same woman. This last does not seem to me at all necessary. The Gr. on B is sloppier than that on A and is probably by a different hand, hence from a different use. All persons are Boeotians, as is the alphabet.

(1) Group of Louvre F 137. Ure's Class of Skyphoi A 2. (2) listed for shape: Ure's Class of Skyphoi A 1 [sic]. (3) digamma and epsilon in wrong order, for Κλεφίχα; strange letters for καλε(γ)Εὐς.(3)

- D] So Brückner [obviously following Nicole]. The letters αλ are almost gone in a break. The inscription should be καλε̄(h)ε̄ως.
The winged figure should then be Eos, not Nike, as Beazley.

Karouzou, AM 62 (111) (wrong museum no.). G.M.A. Richter, MetMusBull i (1942) 80 n. 7. *Vidi. *H. Mommsen, Exekias I: die Grabtafeln (Kerameus 11, 1997) 22 and n. 182.
- B] Funerary: preserved are the top, left, and right edges (with BG stripes); broken at the bottom: two female mourners: a large woman to left; at her lower body, apparently a vase and a small female to left; at right, a woman to left (smaller than her companion at left), mourning and holding a small child. Black border. [No doubt part of a series, as a panel with the dead is required to the left of this one.]
- C] The dr. in BSA 50 shows: horizontal: ηεαγγ; vertical: ηεικλε(φ)[.]υα[-], with the dotted letters given partially or wholly in outline; the omicron has the end of a vertical line in outline below its left side: was the draftsman thinking of a koppa or rho? My very tentative readings agree to some extent: ηεγαμ and ηεικλ(... Boardman, with some hesitation, thinks a letter may be missing between the horizontal and vertical inscriptions; he reads the second heta as a rectangular theta and considers the iota a punctuation mark; he also thinks the stroke under the omicron should be ignored; thus: ηεδαν and θεικλεφνα. On the assumption that these might be two female names(1), he suggests, e.g.: ηεδανθε and Κλεονα[σσα]. [This ignores the possible letter in the upper right-hand corner.]
- D] Unskillful style, very poorly preserved. Other plaques with proper names are the 'areio' tablet, Athens, N.M. 2410 (CAVI 847 as as I read it now; perhaps), and the Exekias series in Berlin (1811-1826, CAVI 2249). My earlier readings were poor. The dr. in the museum did not show the inscriptions well [this is probably the dr. reproduced in Boardman, pl. 1.] - Mommsen says: "Eine frühe Grabtafel in Athen ... trägt Beischriften, die schwer zu entziffern sind; vielleicht handelt es sich um die Namen der klagenden Frauen." - Closed heta. Rectangular theta (which may also be a heta).

Μηλανοπω. (2)

- C] Between the figures (closer to the left woman), at top, horizontal stoich. left-aligned three-liner:
 Δι(δ)ίλος | καλός | Μ(ε)λανόπῶ. (1)

- D] The inscription is unusually careless for the Achilles Painter. Ionic alphabet with omicron forr omega. Alpha 9. Delta 3 once disjointed, once corrected(?). Epsilon miswritten. Kappa 3, the second diagonal coming off the first. Lambda 4. Mu 4 tall. Nu 3 medium-sized. Omicron near 1 pointed at top. Pi 4 narrow. Sigma 4 (near 7 and flat). Phi perhaps attempted. See the chart in 'Script' for the numbers.

(1)Oakley on p. 12 says that delta is written for phi; the photo. shows a delta with two small circles at the bottom: is this an attempt at correction? The epsilon in the father's name is miswritten (according to the photo.), but I think it is not an eta. However, Oakley on p. 11 cites the vase for eta for epsilon. - Earlier read Μηλανοπο, which I interpreted as Mḥελανῶπῶ. The new reading is here taken from Oakley.

(1)Oakley lists pl. 97. but this has the name Dromippos; it is probably 12,744, q.v., the plate having been switched with pl.96C-D, but this needsa to be checked in Riezler, pl. 5, or in Hesp. 58 (1989), pl. 77.

- B] Mistress and Maid: woman seated to right on a chair holds out an alabastron; above her, at the top, hung up, an oinochoe and another object; woman to left, holding a mirror; behind her, at the top, a sash hung up.
- C] Between the women, at the top, horizontal three-liner; the first two lines are stoich. and left-aligned, but the third line is irregular, at some distance and starting to left of the first letters of the preceding lines:
Δρομιππος | καλος | Δρομοκλειδο.(1)
- D] Second white used. Ionic alphabet.(2)

(1)the letters |Δ are placed together under the O of line 1.
(2)But Oakley prints three-stroke sigma in καλος, which he also mentions on p. 11; I think, however, that it is a sigma S 14 or perhaps S 11, which are simplifications of four-stroke sigma (see the chart in 'Script').

- C] In a loop made by a snake: three-stroke sigma. Below the loop: another omicron; i.e., ο^σ, downward. At right, under the youth's legs: ο^σ, horizontal, a branch intervening. There was probably more.
- D] On σο: Haspels on p. 150 n. 2 cites the form as an example of real nonsense letters giving the illusion of words. The inscription occurs on the Cactus Painter's vases with characters being in distress, but she would not connect it with σῶς ('I wish I were safe!').

(1)the koppa (rightly read by Wolters) = Roman P. The picture in Droop shows a cross (chi) for the tau, but I have kept Wolters' reading, since my sketch seems to agree. (2)Nicole read Φειαλακαλα and ολα. The last is not shown in Droop or Wolters, but I saw it and Wolters has it in the facs.; he considers it a false start. It is upside down as is the other inscription on B.

stated in Delt., p. 108]: Ασοποδορω ηε λεγυθος. [Probably written after the signature, but by the same hand: I do not know whether before or after firing, but it clearly goes through the glaze.]

- D] For the excavations under the Royal Stables, see BCH 71-72 (1947-48) 390. The vase was found with a number of lesser lekythoi, all 10-15 years later: an heirloom. Asopodoros is a not uncommon name in Attica; see LGPN ii. - Attic alphabet. Dotted delta. Tailed rho.

(1)see Cohen: both inscriptions are Grr.; Beazley in ARV(2) does not mention this. The inscriptions look like Grr., but this fact is not mentioned by B.-O., although on p. 45 she says that the inscriptions were done before firing.

Both retr. To right of upper grandstand: Αχιλλεες, retr.(2)
- D] Shapiro, Art and Cult, says that Patroklys atla shows knowledge of the titles of sections of the Iliad. - Beazley read the first inscription also retr.:
Σοφ[ι]λος: μεποιεσεν]. But it could be the name of a charioteer: Mon. Piot suggests [Σθενε]λος. Shapiro in 'Myth' suggests Αντιλοχ[ι]ος. Πατροολυς: on epsilon for ou, see 'Script', p. 162. Perhaps Attic adaptation of the epic third declension. ατλα: tau for theta perhaps because of the following lambda; see GAI 1, 453; also J.-L. Perpillou, 'Badly miswritten', REG 105 (1992) 557-60, citing S.T. Theodorosson, The Phonic System of the Attic Dialect (1974). Αχιλλεες for Αχιλλεους may be an alternate form; see Kretschmer, Vas. 191-92. Further, 'Script' 21 n. 4. All inscriptions are in red, I think.

(1)Beazley reads the iota of Sophilos, which I do not see in the photos, and wrongly renders the koppa as a kappa. The first epsilon added later. GAI i, 22 and 260 wrongly reads Πατροκλῦς with kappa (the ending explained as upsilon for ου, i.e. genit. Πατρόκλους). (2)GAI ii, 235-36.

- B] A: a bearded man, leaning on his stick, contemplates a pillar (terma). B: youth to left, before a pillar, looks toward A.
- C] B: above the youth's head: $\kappa\alpha\lambda\omicron\varsigma$.
- D] An erotic encounter. Mixed alphabet. Ionic lambda and three-stroke sigma with rounded top.

- B] Youth with staff and woman with fruit(?) and a small basket.
- C] Between the heads: horizontal two-liner, probably stoich.: $\alpha(\lambda)\kappa\dots|\kappa\kappa\lambda\dots$.(1)
- C] To right of youth's head, stoich. two-liner, both lines bearing downward: $\alpha\kappa(\kappa)(.)|\kappa(\alpha)\lambda(\alpha)(\lambda)$.(1)
.....
.....
- D] A very large vase. Würzburg K 1819 is attributed by Guy to the same hand ('Kiseleff Painter'). - The second line is clearly an illiterate attempt to write $\kappa\alpha\lambda\omicron\varsigma$. Karouzou thinks the first line may be an illiterate attempt to write Alkimachos [which of the two kaloi does she mean?]. [Note that the Kiseleff lekythos has a similar inscription which Neumann could not read.]

(1)the last letter in line 1 is a 'quotation mark' (intended for kappa?). The third letter is a sort of cursive kappa. Line 2: the first alpha is miswritten; the second is a disjointed high-kicker. The second lambda is puny. Both lambdas are Attic and leaning back.

the Kallis Painter in relation to Sakonides or the group of Lydos, see BCH 318ff. By the same hand as Naples Stg. 172,

q.v. C.-F. 325ff. discusses the subject: she thinks the female on A is Aphrodite, καλλιπί(μ)η being an epithet; E.V. had her as a nymph. The subject is the Anodos of Aphrodite (note the snakes). The males are bearded; that at right has an inscription read by her as ηε[ρομε]ς; the other she thinks is Adonis, although the accompanying inscription is meaningless (it has however the same number of letters as Ἀδώνιος). - The inscriptions mix sense with nonsense.

(1)but see BCH 317 n. 2. (2)so Vanderpool in text. (3)the name also on London B 331. Similar heads on Naples Stg. 172 (ABV 203/1) by the same painter, with names of maenads (Kallis, Sime). Are the names on our cup those of mortals (as Vanderpool and Beazley seem to imply) or also Dionysiac?

- B] At left, a naked youth with a short stick(2) leaning against a pillar; in the center, a cock; at right, a naked youth reaching out for the cock.
- C] In the empty space between the two youths, facing the youth with the cock: Φᾶνος καλος. Between the youths and to left of the cock, facing the youth with the stick: ἡσπακς καλος.
- D] Gift of G. Empedokles. K.'s dr., pl. 15, omits the iota of πας; it also gives a faint iota for the lambda of the second καλος. The text, p. 445, differs: K. reads: πακς, and the second kalos: καλος. She notes that the two inscriptions come close to being under the two knobs. I prefer the dr. to the text. In his letter, Beazley, refers to the Phanos who appears in Ar., Hippeis 1256 and Wasps 1220, who is not the same. The circumflex is given by Herodian.

- D] Dontas thinks this not a mistress and maid scene: Chrysothemis is a free woman and the seated woman is a bride. Ionic alphabet.

(1)Dontas does not specify where the lekythos is: Triti Ephia or N.M.? The vase is probably the same as the [RF] lekythos listed in Add.(2) 393, with different bibliography, as 'Athens, NM, from Athens', although the last word of the inscription is there given as ΑΛΚΙΜΑΧΟΣ; Dontas' vase has no final sigma there. (2)an ancient rubbish heap. (3)Dontas: Eurydike, Eurykleia and Eurynome are possibilities, but D. prefers Eurydike, not the bride of Orpheus but an underworld goddess (bibl. in n. 31). Chrysothemis and Eurydike are both listed in LGPN ii, the former i.a. from SEG 31.55, c. 440, the latter Hellenistic only. Eurynome is listed as doubtful; Eurykleia is not listed. The question is, are these two good Athenian names or is the scene mythological?

- B] Subject not mentioned.
- C] Gr.: Θεμεσθῶ ταθηναιαι.
- D] + EM 7312, 7281 = IG i(2) 447: three joining frs.; the last two in EM, the first (letters θεμεσ) is lost. Themestho for Θεμιστό.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 309.

- A] Fr. of pot. From Athens. Unattributed. Eighth or seventh? *GL i, pl. 11/309. Kretschmer, Vas. 233. Boardman, BSA 49 (1954) 184, n. 9. 'Script' 2 and n. 7.
- B] (maeander).
- C] Dip: [A]ντῆ[νῶρ], retr.
- D] The name occurs also on a PA fragment, Acr. 368. The eighth-century date is thus uncertain. Boardman's restoration is unlikely. - The vertical of the third letter suggests an epsilon.(1)

(1)Graef: "Obere Querhasta des ε kann nicht viel länger gewesen sein, da Firnis nahe dem Bruch dick aufliegt."

954.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 343.

- A] Four frs. of PA pot. From Athens. Unattributed. Seventh? *GL i, no. 343, pl. 11.
- B] Row of spirals in relief.
- C] Grr.: fr. c: [---]ιϛ[---].(1) Fr. d: [---α]νεθ[εκεν ---].(2)
- D] Read perhaps: [ὁ δεινα ἄ]νέθ[εκεν τῶθῆνα]ιϛ[ι]. The letter forms (especially theta) seem later than the frs., which Graef dates 'Dipylonzeit.' He also says that they may be connected with nos. 328 and 329. I wonder if 343 is not much later.

(1)tops of letters only; there are many other possibilities.
(2)of the nu, the left vertical's bottom is not preserved.

955.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 368.

- A] Two PA frs. From Athens. Unattributed. 640-30 (see Morris).
*GL i, pl. 13. Beazley, Dev., ch. 1, n. 22. LSAG 76/5a. S.
Morris, The Black and White Style (1984) 34, n. 73. S.
Karouzou, Eph. 1952, 152-63, fig. 25.; 166/13 (attributed to Ram Painter). 'Script' 11.
- B] Frs. a and b: chariots.
- C] Fr. a: below three horizontal lines, which are below the scene: Dip: Ἀντενῶ[ρ], or Ἀντενῶ[ρος], retr.(1)
- D] + Berlin. - Beazley thought of dedicator, owner, or potter, but Morris rightly thinks the name mythological. Cf. also Acr. i, 309.

(1)only the left vertical of the alpha is preserved; hence not alpha 3, but could be 2 or 5 (see the chart in 'Script').

- A] Fr. of amphora. From Athens. Unattributed. Seventh century. *GL

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 391.

- A] Three frs. of BF pot. From Athens. Nettos Painter. Last quarter seventh. *GL i, 41/391 (dr., part). ABV 5/10, Para.
4/16(1), Add.(2) 2. *dr. Hunnekens (see below).
- B] Wings; remains of a woman. On the neck: large floral.
- C] On top of the rim (fr. a), Gr. at broken edge:
Graef: [---γλαυκο]πιδι ρορει--- (2)
I read: parts of two lines:
---(.)(.)[---] | [---]φιδιωι[---], retr.(3)
- D] Lightly incised and in part unclear. Not contemporary with the pot, a casual Gr., not a dedication; Graef's interpretation is wrong. - Correspondence 1984-85 between Boegehold, Ludger Hunnekens and myself about this text: H. made a dr. which shows a double circle, like the omega from Phlius. B. in answer suggested: αλωιδι[---]. H. replied with a new dr. and suggested the ff. traces:
[---]ι(ω)δι(ο)[---], saying that there is an unexplained line attached to the omega's upper circle and that the last letter could be phi, psi or koppa. I suggested in 1985 that one might read the inscription retr.: [---]φιδιωι, with 'Phlian' omega. I now think that there are three bottom verticals coming down from the break above, so that we have remains of two lines. H. rightly thinks that this Gr. cannot be contemporary with the pot. It is no doubt a casual notation. The omega is not Attic (Phlius?).

(1)Nettos Painter fused with Chimaera Painter. (2)The letters broken at the top. Graef is uncertain about the reading: "mit Verschreibung." (3)The first line perhaps not retr., as the last letter may have the end of a short vertical to the right, so perhaps a pi. Boustrophedon? The three letters (.) are bottom verticals.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 464.

- A] Fr. of tripod kothon or pyxis. From Athens. Unattributed.(1) Second quarter sixth. *GL i, no. 464, pl. 16. ABV 88.
- B] Frontal chariot of Diomedes.
- C] Τυδε[υς], retr.

(1)resembles Brussels A 3 by the Painter of London B 76 (ABV 87/21), but seems somewhat earlier (Beazley).

959.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 551.

- A] Frs. of BF skyphos. From Athens. Unattributed. Early sixth. *GL i, no. 551, pl. 19.

960.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 574.

- A] Fr. of BF lid. From Athens. Related to the Swan Group. Early sixth? *GL i, 62/574 (dr.), pl. 21. ABV 659/10.
- B] Birds and strokes.
- C] Around the rim, Dip. in BG: --διακ(λ)ο[--].(1)
- D] Graef does not give an explanation for the inscription. Dotted delta?(2)

(1)so GL (except for the trace I have added at the beginning), but the dr. shows 1 1/2 letter spaces after the omicron, with indistinct markings. The lambda is quite uncertain; it may be an upsilon or something else. The dr. shows the tip of a high horizontal or diagonal stroke before the delta. (2)Not possible for such an early date!

961.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 585a and b.

- A] Two frs. of BF kotyle krater(s).(1) From Athens. Sophilos. First quarter sixth. *GL i, pp. 63,a and 63,b. *ABV 40/17, 18, Para. 18, Add.(2) 11. *Bakir, Sophilos 68/A 17, pls. 35, figs. 64-65, 36, fig. 67. 'Script' 66. *Photo. (B). H. A. Shapiro, Art and Cult under the Tyrants in Athens (1989) 105-105, pl. 49,c (photo.).

- C] 585a: Πανδροσοος, retr. 585b: Ποσειδων.

- D] Beazley in ABV did not think the frs. were from the same vase, but others do: see Bakir. ABV says: "Unexplained subject" for both frs.

(1)dinoids, Beazley.

962.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 586.

B] Fight, probably Achilles and Memnon: helmet plume, raised arm and spear of a warrior; behind him, a woman.
C] Near the warrior: Μῆ(-). (2) Near the woman's head: h[εὐς?].

(1)may be by him, Beazley. (2)Beazley in Hesp. and in Caskey-Beazley says the second letter could be an epsilon, but was not sure if the third could be a mu. Graef suggests Memnon. Hence Μῆμ[νὸν]?

B] Wedding of Peleus and Thetis.
C] Σοφίλος εγραψε, retr. Νυσσῶσαι(?). Ποσειδῶν, retr. 'Αν[φιτριτε]. Λετῶ. Δε[μ]ετερ, retr. Χαριλῶ. ηεστια. ηερα.
D] Guilleron's dr. shows the inscriptions to be in red. For the problem of the Nyssai, see GAI i, 260: Vanderpool suggests error for (M)ῶσαι ((M)υσαι, accepted in GAI i, 260, but rejected in GAI ii, 722 and 756). See also 'Script'.

D] + Athens, N.M. 15,466 (from North Slope), added by Broneer + North Slope AP 906, published by Roebuck. Damas and Kelai[nos] were added by Broneer, the latter corrected to Kelaas by Roebuck. Kretschmer, Vas. 69 reads Φιλόνβ[ο]ν, perhaps a short form of Φιλόμβροτος.

(1)so Roebuck: his fr. joins Broneer's, who had read Κελαι[νος]. R. connects the name with that of the charioteer of Pelops, Killas or Killos [hence Κελλ[α]ας?], but the photo. in Hesp. 9 seems to show an iota (in the break), rather than a second alpha: hence Κελλ[α]ις??

carefully planned, taking up no more than 1/2 circle and appearing above gods' heads. According to her, the Gr. dedication my have been on the other 1/2 circle. - Aristaios is written close to the wrong person, according to Moore. Μιμος for Μίμας?, cf. Beazley, Dev. 43. The second part may have been dedicatory. - Chaitos and Euthoias are horse's names. E. Simon, GV 80 suggests the horse names Charitos [sic] and Euthoias are borrowed by the painter from names of famous race horses; the chariot race became a staple of the Panathenaea at this time. The two horse names are not Homeric, but the painter shows knowledge of Homer by including the third horse (which in Homer was mortal), Pedasos. [I wonder whether Π[---] is to be read Π[εδασος]?].

The inscription in small letters.

(1)not in Beazley, but Roebuck says: suggests the workshop of Exekias, but not self. (2)so GL. (3)as shown in Hesp. 9, fig. 9a, there are only slight traces of letters 2-4, as a break interferes.

B] Women at the fountain.

Between second and third: Γλυκε. Between third and fourth: Ρο[δ--]. Fr. b: over head and bust of rightmost woman:
Καλ·λις, retr.(2)
D] Frs. a-c. Kallirhoe is also found on the fountain hydria London B 331, ABV 261.41, manner of the Lysippides Painter (CAVI 4287). The names apparently written on the figures' right, regardless of which way they are facing. - AM, loc. cit., points out that [London B 331] is very similar except for the inscriptions and gives readings: Καλιροε. Επανθις. Γλυκε, retr. Πο[--].

(1)see Peek: no letter was written before the epsilon; the second letter is a pointed (half-arrow) gamma; Μελανθις is excluded, 'Ε(ρ)ανθις unlikely; perhaps the second letter is upside down, Ε(ι)ανθις? Clearly miswritten. (2)Peek reads Καλισ[τε] (the vase breaks right after the sigma), but see Beazley's parallels, ABV 677.

D] The end of a heroic name? The shape of delta shows that the inscription is retr.

991.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 779.

- A] Fr. of BF amphora,(1) From Athens. Unattributed. Third quarter sixth. *GL i, no. 779, pl. 47.
B] At left, lower half of a reclining woman; standing woman in black chiton, raises her left arm to her head; at right, two arms extend toward the reclining woman.
D] Subject unclear. The name listed in LGPN ii as historical.

(1)perhaps Tyrrhenian, Graef. If not, the scene could be funerary. (2)complete.

992.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 780.

- A] Fr. of BF amphora. From Athens. Unattributed. Last quarter sixth. *GL i, no. 780, pl. 48.

993.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 816.

- A] Fragmentary BF amphora. From Athens. Unattributed. Last third of sixth. *GL i, no. 816, pl. 49 (dr.). Shapiro in Neils et al., Goddess and Polis (1992) 55.
B] Procession to sacrifice: left to right: boy holding a rope tied to a bull's foot; man and boy playing lyres; bearded flautist; male carrying a large amphora; bull; behind the bull, a wreathed youth with a basket; in front of the bull, a wreathed boy, probably with an apron, holds a branch and a rope of the bull.

- C] Behind the leftmost boy: [---]ες. Behind the boy with the lyre: [-]αιος[ς]. Between the flautist and the boy playing the lyre: Εχσεκ<ε>στος.(1) Above the flautist: Νικα[υλος?].(2) Above the head of the youth behind the bull: [---]ος. Below the bull's neck (referring to the rightmost boy, though not facing him): [---]εβιος.(3)
- D] Exekestos is an unusual name which may be related to the name Exekias, on which see Boardman, 'Exekias,' AJA 82 (1978) 24 (Shapiro).

(1)the rope interferes. (2)my suggestion. Graef suggests: [ῆ δεῖνα ἐ]νικά [φυλή] or Νικα[---καλ]ος, no doubt taking the -ος from the next inscription which won't do as the figures were named separately. (3)Bechtel suggests Ἀρχέβιος, Ἀλκέβιος, or Ἀγχεβιος.

994.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 825.

- A] Fr. of BF oinochoe. From Athens. Near the Madrid Painter ii, various. Last third sixth. *GL i, no. 725, pl. 55. *Photo. ABV 330/1, Add.(2) 89.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 836.

- A] BF frs.(1) From Athens. Unattributed. Last quarter sixth. *GL i, no. 836, pl. 56 (fr. a only).
- B] Fr. a: head, lyre, hand of Apollo; upper body of Artemis; Ares. Fr. b: head of a satyr; Hermes; Dionysus; maenad; satyr. Fr. c: ornament.
- C] Fr. a: to Artemis' left and above Apollo: [Aρ]τεμιδος. To Ares' left, above Artemis: Aρεος, retr.(2)

(1)three frs. almost certainly from one amphora, Graef. (2)epic Ἄρεος, Attic Ἄρεως; see Et. M. 140 (Graef).

996.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 888.

- A] Frs. of BF pot.(1) From Athens. Unattributed. Last quarter sixth. *GL i, no. 88, pl. 56.
- B] Fr. a: remains of two standing women. Fr. b: phorminx and finger(?); two women standing, perhaps on a chariot: goddesses and Apollo? Fr. c: figure to right. Fr. d: garment.
- C] Fr. a: between the women: [-]εδα. Fr. b: above the phorminx: ρ[---], retr.(2) Fr. d: to left of garment: [-]νχευ[-].(3)
- D] Frs. a-d; c and d may not belong.

(1)Graef says the frs. are too small to decide whether they are from a hydria, although the ornament suggests it.
 (2)Graef shows this letter looking like a 'b', i.e. upside down. (3)so (it seems) Graef, but I thought from the photo. that the letter was not a nu, hence it could only be a gamma. Nonsense, or a name?

997.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 914.

A] Fr. of early BF Panathenaic. From Athens. Echekleides, potter. Ca. mid-sixth. *GL i, pl. 60. *ABV 666. *A.W. Johnston, ZPE 54 (1984) 115-17. 'Script' 956.

B] Athena.

C] ηεχεκλε[ιδες ...

D] GL read [καλο]ς?? Εχεκλε[ς]. Beazley in ABV follows this, thinking [καλο]ς (with sigma 2) probable, if Graef rightly saw a trace before the name. Johnston, however, is no doubt right in assuming a potter's name. The potter probably reappears on 'Script' 955 (Samothece 65.1060, CAVI 7441), but with initial ς instead of heta.

998.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 921.

A] Frs. of BF Panathenaic(?). From Athens. Manner of the Princeton Painter. Mnesiades, potter? Third quarter sixth. Before 530.

*GL i, pl. 39. *Brandt, Archaeologia Panathenaica I, 4/22. ABV 300/16, 314, 670. 'Script' 1199. Neils et al., Goddess and Polis (1992) 41 and n. 68.

B] A: Athena (no columns). B: hoplitodromoi.

C] A: Behind Athena, vertically: Μνεσ[--, retr. B: at the top: διαυλυ, retr.(1)

D] The shape is uncertain: see Beazley. - Possibly from a signature of the potter Mnesiades, although Beazley 314 says the lettering is different. Otherwise a kalos-inscription as Graef suggests. Cf. 'Script'. Brandt considers the frs. to be from a Panathenaic, Graef, probably so. Neils thinks this was probably a prize vase, perhaps with three inscriptions as New York 1978.11.13.: behind Athena, the potter's signature Mnes[iades]; the prize inscription at left, now missing; and on B: men's stadion (sprint) [this is a very free interpretation]. Mnesiades was the potter of a vase once in Cairo, which he signed (see CAVI 2040, Basel, Cahn 859, ex Cairo, Riaz); and the dedicator of a bronze statue with Andokides on the Acropolis (DAA 213-16). N. thinks that since all of these inscriptions are ca. 540-530, they all refer to the same man. Cf. also D.G. Kyle in Neils et al., op. cit. 205 n. 60.

(1)the upsilon is in the break, hence the word need not be complete. διαυλυ for διαύλω (with long o)? For upsilon for long closed o, see 'Script', p. 162. Formerly read: διαυλ{λ}[--, for διαυλ[οδρόμοι] or the like.

999.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 923.+

A] Frs. of BF Panathenaic, probably not a prize vase. From Athens. Unattributed. Third quarter sixth. Before 530. *GL i, pl. 59.

*ABV 667, 714. 'Script' 1201.(1) Cf. Neils et al., Goddess and Polis (1992) 38.

- B] A: Athena. B: Athena with Zeus, Poseidon, and Ares(?).
- C] A: above the left cock-column: ἡπικροκλ[---. B: below Zeus' left hand: [h]πικρο[---.
- D] See Beazley's discussion in ABV. kalos-name Hippokles or Hippokleides, the latter suggested by Rumpf in Gn 14, 457. No prize inscription.

(1)not in Brandt. Mentioned AA 1893, 18/4.

- B] A: Athena (head and shoulders, aegis, shield device white owl); cock column.
- C] A: τον Αθ[ενεθεν αθλον].

(1)not in Beazley, but Brandt lists it under the Michigan Painter (ABV 343-44), perhaps because the shield device is an owl. But the Michigan Painter painted mainly reverses of Panathenaics (Para. 156).

1002.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 945.

- A] Fr. of prize(?) Panathenaic. From Athens. Unattributed. Before 520? *GL i, no. 945, pl. 56.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 988.

- A] Fr. of prize Panathenaic. From Athens. Unattributed. Second quarter fifth? *GL i, no. 988, pl. 57 (fr. b).
- B] Fr. b: at left, column shaft; to its right, part of a shield.
- C] Between the two: τον [Αθενεθεν αθλον].
- D] Other frs., found in 1894, have been lost; one showed an Ionic chiton: hence this is the youngest piece of the older group: so Graef, who compares Naples [RC 184], von Brauchitsch, no. 36 [= ABV 409/3, by the Achilles Painter!], illustrated in GL i, p. 116.

- B] B: heads of three runners.
- C] B: above second and third runner: $\alpha\nu\delta[\rho\omicron\nu]$.(2)
- D] In Dev. Beazley says that vase is contemporary with Halle 560 (CAVI 3862, ABV 120), related to Lydos, which has the same inscription.

(1)not in Brandt. (2)probably complete, as there is a vacat fore, and Halle 560 preserves the end of $[-\alpha\nu]\delta\rho\omicron\nu$. But $\alpha\nu\delta\rho\omicron\nu \nu\acute{\iota}\kappa\epsilon$ is also possible, cf. Munich 1451 (Brandt 4/26, CAVI 5163).

1007.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 1044.

- A] Fr. of prize Panathenaic. From Athens. Unattributed. Second or third quarter sixth. *GL i, no. 1044, pl. 63.
- B] B: top of head (probably of a runner).
- C] Above the head: $\alpha\nu\delta[\rho\omicron\nu]$.

D] Frs. a and b. Three-stroke sigma. Not [καλ]ος because of the position of the inscriptions. Compare lekythoi by the Cactus Painter. - The vase may contradict the idea that men in vats are always connected with the making of wine. But it looks as if the 'vat' is a smaller basin and the man is standing beside it.

(1)or οο, retr.

1045.

- D] Frs. a - d. Late occurrence of closed heta. Graef suggests: ηερα : [τες Αθηναιας....]κλεια : ανεθ[εκεν, and says that the inscription took up more than one side, fr. d being from B. But there may have been two separate inscriptions, one on each side.

1047.

- A] Frs. of BF skyphos. From Athens. Unattributed. Later sixth. *GL i, no. 1343, pl. 77.

- B] Decoration not preserved.
- C] On the rim, Gr.: Σοσια{σ}ϛ αν[εθεκεν].(1)
- D] Rim fr. with handle attachment. The inscription may have continued beyond the ἀνεθεκεν. Graef thinks the same person dedicated Acr. 1628, because of similarity of hand.

(1)the first attempt at writing the final sigma resulted in a nearly straight line, so it was repeated.

1053.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 1402.

- A] Fr. of BF skyphos.(1) From Athens. Unattributed. Third quarter sixth. *GL i, no. 1403 (not ill.).

- C] Under the foot, around the inner edge of the foot ring, facing it: [N₁κ₁ο₁σ₁θ₁ε₁ν₁ε₁ς ε₁π₁ο₁ι₁ε₁?]. (3)
- D] Small letters.

(1)Corinthian type; probably black except for upright strokes at the base (ABV). (2)add ARV(2) 1627/25 bis (Limenas). (3)my restoration, after ABV 233/3. Not a complete circle, even if it should be ἐποίησεν.

1056.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 1410.

(1)listed after the skyphoi with signatures under the foot; Beazley thinks it may have been from a skyphos of Corinthian type; the other skyphoi of that type have the signature under the foot, but Graef does not mention this for our fr. (2)so Graef; Beazley has με[---], I do not know whence, as he had not seen the fr. - Cf. Acr. i, 1409.

1057.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 1411.

- A] Fr. of BG(?) skyphos. From Athens. Unattributed. Nikosthenes potter. Ca. 530-520. *GL i, no. 1411 (not ill.). ABV 233/2.

- B] A: Upper parts of two women.
- C] A: between the women, at head height: ---υμολ, retr.(1)
Below the first inscription, after a one-space vacat:
ιδε vacat, retr.
- D] Both inscriptions probably nonsense.(2)

(1)the head of the left woman interferes: did the inscription continue? The first letter is the lower part of a vertical stroke. (2)Graef suggests: perhaps ιδέ, spoken by one of the women; but the position is not very suitable for a spoken word. Could also be ιρε. The shape of epsilon shows it to be retr.

- D] Beazley says, hoplites and archer; so he probably does not think the scene mythological.

(1)ABV: exact shape uncertain, but period of Siana Cups I.

(2)last letter, the top of an upright, not a tau. The name could refer to the archer, but I know of no such name for one. More likely, it refers to a hoplite; it may be mythical or historical.

- B] A, B, each: Athena mounting a chariot.
- C] On the rim, Gr.: A: Fr. b: [h]ιερ[α---]. Fr. c: τ]ες Αθε[---]. B: fr. a: [---]ς Σοσιας ανεθεκεν. I.e.: [h]ιερ[α τ]ες Αθε[ναία]ς Σοσιας ανέθεκεν. A: fr. b: behind Athena: καλος.(1) fr. c: curving around horses' heads: hoπ(α)ις.(2) B: fr. a: to right of Athena's face: καλος. To horses' right: hoπα<ο>ς.(1)
- D] Frs. a-c. I have changed A and B from Graef's arrangement because of the Gr. and because the dipinti on (my) B are less carefully done than those on A. Graef points to the similarity of hand with the dedication of Acr. 1401 (q.v.) and thinks the dedicator is the same man.

(1)so (approximately) Graef, but the dr. shows the inscription to be partly in imitation letters. (2)alpha lacks the cross stroke.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 1632.

- A] Frs. of BF band cup. From Athens. Unattributed. Third quarter sixth. *GL i, no. 1632, pl. 84. *Peek, GL ii, 132. Benndorf, Griech. u. sizil. Vasenb., pl. 29, 3 (a, part). Stais, Eph. 1886, pl. 7. Meyer, Giganten und Titanen, pl. 1. Caskey-Beazley ii, 70 (mention). GAI i, 26 (on Ληαβετος).
- B] [Handle zones:] A: Gigantomachy. B: chariot race.
- C] (1) A: (fr. c, left to right): above the shield of a fallen giant(?): Επχο[---], retr.(1) Above a giant: Πολ[υβοτες?], retr.(2) Behind hindquarters of a lion: ληεον. Above the head of Hermes: [ηερ]μες, retr. Between heads of Hermes and a giant, facing the latter: ΕΥΟΕΝ(Σ) retr.(3) To giant's lower right, referring to a missing fallen giant: Ευροπε[υς], retr. To right of Zeus' head: Ζευς.
(2) B: frs. a, b, e, beginning with e, extant chariots numbered. Fr. e: handle; charioteer, chariot 8, to right. Behind his back, facing him: Ληιβυκαι, retr.(4) [---]ες, retr.(5) Fr. a: chariot 7, between charioteer's and horses' heads, facing the latter: Φοχο<ς> v., retr.(6) Behind heads of horses of chariot 6: Ληαβετος.(7) Behind heads of horses of chariot 5, facing them: Μεγαριδες, retr.(8) Same position, chariot 4: Βοιοτι[αι], retr. Fr. b: high position, chariot 3: [Λα]κεδαμ<ονια>.(9) Above horses' heads, chariot 2:

Θεβεθεν. Under the bellies of chariot 1: Αθεναια[ι]. (3)
On the rim, Gr.: Fr. c: A: [---]υιὸ παις κα[---].(10) B: Fr.
e: Θεοι [---].(11) Fr. a: [---]ιον καλον σ[---].(12) Fr. b:
[---]ήλ]εὸς [δ]έχῃ [---].(13)

- D] A multifigured band cup. Frs. a-g. I believe the correct order of the frs. is c + ... e + a + b , although Peek considers also e + b + a, but then the Athenians would not be first. If Phoxos and Labetos (or Labes) are owner's names, they must be with chariots sent by private individuals; or more likely names of horses. The Gr. must be amatory or convivial, not dedicatory.

(1)miswritten? Graef gives no explanation. (2)see CB. (3)Graef reads ΕΛΟΕ(N)», not retr., with the nu upside down, and has no explanation. Mayer had read [Π]ελο·ρ>ε(υ)ς, but G. rejects it. Should be read retr. Peek rightly read ΕΥΘΕΝ» and suggested Εὐθῆν·ο>ς). (4)refers to horses: chariot horses are usually mares, cf. Wilamowitz ad Eur., IT (Bruhn), line 2. (5)belongs to second driver (Graef). (6)From φοχσός, pointed (referring to the head). Φοξος Graef, cf. the tyrant of Chalcis, but his date is quite uncertain; Φοξο[χειλος] Benndorf (but there is no space, except under the horses (lost); Φοκος Wolters. (7)Graef thinks of Λαβεῖτις in Epirus, but realizes it is unsuitable for sending a famous chariot. Peek thinks genit. of Λάβῆς (e.g., IG ii 864, col. ii, 14), name of owner of Megarian chariot, as Φοχσο ... is of a previous chariot. But Graef refers the name to an earlier chariot, for he says that L. seems to be falling from his chariot. Is Labetos not a possible name? (8)last letter to left of inscription. (9)not enough space to finish the word; first extant letter drawn as chi in dr.: [Λα]χεδαμ·ονια>? (10)Stais thought of a kalos-inscription, but Graef thinks a dedication more likely, with -υιὸ or -ριὸ [the latter clearly wrong] the father of the dedicator. Peek suggests: Εριγ|υιὸ παις κα[λος, the name being known only as Sappho's father or brother. (11)Graef reads θεοί, but it maybe an invocation at the beginning of an amatory inscription, cf. Agora P 5164. (12)so rightly Peek (but no letter is missing).(13)so Peek, rightly; Graef read: [---εὐφρον]έδοσ[α δ]έχῃ [---].

- B] A: fight.
- C] [X]ειρῶν εποιε (see ABV). Probably complete aft (Beazley). The lower part of an upright stroke, seen by Robertson, is said by him to be probably part of a warrior's name.
- D] Payne saw that M. Robertson's fr. joined Acr. 1780; it is now in the National Museum. Graef tentatively suggested: Φειδῶν εποιε[σεν, but see Robertson's comments; he compares Χιρῶν εποιεσεν on a LM cup, Once Rome, Vatican, ABV 161, CAVI 6970. See also Beazley in JHS (need not be the same as the potter of the Vatican cup). A full discussion in Robertson, JHS. εποιεσεν is given also by Klein, MS(2) 216.

B] Int.: mounted archer.
C] Int.: starting to right of the horse's hind hoofs, facing the margin and originally running along it, with [κ]αλος ending above the horse's croup: Αθεν[---κ]αλος.
D] GL, thinking the vase could be contemporary with RF vases praising Athenodotos (Proto-Panaitian Group, Onesimos, Peithinos, Colmar Painter), follows an earlier restoration: Αθεν[οδοτος κ]αλος, but Beazley obviously rejects this, since in ABV he prints: Αθεν..., [κ]αλος [I do not understand the comma]. A long name is however required.

(1)the inscription takes up 4/5 of the circle. (2)add 1922 - 1926, etc. Beazley thinks they are dedications, but I wonder if they do not rather indicate ownership in the sanctuary, the cups being used in some ceremony.

D] Frs. a - g. large and very clear formal letters. This inscription can only be fifth century.

(1)large, rimless (Graef). (2)the last letter can only be an [Ionic] gamma (Graef). There is a trace of white paint by this letter.

A] Fr. of BF/WG pyxis. From Athens. Near Rycroft Painter. Last quarter sixth. *GL i, no. 2082, pl. 95. ABV 338/4.

- B] Dionysus seated; part of a maenad on each side.
- C] On either side of his head: $\Delta\iota\omicron\wedge\nu\upsilon(\sigma)[\omicron\varsigma]$.(1)
- D] Small casual letters.

(1)the sigma (which is not visible in the photo.) miswritten.

1134.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2119.

- A] Frs. of BF pyxis lid. From Athens. Unattributed. Third quarter sixth. *GL i, no. 2119, pl. 93. Beazley Archive db, no. 32,339.
- B] Subject unclear: see GL. Fr. c: garment at left; at right, part of a figure clad in animal skin.(1)
- C] Between the figures, facing the left figure: $\eta\epsilon\rho\alpha\kappa\lambda\epsilon\varsigma$ (2)
- D] Frs. a - d.

(1)Bea. Arch. gives: youth, figure with double axe, Hermes, Heracles (named?) (Birth of Athena?). (2)GL's restoration, because of the animal skin at right; but the inscription does not face that figure; also, GL thinks the subject of the vase may be the Birth of Athena; hence perhaps rather $\eta\epsilon\rho[\alpha]$?

1135.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2124.

- A] Frs. of BF pyxis lid. From Athens. Unattributed. Third quarter sixth. *GL i, no. 2124 (not ill.); *R. Hampe, AM 60-61 (1935-36) 295ff. *Peek, GL ii, p. 130.
- B] Satyrs and maenads dancing between ithyphallic mules.
- C] Nonsense: Fr.a: below a mule: $\gamma\gamma\gamma\gamma\omicron\iota\tau$. above his back: $[\gamma\gamma\gamma\gamma]\omicron\iota\tau$.(1) To his right: $\gamma\gamma\gamma[-]$. Fr. b: between satyr and maenad: $\gamma\pi\pi\gamma\omicron\iota\tau$. Above maenad's arm: illegible letters. Fr. c: below a mule, upside down, perhaps: $[-]\tau\pi\pi\omicron\iota\tau$. Fr. d: below a mule: a tau remains of a row of letters.
- D] Frs. a - e. Hampe thinks gigioit is the braying of a mule. [So later Peek.] Cf. Berlin 1697. The gammas are printed as Ionic, hence I think they are probably miswritten tau's.

(1)Peek, who thinks (cf. Hampe) these are shouts to drive on the animals. He compares Acr. 2184: $\nu\omicron\nu\omicron\nu\omicron$, and 2569: $\lambda\omicron\lambda\omicron\sigma\lambda\omicron\sigma$.

1136.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2128.

- A] Frs. of BF pyxis lid. From Athens. Unattributed. Third quarter sixth. *GL i, no. 2128 (not ill.). *Photos.
- B] Center: seated woman. Frieze: chariot racing.
- C] Fr. a(?): in front of the woman: $(\tau)\nu(\sigma)\tau\nu$.(1) Fr. a: Behind chariot: $\sigma\delta\pi\omicron(\mu)$.(2) Fr. b: to right of chariot horses: $\omicron\sigma\tau(.)\tau$.

D] Frs. a - b. Nonsense. Three-stroke sigma.

(1)first tau = Ionic gamma. (2)mu uncertain. (3)the bracketed letter looks like a reversed L-shaped lambda.

1137.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2130.

A] Frs. of BF pyxis lid. From Athens. Unattributed. Last quarter sixth. *GL i, no. 2130 (not ill.); *Peek, GL ii, 130.

B] Fr. a: two women, standing, with a kalathos between. Fr. b: kalathos. Fr. c: woman holding a boy in her arms. Fr. d: head of a woman.

C] Fr. a: above the kalathos: [---]ιτηεπου[---].(1) Fr. B: above the kalathos: [---]ος. Fr. c: in front of the woman: [---]υο[---].(2)

D] Alphabet unclear.

(1)so GL. Peek suggests: Ἀφροδίτη ἔψυ[χεν], "vom Hauch der Charis." I am suspicious of the eta. Nonsense? (2)not clear whether incomplete before and/or after.

1138.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2133.

A] Frs. of BF kantharos. From Athens. Heidelberg Painter. Mid sixth. *GL i, no. 2133, pl. 93 (dr.). ABV 66/60, Add.(2) 18.

B] Uncertain subjects. A: Zeus seated, deities approaching (Apollo, Artemis, Ares). B: chariot with winged horses. Winged Athena, belonging on A or B.(1)

D] Frs. a - f.

(1)Beazley's description [Athena fr. is probably fr. e].
(2)second letter the bottom of an upright stroke. GL suggests: [Δεμε]τρ[ος], or [ηεσ]τι[ας].

1139.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2134.

A] Frs. of BF kantharos. From Athens. Unattributed. Second quarter sixth. *GL i, p. 215, no. 2134, pl. 94. *CB ii, 70 (mention). ABV 347, Add.(2) 94.

B] A-B: Gigantomachy: fr. a: Ge; Zeus and Heracles; Athena; fallen giant. Frs. b + c: foot; female leg; giant facing Artemis; shield; male feet; other legs; two large bags. Fr. d: goddess; Poseidon; giant assaulted by animals.(1)

C] A-B(?): fr. a: below the scene, Gr.: [ὁ δεινα ἀνέθεκε]υ :

Ἀθαναΐαι : αὐτὸς ποι[ῆσας]. (2) Frs. b + c (not joining): to right of female leg: Ἀρτεμις. To right of shield: Εφ[ιαλτ]ες, retr(?). (3) Fr. d: under belly and between legs of mounting animal: [Ευρυ]μεδὸν, retr. (4)

D] Frs. a - h. A potter's (or perhaps painter's) dedication.

(1)frs. e-h have only ornament. (2)punctuation in form of two superimposed chevrons. For the restoration see Kretschmer, Vas. 229; Hartwig, BCH 1896; Karo, AM 34 (1910) 176 (who thinks the vase painted by a foreign immigrant, because of the alpha in Athanaias and a theory about the bags, which are Hephaestus' bellows - cf. Rhomaios. Eph. 1908, 247 ff.). (3)GL does not restore. (4)Hartwig. Cf. Caskey-Beazley.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2146.

A] Frs. of BF cup(?). From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL i, no. 2146, pl. 93 (dr.).

B] A: Achilles and Troilos. Fr. a: fountain; Achilles. Fr. b: horses; under bellies, broken amphora; Polyxena.

D] Frs. a - b. Digamma U-shaped.

(1)the two digammas no doubt simplified epsilons. (2)complete at end, but may have been preceded by more letters. (3)almost imitation letters: first letter a dot; second a reversed nu; fourth miswritten sigma?; fifth intended for alpha? The painter may have thought of ἠδρία, although the pot is an amphora.

1142.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2148.

A] Fr. of BF cup(?). From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL i, no. 2148 (not ill.).

1144.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2157.

- A] Fr. of BF cup(?). From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL i, no. 2157 (not ill.).
- B] Head of Athena to left.
- C] On left, near the break: Πῶ[---], retr.?
- D] Could perhaps be Πλ[---]; is it retr. or end of word (i.e., nonsense)? GL says the inscription is too far from the figure to be referred to it.

1145.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2159.

- A] Fr. of BF cup. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL i, no. 2159 (not ill.). *Photo.
- B] At left, handle-attachment. To right, lower leg, dressed, of a woman?
- C] To left of the figure: [---]ς ἠῆδι.
- D] GL reads the inscription retr. (with reversed three-stroke sigma) and that could be right. The meaning should be something like [πάρδαλι]ς ἠῆδι, cf. Boston 61.1073, CAVI 2803.

(1)Could be rho 7 in the chart of 'Script'.

1146.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2165.

- A] Frs. of BF cup. From Athens. Unattributed. Late sixth. *GL i, no. 2165, pl. 93.

- B] Frieze with chariots; below, small frieze of running and standing figures; below, rays above foot.
- C] Nonsense; imitation letters: fr. b: high above horses: ---π(π)(.)ον(π)πφ[---].(2)
- D] Frs. a - d. Very small letters: several are reversed pi's.

(1)one fr. shows vase had a lid. (2)GL reads vovovo, but the photo. does not show this; hence the second part of his remark: 'senseless or shout of drivers, cf. Acr. 2124' must be rejected. Hampe uses GL's reading no no and says it represents shouts of the charioteer to his horses. Cf. also Berlin 1697.

1148.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2187.+

- A] Frs. of BF Nikosthenic pyxis with lid. From Athens. Lydos. Second quarter sixth. *GL i, no. 2187, pl. 85. Roebuck, Hesp. 9 (1940) 158/10, fig. 11. ABV 11/44, Add.(2) 31. Tiverios, Ο Λύδος και το έργο του (1976), pl. 73,d. *Photo. 'Script' 123.
- B] Body: two women in one cloak; man. Lid: two women in one cloak; woman.

- B] Battle: leg of warrior; falling warrior; leg of warrior.
- C] At the left break: Ευρυμεδδ[v].
- D] There was not much space for the inscription, which is in rather large letters. On Acr. 2134, etc., Eurymedon is a giant.

- C] To right of of man's back of head: Φαλ[--].(2) To right of man's arm and behind his back: [--]νελος[--], retr.(3)
 D] These should be the names of runners.

(1)small thick-walled 'Kugelgefäss,' (GL) unglazed inside; of uncertain shape (Beazley). (2)Surface flaked off for one letter space before the break. (3)so Beazley. GL reads: Ονελος - not certain (though probable) that omicron is the first letter; GL says that Ονελος is not known and reads (with upside-down gamma): 'Ονεγός, 'donkey-driver.' (Why the capital letter? A name?). Beazley rejects Langlotz' όνεγός, since the fourth letter must be lambda, not gamma. "There is incision in what Langlotz takes to be an omicron at the beginning, and I did not feel certain that it was a letter at all ..."

C] On the rim (as Acr. 2433a): [--- αγα]λμ[α].
D] Different from, and slightly larger than, Acr. 2433a.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2453.

- A] Fr. of BF plate. From Athens. Unattributed. Date?(1) *GL i, no. 2453, pl. 99.
- B] Paw and muzzle of a panther with frontal head. At right, uncertain remains.
- C] In BG below the scene, Gr.: vac. φτ(τ)(σ)θoιωφ[---], retr.(2)
- D] The inscription is illegible and seems to be a casual Gr.; the combination of cartwheel theta with omega is very odd.

(1)apparently not early sixth cent., but from some remote local workshop (GL). (2)the inscription and incised lines on the panther's toes seem to be later additions (GL). The two bracketed letters may be one letter.

B] Horseman.
C] Below horse's belly, in two separate lines, bearing down: vac. M[---] | [επ]οι[σεν], retr.(1)

(1)Beazley's reading in ABV: "The letter, which seems to be mu, might be the beginning of the name." GL differs: [ηε]μ[αίος επ]οισεν, since he thinks the style similar to the Hermaios Painter [a RF painter!].

1175.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2491.

- A] Fr. of BF votive shield. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL i, no. 2491, pl. 100.

B] Front: Athena; below, hound chasing a hare; below: Heracles pursuing a centaur. Back: relief instrument tried out; inscription.
C] Back: in two lines, with stoich. overlapping:
v. εποιεσεν[--- [---]δεσ vacat. ---]...
D] The second line is in larger letters than the first; yet the two overlapping letters are stoich. The letters are widely spaced and clearly written in 'epigraphic script.' Beazley states: "The plaque was originally a big one, which got broken before being painted and was used for scribbling on - to try the brush. The 'signature' belongs to this stage. A smaller plaque was cut from it and painted on the other side." I think the signature was a model to be used elsewhere. For a discussion of models see 'Script' 174, where this fr. should have been mentioned. [Cf. however Acr. i, 2517?]

(1)or εποιε.

1177.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2500.

- B] Scene framed by Doric cymation. At left, a standing female (Eris? Or A[--]?) with a short staff in hand.
- C] To right of staff: Ερις. Further down: καλε. At far right, and much lower: A[---].
- D] GL reads: Εριςκαλε, which may be right, as it is hard to see where else the καλε could belong. Shapiro says it is unclear whether the inscriptions refers to the preserved figure and whether the two words go together; it is unlikely to be a kalos-inscription [sic!].

(1)top: a half circle.

1178.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2512.

- A] Frs. of BF plaque. From Athens. Unattributed. End of sixth. *GL i, no. 2512, pl. 103.

- C] Fr. b: below scene: εγ[---].(1)
- D] Frs. a - b.

(1)not clearly complete fore. Could be part of εγραφοεν, but Beazley does not list it. There may be a letter above the cock as well.

1179.

- A] Fr. of BF plaque. From Athens. Unattributed. Ca. 500. *GL i, no. 2513, pl. 103.

- C] Back: photo. in GL shows: fr. a(?): a large E. Fr. b(?): upper line: ---λο[---]. Lower line (larger letters):

---(.)(---). Rumpf and Boardman restore:
Ευφιλετος καλος.(3)

D] Frs. a - b. Position of inscription recalls Acr. 2498, q.v.

(1)GL compares Panathenaic amphora, Acr. 962, ABV 322/9, GL i, pl. 54. (2)the bracketed letter in the upper line is the bottom of an upright stroke; the two bracketed letters in the lower line are a filled (smeared?) top of a triangle and the upper part of a vertical inclined to right. (3)accepted by Beazley.

(1)Unclear whether Gr. or Dip. My restoration; GL has: μαρχος, etc.

C] Around Himeros' head: ημερος, retr. Above Eros' head: E[ρως].

D] = Athens, N.M. 15,131. - Very neat writing.

A] Fr. of Bf plaque. From Athens. Unattributed. Ca. 550. *GL i, no. 2533, pl. 108.

B] Top: two sirens to right, one to left. Below: lotus bud frieze. Below: three women.

C] Above the sirens: nonsense: τομον.(1)

D] The style very careless.

(1)so GL; the photo. does not show the inscription.

- A] Frs. of plate or pinax. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL i, no. 2538, pl. 108.
B] Fr. a: hind legs of two horses. Fr. b: horse's leg.
C] Fr. b: to left of horse's leg. (.)ζεν.(1)
D] Frs. a - b. The inscription is illegible, although the strokes are thick and firm.

(1)first bracketed letter, top of omicron or the like?; second, top of alpha or delta; third, zeta(?), but there is a diagonal stroke on the right; fourth: epsilon or digamma.

1185.

B] Fr. a: two warriors. Fr. b: head of Heracles. Fr. c: sirens.(1)
C] Fr. a: to right of warriors, at mid-level: Κυ[κνος]? Fr. b: to left of Heracles' face: (h)ερακλεες, retr.
D] Frs. a - c.

(1)Bea. Arch. gives: fight: warrior (Kyknos?), Heracles with sword attacking draped figure, siren.

1186.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2555.

- A] Frs. of BF plaque. From Athens. Unattributed. Last quarter sixth. Ca. 520-510. *GL i, no. 2555, pl. 105.
B] Fr. a: Cycnus fighting to left (shield device: swan); above, raised male arm (of Zeus?(1)). Fr. b: male foot to right; garment (of Zeus?)
C] Fr. a: on the rim of the shield, Gr.: Κυκ[νος], retr. To left of the raised arm, Dip.: K[---], retr.(2)
D] Frs. a - b.

(1)so GL. (2)K[υκνος] again?

1187.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2556.

- A] Fr. of BF plaque. From Athens. Unattributed.(1) Last quarter sixth. *GL i, no. 2556, pl. 106. Kretschmer, Vas. 234/133. ABV 352.
B] Head of cithara player (Apollo?); raised hand; object.
C] Above the head, Dip.: Σχυθες μαυ[εθεκεν],(2) for Σκυθες.
D] The difference in style (see below) is explained by GL by saying that the pinax is 10-20 years earlier than Skythes' main period. - Note that the style of the inscription is sloppy: does it resemble Skythes'? - Dotted theta.

(1)referring to Acr. 2557 and 2586, Beazley says: "It is not clear from the style [of the painting] that the Skythes of these plaques is the Skythes known as a painter of red-figure and bilingual vases (chiefly cups)." (2)so GL and ABV, but the 'chi' may be a badly written kappa.

1188.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2557.

- A] Frs. of BF plaque. From Athens. Unattributed.(1) Signed Skythes. Last quarter sixth. *GL i, no. 2557, pl. 106. ABV 352/1, Add.(2) 95.
- B] Chariot of Heracles, with Hermes.
- C] Above horses' heads: ἡο Σκυθες εγγραφειν.
- D] Two joining frs. Cartwheel theta.

(1)for the possible relation to the vase painter Skythes see Acr. 2556. GL says 2557 is somewhat later than Acr. 2556, but earlier than Skythes' RF works.

1189.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2560.+

- A] Frs. of BF plaque. From Athens. Rycroft Painter. Late sixth. *GL i, 249-50/2560, pl. 107. Delt. 1888, 154. Wolters(?), AM 13 (1888), 441. Kretschmer, Vas. 89f., 151. W. - B] Vintage: two young men and three older men with tubs (skaphai) in a grape arbor; Athena.
- C] Fr. a: below the top margin, in large letters: [---]ελ^ιδες vacat.(1) By Athena's outstretched hand carrying her helmet: [Aθ]ενα. Above the head of a youth carrying an amphora(?): ε̄δε καν(ε)πλέα.(2) Above the skaphe carried on the shoulder of a bearded man talking to a youth: μετὰ κάγῶ.(3) Above the head of a bearded man carrying a skaphe: κάγῶτ[ιπίομαι].(4) Fr. c:(5) above the head of a youth carrying a skaphe: ἐκφεφορ^[-].(6) Fr. b: from the mouth of a man with outstretched arms: ξ̄ππ vac. 1 π̄βαι vac.?(7)
- D] = N.M. 15,124. Frs. a - c + North Slope AP 165. I assume that the καν̄ε (wicker baskets) are not shown, and that they are being filled from the skaphai (tubs); perhaps they are the baskets on the ληνοί, where the grapes are squeezed.

(1)a vine interferes; this inscription has always been considered part of the dedication (Beazley, AJA). (2) Beazley, following Wolters. Bracketed epsilon smeared; but Wolters thought alpha corrected from epsilon: $\kappa\alpha\upsilon\alpha$, on which Kretschmer comments apud GL. Kretschmer, Vas. read $\xi\delta\epsilon$ $\kappa\acute{\alpha}\nu\epsilon\pi\iota\upsilon\nu$ ("he too has already drunk, $\acute{\alpha}\nu\alpha\pi\acute{\iota}\nu\epsilon\iota\nu$ for $\pi\acute{\iota}\nu\epsilon\iota\nu$), but GL says the lambda is certain. (3) probably sc. $\pi\acute{\iota}\omicron\mu\alpha\iota$, Beazley following Kretschmer. (4) Beazley in preference to Kretschmer's: $\kappa\acute{\alpha}\gamma\omicron\tau[\rho\acute{\upsilon}\gamma\epsilon\sigma\omicron]$. (5) in this order, Beazley. (6) A vine intervenes just before the break. $\acute{\epsilon}\kappa\phi\epsilon\phi\omicron\rho[\acute{\epsilon}\kappa\alpha\dots]$, Kretschmer "I have carried them out;" also possible are: $\acute{\epsilon}\kappa\phi\epsilon\phi\omicron\rho[\acute{\epsilon}\tau\alpha\iota]$ or $\acute{\epsilon}\kappa\phi\epsilon\phi\omicron\rho[\acute{\epsilon}\tau\alpha\iota\ \pi\acute{\alpha}\nu\tau\alpha]$, Beazley. (7) so Kretschmer in Vas., but apud GL he takes this back and thinks the meaning should be: "ist noch was zu tun?"; I did not see the final iota in the photo.; Beazley says: "if my note is correct, may also be incomplete."

1191.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2561.

- A] Fr. of BF plaque. From Athens. Unattributed. Late sixth. *GL i, no. 2561, pl. 107.
- B] Upper tier: three male feet; garment? Black horizontal divider. Lower tier: head and shoulder of a man stooping.
- C] On the divider, in white: $[\text{---}]\iota\nu\ \acute{\epsilon}\nu\theta\acute{\alpha}\delta\epsilon\ \lambda\text{---}$.
- D] The inscription is not explained in GL.

1192.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2569.

- A] Frs. of BF plaque. From Athens. Unattributed. (1) Early fifth. *GL i, no. 2569, pl. 106. J. Boardman, BSA 50 (1955) 62/under 28 (mention).
- B] Chariot before a stoa; Athena with the reins; Heracles.
- C] Nonsense: to left of the left column, close to the capital, two lines, widely spaced: $[\text{---}]\delta\mu\omicron$ and $[\text{---}]\delta\upsilon\omega$. (2) Between the left column and a leg of Heracles: $\lambda\omicron\lambda\omicron\sigma\wedge\lambda\omicron\varsigma$, retr. (3) Under the horses bellies, between the right column and the horses' legs: $\chi\alpha\iota\rho\epsilon\{\gamma\}$, retr.
- D] Frs. a - b. All inscriptions probably nonsense, except for the word $\chi\alpha\iota\rho\epsilon$.

(1) Boardman: "an Acropolis votive plaque of which little is left for comparison of the drawing, which is still quite compatible [with the Sappho Painter], offers with other inscriptions $\lambda\omicron\lambda\omicron\sigma\lambda\omicron\sigma$." I.e., B. relates the fr. to the Sappho Painter on the basis of one of the nonsense inscriptions. (2) GL reads $\delta\upsilon\mu$, but the last letter is an omega (with very short hastae). (3) considered by Peek a shout to the horses; see Acr. 2124.

1193.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2570.

- A] Frs. of BF plaque. From Athens. Unattributed. (1) Early fifth. *GL i, no. 2570, pl. 107. ABV 353, Para. 160.

- B] Seated(?) man; legs of a seated(?) male with a large krater at his feet.
- C] Above, in red, horizontal non-stoich. two-liner:
[-]δεξ̄ ᾱ[νέθεκε | Διὸς κ]ρατερό[φρονι κόρ̄ει]. (2)
- D] Frs. a - b. The inscription widely spaced and in epigraphic style.

(1)"Somewhat recalls the Rycroft Painter's plaque Athens Acr. 2560 [q.v.]," ABV. (2)word division based on the assumption that the two lines started at the same place (left-aligned). Lolling (who restored the inscription in a letter to GL) read [Ἄνδοκι]δεξ̄; GL objects that the style is not Andocidean.

1194.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2571.

- A] Frs. of BF plaque?(1) From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL i, no. 2571, pl. 108; *Peek, GL ii, 130. Benndorf, Griech. u. sizil. Vasenb., pl. 5,7 and 9 (parts).

[-]ῑουυμ[-].(3)
[-] vacat [-].
[-]οτρ̄ο πᾱι vacat.
Below this, black bottom area.
Fr. b:
-ῡν(.)[-].(4)
[-]ῑχ̄ς χ̄υ[-].(5)
[-] vacat [-].
[-] vacat [-].
[-]τρο̄παι vacat.
- D] Peek says probably remains of a poem; line 2: if the first letter is an awkward lambda, then μεγᾱλ̄ουυμ[-]; line 4: [-]οτρ̄ο̄παι, cf. line 9.

(1)circular grooves as if from the potter's wheel in front and especially on the back: hence perhaps not a plaque. (2)this looks more like a very large banded pot. (3)the first letter is the bottom of a vertical stroke close to the omicron: iota or tau. (4)the first letter, a bit of the bottom of a slightly raised stroke; the third letter, a piece of a diagonal, such as the long stroke of a backward-leaning lambda. (5)the last letter could be mu or Ionic lambda, hardly Attic gamma.

- C] Boustrophedon: (1) [τῶ]ν Πασέῳ γραμμῶν (2)
- D] For the interpretation see Boardman, who thinks the signature is modelled after a possible τῶν Αθηνηθεν ἀθλῶν probably written near the figure of the armed Athena;
Beazley in ARV(2) accepts the inscription as a signature.

(1)so GL; Beazley says retr. (2)so Beazley; or [τόδ' ἐστὶ γράμματα τῶ]ν Πασέῳ γραμμῶν (GL and cf.
ABV), an iambic except for the proper name. Beazley says not Paseias as Benndorf had it. Peek wrongly said:
"<dactyl> Πασέῳ, all the rest arbitrary."

B] Athena.
C] Πολυλίας ανεθεκε.(2)
D] Frs. a - b + Oxford 1927.4602. GL gives Πολυίας ανεθεκε[εν, doubtless the sculptor and father of Euthymides.

(1)but compared by Beazley to Acr. 1037, the Megakles/Glaukytes pinax, ARV(2) 1598/5. Euthymides (Boardman, JHS 76; Ohly-Dumm).
(2)so ARV(2).

1201.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2591.

- A] Frs. of BF/WG plaque. From Athens. Cerberus Painter (Paseas).(1)

B] Heracles and Iolaus in a chariot, with Athena.
distance: ιολε[ος]. Fr. b: at the same height as H.'s name: Αθεναια, retr.
D] Frs. a -b = N.M. 15,125. GL dates in early fifth.

(1)see ARV(2) 164.

1202.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2611.

- A] Frs. of BF onos (epinetron). From Athens. Unattributed. First quarter fifth. Ca. 480. *GL i, no. 2611, pl. 111. CB ii, 15.
Beazley Archive db, no. 30,262 [also no. 32,202!]. LIMC ii, pl. 581 Eos 308 (one fr.).

- B] Fr. a: side panel: Memnon fallen in battle; at right, Eos rushing toward him. Fr. b: woman; leg of a nude male.
- C] Fr. a: above Memnon: ΜΕΜΝΩΝ. To right of (i.e., behind) Eos' waist: ΗΕΩΣ.
- D] Frs. a -b.

1203.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2627.

- A] Fr. of neck of BF amphora(?). From Athens. Unattributed. Mid-sixth. *GL i, no. 2627 (not ill.).
- B] On the neck: sphinx.
- C] On the BG lip, Gr.: Αθην[αίας].(1)

(1)unclear whether part of a dedication or simply sacred ownership. The nominative, as given in GL, is not plausible.

1204.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2636.

- A] Fr. of BF foot.(1) From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL i, no. 2636 (not ill.).
- B] Man's foot; woman; garment.
- C] Nonsense letters.

(1)type of vase not given.

1205.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2637.

- A] Fr. of large foot.(1) From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL i, no. 2637 (not ill.).
- B] Silhouette style: two horsemen to left and right; on either side, chariots.
- C] Nonsense letters.

(1)type of vase not given.

1206.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2642.

- A] Fr. of BF/WG lid or foot. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL i, no. 2642 (not ill.).
- B] Chariot to right; another behind.
- C] Above the scene, on a broad BG band, in white: ΙΑ or ΙΡ.(2)

(1)so GL. (2)no doubt [--]ια[--] or [--]ιρ[--].

1207.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2644.

- A] Frs. of BF lid(?). From Athens. Unattributed. Late sixth. *GL i, no. 2644, pl. 112; *Peek, GL ii, 130.
- B] Wool working: fr. a: two seated women facing each other. Fr. b: kalathos; woman seated and winding wool.
- C] Fr. a: between the two women, facing the woman at right:

D] Frs. a - b.

(1)Peek; GL had restored [Κλ]ειμαχε, but this should be written without the iota. (2)so Peek; GL had read Χ...ιλωνε. This could be read retr. (facing the woman on the right): Χ[...ρι]γωνε, but it probably refers to another (lost) woman on the right; Χοιριλωνε should be related to Χοιρίλη (cf. Χοίριλος). Note that Peek read an additional rho. (3)Peek; misread as ήεουχα by GL. It is not certain that the inscription is complete fore. (4)Peek; I take this to be the name of a lost person on the left, unless it is for χα[ιρε]. GL wrongly read ΧΤ. Cf. also GAI ii, 750 ('perhaps' ήέχε σύ).

1208.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2655.

A] Fr. of BF thymiaterion. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL i, no. 2655, pl. 112; *Peek, GL ii, 130.

B] Seated woman holding a wreath; at right, trace of another woman.

C] Between the two, facing the second woman: nonsense: (.)τολτο, retr.(1)

(1)my reading; GL reads it left to right: οτυο(.); Peek reads: οτυοτυ, and thinks it is an interjection. The first letter is a diagonal stroke.

1209.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2692.

A] Frs. of BF/WG base(?). From Athens. Unattributed. Aischines potter. Late sixth. *GL i, no. 2692, pl. 113. ABV 351.

B] Fr. a: top: border with a slightly projecting painted Doric cymation. Below: chariot: at left, raised goad; at right, remains of a horse's head. Fr. b: palmette.

C] Fr. a: between goad and horse's head, horizontal, in two lines, boustr.:

Αισχινες, retr. <-- εποεσεν. -->

D] Frs. a - b. On boustrophedon on vases see 'Script'. GL suggests that Aischines is perhaps identical with the dedicator of Ant. Denkm. i, 29,1 [this is also assumed by Raubitschek, DAA, no. 48]. Beazley is more cautious: see his PP 23, n. 1 = Lectures (1989) 113, n. 103.

1210.

Athens, N.M. Acr. i, 2742.

A] BG spindle whorl. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL i, no. 2742, pl. 113. Klein, Liebl.(2) 136.

B] Sides are BG except for a strip at top and bottom; the bottom is unglazed.

- C] On the bottom, Gr.: Ευμελε καλε.(1)
D] NOT A VASE.

(1)after printed letters in Klein. GL prints: Ευμελη καλη.

1211.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, no no.

- A] Fr. of RF or BF lekythos. From Athens. Psiax or near?
(Beazley). Ca. 530-520. *ARV(2) 8. *Beazley, AJA 61 (1957) 6
(not ill.). *H.A. Shapiro, 'Hippokrates Son of Anaxileos,' Hesp. 49 (1980) 289/4 (said to be unpublished).
B] Decoration not preserved (half of mouth only).
C] On BG topside of mouth, Gr.: [--]κρατες κα[λος].(1)
D] A very large vase, cf. the BF/WG lekythos frs., Agora P 5002, by or near Psiax, ABV 295 (top), CAVI 329, which has the end of a signature. For early use of the graffito technique in early RF see 'Script'.

(1)--κρατες, etc., ARV(2). Beazley in ARV(2) thought of [ηιπ<π>οκ]ρατες κα[λος], because of Munich 2302, ARV(2) 6/1, by Psiax; accepted by Shapiro, who identifies H. not with the son of Megakles ostracized in 486 nor with a son of Alkmeonides but with the son of Anaxileos, probably a Peisistratid (see Davies, APF 9688, IV).

1212.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, no no.

- A] Frs. of RF cup. From Athens. Euergides Painter. Last quarter sixth. *Beazley, JHS 33 (1913) 354/48.
B] Palmette; centaur regardant with branch; head of Heracles.
C] By H.'s head: [ηερα]κλ[ες].
D] Two frs., not certainly from the same cup. - I could not identify the frs. in ARV(2): 89/24 is Acr. 164, GL ii, pl.
6 (Heracles, chariot); 90/25 is Acr. 91 + 153, GL ii, pl. 4 (palmette and centaur). Perhaps Beazley's JHS article is in error. Or unpublished?

1213.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, no no.+

- A] Fr. of RF cup. From Athens. Apollodoros. Early fifth. *ARV(2)
121/19. *Roebuck, Hesp. 9 (1940) 239/262, fig. 48.
B] Int.: warrior putting on greaves.
C] On his shield(1): καλος.
D] + North Slope AP 1255: see ARV(2); Roebuck does not mention the join. The North Slope fr. has [.]αλος.

(1)shown in side view.

1214.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, no no.

- A] Fr. of RF kantharos(?). From Athens. Brygos Painter. First quarter fifth. *ARV(2) 381/181 bis.
B] Man (nose, beard, outstretched left arm (wrap over it); tree.

- C] καλ[ος].
- D] Not in GL ii.

1215.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 3.

- A] Fr. of RF plate. From Athens. Unattributed. Cachrylion potter. Last quarter sixth. *GL ii, no. 3, pl. 2 (dr.). Hartwig, Meisterschalen 17,1, 70. Hoppin, RF i, 148/2. ARV(2) 109/30.
- B] One carrying baskets on a pole.
- C] At right, close to the margin: [Χα]χρυλι[δων--].

1216.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 4.

- A] Fr. of RF plate. From Athens. Painter of the Acropolis Plates. Last quarter sixth. *GL ii, no. 4, pl. 2. ARV(2) 138/2, Add.(2) 178. J. Jüthner, Die athletischen Leibesübungen der Griechen II (1968), pl. 58,2.
- B] Jumper; on the ground, discus and pick axe.
- C] Nonsense: at left: υ(ι)λ(ς). At right: [--]οσυλυλι.
- D] The letters scattered and imprecise; close to imitation letters.

1217.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 5.

- A] Fr. of RF plate. From Athens. Hermokrates. Late sixth. *GL ii, no. 5, pl. 1. ARV(2) 172, 1630, Add.(2) 184.
- B] Upper portion of a youth playing flutes.
- C] To his right, in two lines, the first upward, the second further out: ηερμοκρα^τες(1) | (ε)γραφσεν(2), both retr.
- D] Second line 'above' first (order 2 / 1): see 'Script' 26, 37-38 and 65. GL also says that the painter seems to have made a correction, for some letters have been erased below εγραφσεν. See further on this painter Acr. ii, 79 and especially 223.

(1)the flutes interfere. Before the heta GL gives a V-shaped letter; a stroke may be visible in the photo. (2)the epsilon smeared.

1218.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 6.

- A] Frs. of RF plate. From Athens. Epiktetos. Epiktetos potter. Late sixth. Late (M.R., C.-F.). *GL ii, pl. 2. ARV(2) 78/102. 'Script' 352. D. Callipolitis-Feytmans, Les plats attiques a figures noirs (1974) 216-17. M. Robertson, AVCA 18, n. 41, and 124.
- B] Athena Promachos.
- C] Both inscriptions near the rim: Fr. a: [Ε]πικτετος εποι[εσεν]. Fr. b: [Επικτετος εγρ]αφσεν.
- D] Frs. a - b. The painter's name is certain, though restored. Robertson thinks the plate was dedicated by the potter/painter, i.e. especially made for the dedication. The shape is unusual. Cf. Myson's signed frs. from the Acropolis, Acr. ii, 806, CAVI 1436. Feytmans dates the plate late, Robertson agreeing.

1219.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 8.

- A] Frs. of RF stemless cup. From Athens. Unattributed. Close to mid-fifth. *ARV(2) 1580, 1704.
- B] Int.: satyr lifting (or setting down) a volute krater.
- C] Ευν[ικος?] and [κα]λος.
- D] Two frs., one of them new (Beazley). Further Beazley: an earlier Eunikos appears on Berlin inv. 3251 (ARV(2) 113/7, 1626, CAVI 2457), RF cup by the Thalia Painter; a later, on Naples 3211 (ARV(2) 1059/134, CAVI 5434), RF pelike, Group of Polygnotos [why not the same as Acr. ii, 8?]. - Not in GL ii.

1220.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 13.

- A] Fr. of RF plate. From Athens. Unattributed. Early fifth. *GL ii, no. 13, pl. 2.
- B] Lower part of a maenad with thyrsus; in front of her, a panther facing her.
- C] To her right and by the panther: [ho π]αις. Farther in toward the maenad: [κα]λος. I.e.: [ho π]αις | [κα]λος.

1221.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 14.

- A] Fr. of RF plate. From Athens. Unattributed. Ca. 500. *GL ii, no. 14, pl. 2 (photo.) and p. 2 (dr.).
- B] Archer and hoplite.
- C] Along the margin (the left portion is preserved), nonsense: [---]εοεγλγυευ[---].(1)

(1)the spacing is very irregular: [---]εο^ε ^ γ^λγ^υ ^ ε ^ υ.

1222.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 16.

- A] Fr. of RF plate. From Athens. Unattributed.(1) Late sixth or early fifth. *Graef-langlotz ii, no. 16, pl. 2. *ARV(2) 1598/3. *GAI ii, 679.
- B] Lower part of a running woman.
- C] To right of her leg: [M]ηεγακλες.(2)
- D] Perhaps καλος was written elsewhere; or a kalos-name without kalos. Langlotz says the vase could not be before 498 BC, when M. returned from exile.

(1)Beazley: "Somewhat recalls the oinochoe by the Kleomelos Painter, Athens Acr. 703 (p. 118 no. 2), and Apollodoros."

(2)My restoration; Beazley has ...ηεγακλες; I could not see the heta clearly in the photo and in Hesp. suppl. 19 I suggested (from the photo.): Μηεγακλες; Threutte in GAI ii finds both readings inconclusive; in i, 25, Threutte had read M]εγακλες. Complete at end.

1223.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 17.

- A] Fr. of RF plate. From Athens. Ambrosios Painter. Late sixth. *GL ii, no. 17, pl. 1. ARV(2) 175/35.
- B] Komast embracing a hetaera.
- C] To left and right of komast's head: [---κα]λ^ος].

1224.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 18.

- A] Fr. of RF plate. From Athens. Painter of the Acropolis Plates. Last quarter sixth. *GL ii, no. 18 (not ill.). ARV(2) 138/3.
- B] Leg of a person in long chiton; chalice on the ground.
- C] Nonsense on lower segment.
- D] GL dates in early fifth.

1225.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 20.

- A] Frs. of RF plate. From Athens. Brygos Painter. First quarter fifth. *GL ii, no. 20, pl. 1 (dr.). Hartwig, Meisterschalen 2 and 338. Hoppin, RF i, 241/103. Dinsmoor, AJA 38 (1942) 418, fig. 4 (after GL). ARV(2) 385/229.
- B] Komast with his stick.
- C] Nonsense(?): along margin at left, facing it:
[---]εε..εν(φ) v. εκ[---].(1) εκ[---].(1)
- D] Frs. a - b. This inscription (there may be two, as there is a vacat) is in clear letters according to GL's dr. and is not a Brygan nonsense inscription. The three-dotted 'letter' (see note 1) may show that it has been copied by the painter from an original without understanding (cf. 'Script' 174, n. 5).

(1)the third extant letter consists of three dots arranged in the shape of a triangle. The sixth letter is considered a doubtful digamma in GL; the dr. shows that the paint (and glaze?) has come off here, leaving a shape resembling Σ or possibly a U-shaped digamma.

1226.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 22.

- A] Fr. of RF plate. From Athens. Painter of Acropolis Plates. Last quarter sixth. *GL ii, no. 22, pl. 2 (dr.). ARV(2) 138/1.
- B] Young jumper and flautist.
- C] Above youth's head, nonsense: ---(κ)λγ vac.(1)
- D] GL dates ca. 480, thinking that the painter was old-fashioned.

(1)GL reads καλος?, to which there is some resemblance; but cf. the inscriptions on the other two plates by this painter (Acr. 4 and 18).

1227.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 42.

- A] Fr. of RF cup.(1) From Athens. Near Bowdoin-Eye Painter. Last

- quarter sixth. *GL ii, no. 42, pl. 3. ARV(2) 49/185, 168/1.
B] A: between palmettes, warrior (or hoplitodromos).
C] [---]ος.

(1)no doubt a palmette-eye cup.

1228.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 44.+

- A] Frs. of RF cup. From Athens. Oltos. Last quarter sixth. Ca. 520-510. Still early (Beazley). *GL ii, no. 44, pl. 3 (part). Beazley, AJA 54 (1950) 315. ARV(2) 60/63, 1622, Add.(2) 164.
B] Int.: warrior and youth. A: Adrastos mounting his chariot.
C] A: fr. a: A{:}δρ[αστος], retr. Fr. c: to right of two remaining feet: [---]ιος, retr. A or B: fr. d: [M]εμμ[νον ---].
D] Frs. a - d + Acr. 52 and perhaps 119 (see ARV(2) 1622: recalls Oltos). "A fr. added by Mrs. Karouzou completes the head of the youth on I (BCH 1952, 203, a)," ARV(2) 60 [This should be a third fr. in addition to the two numbered frs.].

1229.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 46.

- A] Frs. of RF cup. From Athens. Unattributed.(1) Last quarter sixth. Ca. 510-500. *GL ii, no. 46, pl. 3 (dr.).
B] Battle (from Trojan War?): head of a warrior with bleeding eyes; foot of another; legs, shield, lance, of two others.
D] Frs. a - e.

(1)GL attributes to late Oltos; not listed in Beazley.

(2)GL gives εσι, but the dr. shows only the sigma. εσι could be from a name such as [Προτ]εσι[λαος]. (3)GL reads ΠΑ[---], retr. Hence either Απ[ολ<λ>λδν], or Πα[τροκλος]?

1230.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 54.

- A] Frs. of RF cup. From Athens. Unattributed.(1) Last quarter sixth. *GL ii, no. 54 (not ill.).
B] Int.: woman running.
C] Θε[τις]?(2)
D] Frs. a - b.

(1)GL attributed to Oltos; not in Beazley. (2)so GL.

1231.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 55.

- A] Fr. of RF cup. From Athens. Unattributed.(1) Last quarter sixth. *GL ii, no. 55 (not ill.).
B] Int.: arm and knee of woman running.
C] ογ.(2)

(1)GL attributes to Oltos; not in Beazley. (2)so GL, text; probably [---]ογ[---].

1232.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 58.

- A] Fr. of RF cup. From Athens. Ambrosios Painter. Last quarter sixth. Ca. 510-500. *GL ii, no. 58, pl. 3 (dr.). *ARV(2) 174/16, 1564.
- B] Int.: head of one drinking from a drinking horn (Dionysus?). A: legs and foot of three warriors.
- C] A: [Αντι]μαχος.(1)
- D] The name occurs several times on vases by the Ambrosios Painter, with and without kalos (although it is not confined to him); see ARV(2) 1564.

(1)Beazley (without dotting the mu); GL prints ΛΑΧΟΣ, with three-stroke sigma.

1233.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 59.

- A] Frs. of RF cup. From Athens. Ambrosios Painter. Last quarter sixth. Ca. 510-500. *GL ii, no. 59, pl. 3. ARV(2) 174/23.
- B] Int.: wreathed head of a bearded man.
- C] To right of his neck: κ[---].(1)

(1)καλος or K---.

1234.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 62.+

- A] Frs. of RF cup. From Athens. Epiktetos. Last quarter sixth. *GL ii, no. 62, p. 6 (dr., Gr.), pl. 4 (dr.).(1) Kraiker, JdI 44 (1929) 180/41. ARV(2) 73/25.
- B] Int.: maenad. A: feet; palmettes.
- C] Int.: along margin: [h]ιππαρχ[ο]ς ^ κ[αλ]ο[ς].(2) A: on a band below the scene, Gr.: h[ε]ραει[μι---].(3)
- D] Kraiker suggests that Acr. 65 may belong and Beazley agrees. The Dip. is in the typical hand of Epiktetos.

(1)bibliography. (2)maenad's head intervenes. (3)neat Gr.

1235.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 63.

- A] Fr. of RF cup. From Athens. Epiktetos. Last quarter sixth. *GL ii, no. 63, pl. 4. Kraiker, JdI 44 (1929) 187/52. ARV(2) 74/48.
- B] Int.: symposium: head and arm of a reclining youth playing kottabos. [Επικτετος εγρα]φσεν.
- D] The restoration made to agree with the attribution.

1236.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 64.

- A] Fr. RF cup. From Athens. Unattributed.(1) Last quarter sixth. *GL ii, no. 64, pl. 4. Hiller von Graertringen, ibid. 130.
- B] Int.: kneeling satyr with drinking horn (part).
- C] Int.: to right of horn, along margin, facing in:

[---]ελος vac.?(2)

(1)GL (Langlotz): probably by Epiktetos. (2)perhaps [Βούσ]ελος, Hiller. For the name, see LGPN ii. Could also be [---]ευος.

1237.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 65.

A] Frs. of RF cup. From Athens. Epiktetos. Last quarter sixth.
*GL ii, no. 65, pl. 4. Kraiker, JdI 44 (1929) 181/43. *ARV(2) 73/26.

B] A: Heracles and the lion, with Iolaus.

C] A: E[πικτε]τος.(1)

D] Frs. a - b. Kraiker suggests that Acr. 65 may belong with Acr. 62 and Beazley agrees.

(1)so ARV(2) 73/26; GL prints [Eπικ]τετος, which is wrong; Kraiker has E...τετος, which is slightly better; the
first bracketed 'letter' is a short upright stroke, probably not a real letter); Beazley's reading is clearly the best.

B] Int.: Minotaur.

D] A very casual inscription. Epiktetos' vases always have εποιεσεν or εποιεσε, except for the calyx krater in Villa Giulia (ARV(2) 77/90, CAVI 7069), which has the incised signature [Ανδο]κιδες εποε on the foot. Tarquinia RC 1091 (ARV(2) 76/65, CAVI 7630) has εποιεσενοχ and on a wineskin εποιεες, presumably for lack of space. Clearly ours is miswritten and the painter wrote nu for pi.

(1)εποει, doubtful: the pi more like a nu, Beazley; ενοει, GL. The last letter smeared: it is more likely to be a sigma.

- B] Int.: young warrior to left, but turning back.
- C] From back of head, along margin: [---κρα[---], retr.?(1)

D] This should be a kalos-name or a signature; the position argues perhaps against its giving the warrior's name. GL suggests the painter [ἡρμιο]κρα[τες], cf. Acr. 5. The only similar kalos-name is the doubtful ἡρμιο[---] of Acr. ii, 223; see ARV(2) 1583 and my discussion of that vase at CAVI 1302. But other kalos-names are available: ἡπποκράτες (6th, ARV(2) 1585), Κράτες (late 6th and early 5th, 1590), Σοκράτες (Berlin Painter, 1609), Τιμοκράτες (Late archaic, 1610). I take it that the inscription is not meaningless despite the reversal of letters. Beazley, perhaps wisely, does not list it. For the failure to reverse letters in retrograde, see 'Script' no. 721, Fig. 118.

(1)alpha and rho reversed (not retr.); but the inscription may also be read : [---]αρκ[---], with kappa reversed.

There Beazley agrees that Langlotz was right in suggesting a dedication for the second inscription, since it is in the usual position for Gr. dedications; if not, he thinks of combining the two inscriptions: Ευεργιδες επο[ισεν], which I think unlikely in view of the disparity in styles. Accepting the dedication, he says that the name of the potter is lost, but it seems to me that this should be a potter's dedication, hence the restoration of the name in the signature. Tailed rho.

C] Int.: [Ευεργ]ιδ[ε]σ[ε]σεν(?).(2)

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 189.

- A] Fr. of RF cup. From Athens. Carpenter Painter?(1) Last quarter sixth. *GL ii, no. 189, pl. 9. ARV(2) 1631, Add.(2) 185. Bothmer, GettyMusJ 14 (1986) 13, fig. 11.
B] Int.: youth kissing a girl.
C] Int.: above the figures: [h]ο πα[ι]ς[καλος].(2)

1287.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 194.

- A] Fr. of RF cup. From Athens. Close to London 97.10-28.2.(1) Last quarter sixth. *GL ii, no. 194, pl. 9. ARV(2) 115/4, 1626.
B] Int.: Hermes running to right, turning back.
D] Unclear whether this is a name as Beazley seems to take it (reading Κλ...), in which case we should perhaps read: [--]κλ[ε]σ[ε]σεν or the like. It could also be an utterance by Hermes. Attic lambda.

(1)for which see ARV(2) 108/26 and 1626, Add.(2) 174 (but that entry refers to London E 36, ARV(2) 115/3, which is not the same cup). See also Acr. 229. (2)GL reads κν[ι]ς, wrongly.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 221.

- B] Int.: youth or man leaning on his stick.
- C] Int.: Παμ[---].
- D] Beazley in ARV(2) 1604 says the inscription is more likely from a kalos-name, such as Pammachos [who occurs on Athens, Theodorakopoulos, ARV(2) 120/12, CAVI 1900, by Apollodoros], than a Pamphaios signature, a possibility entertained in ARV(1). Bloesch had attributed the fr. by shape to Pamphaios as part of the group of cups from the North Slope used for a Themistocles ostracism. It seems to me that the restoration should depend on whether Bloesch was right in his attribution.

1302.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 223.

- B] Int.: youth holding a helmet.
- C] Int.: above, following the margin: $\eta\rho\mu\phi$ ---, retr.(2)
- D] (Cf. comments on Acr. ii, 79.) Langlotz restored the vase painter $\eta\rho\mu\phi$ κρατες, which is accepted by Pinney. Beazley put the inscription under kalos-names as $\eta\rho\mu\phi$ ---. According to Pinney Hermokrates was the name of the Salting Painter. I refrain from accepting the inscription as a signature, since Beazley apparently did not connect Acr. ii, 5 with 223. Hermogenes occurs as a kalos-name in Douris (ARV(2) 434/74, 1583), which is somewhat later.

(1)"The face recalls the Boston cup 01.8018 (p. 317 no. 9)," Beazley. G.F. Pinney attributes to Hermokrates. (2)B.-O. suggests Hermo[lykos] as on Malibu 83.AE.217, but mentions also Hermo[genes] (Guy), as on Louvre G 115 and Hermo[krates], the vase painter (Pinney).

(1)Talcott and Philippaki compared the fr. with Agora P 24,116, ARV(2) 176/6, by the Painter of the Agora Chairias Cups, CAVI 630. (2)my restoration. GL has $\pi\circ\lambda$, which ignores the spacing. The position argues for a proper name (Panaitios?) rather than [ho] π [αιςκα]λο[s].

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 283.

- A] Fr. of RF cup. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL ii, no. 283, pl. 15.
B] Int.: lyre. A: komos.
C] Int.: ...κα.(1)

(1)so GL; something is wrong, unless it is nonsense.

1326.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 284.

- A] Fr. of RF cup. From Athens. Unattributed.(1) First quarter fifth. *GL ii, no. 284, pl. 15; Peek, p. 130.
B] Int.: helmet. A: youth with a lance; at right, a shield.
C] A: to youth's right: [ho] παλο[ς]|καλο[ς].(2)
D] παλος here for παυς/παις, as often in the Penthesilea workshop.

(1)GL attributes as close to Antiphon Painter, but it is not in Beazley. (2)my reading. GL has: παλοκαλο[ς], while Peek suggests: πάλλ·λ·ο καλο̃[ς].

1327.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 286.

- A] Fr. of RF cup. From Athens. Antiphon Painter. First quarter fifth. *GL ii, p. 23 (dr.), no. 286 (and pl. 15?). ARV(2) 338/33.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 287.

- A] Frs. of RF cup. From Athens. Antiphon Painter. First quarter fifth. *GL ii, no. 287, pl. 14(?). ARV(2) 339/58, Add.(2) 218.
B] Int.: part of a komast. A, B: komasts.(1)
C] Int.: Λυσ[ις κ]αλο[ς].
D] Frs. a and c. ARV(2) wrongly gives only Λυσ[ις ...; see Bothmer apud Add.(2).

(1)Beazley; GL speaks of reclining komasts: do such exist?

(Cf. Acr. ii, 246?).

1329.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 288.+

- A] Frs. of RF cup. From Athens. Brygos Painter. First quarter fifth. *GL ii, no. 288, pl. 16. Winter, JdI 2 (1887) 230.(1) Hartwig, JHS 11 (1891) 335. Robert, RE iii, 924. ARV(2) 370/7, Add.(2) 224. AAA 14 (1981) 312, fig. 1 (dr. with new fr.).
- B] Int.: Heracles and Eurytus, the latter reclining.(2) A-B: Heracles in the house of Eurytus.
- C] A: to right of Heracles' lips: vovy.
- D] Frs. a - c + a new fr. added by Karouzou. Typical Brygan nonsense.

(1)adds two frs. which do not belong (GL). (2)so Beazley; Hartwig suggested killing of Iphitos, but GL rejects this.

1330.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 289.

- A] Frs. of RF cup. From Athens. Brygos Painter. First quarter fifth. *GL ii, no. 289, pl. 16 (dr.); Peek, p. 130. JdI 2 (1887) 231, 5 (one fr.). ARV(2) 373/44.
- B] Ext.: komos: fr. a: upper part of a bearded komast; stick of a companion. Fr. b: parts of two figures.
- C] Fr. a: to left of komast's head: vavφ[---].(1) Fr. b: to left of left person's head: φvovεν.(2)
- D] Frs. a - b. Typical Brygan nonsense (Peek's alphas may be gammas).

(1)Peek; GL, text has vavε; dr. has vγvε[---]. (2)Peek, but he reads it retr. (vεvovφ), which is not likely. The dr. has: γvov(.)ε(v), the fifth letter two little hooks, the last reversed. Peek thinks the inscriptions are interjections and compares the BF Acr. i, 2184, CAVI 1147, and the RF 288, above.

- D] Four frs. Type B.

(1)Kunisch' sketch shows: alpha and a circle with a vertical line close to its right edge and three dots. The photo. only shows a clear phi of shape 3 in the chart in 'Script' and a vertical line at the break. My restoration. For the composition (Aphrodite last) see Kunisch 128 with nn. 599 and 600, and Beazley, 'Makron', 88f.

- D] Type B. Attic alphabet.

(1) so the sketch in Kunisch, p. 187 and the photo., pl. 84, except that the latter does not show the remains of the heta. The kalos may have been elsewhere.

1336.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 315.

- A] Frs. of RF cup. From Athens. Makron. First quarter fifth. Hauptwerk II (Kunisch). *GL ii, no. 315, pl. 19 (dr.). ARV(2) 459/11. D. Williams, AK 23 (1980) 140. Brommer, Odysseus (1983) 38. - B] A: voting on the arms of Achilles.
- C] A: fr. a: to right of Agamemnon's forehead: Αγαμέμνων.(1) To right of Nestor's back of head (a voter to whom A. gives a psephos): Πυλειδ[ε]ς (see below). Fr. c: to left of Tydeus' arm, following it: Τυδεύς. Fr. e: to right of Antimachos' back of head: Αντιμαχος. Frs. f (3 separate frs.): to right of Diomedes' forehead: Διομεδ[ε]ς. By the hand of Athena who holds a lance: [-]γν.(2) Fr. g: above outstretched arm of Ajax: Αι[α]ς].
- D] Frs. a - g. Low mu's seem to be characteristic of Makron. Beazley in 'Lectures': Nestor is called Pyleides; Tydeus is a slip of memory; Antimachos: cf. Quint. Smyrn. 12.323.

(1)so dr.; GL's text has Αγαμεμνών. (2)the first letter unclear; the inscription abuts against the hand; it is not mentioned in GL, but shows in the dr.

- B] A: upper part of a woman (with a large diadem) smelling a flower; at right, garment of another.(1)
C] A: to right of the first woman's forehead: Καλονι[κε].
D] An Athens fr. joins below. The name occurs in the Lysistrata (emended by Wilamowitz to Κλεονίκη). This occurrence shows that the name is real and not a poet's invention.

(1)so GL; Beazley does not mention the second woman.

B] Int.: Heracles and the Hydra. A-B: Zeus bringing the infant Dionysus to his nurses.
C] On handle B/A, in BG area of right hasta, Gr.: hierōn εποισεν.(1)
D] Pease adds a new fr. identified by Karouzou, who also has added the handle with the signature. It is not clear to me whether there is still a third fr. to be added. Robertson adds Acr. ii, 319 to 325. Tailed rho.

(1)well spaced and filling the arm completely.

D] Note the interpoint (for which see Cohen), which is unusual in Hieron signatures.

(1)Kunisch lists as Makron. (2)Kunisch gives no date; see p. 37.
(3)K., who gives the inscription after Graef, i.e. without the interpoint, says in n. 38 that Beazley was wrong to give the inscription with an interpoint. But Cohen 74 and n. 142 follows Beazley in asserting the interpoint.

(1)GL has only νι.ς; ARV(2) adds the εποιεσεν; is it on the lost fr.? (2)the photo. shows only Ζεῦ and a break. (3)the iota is uncertain (ARV(2) 1646); GL prints: κνλη in Attic letters. (4)so ARV(2); GL has [σπ]ενδῳ.

- B] A: Part of Athena with aegis.
- C] A: to her right, not facing her: Ευπραχσι[α(?)], retr.
- D] I restore a woman's name who would be a mythical companion; Ευπραχσις is also possible. The difficulty is Athena, if the goddess' aegis is correctly identified. GL, text, misprints the inscription and wonders if it is part of a signature; Peek reads Ευπραχσι[ας], which is a possibility (male kalos-name?), although it is not in Pape, PA or LGPN ii. Roberts, Pyxis, pls. 8,1,2 and 9,2. Robertson, AVCA 101. *N. Kunisch, Makron (Kerameus 10, 1997) 8, *15-16 and n. 68, 19, 20 n. 88,

- 117, 123, 175/142, pl. 49 (a few inscriptions show).
- B] Women walking, standing, sitting in the gynaikonitis (probably a brothel, Kunisch).
- C] L. to r.: to right of lower part of a draped woman to right, not facing her (and to left of a swan): Μακρ[-], Μακρ[ὄν εγραφοεν]. On the left end of a red taenia held by a woman standing to left: κα[-].(1) On the other end: [ἡιππ]οδαμας καλε.(2) Between the taenia-carrier and the bottom of another female figure who faces right, facing the figure at right: Σιβ[-].(3) To left of a woman seated to left: [-]λε. Behind her back, facing the next woman who is standing to right: Ναυσιστρ[ατε]. To right of the last, above a stool and facing the next figure who is walking to left: [Μ]ελιτ<τ>α: καλε.
- D] For the possible painter's signature, see BSA and ARV(2); it may also be a (rare) woman's name. On p. 123, Kunisch thinks the inscriptions represent a conversation. On p. 15, he denies that Μακρ[-] is a signature. He notes the names Μακρῶ and Μακρίνη (see 16 n. 69). [There is no fem. Μακρ-name in LGPN ii.] - Robertson points out that the position of Μακρ[-] (which may be a woman's name or a second signature) is the same as that of the known signature of Makron on Boston 13.186, CAVI 2775. - Melitta, Peek. Beazley thought that the κα[-] could also be the name of another woman. - Bothmer, p. 52: Makron marked the little islands reserved for inscriptions with heavy glaze, applied at the same time as the contour stripes and before the background was painted in. Cf. Louvre G 148.+, CAVI 6488. - Kunisch thinks that the recurrence of καλε suggests that the women are hetaerae. For the name Hippodamas see Kunisch 20 n. 89. - The number of women is not clear to me. There are slight differences in readings in Beazley, BSA: καλε is complete after Μελιτ<τ>α. Kunisch is not quite clear either. - Inscriptions in white. Attic. Dotted delta (but not noted in Kunisch).

(1)Kunisch restores κα[λος], perhaps to connect with Hippodamas.
 (2)so GL, Beazley in BSA and the sketch in Kunisch, p. 175; ARV(2) has ἡιπποδαμας complete (error?). The last word, Kunisch thinks, is καλε, miswritten because of the other kale's, which refer to hetaerae. (3)there is no good parallel in LGPN ii, but cf. Σιβιλλα.

B] Sanctuary: uncertain mound (heroon? beehive?); fountain; column; seated man with stick; altar; at right, lower part of a goddess enthroned, making libation over the altar.

C] In front of the seated man: υ(?) (1) Horizontal Gr. along the bottom of the scene:

[--- ελε]υθερίας κ αλο ν. : σοφροσσυνεν ενι κλα[δοις σ]μιλα[κος ---].

To right of the man's head, through the scene:

[---]ν εχει<ς> στεφανον. (2)

GL's reading follows the order of the lines, but makes little sense:

καλο]νεχειστεφανον

...ελε]υθερίας [κ]αλο : σοφροσσυνενενικλα μι(ι)λλ(α)

Peek thinks the inscription began at the punctuation, continued around the whole vase and went above when the omicron of καλον met the first sigma of σοφροσσυνεν [at which moment I think the interpoint was placed]. Hence:

σοφροσσύνεν ενι κλά[δοις σ]μίλα[κος ηείμενος]

[Στρόμβιχε, έλε]υθερίας κ αλο: ν έχει<ς> στέφανον. (3)

D] Frs. a - c. I agree with Peek's reconstruction; for the interpoint marking a shift of line see 'Script' 168.

(1)not in the dr. (2)this line must be between the heads of the man and the goddess. (3)Στρομβιχε, Peek, exempli gratia.

D] Frs. a - e. I follow ARV(2), where the signatures are restored from the similar lekanis Athens, Pnyx 124 (P 349) [ARV(2) 1341/2, CAVI 1071] which has: Μικι[ων] εποίη[σεν]. Beazley apparently separated the name of Athena from the signatures, while Langlotz, because of the proximity (and a near-stoich. arrangement of the lines), had restored a dedication: Αθηνα[ια] ανέθηκεν | εὐε[μ]πο[ρος]·ὁ δεῖνα | ἐπ[οίησεν]. He also considered Mikion the painter, but that is superseded by the Pnyx fr. Note that a third group of frs., Acr. ii 1051 (ARV(2) 1341, CAVI 1469), which is said by Beazley to be in a different style, has Μικκω[υ] and below it γραφας; Beazley thinks this may have been followed by ανεθηκεν or the like. It does not quite fit the restoration of Acr. ii 594.

(1)perhaps late work by him, Beazley. Attributed to Berlin Painter by J. Neils (Shapiro). (2)so Peek, but he must assume irregular spacing, as there is a gap of two letter spaces after the nu; probably a kalos-name as there is no male figure near: see further Hesp. Suppl. 19, 61, n. 11. Philoxenides and Theoxenides are other possibilities. (3)so ARV(2), cf. also p. 1596: might be the kalos; read left to right by GL: κα|ΛλοΣ (with reversed three-stroke sigma). I read (from GL's photo.) (.)υλ(.), retr., which could be [Επ]ιλψ[κο]ς, who appears on Boston 01.8019 [ARV(2) 24/11, CAVI 2699] by Phintias. (4)GL, photo., not in the text. The number of missing letters of the dedicator's name should be determined. Since the extant letters occupy only about 2/3 of the circumference a long name is required. A bespoke piece.

D] Frs. a - b. A small vase. - Robertson thinks it reasonable to hypothesize that the painter is the dedicator, a theory he thinks supported by the subjects on the vase. Pottier, Mon. Piot 29 (1928) 149-92, rejected Beazley's construction of Myson's works, but see now L. Berge, Myson: a Craftsman of Athenian Red-figured Vases (1992). A and B both have Athena and a youth: Pottier suggested that he was Myson himself; Robertson has a different idea; see p. 127, where he cites Berge who thinks the figure with Athena on A is Myson, that on the other side, the Pig Painter; the occasion of the dedication being the latter's entry into the workshop, being perhaps a son or nephew. This is too speculative. - The nu reversed three times.

- B] Woman with a flower; kalathos.
- C] To left of her face: καλε.(1)

(1)or καλη; only the second and third letters are visible in the photo.; GL gives the inscription as Attic, but the lambda is clearly Ionic, hence the last letter could be eta. Or mixed alphabet?

1441.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 860.

- A] Fr. of WG lekythos. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL ii, no. 860 (not ill.); *Peek, 130.

ενανηρχο		ΕΝΑΝΗΡΧΟ
δεινο		ΔΕΙΝΟ

Outer circle: κ..οσομθε.
Inner circle: σολα.
GL, text: καλος|εκ...οσλομθ.
Peek: perhaps: κ[αλ]ός ὕδς Θεσ<σ>άλδ̄.(2)
Beazley: outer circle: Λῶσθε κ[αλ]ῶς.(3) Inner circle: κ<α>λός.(3)
- D] Note that GL and Peek restore as a partial spiral, which should be considered. The four-stroke sigma is bothersome, as it looks more like a low mu.

(1)addendum to AJA 35, in which Beazley gives some vi A.D. parallels for λοῦσθε καλῶς. (2)with Σ by mistake. (3)'Wash well,' the alabastron for communal use? (3)the kappa of the outer line doing double duty.

- D] Bespoken. The restoration below seems uncertain.

(1)GL restores: το]δ' Αθεν[αίαι], which seems very odd; but see Acr. 1304 - 1307. If right, would it be a potter's dedication?

1505.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 1304.

- A] Fr. of cup foot. From Athens. Unattributed. Ca. 500. *GL ii, 1304, pl. 92.

B] Near the top, two narrow red bands; near the lower end, two large parallel bands; the rest reserved.

C] Vertically in four lines on the reserved part of the stem, in BG:

Νομέπιλος ἀνέθεκεν Ἀθηναίῃ τὸ δ' ἄγαλμα.

D] 530 is too early for dotted delta. Except for the proper name, a dactylic hexameter.

(1)the underlined letters are between the two black bands. Line division follows GL's, but I was not certain in all cases from the photos.

1514.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 1316.

A] Fr. of G vase. From Athens. Unattributed. Sherd ante 700, inscription not before 550 (Langlotz). *Langlotz, GL ii, no. 1316, pl. 92 and p. 116 (dr.). *IG I(2) 913. 'Script' 14, n. 21.

C] Gr.: δ̄εμ̄ὸλ̄ε̄[ς].(1)

D] The date is implied by GL. Cf. Acr. ii, 1317.

(1)so IG, but the second epsilon dotted.

1515.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 1317.

A] Fr. of large foot, glazed on the outside. From Athens. Unattributed. Date of Vase? Inscription: see Acr. 1316. *GL ii, p. 116 (dr.). IG I(2) 913. 'Script' 14, n. 21.

B] No figured decoration.

C] Gr.: Φιλπιπος / ligature of pi-delta and iota.

D] IG gives: Φιλπιπὸ | Νι[.]vacat; probably wrongly. Probably an owner's Gr., since it is followed by a monogram or the number 51.

(1)BG inside and out.

1517.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 1320.

A] Two frs. of a lekanis lid. (1) From Athens. Unattributed. Second half fifth. *GL ii, no. 1320, pl. 92. Benndorf, 49-50/5, pl. 29,5. *Beazley, JHS 63 (1943) 110. 'Script' 727.

		Αγο		Ατε
		Αγο		Θεο(?)
		Θεο		-----
		Ευθ
		Αστ
		Μετ
		Γεμ

D] The inscriptions after GL, pl. 92, and Beazley in JHS. It looks to me like a list of abbreviated names, but Beazley thinks it might be a dictation and compares London B 507 (Campanian) where a similar list is painted. - Attic alphabet with four-stroke sigma.

(1)see Beazley, JHS.

1518.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 1322.

A] Fr. of BG plaque. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL ii, no. 1322, pl. 92; *Peek, ibid. 131.

B] Undecorated(?).

C] Gr., boustr.: GL, text:
[---]νειουσανιχν[---]|τλατυχνν vac.

Peek:

Νελύς άνία[ις|έ]τλα τύχ(η)ν.(1)

Photo.:

Νελυς ανια(ι)[---]| [---]τλατυχνν vac.

D] The last two letters are both = reversed nu. Peek's restoration seems unlikely, especially the miswritten eta. GL's reading is also poor. Attic alphabet.

(1)Hiller von Gaertringen: for Νελύς, cf. Ἰππύς, Ἐλεσιβύς.

Cf. also Wilamowitz, Hermes 18 (1884) 444, n. 2.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 1323.

A] BG fr. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL ii, no. 1323 (not ill.); *Peek 131.

B] Undecorated.

C] Gr.: φίλα ἐμί τοῖ Σ---|Ἐπίχαρις.(1)

D] Erotic. Are these perhaps two separate graffiti?
το ισ[---] is also possible. Attic alphabet.

(1)Peek, who suggests as alternative: ἐπίχαρι, 'charming'.

1520.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 1324.

- A] Fr. of BF pot(?). From Athens. Unattributed. First or second quarter sixth. 600-560 (GL). *GL ii, no. 1324, p. 116 (dr.).
- B] Front: BF bowl and ring of a tripod.
- C] On the back, Grr., all retr.:
Α(μ)ινιας(?) | Φοισῶν | Γαργετ<τ>οθε[ν].(1)
- D] The inscription is written on the sherd, but the lettering seems too early for an ostrakon. A horizontal line divides the first line from the second and the third:hence two separate inscriptions? Very coarse writing.

(1)read by Klaffenbach.

1521.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 1325.

- A] Fr., unglazed. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL ii, no. 1325 (not ill.).

- C] On one side, Gr.: ηιε.(1) On the other, Gr.:
[---]μῶ : χαλ[---]. | Χαλκιδευσ.(2)
- D] The first inscription an ostrakon? For the name Chalkideus see LGPN ii.

(1)unclear whether complete: ηιε<>? (2)Klaffenach; he restores: χαλ[αειυς] or χαλ[ιμοσιος].

1522.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 1326.

- A] Fr., glazed inside, unglazed outside. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL ii, no. 1326 (not ill.).
- B] Undecorated.
- C] Gr.:
[---]ος
[---]ετιμο[ς]
[---]οφς
[---]τοκρ[---]
[---]ες(1)
- D] It is not stated on which side the Gr. is, but it is more likely to be on the inside, which is glazed: written on sherd?

(1)Klaffenbach, who rightly thinks it is a list of names; the last two lines may be one name.

1523.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 1327.

- A] Fr., glazed inside. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL ii, no. 1327 (not ill.).
- B] Undecorated.
- C] Gr.: ΚΑΙΠΝΗ, i.e. Κ<ρ>(α)πνη?(1)

(1)Klaffenbach's suggestion. But Kraipne seems to be unknown.

1524.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 1328.

- A] Fr. of unglazed pot. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL ii, no. 1328 (not ill.).

- A] Fr. of unglazed pot. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL ii, no. 1329, p. 117 (dr.).
- B] Undecorated.
- C] Gr. in two horizontal lines: Μικὼν ἐγρα(φ)ε vac.
- D] Written on sherd; hence not a potter's signature, but: "Mikon wrote it". Alpha a high-kicker. Tailed rho. Phi in one stroke, rounded and enlarged.

1526.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 1330.

- A] Fr. of neck of krater. From Athens. Unattributed. First quarter sixth. *GL ii, no. 1330, pl. 93.

- D] Large, well-made, early archaic letters.

(1)punctuation in the form of three short diagonal strokes.

1527.

- B] Undecorated.
- C] Gr.: [--- ἀνεθεκε]ν : ταθ[εναιαι].
- D] Cartwheel theta.

1528.

Read: [---]έν̇ε̇ς ἀνέθεκεν. | (.)ιπ̇ε[---] | [K]υδι̇ας [---]. (2)
- D] Frs. a - b. Theta with interior Y-shaped strokes.

(1)the second lines preserves only the tops of letters. The first letter in line two of the second fr. is alpha or delta. (2)line 1 as restored by GL. Kydias is Klaffenbach's suggestion.

1529.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 1333.

A] Fr. from the rim of a lid. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL ii, no. 1333, p. 117 (dr.).

B] Undecorated.

C] On the topside, Gr.:

[---]φος > ἐποίησεν τε καὶ ἀνέ[θῆκεν]. (1)

D] Note scriptio plena.

(1)punctuation is in the form of a small >. The first letter is read as sigma in GL, but the dr. seems to show a disjointed alpha.

1530.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 1334.

A] Fr., glazed outside. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL ii, no. 1334 (not ill.).

C] Around the raised portion, in a circle, Gr.:

Δεμαίνετος # ἀνέθεκ[εν ... τῆι Ἀθῆ]γαίαι #.(2)

D] The circle complete. Cartwheel theta.

(1)'Scheibe'; a raised profile in the center with four depressions, apparently to support something (GL). (2)# here stands for special punctuation: four short horizontal strokes in the first instance, five in the second.

1532.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 1336.

A] BG Fr. from rim of small krater. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL ii, no. 1336 (not ill.); *Peek, ibid. 131.

B] Decoration not preserved.

C] vac. Λοφος α[νεθεκεν].

D] The reading is Peek's; GL had read: ...λοφος α[---. Peek's assertion of an initial vacat eliminates the name Λευκόλοφος mentioned by Klaffenbach (PA 9063, Σκαμβωνίδης). Lophos seems not otherwise known; I wonder if the name exists. Circular phi?

1533.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 1337.

A] Fr. of rim of vase. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL ii,

- no. 1337, p. 118 (dr.).

D] Frs. a - b.

(1)so Klaffenbach. The omicron has a dot in the center, perhaps from the compass (GL).

1539.

This would make the pot a potter's dedication.

B] Rough blots in BG as decoration.
C] On an inner BG band, Gr., facing out:
ἄνδρες ἐποίησαν σοφίαισιν κἄλὸν ἄγαλμα vacat.(2) clarified the inscription. I rather think that this hexameter is additional to a real signature (potter's and painter's, whence the plural?) elsewhere on the object. The writing is hasty and fluent. Triangular rho.

(1)so ABV. (2)the inscription takes up somewhat more than half the circumference. The last word is slightly separated.

vacat(2)
- D] Langlotz seems to assume that the Gr. is considerably later than the sherd, but I strongly suspect that it is false. C] Gr., in two lines:

[--- με]δεόσσει [ἀ]πα[ρχ]έν].

[--- ἔ]ποίησ[ε] καὶ [ἀν]έθεκε.(1)

D] A potter's dedication? - Peek restores line 1 as a dedicatory hexameter which includes the phrase: πόλεος με]δεόσει, but the phrase should be [Ἀθῆνᾱ] Ἀθῆνῶν μεδεόσει, which does not scan. His restoration of line 2 is also unlikely, since it does not scan. - For μεδεόσει cf. the Samian horoi with Ἀθηνᾶ Ἀθηνῶν μεδέσσα (reff. in 'Script', p. 137) and IG i(2) 14, lines 4-5.

C] Gr.: [--- τᾶ]ς τε ὀργάνῃς [Ἀθῆν]άας.(2)
D] Frs. a - b. ὀργανῆ = ἐργάνῆ. Why not [τῆ]ς?

(1)thin-walled, glazed inside and out. (2)so Peek (who seems to think that the text is not Attic); GL, text, however, prints the beginning as ..TE and the last letters as KVI\A (in Greek font). Klaffenbach referred to Gruppe, Myth. 1215(9) τε ὀργανῆς. Athena Organe: e.g. IG ii(2) 2939 (iv BC).

1688.

Athens, N.M. Acr. ii, 1493.

- A] Frs. of BG pot. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL ii, no. 1493, pl. 93 (photo.), p. 126 (dr.); *Peek, ibid. 131. Kretschmer, Vas. 200, para. 182. L. Talcott, Hesp. 5 (1936) 350/under no. 3.
B] Undecorated.
C] Grr.:
[---]μαθ[---]μυ[---] (2)
Αγαθ[ου] (1)
vac. καὶ τῶν κοινῶ φίλ[ι]ῶν ἰ μ' ἔφερε. vacat. (3) καλος. (1)

- D] The inscriptions are intertwined: (1) is in larger letters than (2) and (3) and was presumably written first. The first part of (2) and all of (3) are in smaller letters of about the same size; despite the vacat at the beginning of (3) one could consider (2) and (3) one inscription. The second part of (2) is in large and curiously curved letters, of which I can make nothing; they may not belong with any of the other letters. Peek, who restored [φίλ]ῶν, thinks the vase may be speaking: "[remember so-and-so] and the common friends; he brought me." Hiller von Gaertringen thought εφερε had erotic significance, which is not accepted by Peek. (2) is ignored by all. Talcott compares μ' εφερε with Agora P 5160, CAVI 339, which has μεθερε [μὲ φέρε, Agora 21, C 19] together with several Gr. kalos-inscriptions; she also cites Kretschmer [Vas. 200], who lists a RF amphora in the Canino Collection [not in Beazley], with, above, Dionysus' head α[νδ?]ροσμεθερ, without explaining it. She seems to accept Peek's explanation. But the punctuation should not have the function of a semicolon or period. The general context here is certainly erotic.

- A] Fr. of BG skyphos.(1) From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *GL ii, no. 1494 (not ill.).

(1)unclear whether RF, BF, or BG. (2)for Ηροδωρου(?) (Beazley). But upsilon should stand for a long o. See LGPN ii, s.v. 'Ερύδωρος?', where Johnston suggests Εϋδωρος or 'Ερώδωρος.

Thraette in GAI ii dicusses τοι/τῶι in this type of inscription and comes down for τω, 'to someone'. He misprints the τῶι of this inscription as τοι. Ionic alphabet. - But what is the final kappa?

Athens, KAM 3ε.(1) [LIST AS: Athens, Triti Ephoria A 5606.]

A] Fragmentary RF lekythos. From Athens, Marathon Street 61.(2) Achilles Painter. Third quarter fifth. Ca. 440 (Dontas). 450-445 (Oakley). *G. Dontas, 'Eine rotfigurige Lekythos des Achilleusmalers,' AK 16 (1973) 71-75, pl. 12,1-4. Delt. 24 (1969) B' 1, pp. 56-59, pl. 51 (small). *J.-P. Michaud, BCH 95 (1971), Chronique 821, fig. 45. *J.H. Oakley, The Achilles Painter (1997) 11, 14, *64, 130/115, pls. 74E (shoulder) and 75 (shows inscriptions). J. Reilly, 'Many Brides: >>Mistress and Maid<< on Athenian Lekythoi,' Hesp. 58 (1989) 430.

B] [Mistress and Maid:] woman to right with a small box; parts of a woman seated to left (mostly lost), wearing a diadem; at upper left, head scarf and oinochoe; at upper right, another oinochoe.

C] To upper right of the standing woman's head, horizontal: Χρυσοθεμῖς. Between the women, at the height of the standing woman's head:

Αξιοπειθῆς | καλὸς | Ἀλκιμαχῶ.

Stoich. tabella nearly centered.

D] Oakley 14 points out that the tabella is not at the top, as most of them are, but [a bit] lower [this is because it is lower than the name of Chrysothemis and at the same height as that of the seated Eury[---]]. Dontas thinks not a mistress and maid scene: Chrysothemis is a free woman and the seated woman is a bride (see further note 3). Ionic alphabet. Reilly lists the first name as Χρυσοθημῖς, which led me to postulate wrongly a syllabic ḥē in an earlie version of CAVI.

(1)Dontas does not specify where the lekythos is; his number is KAM 3ε; it is listed in Delt. as Triti Ephoria, and by Oakley as Triti Ephoria A 5606. The vase is probably the same as the [RF] lekythos listed in Add.(2) 393, with different bibliography, as 'Athens, NM, from Athens', although the last word of the inscription is there given as ΑΛΚΙΜΑΧΟΣ; Dontas' vase has no final sigma there. (2)ancient rubbish heap. (3)Dontas: Eurydike, Eurykleia and Eurynome are possibilities, but D. prefers Eurydike, not the bride of Orpheus but an underworld goddess (bibl. in n. 31). - The final sigma of Chrysothemis is incomplete. Oakley in the cat. misprints the name. The photo. in Oakley shows that he rightly prints Αλκιμαχω with a final omega (for omicron upsilon). Oakley notes that the Achilles Painter never names contemporary figures; he finds Reilly's theory that the vase refers to the wedding of the Danaids attractive, since Chrysothemis, Eurydike and Eurythoe are known Danaid names. The diadem may mean that Eury[--] is the bride. See however LGPN ii.

- A] Frs. of BF prize Panathenaic. From Athens, Ceramicus, near the Dipylon, found 1966-67. Unattributed. 413/2 rather than 327/6. Archon Polemon (E.); Hegemon (Frel). *N. Eschbach, Statuen auf Panathenäischen Preisamphoren des 4. Jhs. v. Chr. (1986) 145/cat. 73, pl. 37,1 (fr. b shows inscription). J. Frel, Quelques noms d'archontes sur les amphores Panathénaïques, RA 1972, 288f., fig. 3, a-j.
- B] A: Athena to right (parts); column figure on left column: Nike (part). [Some frs. must be from B: foot race? They show two running feet to right and a foot of one standing(?).]
- C] A: fr. b: kionedon: on left side of fr. (placed by E. near the left column): [-- Πολ]εμων.(1)
- D] Simple writing, not calligraphic. Ionic alphabet.

(1) This is rightly preferred by E., after Valavanos (orally). Frel had read Ηγεμων but that should be Ἡγήμων. The reading could also be: [Πολ]εμων[ηρχε]. Fr. b seems to preserve no other decoration, to judge by the small photo.

D] Found before 1960. Information from L. Talcott (letter to Raubitschek) and Raubitschek. - A long list in several columns of slave names with days of Hekatombaion marked as well as prices. At the end of column 2, vase names: contributions in vases rather than money. ἐν τῶι ἱερῶι twice. - Johnston mentions the possibility of an eranos list but thinks a list of payments for slaves (ἀπομίσθωσις - let out for hire) more likely.

Berlin 30,036 and Athens 14,792. - The inscriptions identify the scene as Helen in the family of the Spartan king Tyndareus: Hermione was the daughter of Helen and Menelaus; Klytaimestra and Phylonoe are her sisters; Phoiba and Hilaeira as Leucippidae and wives of Dioscouri are her sisters-in-law. [So Schöne who says that Burn wrongly identifies Hilaeira as a sister of Helen. But Phoiba is also a sister of Klytaimestra and hence of Helen: see Pape, s.v. (6). I wonder if all the women are not here to be thought of as sisters of Helen.] Schöne interprets the general meaning of both scenes as the curse of the gods against resisting mortals; the upper zone, as pointing to the fates of all the women (note Eros with Helen). Mixed alphabet with Ionic lambda and sigma. Note syllabic heta.

- D] Excavation of 1963. Knigge in AM, on p. 107ff., discusses the 'Spinnende Hetären' controversy. On p. 113: the name Ατιτας is not found elsewhere [cf. also LGPN ii], but the adj. ἄτιτης is found twice in Aesch. (Ag. 72 and Eumen. 257), meaning (according to E. Fraenkel, Agamemnon ii, 45f.) one who does not or cannot pay. Hence a nickname, cf. the potter Paidikos. [But see other interpretations in LSJ.] Attic alphabet with omega for omicron.

 B] Amymone with a water jar surprised by four satyrs, two on each side.
 C] Above the fourth satyr: Ενα[υ]λῶ.(2)
 D] Not in A. Kossatz-Deissmann, GVGettyMus 5 (1991); the name not in Pape or LGPN ii. ἔναυλος is an adj. related to flutes or an abode. - Knigge identified the extant Aison with the young Meidias Painter but Burn does not agree. Cf. Burn 12 n. 59: Cramers and Lezzi-Hafter consider Aison the teacher of the Meidias Painter. Burn is uncertain about the attribution of Ceramicus 4290: she is inclined to Aison but keeps it provisionally under Meidias Painter; she thinks the vase influenced by theater.

(1)but see D]. (2)so Knigge who says on p. 128: from ἔναυλος, 'Ausdruck des Erstaunens oder der Überraschung'. [I do not understand.] The inscription is above the two right-hand satyrs, slightly bearing upward. It could refer to the fourth satyr and be a name, or a remark of some kind or even nonsense. It should not refer to the woman. Consider ἔναθλος or ἔναλλος(?). Possibly a satyr name: *Ενα[λ]λο[ς], 'jumper, dancer,' from ἐνάλλομαι(?). Or from αὐλός, flute.

- B] No figured decoration preserved.
- C] Under the foot, Grr.: ηερ-- At left, in smaller letters and abutting against the first inscription:

- D] One of Pease's alternatives is $\eta\epsilon[\rho\acute{o}\nu\ \epsilon\acute{\iota}\mu\iota\ \tau\acute{\epsilon}\varsigma\ \text{Ἀθ}\acute{\epsilon}\nu\alpha\acute{\iota}\alpha\varsigma]$, leaving three spaces at the end of the line. If so, the painter's(?) name may have followed in the same line (with the letters decreasing in size toward the end of the line) and $\epsilon\gamma\rho\alpha\phi\sigma\epsilon\nu$ written under the painter's name for reasons of space.

(1)ARV(2) gives Athens, Acr. AP. (2)ownership in sanctuary; for the different possible restorations see Pease. (3)Pease thought of Pasiades, since $\epsilon\gamma\rho\alpha\phi\sigma\epsilon\nu$ lacks three letters at left and the ownership remark may leave three spaces. Beazley says: "... may be the signature of the painter - or merely of the writer?"

- A] Fr. of cup. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *Pease, Hesp. 4 (1935) 298/189, fig. 44.
B] Decoration not preserved.
C] On the outside of the rim, Gr.: $-\psi\mu\nu\mu\omicron\mu[-$.(1)
D] Side and offset rim. Letters very clear and neat, but the meaning is obscure. Is the inscription Attic?

(1)the psi is partially preserved; it is stemless.

- A] Fr. of RF cup. From Athens. Euergides Painter. Last quarter sixth. 520-510. *Pease, Hesp. 4 (1935) 280/139, fig. 35.

*Beazley, Eph. 1953-54, 203. ARV(2) 93/74, 1606.

B] A: male bending over.(1)

C] Above the arm, widely spaced: --]μο[--, i.e. [Φιλοκο]μος.(2)

(1)so ARV(2); Pease says: discobolus(?): athlete stooping (parts of shoulder and upper arm and a bit of the wreath in back of the head). (2)in Eph. and ARV(2) 1606, s.v. Philokomos, Beazley suggests [Φιλοκο]μο[ς]. The name occurs on Louvre C 11224 (ARV(2) 89/20, CAVI 6615, followed by φιλεῖται; on Berlin 2265 (88/4), CAVI 2314, as the name of a youth; and there may be traces of it on the cup frs. Louvre G 87, CAVI 6439. All are by the Euergides Painter who is the only one to use the name. See Beazley further.

A] Fr. of BF vase. From Athens. Unattributed. Third quarter sixth. *Pease, Hesp. 4 (1935) 273/120, fig. 30.

B] Man and horse (a tail remains on the right).

C] Obliquely across the field: two meaningless inscriptions, i.e. nonsense?

1774.

Athens, North Slope AP 130.

A] Fr. of cup with offset rim. From Athens. Unattributed. Fifth? *Pease, Hesp. 4 (1935) 298/185, fig. 44.

B] Decoration not preserved.

C] On the exterior, Gr.: [--]ικονιδε[ς--].(1)

D] Correction. I.e., (N)ικόνιδε[ς--] according to Pease.

(1)"the N was first inscribed as [Mu] and the faulty stroke then painted out (Pease). I.e., the Gr. must have been done before firing.

1775.

Athens, North Slope AP 131.

A] Fr. of handle. From Athens. Unattributed. Second half fifth. *Pease, Hesp. 4 (1935) 298/186, fig. 44.

B] Undecorated.

C] On the outside edge, Gr.: Δε]μο(σ)τράτῆς εἰμι ς[--].

D] Owner's Gr. Demonstrate is common in Athens, but this example is not included in LGPN ii.

1776.

Athens, North Slope AP 170.

A] Fr. of BG cup. From Athens. Unattributed. Second quarter fifth. *Pease, Hesp. 4 (1935) 297/183, fig. 44.

Hesp. 4 (1935) 242/38, fig. 14. LSAG 76/5,c. *'Script' 14, Fig.12 (phot.).

B] No figured decoration preserved.

C] On the reserved rim, in very large and elegant letters:

[--]ς :(1) με[--].

D] A bespoken dedication. Not clear that the alphabet is Attic.

(1)Three dots are preserved, but there probably were four. GAI i, 74, calls this the earliest punctuation in Attica.

1778.

Athens, North Slope AP 215.

A] Fr. from rim of RF cup. From Athens. Unattributed. Last quarter sixth. Ca. 510-500. *Pease, Hesp. 4 (1935) 282/144, fig. 35. ARV(2) 1564/2.

D] Possibly the figure is named (rather than a kalos).

(1)Beazley says: hair. (2)Pease thinks the name may have been followed by καλος, but Beazley puts a stop after the name, with more probability (if the figure is male, as is possible from Beazley's description). Pease thinks [Φιν]τίας unlikely, but Antias is also uncertain.

1779.

Athens, North Slope AP 281.

A] Fr. of standlet of Sosian type. From Athens. Skythes?(1) Fourth quarter sixth. *Pease, Hesp. 4 (1935) 287/159, fig. 37. *ARV(2) 85.

B] Part of a woman holding a sprig; kalathos.

C] Vertically down: [Σκυθες(?) εγραφο(?)]εν.

(1)see ARV(2): of the same type as Basel, Cahn 25, CAVI 2048; "the very little that remains of the picture is compatible with an ascription to Skythes, and it would be a signed piece."

1780.

Athens, North Slope AP 286.

A] Fr. of RF cup. From Athens. Manner of Onesimos. First quarter fifth. 500-490. Still early (Beazley). *M.Z. Pease, Hesp. 4 (1935) 282/143, fig. 36. *ARV(2) 332/24.

B] Int.: Heracles stringing his bow.

C] Between bow and Heracles: Θ--

D] Originally attributed to the Panaitios Painter. The photo. seems to show that the theta is reserved. For reserved inscriptions see 'Script', p. 59, and Bothmer in Euphronios Peintre (1992) 3.1 n. 37 who adds Louvre CA 1943, ARV(2) 1577/17, CAVI 6670 (not incised).

(1)so ARV(2).

- A] Two frs. of a small BF vase. From Athens. Unattributed. Third quarter sixth. *Pease, Hesp. 4 (1935) 272/119, fig. 30.
- B] Fr. a: Athena; traces of another figure. Fr. b: feet and lower part of woman.
- C] Frs. a and b, each: mock inscriptions (nonsense).

1782.

Athens, North Slope AP 346.

- A] Fr. of dinos. From Athens. Unattributed. Sixth. *Pease, Hesp. 4 (1935) 297/184, fig. 44.
- B] No decoration preserved.
- C] On upper surface of rim, Gr.: Αθε[---].(1)
- D] From the rim. Alpha with horizontal cross stroke? Cartwheel theta.

(1)enough of the glaze is preserved to show that there was a vacat of 1-2 letters preceding the alpha; this makes it difficult to restore a dedication ([ὁδεῖνα ἀνέθεκεν τῆι] Ἀθεναίαι).

1783.

Athens, North Slope AP 374.

- A] Fr. of BF amphora = BF prize Panathenaic? From Athens. Unattributed. Second quarter sixth. Ca. 560-550. *Pease, Hesp. 4 (1935) 253/67, fig. 19.
- B] Face, raised left arm and right fingers of a bearded runner.
- C] To right of his raised arm: δο[---].(1)
- D] Beazley thinks this a foot race from side B of a [prize?] Panathenaic as Toronto (Vases in Toronto, pl. 53, no. 349). The fr. is not listed by Brandt, Archaeologia Panathenaica I. It need not be a prize Panathenaic. Beazley's remarks are quoted by Pease.

(1)Beazley would like to read δό[λιχος], but notes that it seems to be a sprint.

Athens, North Slope AP 401.+

- A] Frs. of RF amphora.(1) From Athens. Unattributed.(2) Ca. 500. *Pease, Hesp. 4 (1935) 286/156, fig. 37.
- B] Fr. a: maenad with thyrsus; head, aegis and spear of Athena. Fr. b: part of a figure.
- C] Fr. a: between the figures: [h(?)]επαις.(3) Fr. b: to left of the figure: A[---].
- D] + AP 600. Two frs. The καλε may have been elsewhere on A.

(1)pointed? (2)not in ABV or Para., but Pease quotes Beazley who compares the style to that of the plastic London E 875 (CV, pl. 37, 1). (3)so Pease, but photo. shows a blank space before the epsilon: irregular spacing?

1785.

Athens, North Slope AP 422.

- A] Frs. of WG lekythos. From Athens (Agora). Pasiades. Last quarter sixth. Ca. 510. *M.Z. Pease, Hesp. 4 (1935) 291/169, fig. 39. AA 1934, 126 (mention). ARV(2) 102/1, Add.(2) 172. *Photo.
- B] A youth and a woman remain.
- C] On the shoulder (frs. a and d), Gr. on a wide BG band: Πασιαδ[εξ] and εγραφ[σεν].(1) Fr. b: before the youth's head, in BG: κ[α][--], retr.(2) Fragment c: between the woman's back and back of chair, retr.: [κ]αλ[--].
- D] Frs. a - d. - The name Pasiades recurs, with εποισεν, on three WG alabastra, ARV(2) 102,2-4, q.v. for attribution. Alpha is very variable.

- (1)there may be a stroke before the epsilon: μεγραφσεν.
(2)a diagonal line remains: κ/[--].

1786.

Athens, North Slope AP 423.

- A] Two frs. of BF lekythos. From Athens. Diosphos Painter. End of sixth. *Pease, Hesp. 4 (1935) 275/127, fig. 32. ABV 509/11.
- B] Fr. a: chariot race. Fr. b: part of a chariot.
- C] Fr. a: nonsense: meaningless inscriptions.

1787.

Athens, North Slope AP 487.

- A] Fr. of stemless cup. From Athens. Unattributed. Second half fifth. *Pease, Hesp. 4 (1935) 298/188, fig. 44. Beazley, AJA 31 (1927) 352-53.
- B] Decoration not preserved.
- C] On the underside, in a rough circle, Gr.: [---]ος :φι[λ]εῖ κ[α---].
- D] The restoration mainly after Beazley in AJA.

1788.

Athens, North Slope AP 578.

- A] Fr. of BF plate. From Athens. Unattributed. First quarter 5th. *M.Z. Pease, Hesp. 4 (1935) 278/133, fig. 33.
- B] Rim with a chain of buds; part of interior.
- C] On the reserved ground of the interior, near margin: [--]υσ[--].
- D] The sigma cursive = c.(1) Pease gives a parallel for lunate sigma later in the fifth century: London E 324 by the Sabouroff Painter, ARV(2) 842/127, Él. Cér. ii, pl. 80, "Glaukon period", with both kinds of sigmas. She also discusses the fluctuating state of the alphabet in this period.

- (1)so Pease, but is it right? I list no lunate sigmas so early in 'Script'.

1789.

Athens, North Slope AP 649.

- A] Fr. of RF cup.(1) From Athens. Unattributed.(2) Last quarter sixth. Ca. 510. *Pease, Hesp. 4 (1935) 280/141, fig. 35. ARV(2) 1557/11.

- B] One running.(3) Traces of a handle.
 C] Immediately to right of the handle: Επ[---].(4)

(1)with offset rim. (2)Beazley. Pease wonders whether by Epiktetos. (3)so ARV(2). Pease says that the scene is unclear (a pursuit?), with perhaps two figures involved. (4)Pease rightly states that the position next to the handle means that we have a name (Επ[ικτετος...] or Επ[ιλυκος...]) and not επ[οιεσεν]. ARV(2) lists this under fragmentary signatures without restoration.

1790.

Athens, North Slope AP 752.

- A] Fr. from center of an open vase. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *Pease, Hesp. 4 (1935) 298/187, fig. 44.
 B] No decoration preserved.
 C] On the underside, a carelessly scratched Gr.: Λυσις.(1)
 D] Burnt? Owner's inscription in the nom.

(1)complete at end; not certain that it is complete at the beginning; the lambda's left stroke is incompletely preserved.

1791.

Athens, North Slope AP 861.

- A] Fr. of WG lekythos. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *Roebuck, Hesp. 9 (1940) 224/215, fig. 42.
 B] Lower part of a draped figure; leg of a mule.
 D] Neatly written.

(1)space for one letter to right of pi, then the garment. Unclear whether the end of a nonsense inscription or part of a name, e.g.: [Αντ]ιοπεια.

1792.

Athens, North Slope AP 947.

- A] Household amphora. From Athens. Unattributed. Second half 6th (context). *Broneer, Hesp. 7 (1938) 182, fig. 20. 'Script' 901. *Vidi. *Agora photo. AK-114-8 (A).
 B] Undecorated.
 C] Graffiti: A: on the shoulder, between handles: Αγασικλες. On the belly, on the upper glazed band, starting beneath the first sigma of Agasikles and continuing under the right handle to side B:
 K[ca. 16-18]κλῆς δοκεν Λαφιλίδει (κ)α<ι> βαρύνος. B: on the shoulder (as on A): Ευρυκλ<ε>ς.(1)
 D] According to Agora 12, i, p. 189, n. 14, the vase is East Greek. The inscriptions seem to be Attic (rather than Boeotian?), however, so the writer seems to be an Athenian.

(1)my readings; Broneer differs in several details. He gives Ευρυκ<λ>(ε)ς[sic]; the letters appear to be Ευρυκας, hence Εὐρυκᾶς is possible. In the long belly inscription, B.

gives the gap as ca. 12 letters. The kappa after Laphilidei is written over a gamma (according to me) or alpha (B.). B. reads καββ>αρυνος for καταβαρυνος (βαρύνος is new). Similar graffiti: Talcott, Hesp. 5 (1936) 346 ff.; Shear, ibid. 36. - For the long inscription one possibility is: κ[αταπύγων Ἀγασί]κλῆς δοκεῖν Λαφιλίδει κα<ι> βαρύνος. For the infin. δοκεῖν see perhaps ὅτι with infin.: Ind. Forsch. 48, 164 and Pfister, Philol. 73, 559; Old Olig. I 2: ἐρῶ ... ὅτι ἔχειν; Pl., Gorgias 447b? Or for ὡς δοκεῖν(?) - LGPN ii reads Agasikles, Laphilides (only here) and Eurykles saying for the last: Εὐρυκας - vase'.

- B] Bands of stamped spirals on the neck, shoulder and body.
- C] On the broad flat rim, Gr.: ΔΙΚ.
- D] Broneer compares Talcott, Hesp. 5 (1936) 344 and 352. The photo. does not show the inscription.

1799.

- B] Undecorated.
- C] On the outside wall, Gr.: [---]εργ[---] vacat(?).(1)

(1)Roebuck says the last letter is either gamma or alpha. He suggests: [Ἀθῆναιαί]Ἐργ[άνει, or [Ἀθῆναιαί]ἠεργά, (but I see no trace of the iota). If there is a vacat at the end, the second alternative would be right.

1804.

Athens, North Slope AP 1618.

- A] Fr. of WG cup. From Athens. Unattributed. Late sixth - early fifth. *Roebuck, Hesp. 9 (1940) 194/118, fig. 28.

Athens, North Slope AP 1653.

- A] Fr. of BF plaque. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *Roebuck, Hesp. 9 (1940) 234/252, fig. 45.
- B] Back of a head.
- C] Above it, Dip.: [--- Αθῆ]ναι[αί].(1)
- D] Bespoken. I assume that the figure represented is not Athena.

(1)Roebuck reads the dat. by comparison with the plaque Acr. i, 2556, CAVI 1187, by Skythes, which has above the head, the Dip.: Σχυθες μαν[εθεκεν].

1806.

Athens, North Slope AP 1665.

- D] Inscriptions neatly written behind each figure, cf. CV, Louvre 5, III H e, pl. 69, 4.

(1)"a little later than the early Leagros period," Roebuck.

(2)could it be: [hoπ]αῖς. χαῖρε(?). But Roebuck 219 refers to Kretschmer, Vas. 85, n. 4, for the nominative with χαῖρε.

- A] Fr. of rim of BF skyphos. From Athens. Unattributed. Date? *Roebuck. Hesp. 9 (1940) 189/100, fig. 25.
- B] Decoration not preserved.
- C] On the outside of the lip, Gr.: η[ι]---(?).(1)
- D] Ownership of sanctuary.

(1)the fr. is very small, but there is more of a vacat before and aft than the distance between the letters; perhaps η[ι] as an abbreviation of η[ι]ερόν. Cf. Villa Giulia 74,967, CAVI 7217.

- B] Decoration not preserved.
- C] In the handle zone, in BG: [hι]ερον[---?].
- D] Tiny letters: later LM style. I give Roebuck's restoration, but it is unlikely for a dipinto on a LM cup. More likely is nonsense or a name, if misread. Also the traces of the first letter do not fit an epsilon.

1819.

Athens, North Slope AP 1974.

- A] Fr. of Siana cup. From Athens. Unattributed. Second quarter sixth. *Roebuck, Hesp. 9 (1940) 192/111, fig. 27.

(1)"The letter forms are ambiguous and the meaning is not apparent," Roebuck. The υ may be H and the ρ may be Δ. The last letter looks like H in the dr., but R. does not identify it.

1826.

Athens, North Slope AP 2289.

- A] Fr. of a small BF pot. From Athens. Unattributed. Ca. 525. *Roebuck, Hesp. 9 (1940) 213/184, fig. 37. *'Script' 98, Fig. 40.
- B] Neck and legs of a horse; legs of a nude male.
- C] Between them, the letters in BG outlined in graffito: Τελετος.
- D] In the N.M.? - Roebuck: apparently genit. of Teles, known as a personal name and as a name of a son of Heracles by Lysidike, but it is unlikely that the name is an obscure mythological one on such a trifling vase; perhaps the name of the owner of the vessel. Listed as Τέλης in LGPN ii, q.v. for parallels.

end-boustr.: Κεδαλιονος, retr.

- D] + 1834 and 1869. Roebuck points out that Kedalion occurs as the name of the teacher of Hephaestus. According to Pape he was a Naxian and a servant of H.; there was a satyr play by Sophocles of this name.

(1)fr. 1834, not inscribed, has the lower part of a figure climbing into a chariot.

1828.

Second quarter sixth. *ABV 682.
B] Muses: parts of two female figures.
C] [O]ρανια.
D] Beazley gives no bibliography. He quotes Shefton: 'belongs to Acr. 594?' (CAVI 967). [But the subject preserved there is Nereids].

1832.

- B] Int.: impressed palmettes.
- C] On the bottom, near edge: Μανα ΔΔ.(1)
- D] Some letters open at the top. - The inscription is declared to be unintelligible. It looks to me like a trade mark with a proper name and a numeral.

(1)one delta above the other: for 20?

1838.

Athens, Pnyx G 25.

- A] Fragmentary BG saucer. From Athens. Unattributed. Fourth century. *Hesp. suppl. 7 (1943) 31/2, fig. 15 (dr.).

- D] Hesp. suppl. restores: Ανδ[ροκλειδου] | Ευρυ[---] | Αχ[αρνεως]. They reject an interpretation as an ostrakon since the letter forms suggest too late a date. An Androkleides Acharneus is mentioned in Dem. 48, 11. But the Gr. is written on the sherd and ought to belong to the last ostracism (of 417/6). In that case the first name should be in the nom.

- A] Fr. of RF lekanis. From Athens. Mikion Painter (Euemporos?).(1) Mikion potter. Last quarter fifth. Ca. 420-410. *Hesp. suppl. 10, pl. 10/124. *ARV(2) 1341/2. *Photo.
- B] Lower part of a seated woman.
- C] At right, stoich. two-liner: Μικιω[υ] | εποη[σεν].(2)
- D] = 124 (P 349), ARV(2). Neatly written.

(1)the name Euemporos appears on Athens, Acr. ii, 594 (CAVI 1405) together with Mikion's, perhaps as the name of the painter; see ARV(2) 1341/1. (2)Beazley gives omega in Mikion's name; I saw an omicron in the photo.; perhaps my error.

- A] Fr. of an aidon vase (spout). From Athens. Unattributed. Early fifth. *Hesp. suppl. 7 (1943) 159/114, fig. 71.
- B] Fr. of spout in the form of a phallos.
- C] Gr. "in the dry clay": Κερκιω.

D] Vanderpool notes that this is a telling vase; he rightly cites κέρκος = phallos. The writing is coarse. For the use of omega V. compares an ostrakon of Themistocles, Hesp. 5 (11936) 40, fig. 39, but it is not clear to me what value he gives to it.

(1)so Hesp. But it could be complete: Κερκιω = Κερκίῳ (gen.), an owner's inscription. The vase is appropriate to the owner's name. LGPN ii reads Κέρκιος. Probably after firing. The omega is rectangular.

- A] WG lekythos. From Athens. Achilles Painter (Tzachou-Alexandri).(1) 450-445 (Oakley). *J.H. Oakley, The Achilles Painter (1997) 11 n. 4, 14, 68, 143/217 (not ill.). *Oakley vidit; information from O. Tzachou-Alexandri.
- B] Three women at a grave.(1)
- C] Μελητος καλος patronymic.(2)
- D] Oakley 14 points out that on this vase there is a kalos-inscription and a tomb stele. Meletos appears as a kalos-name on an early RF neck amphora by the Achilles Painter, Cab. Méd. 363 (CAVI 6117), ARV(2) 988/11, J.H. Oakley, The Achilles Painter (1997) 116/14. Would it be the same? The inscription is printed as Ionic by Oakley.

(1)Oakley says the third figure and some of the ornament are later additions, perhaps by the Sabouroff Painter. (2)Oakley says he could not read the patronymic when he saw the vase briefly. R. Cromey, by letter of 1/10/99, tells me that Oakley told him that the patronymic is Megakles. In a second letter Cromey gives me the ref. as received by him from John Oakley: O. Alexandri, Δίδυμο ταφικό μνημείο του ζωγράφου του Αχιλλέως, ΕΠΑΙΝΟΣ ΙΩΑΝΝΟΥ Κ. ΠΑΠΑΔΗΜΗΤΡΙΟΥ (Athens 1997) 303-56. I assume this would not be the son of Megakles V mentioned by Davies, APF, 381-82, who is considerably later.

- A] RF oinochoe (chous). From Athens, Hodos Lykourgou. Unattributed. Second half fifth. *Delt. 20 (1965) B' 1, p. 100, pl. 56,g.
- B] Three men sacrificing at a herm.
- C] Φίλιος. Τυχων.
- D] The vase is not listed in LGPN ii, but both names are known in Attica. The third person not named?

- A] Fr. of BF prize Panathenaic. From Athens, Philopappos Hill, 1961.(1) Unattributed. Hellenistic. Second century B.C. *N. Metaxa-Prokopiou, Delt. 25 (1970) [1971] 98, pl. 31,2.
- B] B: column shaft on which the hoof of a horse to left.
- C] B: to left of the column shaft, at some distance (no doubt along the left margin, which is not preserved, and probably kionedon): [---]θ[---].(2)

(1)found with the Adeimantos amphora, q.v. (CAVI 198a).

(2)M.-P. thinks the theta is from αθλων, probably because the horse's hoof places it low.

1880.

Athens, Triti Ephoria 556.

- A] RF aryballos. From Athens (Piraeus, B.-O.). Douris. Ca. 500. Earliest style (Beazley). *Para. 376/273 bis, *524, Add.(2) 241/274 bis.(1) D. Pandermalis et al., eds., Kernos (Festschrift Bakalakis) (Thessalonike 1972), pls. 54,1-4 and 55,1 (A, B, top, side). Robertson, AVCA 85 and fig. 73 (A). *D. Buitron-Oliver, Douris (Kerameus 9, 1995) 62f., 73/13, pl. 8.
- B] A: woman. B: youth leaning on his stick.
- C] A: Δορις εγραψε. (2) B: Χαϊρεστρατος καλος. (3)
- D] The mouth missing. - The vase is also listed as Athens, N.M. T.E. 556, but I assume that T.E. stands for Τρίτη Εφορία, in which case the vase is probably not in the National Museum, as is assumed in Para. (index) and Add.(2), but not in Robertson, AVCA.

(1)Add.(2) declares the number '273 bis' in Para. to be an error; however, the single aryballos in ARV(2) 447/274 is later than our vase, which therefore ought to precede it.

(2)Discovered by B. Philippaki. (3)"The inscriptions were observed under a microscope by Harry Kritzas of the Third Ephoria, Athens" (B.-O.).

- A] RF oinochoe (chous). From Piraeus Street no. 57, tomb 11.(1) Eretria Painter. 435-430 (T.-A.). *O. Tzachou-Alexandri in J.H. Oakley, W.D.E. Coulson, O. Palagia, Athenian Potters and Painters: The Conference Proceedings (1997) 473-80, figs. 1-3 and 7-11 (figs. 9-10 are profiles, fig. 11 (= cover, in color) is a dr. not showing inscriptions). Delt. 23 (1968) 83.
- B] Festival in honor of Dionysus: at left, a pillar(?) on a three-stepped base, with a mask of Donysus hung on it, with laurel branches above and below; on the floor, an ivy-wreathed column krater; a frontal youth,

- C] In white (which has disappeared): above the heads: the youth: Επιμεθευς. The priest: Προμεθε[υ]ς. (2)
- D] T.-A. refers the scene to the Anthesteria, in part because of the chous shape. She thinks the liknon contains a phallos wrapped in cloth (p. 484). For the relation of Prometheus and Epimetheus to Dionysus see T.-A. 484-85; she thinks they here represent a youth and a priest, the youth undergoing a ceremony of initiation to be admitted to adulthood. She thinks of the child at right as an oinochoos, a special request of the family who later placed the chous in the tomb [sic?]. The ceremony she places in the Dionysion ἐν Λίμναις on the 12th of Anthesterion, the day of the Choes. - The branches on Prometheus' head and those tendered to Epimetheus are small-leaved willow branches, while those near the mask of Dionysus and in the liknon have larger leaves with added white; they are considered to be laurel.

- A] RF pyxis with lid. From Athens, tomb in Aeolus Street. Calliope Painter. Last quarter fifth. 425-420 (L.-H.). *Lezzi-Hafter, Der Eretria-Maler (Kerameus 6, 1988) 248-50, 347/256, pls. 166-67. *G. Daux, BCH 86 (1962), Chronique 645, fig. 4, left, pl. 24,1-2. ARV(2) 1707/84 bis, Para. 471. E. Brummer, 'Griechische Truhenbehälter,' JdI 100 (1985) ... n. 717. S. R. Roberts, The Attic Pyxis (1978) 128 middle.
- B] The bride Thetis seated to left, surrounded by Nereids with gifts.(1)
- C] Body: Θεω. Αυρα. Χρυσεις. Γαλενε. Αλεξῶ. Ψαμαθε. Θετις. (2) Ευλ[ιμενε]. [Γλ]αυκε. Κυμοδο[δο]κε. (3)
- D] L.-H. 249 thinks the scene are the Epaulia of the Wedding of Peleus and Thetis. - Mixed alphabet. Xi 1 with vertical extending above and below the horizontals if L.-H.'s rendering in the cat. is correct.

(1)ARV(2) 1707: Thetis and her sister Nereids. (2)BCH says Thetis, the ph. shows [.]ετις. (3)so L.-H. P. 250 shows that this is the writing on the vase. Meant for Κυματοδοκε(?). BCH also says: Γαληνη. Γλαυκη. Κυμοθοη. Μελιτη. I do not know how reliable these readings are.

Athens, Triti Ephoria A 1891.

- A] RF pyxis with lid. From Athens, tomb in Aeolus Street. Unattributed. 430-420. *G. Daux, BCH 86 (1962), Chronique 644-45, figs. 2-3, pl. 21,1-2. A. Queyrel, 'Les Muses a l'École: Images de quelques vases du Peintre de Calliope,' AK 31 (1988) 92/9 (listing only).
- B] Body: seven muses in three groupings.
- C] Body: muse with lyre, standing; to right of her face: Θάλεια. Muse seated and playing the flutes; above her head: Χορῶ. Muse standing and holding an alabastron and lyre; not inscribed. - Seated muse playing the lyre; starting above her head: Τερψιχόρα. Standing muse holding out a short stick(?); to left of her face, toward it, with the last letter below the penultimate: Μελπομένη. - To right of M.'s left elbow under a hung-up satchel (tablets, no stylus) and bag: Ορανια. - Standing muse holding out a wreath; to right of her face.: Κλεῶ. Seated muse with kithara; above her head: Ερατώ.
- D] Done from the text and some of the pictures. As Daux says, the relation of the inscriptions to the figures is not altogether clear, as there is an unnamed muse and an extra name not attached to a figure. But his suggestions that the unnamed figure may be Apollo and that the extra inscription relates to the satchel are hardly correct. Ionic alphabet.

- A] Frsa. of BF prize Panathenaic. From Athens, Οδός Λεμπέση-Πωρίνου, tomb 3. Unattributed. 366/5. Archon Kephisodoros I(?). *N. Eschbach, Statuen auf Panathenäischen Preisamphoren des 4. Jhs. v. Chr. (1986) 34, 35/cat. 22 (not ill.). O. Alexandri, Delt. 25,2,1 (1970) 70f. (report on the tomb).
- B] A: Athena, perhaps to right (non-joining frs.).
- C] A: on a joining fr.: kionedon: Κηφισοδορ[--].(1) On a non-joining fr., which may belong here or to the fr. listed as cat. no. 23: [--]ος ηρχε.
- D] The lettering on both frs. is identical. Kephisodoros appears twice in the fourth century: 366/5 and 323/2. E. believes the later Kephisodoros is to be excluded as the lettering and the column figures both differ. He notes in n. 139 a difference in the phi, which on our vase is cursive. 366/5 is the archon year of a Panathenaic festival! Another problem is Athena's possible turn to the right which is known first from the archon Kallimedes of 360/59. Ionic alphabet (but omicron for omega?).

(1)so Eschbach: but should it not be with omega?

- C] [-]φδ(ν) : μάνέθεκεν : ἄγ>αλμα : τᾰθηναία[i].(2)
- D] I do not know whether Dip. or Gr., the latter is more likely.

(1)see GAI i. (2)IG i(2): the phi preserves part of a circle; for the first nu at first a punctuation mark, with nu added later.

- C] Between the women, below the top margin, horizontal stoich. two-liner, centered: $\eta\gamma\gamma\alpha\iota\nu\delta\upsilon\nu\mid\kappa(\alpha)\lambda\omicron\varsigma$.

- D] I assume that Dinopoulos refers to a private collection in Athens; Oakley lists six WG lekythoi in it, all from the same tomb. Mixed alphabet. Typical hand of Achilles Painter.

Both inscriptions miswritten? - For the problem of the number of 'Pammachos' vases see Basel, Antikenmuseum BS 471, CAVI 1996.

(1)the last letter looks like an Ionic lambda with a short second leg, but it could be a nu incompletely preserved: καλο(ν). Or sideways sigma: καλος(?).

B] Nike flying over an altar, holding a basket of offerings.

C] ΜΕ...ος καλ[ο]ς. - The inscription is above the altar and in front of Nike's head. A horizontal two-liner. [There is an indistinct letter before the tau (pi)].

D] Beazley says that ΜΕ[γισ]τος has been suggested; ΜΕ[λιτ]τος is also possible, but the sixth letter may be pi not tau. - Actually, Savignoni suggests: ΜΕ[γισ]τος καλος, or ΜΕ[νιππ]ος καλος, or ΜΕ[λανω]πος καλος. Beazley mentions only the first of these suggestions and adds one of his own.

B] Mistress and Maid: woman to right (head missing) with offering tray; woman seated on a chair to left, holding out an alabastron.

C] Between the two, at the top, remains of a two-liner, perhaps stoich., only the last letters of two lines being preserved: [Λιχα]ς| [καλο]ς.(1) The letters are in the same stoichos. - Beazley and Oakley print the sigmas as 4 and 'C', but the photo. shows 4 flat and S 11 (see the chart in 'Script').

(1)so Oakley as against Beazley's [-]ς [καλο]ς; I do not know on what authority. The two lines are fairly far apart but only two sigmas are preserved so that it is unlikely that we have a three-liner with the father's name (Samieus).

the cup is discussed by D.G. Kyle, Athletics in Ancient Athens (Leiden 1987) 222-23/P 100. Neils does not accept Raubitschek's theory, rejects identification of the figures in the tondo with Leagros, thinks the man could be a

The letters are unusual but apparently Attic: alpha with sloping bar, disjointed; dotted delta; epsilon with curved strokes and thick vertical; three-stroke sigma reversed. - Not in TGV.

- C] On the bottom of the base and the underside of the lid, Gr.: NZ.
- D] To fit the lid to the body of the pyxis. Oakley, p. 40 gives seven other examples. Johnston, by letter, suggests that nu-zeta may stand for 57, either the number of pots in the kiln or the place in a series. - Close to the pyxis Boston 96.679a-b which has similar Grr.; cf. Bothmer, AJA 85 (1981) 354. The basic list is in TGV 180-81.

- D] The Ext. clearly shows bathers, presumably athletes washing. Oakley therefore thinks that the Int. also shows someone washing: cf. Ginouvès 51-54. Cf. also CV, Oxford 2, 105 and pl. 51,3. J. Bousquet and J. Marcadé, 'Le peintre d'Euergides,' RA, 41-43. C.F. Moss, 'Grape-treading Scenes on Red-figured Kylixes: a New Interpretation,' AJA 87 (1983) 246 (abstract), thinks the vats are being cleaned and scraped in preparation for the new vintage. - Large, careless letters.

(1)Beazley and Oakley say 'bell krater'. My note says: similar to lug krater. Not exactly either, as the handles are rounded, solid and turned down. 'Vat' is best. (2)so CV.

 D] Illiterate?

(1) compared by Beazley with Tübingen [O] Z 158, ARV(2) 734/83, Add.(2) 283, CAVI 7802, RF lekythos by the Karlsruhe Painter.
 (2) so CV (but the letters are hard to identify; they may not be retr.). Oakley thinks this may be an attempt to write: ho πας. I had read: ποσι, the omicron misshapen; I thought it could be an alpha and D.K. Hill (see CV) thought it was πασι for παῖς. But I saw no trace of ho. (3) The alpha = a triangle open at the top. CV shows κολος for καλός; the first omicron a triangle open at the top [I think it is an open alpha].

Baltimore, Walters 48.262.

- A] RF calyx krater. Altamura Painter. Second quarter fifth. *J.H. Oakley, CV, USA 28, pl. ... ARV(2) 591/25.
- B] A: warrior and woman at altar. B: man.
- C] Under foot, Grr.: ON and alpha with vertical cross bar.
- D] Johnston in TGV 226, under no. 10F, says that ON (less likely NO) is an adjective standing alone or with vase names; it occurs in price inscriptions. Johnston suggests ὄνιος or ὄνητός: 'for sale.' The alpha is presumably a numeral. The Walters vase is not in TGV. But see now Johnston, TGV Addenda (2006) 149/37a, who reads NV and an arrow delta as a numeral.

- A] BF cup.(1) Paidikos (painter).(2) Last quarter sixth. *J.H. Oakley, CV, USA 28, pl. 52, fig. 16,2; p. 50 (facs.). *ARV(2) 1700, Para. 331.(3)
- B] Int.: komast: naked man bending over, a cup in one hand (into which he looks) and an oinochoe in the other.(4)
- C] Int.: starting to left of his left foot, running upward along the margin and ending just below the cup:
Παιδικος εγρα(φ)σεν.
- D] Ex Philadelphia Market. - The only painter's signature by Paidikos; elsewhere he signs once with epoiesen (alabastron) and 6-8 times without a verb (cups). If this signature is not an error, it would mean (see note 2) that the cups signed Paidikos as potter were by other painters and that we have only one cup painted by Paidikos. See also ARV(2) 102. Beazley [after Haspels] thought Paidikos the nickname of Pasiades; this might explain the subject of our cup (note 4).

(1)type C. (2)Beazley in ARV(2) says (as if the painter were unknown): "... a cup, contemporary with those that bear the signature of Paidikos as potter, but by another painter [than they]." (3)not in Add.(2) (4)is this obscene? His buttocks and genitals are rather prominent.

- B] A: Heracles and the Amazons. B: fight: two warriors parted by a man.
- C] Under the foot, Gr.: νεος.
- D] The same word is found on Boston 01.8058 and Copenhagen, NM 2654, q.vv. The reading here is Johnston's, who says that the word is "a common way of denoting a plaster foot." But the inscription is ancient. ==> Correction: the graffito is modern; see CAVI 0..005104.

- A] Lekyθος, Six' technique. From Attica?(1) Unattributed. End of sixth - early fifth. *CV, USA 7, ,pl. 12,2.
- B] Hunter; before him, a stag.

B] Woman playing the lyre.

κα[λ]ε.

(1)so claimed in CV; Beazley rightly doubts this as the vase belonged to Lord Aldenham, is figured in the Burlington Cat. and was sold at Sotheby's in 1937.

A] BG bowl with lid. From Corinth. Unattributed. Fifth. *CV, USA 7, pl. 33,6. Furtwängler, Philol. Wochenschrift 8 (1888) 1483. Kretschmer, Vas. 18/10. IG 4.352.

B] Undecorated.

C] On the lid, along the rim, curved, Gr.: Ζενιαδα. In the center of the bowl's bottom, Gr.: (3 drachmas).(1)

D] Corinthian alphabet; the owner was a Corinthian. Price? Furtwängler saw the vase in Corinth and thought the inscription genuine.

(1)three times 'Argive lambda'.

Once Baltimore, Robinson.

A] Fr. of RF oinochoe (chous). Unattributed. Last quarter fifth. *CV, USA 7, pl. 12,3. Beazley, JHS 59 (1939) 153. Van Hoorn, Choes and Anthesteria, No. 303 (mention). *Vidi.

B] No figured decoration preserved.

C] In one corner, roughly stoich., two-liner:
Ἀκρύπτωι Ὁ πατήρ.

D] "the inscription is said in the text to be genuine," Beazley, JHS. It is surely false: note the mixture of early and late letters; the fact that it is the only decoration preserved on the fr. is also suspicious. Johnston in TGV 248/16F n. 2 seems to consider the inscription genuine, but thinks that Robinson dated it too late.

(1)CV has the last letter as [ς], but there is not room. (2)the third letter is a dot in the facs., not visible in the photo. Nonsense or miswritten? (3)the last letter open at the bottom and more like a narrow pi with equal verticals. Nonsense.

- B] A: three satyrs and two maenads dancing (the central satyr has a frontal face). B: similar, but no frontal face.
- C] Nonsense: A: ten strings of letters: E.g.: between the central satyr's legs: νεο^νο^νι^αο. (1) To left of the same satyr: ονεολ... (2) Above the central satyr's left arm: νεονεοονυο. To right of the central satyr's raised left leg: νεονεονε^πο. B: similar: eight inscriptions.
- D] The facs. in CV is not accurate. - Some inscriptions seem to imitate names, cf. my readings from the postcard which are somewhat better: A: ... to left of left satyr's back, vertically down: 13 letters. To right of his left leg, curving downward: σονφοπνεο. To right of left maenad's chest, under her raised left arm, diagonally downward, not facing her: [-]ονεου[...]_ς, retr. Between middle satyr's legs, vertically down: νεονονι_ο. To right of his right arm, diagonally downward: νεονεοονυο. To right of his legs, vertically downward, facing him: νεονεονεπο. Complete. To right of right maenad's chest, under her raised left arm, downward: νει_ονενο. To right of right satyr's chest, downward: 6+ letters. To right of his legs, vertically down: 9 letters.

- C] B: nonsense: on the column, vertically down, widely spaced: (.)α[--?].

- B] Int.: youth and woman. A: Apollo and two youths; woman and youth. B: woman and youths. (Beazley's heading for all this is: youths leaving home).
Cahn: Int.: young hero and girl. A: Apollon between two youths; bridal couple. B: two women between three youths.
Berger: Int.: Theseus assisting in the burial of the Seven, with Argeia, widow of Polyneices and mother of Thersandros. A: Telamon and Eriboia (mother of Ajax) holding a child and meeting its father; at right, probably Gleuke, first wife of Telamon. B: Alcmaeon before Apollo at right, Thersandros and Eriphyle, mother of Alcmaeon, or Demonassa, wife of Thersandros. CV has a different interpretation of B.
- C] Int.: CV has: in two lines: [--]ευσ and [--]εια, probably ΘΗΣΕΥΣΙΑΡΓΕΙΑ, cf. Berger 129ff. I would then read: [Θη]σευς | [Αργ]εια.
'Script' has: Int.: Θ[η]σευς. Αργεια. Α: Νεανιας. [Α]πολλων. Θερσανδρις, stoich. B: Εριβοια. Τελαμων. Μ[(1)-(2)]τενιος.
Berger gives: Int.: (Θ)[1-2]σευς. The first letter theta or omicron. I.e.: (Θ)[ε]σευς(?). Or (Ο)δ/λυ|σ<σ>ευσ(?). Or even: Π[ερ]σευς. [--]εια. [Μηδ]εια(??). Probably: Αργεια. Α: Εριβοια. Τελαμων. Μ..τενιος. Β: [Α]πολλων. Θερσανδρις. So Cahn, a woman; or miswritten for Θερσανδρος(?). But Berger reads: Θερσανδρ[ο]ς. Νεανιας.
- D] The inscriptions are very faint and obviously not yet well read. - Kron looks for an Attic connections of the myths on this vase; see 298f. and 301ff. On pp. 297ff. she argues that Νεανιας on A is an Attic hero. (So already M. Tiverios and Petrakos: see Kron, 297 n. 35). Pp. 298f.: Thersandros, on B, used by Berger for his interpretations, is a common heroic name, e.g. the name of a Lapith on the Francois Vase (they were friends of Theseus). Her Attic interpretations are speculative. - Neanias occurs also on Berlin 2658 (CAVI 2410) and on a cup by the Jena Painter in Enserune, ARV(2) 1512/16, CAVI 3438. Also as hero on the base of the cult statue of Nemesis at Rhamnous (Paus.i.33,8); in the sacrificial calendar of the Marathonian Tetrapolis (IG ii(2), 1358, line 21); and the sacrificial calendar of Thorikos (see SEG 33 (1983) 42ff.). - J. Fink, ÖJh 50 (1972/73) 166ff. interprets: Departure of warrior; 'Memorialbild'. - On the spellings and alphabet used by the Codrus Ptr. see Kron 302 and nn.

Between Heracles' legs, diagonally downward: καλε.(1) Between the legs of Heracles and Apollo, diagonally downward: ηερακ{ε}λες.(2) To left of Apollo's face, diagonally downward: Απολ·λ·ο(ν), retr.(3) Between Apollo's legs, following Artemis' leg, diagonally downward: Α(ρ)ετεμ, retr., i.e., Αρ{ε}τεμ<ις>, for Αρτεμις.(4) Under foot, Gr.: pear-shaped, with short lines emanating.(5)
- D] Ex Roman Market. Ex Arlesheim, Schweizer. - The lettering neat but weak; the literacy questionable.

(1)pertinence unclear: Burow thinks it goes with Athena [a divine kalos-name). (2)miswritten for ηερακλέες? (3)the nu not retr. (4)the rho not reversed. Beazley says, in ABV: "The last letter seems to be mu rather than sigma: the writer is desperate." Schefold read αρετες, referring to Artemis' arete, but the last letter is clearly a mu. The inscription runs into Apollo's winged shoe and is therefore left incomplete. The photo. (post card) also clearly shows Α(ρ)ετεμ, retr., complete. Hardly a four-stroke sigma. The rho not reversed. Note that Louvre G 42, CAVI 6417, by Phintias, also has an incomplete Artemis inscription, which has been read Αἰδός. An odd coincidence. (5)according to Johnston, the Gr. is unique (CV); not in TGV.

- B] Int.: an archer taking aim. A: fight: two naked warriors; a wounded warrior. B: two warriors running (coming up to aid their wounded companion).
- C] Int.: to left of the archer's back; Εὐβόλος, retr.
- D] Ex Riehen, Hoek. - Cahn in 'Auktion' thought of the name as a kalos-name, but I interpret it as a pun on the common name Εὐβουλος, applied to the archer; see 5th Ep. Congress. Hampe and Simon suggested the archer was Paris, with Beazley in Para. cautiously agreeing. I disagreed because of the pun on Euboulos, but Hampe in LIMC thinks the 'telling name' would suit Paris well. The same name for an archer is found on Munich 2593, Para. 327/125 ter, CAVI 5304, also by Oltos.

 C] Int.: behind the man's back: Παμμαχος καλος.
 D] School scene? The teacher is considering what the boy has written (Robertson). I.e., a teacher is checking a writing exercise. For the Pammachos vases see Basel BS 471, below.

(1)Schefold attributed the shape to the 'Apollodoros Group' and the painting to the Epidromos Painter, Guy (in a letter) to early Douris. Robertson thinks perhaps by the Elpinikos Painter.

- B] Int.: warrior (or Amazon?) crouching to left. Ext.: plain.
- C] Int.: above the figure, in an irregular up-and-down curve: Παμμαχος καλος.
- D] Ex Tessin (Ticino), Private. - By the same hand as Basel, Ant. BS 471; both inscriptions are written in groups of letters: Παμμ^αχος^ακαλος. - Schefold thinks the warrior is Achilles; Williams, an Amazon, because of the earring.

. . . .

Under the foot, Gr.: a line across and pi with small square in upper right-hand corner: ligature pi + omicron(?).(2)
- D] The two-liner is awkwardly spaced: there is a wide gap after the first letter in each line. Mixed alphabet. The lambda could be either Attic or Ionic: see 'Script', p. 148.

(1)Schmidt in CV suggests identification with Terpander and Kalliope. In AK Schmidt suggests that the man may be climbing down on ropes. (2)see a note by Johnston in AK.

- D] Ex Basel Market (M.M.). Ex Basel, Private. Mixed alphabet (both lambda and sigma are Ionic).

(1)Cahn in 'Auktion' 22 attributed the vase to the Euaion Painter and claimed that Beazley by letter had attributed it to this painter or very near. But in ARV(2) Beazley rightly attributes to the Achilles Painter. (2)so drawn in CV, and visible in 'Auktion' 22.

- B] Int.: satyr running with a drinking horn. A: Heracles taming the Cretan bull. B: hoplite defeating a bearded (moustachioed!) Scythian archer.
- C] A: Gr.: above Heracles' head and above bull, irregularly spaced: $\eta\epsilon\rho^{\wedge}\alpha\kappa\lambda^{\wedge}\epsilon^{\wedge}\varsigma$.(1) B: Gr.: around the archer: $\Sigma\epsilon\rho\alpha\gamma\upsilon\epsilon$ (2).
- D] Ex Swiss Private. - The inscriptions are written with a very fine point, cf. Philadelphia 5399, by Psiax, CAVI 6808. CV insists that the archer is bearded and Schauenburg shows that he is Scythian, not Persian; he reads Serague feminine as a slur. But final sigma is often omitted, see GAI i, 640 and ii. 778. The same name (without final sigma) occurs for a male archer on London E 253, ARV(2) 35/2, CAVI 4537, which is Euergidean.

(1)Heracles' head and the bull's horn intervene. (2)or, more likely, Σεραγυε<ς>.

- B] A: Athena. B: chariot racing.
- C] A: prize inscription.
- D] Ex Swiss Private. - I believe this is not the vase mentioned by Beazley in Para. 176; it was probably not known to him. See my comments on Malibu 77.AE.9, CAVI 4931, which is the vase Beazley knew. Add.(2) 189 made a mistake in the second entry (that for Basel BS 494).

- A] BF amphora. Phrynos Painter?(1) Third quarter sixth. 550-540 (M.). *H. Mommsen, 'Zwei schwarzfigurige Amphoren aus Athen,' AK 32 (1989) 134ff. (facs. of Gr., p. 134), pls. 26,2,4, and 27 (much bibl. in n. 96). LIMC ii, pl. 745 Athena 987; iii, s.v. Eileithyia 687/6; iv, pl. 402 Hephaistos 949/193; s.v. Hera 691/288 and 714/461. N. Malagardis, 'Note sur un peintre Athénien novateur or du bon usage de la passion chez les dieux,' Eph. 1988 (pub. 1991) 104-114.
- B] A: Birth of Athena: in the center, Zeus seated while giving birth (Athena, armed, springs forth from his head); at left, Hephaestus between a goddess and an Eileithyia; at right, another Eileithyia; Hera enthroned; Poseidon. B: Introduction of Heracles into Olympus: in the center, Athena; at left, Zeus, Hera and Hermes; at right, Heracles, Poseidon, and Iolaus.
- C] Nonsense: A: to Athena's left, above Zeus' head and over the head of the left Eileithyia: ενενενε. Between Athena's shield, above Hera's head and to left of Poseidon's outstretched hand: four letters, the third an omicron.(2) B: between Hera's and Hermes' lower legs, facing Hera: ευ(.)ν(φ)γ.(3) Between the faces of Hermes and Athena: οτοε(γ)ενε(σ).(4) To right of Heracles' face: εονενει, retr. Between Athena's and Heracles' lower legs: ενε(σ)ενη. Under foot, Gr.: E.

- D] Done from the photos in AK, since Mommsen does not transcribe the inscriptions.

(1)see Mommsen 137: by the same hand as Würzburg 241, which Beazley attributed to the Phrynos Painter. M. is non-committal on how the vase in Basel would affect the work of the Phrynos Painter. (2)not legible in the photo. (3)the third letter unclear in the photo.; the 'digamma' probably a badly written epsilon. (4)the fifth letter unclear in the photo. The last perhaps a reversed three-stroke sigma.

A.H. Shapiro, AK 33 (1990) 83ff., and n. 2 (bibl.).
- B] Shoulder: Aristeia of Neoptolemos (Little Iliad): Apollo striding to right, threatening with his bow to protect Helicaon; Helicaon (son of Antenor and son-in-law of Priam) lying dead to left (killed by Neoptolemos); chariot to left, with charioteer pierced by Neoptolemos' spear; Eurypylos (son of Telephos of Pergamum and nephew of Priam) dead on ground to left (also killed by N.); chariot of Athena to left; Athena running to left (to support Neoptolemos) . Body: A: Heracles and Cycnus, with Ares at right. B: Zeus seated between Hermes and Athena.
- C] Shoulder: to right of Apollo's bow, horizontal: Ἀπολλῶν. Above the body of the dead Helicaon, bearing upward: ἡ(ε)λικαῶν, retr.(1) Charioteer being killed by Neoptolemos: ἰο[-]ς.(2) Behind N.'s back, at shoulder height, starting horizontal, the last five letters bending down and interrupted by the horses' legs of his chariot: Νεο{π}πτολε(μ){ο}ος.(3) Above the dead Eurypylos, diagonally upward: Εὐρυπυλος, retr.(4) Body: A: to right of Heracles' face, bearing upward: ἡρακλεες. Below Ares' left shoulder, diagonally downward: Ἀρες. B: above the seated Hermes' head, downward: ἡρμ(ε){ε}ς.(5) To left of Athena's lower body (she faces right), diagonally downward and facing her: Ἀθηνᾶ, retr.
- D] Ex Swiss, Private. - The shoulder scene is from the Little Iliad. It was not previously known that Neoptolemos slew Helikaon (son of Antenor, son-in-law of Priam) and that Apollo terminated his aristeia. Würzburg 309 (ABV 268/28) is in part a replica and shows the same scene. - Decoration front and back is unusual and similar to Villa Giulia 3556, CAVI 7134. The writing seems compatible with the Antimenes Painter elsewhere.

the horses' legs. But I see a trace of an extra letter to the left of the legs (that would be the mu) and two o's and a sigma to the right. (4)Burow's reading. (5)the second epsilon is only a trace. Odd that the inscription looks in the photo. as if written in a restored area.

Under the foot, a circular Gr.: $\kappa\upsilon\alpha\omicron\iota\alpha\kappa\upsilon\omicron\rho\iota\delta\epsilon\varsigma$ v. (2)
- D] Ex Lucerne Market. Ex Aachen, Ludwig. Mixed alphabet. The Gr. is very sloppy.

(1)could refer to the flautist. (2)Lullies gives a facs. but not a reading, referring to Hackl 52, on no. LXXIV, which deals with $\kappa\upsilon\alpha\theta\epsilon\iota\alpha$ and $\kappa\upsilon\alpha$. Johnston interprets: $\kappa\upsilon\theta\eta\rho\iota\delta\epsilon\varsigma$ (with theta lacking the dot), for $\chi\upsilon\tau\rho\iota\delta\epsilon\varsigma$. And $\kappa\upsilon\alpha(\theta)\epsilon\iota\alpha$

(with the same theta and some difficulty extracting the epsilon). J. notes that the pottery kyathos was then out of date and considers the possibility of a metal ladle. I think J. is right; read: κνά(θ)εια κυ(θ)ρίδες v.

- D] Ex Cairo, Riaz. Attic with four-stroke sigma.

(1)in ABV Beazley suggested a round-bellied amphora as New York [74.51.1331], but in Para. he reports that Cahn told him the shoulder was almost flat. (2)the pi seems to be miswritten. The bracketed iota could be a sigma or perhaps a badly written epsilon. The last sigma might be an epsilon. There is clearly some miswriting. - The eleventh letter is mu, not pi (ARV(2)). In AJA Beazley gives: Μνησιαδης εμοισησ.

- B] Girl(?) dancing pyrrhiche.
- C] On her shield (shown in profile) along upper curve, in BG: $\eta\sigma\pi\alpha\iota\varsigma$.
- D] The letters of the article more widely spaced than those of $\pi\alpha\iota\varsigma$. - No breasts are indicated but K.-D. believes the dancer is a female, since the perizoma, outside of the satyr play, is worn only by females; the inscription need not refer to the figure. The perizoma is originally feminine, but adopted by satyrs in the satyr play for comic effect.

- B] Int.: satyr with oinochoe and wineskin at a volute krater. Ext.: handle palmette and uncertain trace.
- C] Int.: Πει(θ)ινος, retr., and [ε]γραφε, not retr.(1)
- D] According to Beazley the fr. is much earlier than Berlin 2279, CAVI 2325 (which is of the Athenodotos period [ca. 500]) and would not have been attributed without the signature. But see Robertson who dates the fr. later. Beazley compares the satyr with that on Louvre G 68, CAVI 6431. Theta may lack the dot.

- B] Int.: head of a wreathed boy to right, with a large stick; trace of the head of one seated to left. The other fr. gives the legs of the standing boy and the lower part of the seated male with his stick (plus the bottom of the boy's stick). The two frs. certainly go together as Bothmer said (see below). Ext.: plain.
- C] Int.: to right of the boy's head (starting above it), down: $\eta\kappa\epsilon[\tau\epsilon\varsigma\text{---}]$. The inscription shows only in the top fr.
- D] Type B? Basel Cahn 68, ARV(2) 479/324, not inscribed, should belong (Beazley). Kunisch lists it separately as no. 525, but notes Beazley's comment that it might belong with 67 as well as Bothmer's comment that it certainly belongs with 67. - I can see the upright of the epsilon near the margin and at some considerable distance from the kappa, but Kunisch' sketch on p. 216 has: $\eta\kappa[\epsilon\tau\epsilon\varsigma : \kappa\alpha\lambda\omicron\varsigma]$.

- A] Frs. of RF cup. Apollodoros. First quarter fifth. Ca. 490-480 (CV). *Beazley, JHS 53 (1933) 69-70, pl. 6 (6.1, dr. of Castle Ashby Ext. after Hartwig; 6,2-5, photos. of VG frs.). S. Philippart, AntClass 4 (1936)

- 213, par. 3/1. ARV(2) 120/4, Add.(2) 175. 'Script' 1103.
- B] Int.: warrior coming to the rescue (stalking). A: warriors fighting (parts of three). B: warriors coming up to join (as on the Int.; βοηθοί: two are preserved).
- C] Int.: on the rim of the shield, in BG: [καλ]ε, ναι.(1) To left of warrior's helmet [Ευρυπτολ]εμ[ος...(2) A: on the rim of a shield: [κ]αλ[--].(3) B: To left and right of the left warrior's head: [Απολλ]οδορος v. εγρ^α(φ)σεν. On his shield: h[--]ι[--].(4)
- D] Ex Castle Ashby. + Villa Giulia (Apollodoros). - Beazley connected the Castle Ashby fr. with frs. in Villa Giulia; it is part of B, reinforcements coming up to the fight on A. Beazley says a fallen warrior on A is male, but for the rest one cannot tell whether the warriors are Greeks or Amazons. - Furtwängler wrongly connected this Castle Ashby fr. with ARV(2) 371/16, now listed as Geneva Market (CAVI 3797), which he attributed to the Brygos Painter, thus assuming [--]οδορος was the name of the Brygos Painter; Hartwig, disproving this, restored Apollodoros after Louvre [G 139-140, ARV(2) 120/1, CAVI 6481]. - Tailed rho. Three-snd four-stroke sigma. Phi = cartwheel theta.

(1)referring to the shield. (2)"no doubt," Beazley, JHS; I am not sure that there is room to the right of the head for a καλος; it may have been somewhere else. Euryptolemos is a kalos-name confined to Apollodoros (ARV(2) 1580). (3)could be καλ[ε--] again. (4)Hartwig read the heta; the iota is on a VG fr. Beazley (who did not look for the heta) thinks it may be the beginning of h[o or h[επα]ι[ς]; but there is not enough space, if his reconstruction is right: perhaps (κ)[αλε, να]ι, as on the Int.

- A] Frs. of RF skyphos. Manner of Meidias Painter (Simon). Last quarter fifth. *Robertson, AVCA 241 and 318 n. 42. *A. Kossatz-Deissmann, GVGettyMus 5 (1991) 140 and 186, s.v. Oinanthe 2. *Beazley Archive db, no. 5448. E. Simon, 'Versuch einer Deutung der Südmetopen des Parthenon,' JdI 90 (1975) 119-20, figs. 1-3. Idem, 'Kratos und Bia,' Würzb. Jb. N.F. 1 (1975) 219-22, figs. 1-5 (the main publication). K. Schefold, Die Göttersage in der klassischen und hellenistischen Kunst (1981) 155, fig. 206. *L. Burn, The Meidias Painter (1987) 52-54, 106/MM 17, pl. 34. *H.A. Shapiro, Personifications in Greek Art (Zürich 1993) 167, fig. 129 (A). Idem, Myth into Art: Poet and Painter in Classical Athens (London 1994) 88, fig. 60 (A). LIMC iii, 114, s.v. Bia et Kratos, no. 1.; iv, 648, s.v. Hephaistos, no. 227; 715, s.v. Hera, no. 478; v, s.v. Ixion, no. 2.
- B] A: Ixion, Hephaestus with winged wheel and hammer, Zeus seated on chair, Hera, both with scepters, Artemis, Apollo(?), Hermes, Kratos, Bia. On the wheel held by Hephaestus, the hand of Bia, to whom he is speaking; at right, a trace of hair belonging to Kratos; to its left, head of Ixion. B: Dionysus with two maenads welcoming a youth. Three frs.: fr. 1: part of a woman and [Οι]ανθη (Burn). Fr. 2: head of a youth holding two spears; bearded Dionysus seated; a second woman, Opora, is about to pour a libation for the youth or the god.(1)
- C] A: Kratos and Bia are named. ἡξίων.(2) Most figures on A are named. B: the maenads: Οπορα. [Οι]ανθε.
- D] For A, Robertson compares Aesch.' Prometheus. Differently: Simon (Burn agreeing) connects the vase with Euripides' Ixion, perhaps via a votive pinax. This vase is the only representation of Kratos and Bia. Aeschylus wrote two tragedies about Ixion. Cf. also J. Chamay, 'Le châiment d'Ixion,' AK 27 (1984) 146-50.

(1)the youth is hardly Pentheus; Simon suggested Akamas, cf. the tribal heroes in the garden of the Hesperides, Simon, WüJbb. i (1975) 186; cf. also Antiochos on Naples Stg. 311. Burn thinks the bearded Dionysus (who is unique in the Meidias Painter) means that he is here a cult figure;[if the god is not a statue.] (2)Burn thinks the aspiration has a literary flavor recalling the derivation of Ixion from ἰκέτης.

- B] A: head of a young helmeted warrior; before him, a vertical spear point.

- C] A: between the spear point and his lower face: [--]οχο[ς].
 D] Cahn thinks of Hypeirochos, which is found on the New York Sarpedon krater (CAVI 5724); the inscription goes with a lost figure on the left.

- B] Handle zone: A and B: cortege of horsemen, one group to left, the other to right.
- C] Nonsense: 1) group to left: all inscriptions horizontal: at the bottom, at left: [-]ναλιοσοσ. ηοποσοσ. ριτοσοσ. To right of one rider's back of head: ριστ[-]. - 2) Group to right: at the bottom: ριτοστ. ορισοσ. Curved: ρισ[-]. (1) At the bottom of a rider to right of a handle: ρισ[-]. On a separate (fifth?) fr. that shows the BG lip, above the neck of a horse that faces right: χαριρ[-].
- D] There are four or five frs. - The handle zone is filled with riders, but this is not a multifigured band cup. The inscriptions, while nonsense, imitate names of riders and horses. What is the meaning, if any, of the repeated ριστ?

- B] Body: sphinx seated on top of a column; below, heads of anxious men (Thebans).
- C] Body: numerous inscriptions, two of which (and perhaps a third, which is a bit farther away) running from the mouth of the sphinx in straight lines; they seem to be nonsense, but see below. There is also a bit of a vertical nonsense (imitation) inscription above the head of one human.

- D] In the Odyssey, Antilochos' mother is Eurydike; in Apollodorus, Anaxibia. Euryteleia should be the mother of A. despite the difference in name.

(1)Beazley has Ευρυτελεα. Bea. Arch. has EYRYTELEA. Eurytelea is retr. according to my note from the Cahn exhibition cat.

(1)my note from K.-D. says: Theseus Painter. (2)the cat. does not give the first letter; from K.-D. I had read: [-]ος(?). (3)the last letter very small, perhaps an upsilon. Cahn reads λοσ, but both inscriptions ought to be nonsense.

C] Body: to left of Athena, starting from her neck, in a slight curve: Α(θ)εναια, retr. To left of Iolaus' face, curving diagonally downward: Ιολεός, retr. Is there a trace of an inscription for Heracles in the photo.? (I do not know if the photo. is complete.) The description in Wolf, p. 13, seems to mention inscriptions only for Athena and Iolaus. - A] Fr. of RF bell krater. Dinos Painter (Cahn). Last quarter fifth. 430-420 (K.-D.). *Beazley Archive db, no. 15,131.
*A. Kossatz-Deissmann, GVGettyMus 5 (1991) 143, fig. 7.
S.B. Matheson, Polygnotos and Vase Painting in Classical Athens (1995) 387/D32 (not ill.).
- B] A: upper part of a maenad with thyrsus (frontal but looking left).
- C] A: The maenad: $\Delta\nu\alpha$.(1)
- D] Dina would be a new maenad name. My guess is that we have here Mainas: $[M]\alpha\nu\alpha[\varsigma]$.

(1)sic K.-D. (who derives the name from $\delta\nu\nu\epsilon\omega$: "Wirbelwind") and Bea. Arch.; so also Matheson.

Basel, Cahn 1738.

- A] Fr. of RF cup. Euaion Painter. Third quarter fifth. Soon after 431 (M.). *C.W. Müller, 'Der Diebstahl von Philoktets
Bogen und die Heimholung der Leiche Hektors,' AK 39 (1996)
125-26 and n. 8, pl. 30,1 (part). Pipili, LIMC, pl. 325
Philoktetes 55a (incomplete).
- B] A: bearded head of one seated; wall of a cave, with a gorytos hanging from it; bearded traveler seated(1) with a foot on a rocky ledge; at right, arm with a hand touching the traveler's upper arm. The Int. and B are not mentioned.

Φιλοκτετες.(2)

D] Müller relates the vase to Euripides' Philoktetes of 431 B.C.: The left-hand person is Philoktetes, the traveler must be Odysseus, his companion Diomedes. This agrees only with Euripides' play, not with Aeschylus (where Odysseus is alone) or Sophocles (where Neoptolemos is the main figure). The Euaion Painter is usually dated in the second quarter of the fifth century, with some vases dated 450-440 (see Müller, 127-28 and n. 16 for details), but M. believes that the frs. are securely dated by Euripides' play post 431 B.C. - The name is now complete (it was not in LIMC). Cahn will publish the whole vase. Mixed alphabet. Ionic lambda and sigma.

(1)M. says standing; see his n. 12. (2)the inscription runs into the 'wall' of the cave and is therefore written in two lines.

C] A: inscription EONOKLES. (Εονοκλες(?)) (Οιονοκλες(?)).(1)
D] Serbeti does not attribute the vase to the Oionokles Painter, although there are similarities. She also does not think this is Oionokles unless it is misspelled. [I think this IS Oionokles miswritten.]

(1)there is an inscription on the wineskin, lengthwise, in 'Glanzzeit'; I count 5 plus 3 letters, separated by the neck of the wineskin. They cannot be read in this picture. Is this the Oionokles inscription? - Knauer reads Εονοκλε(ς) with reversed three-stroke sigma and identifies the name as Oionokles.

- C] Under foot, Grr.; Σακωνος ΚΔΠΤΡΙ.(1)
- D] Johnston: Sakon is uncommon and largely confined to the West (he may be a Sicilian even if, as J. thinks, the Gr. was cut in Athens [this is very speculative]); see TGV 201 and 242/11C n. 2. But J. also compares the Attic potter Sakonides. LGPN ii lists the name as probably connected with Athens. The kappa ligature may perhaps be a vase name (J. suggests ΛΑΚ<υθο>). The rest is 15 τριδραχμοι, i.e. a price. Odd that the four items are shown as very far apart in the facts. The alphabet of the name is Ionic.

(1)Cahn prints: ΣΑΚΩΝΟΣ/Κ/ΔΠ/ΤΡΙ with Attic pi. Johnston shows that the kappa is in ligature with something; for various interpretations see TGV 201.

- D] Ex Helgoland, Kropatscheck. Ionic alphabet. - The inscription preserves part of the top line of a regular three-line tabella and apparently the final o of the father's name.

- B] Lower body: five bearded warriors.
- C] Behind the shoulder of the central warrior: Μενελας.
- D] I am listing this pot among the Attic vases, since Morris' Aeginetan workshop, even if established, has a close connection with Attic workshops. The inscription is certainly not Attic.

- C] A: Αθηναια. Περ<ρ>ευς, retr. C: Αρεπυια.

Above heads of flautists: χπιο(.)ηεο υ.(.)ο.(5)
- D] Berlin East. Small letters. The inscriptions resemble ειοχαιοχε: see Berlin 1697. Curious that A has no inscriptions.

(1)the last letter may be theta with a horizontal bar.
(2)the rhos perhaps alphas; the last letter smeared.

(3)rho perhaps alpha; gamma near-Ionic. (4)not all letters are clear; gamma Ionic. chi = 'Argive' lambda. (5)the end unclear; the first (.) a dot; the second (.) = \.

- B] A: chorus of 'Knights' (Beazley), with flutist. B: satyrs and maenads.
- C] In front of the flutist: nonsense: ειοχ(ε)οχ(ε).
- D] Berlin East. Pickard-Cambridge thought this was a shout addressed to the 'horses.' Beazley proved it to be nonsense. For parallels, see 'Script' and Brownlee, RA 1989, 4 n. 5, who discusses the inscriptions connected with this painter. Two epsilons are miswritten.

- D] Restored (ABV). The readings combine those of Furtwängler, Beazley in BSA, and a photo. once in Beazley's possession. The nonsense inscriptions on B after Furtw. only. Beazley in BSA gives Αριαγνε, complete. Furtw. and Beazley print Ανθιλοχος. Pi is often miswritten in the nonsense. Not all letters are clear in the facsimiles.

(1)This, not Αν(φ)ιλοχος, is the correct reading, for Αντιλοχος. See also GAI i, 463. (2)(ρ) may be a miswritten pi.

Berlin 1704.

- A] BF neck amphora. From Cervetri. Kyllenios Painter (Tyrrhenian) (Bothmer). Second quarter sixth. 560-550. Middle period (Kluiver). *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 1704. *CV, Germany 45, pls. 12, 14,1-2, 16,1-3. *Imag.(2), pl. 3/6 (photo. of A). ABV 96/14, 683, Para. 36, Add.(2) 25 (much bibl.). Bothmer, AJA 48 (1944) C 1. 'Script' 178. *J. Kluiver, BABESCH 71 (1996) 1/107 and 5/107 (inscriptions done by C.J. Ruijgh), fig. 38.

- B] A: Birth of Athena. B: fight (three pairs of warriors).
- C] A: Διονυσος. ηεφ{ι}αιστο<ς>. ηερμες ειμι Κολελνιος.
 η(ε)λειθυα. 'Α(θ)εναια. ΔΒευσ. [Δε]μετερ. [Ευρ]υμεδον.
 'Α<υ>φ[ιτριτ]ε. Απολ<λ>ον. Β: ροοτο. ονος. π(.).
 Alternate entry (after Kluiver):
- C] Διονυσος. ηεφαιστο<ς>, retr.(1) ηερμες ειμι ΚΟΛΕΛΝΙΟΣ.(2)
 ηελειθυα.(3) ΔΒευσ. Αθεναια. [Δε]μετερ. [Ευρ]υμεδ[ον].(4)
- D] Eurymedon and Amphitrite are Furtwängler's restorations.
 Eurymedon would be an epithet for Poseidon. See further,
 'Script'. The beta in ΔΒευσ is sometimes taken for a Corinthian epsilon. Kirchner reads Κουελνιος, (cf. also GAI i, 22), but the upsilon is indistinguishable from the lambda. The letters in the nonsense inscriptions on B are thicker and coarser. The alphabet is mainly Attic. The first epsilon of Eileithyia lacks the bottom horizontal. Closed heta. Dotted theta. Koppa with a large head.

(1)Ruijgh: either lacks the final sigma or was meant as genit. Cf. also GAI ii, 725. (2)so R., saying: remarkable that Hermes who is not very important in this story has such a long name. The dittography in the epithet and in ΔΒΕΥς may best be explained by assuming the writer used Corinthian examples (see Kretschmer 102f.). Parallels for ειμι (the regular Attic form): see GAI i, 176-77. (3)for the second letter see GAI i, 342. (4)the epithet of Poseidon, 'he who rules far and wide,' occurs e.g. in Pindar, Olymp. 8.31. Cf. also GAI i, 546; ii, 231.

Notes to the additional entry (after Kluiver):

Shapiro, Art and Cult under the Tyrants in Athens (1989) 148 and n. 50.

- B] A: Heracles and the Nemean lion. B: Demophon and Akamas leading their horses.(1)
- C] A: [Ι]ολαος, retr. ηρακλες. Αθε[νιαα], retr. B: Ακαμας, retr. Φαλιος. [Δε]μοφον. Ονετοριδες καλος, retr. Καλλιφορας, retr. On the reserved mouth, in BG: 'Εχσεκίας ἔγραψε κάπῳεσε ἐμέ.
- D] The signature, an iambic trimeter, takes up exactly a half circle; see 'Script'. - The left horse is Φαλιός [sic accent], 'dazzling white', or having a white forehead. The same name occurs on the BF plaque by Exekias, Berlin 1814 (see Berlin 1811-1826, CAVI 2249), Technau, pl. 127, upper right. The right horse: Καλλιφορα [sic Moore] = a horse with beautiful mane and tail. Cf. F. Jeschonnek, De nominibus quae Graeci pecudibus domesticis indiderunt (diss. Königsberg 1885) 36 and 40. [All this info. from Moore.] The horse Kalliphoras is shown as a stallion; cf. also Toledo 1980.1022, CAVI 7712.

(1)leaving for Troy: see U. Kron in LIMC i, 437, s.v. Akamas and Demophon. Another instance of this myth: Malibu 78.AE.305, CAVI 4935.

Berlin 1723.

- A] Fr. of BF column krater(?). From Orbetello. Compared with the Painter of Louvre F 51.(1) Third quarter sixth. 550-540. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 1723 (no facs.). ABV 314, 693, Para. 136, Add.(2) 85 (bibl.). *Photo. Schefold, Götter- und Heldensagen (1978) 254f., fig. 141. LIMC iii, pl. 591 Equus Troianus 18.
- B] The Wooden Horse (part of the scene). On the left, a bearded man with another standing on his shoulders.
- C] In front of his face, starting above, not facing: [Φ]ερευς, retr.(2)
- D] For the name, cf. Furtw. [in cat.]. Phereus is the name of a Greek in Quint. Smyrn. 2.279, etc. According to the reverse dictionary of Dornseiff and Hansen this is the only suitable restoration for a Greek connected with Troy. Schefold, however, thinks it is an epithet for Neoptolemos who was born in Pherae in Thessaly.

(1)Beazley; the painter comes close to some of the more old-fashioned vases of Group E (ABV 313). (2)probably, Furtw. The inscription does not face the warriors it is nearest to on the left, so it perhaps refers to one of the pair on the right.

2218.

Berlin 1727.

- A] BF tripod pyxis. From Tanagra. Boeotian imitation of KX Painter. First quarter sixth. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung 1727. ABV 29/1, Add.(2) 8.
- B] On the legs, above: Perseus and Medusa; Perseus on leg C. On the legs below: games (wrestlers, boxers, judge and discobolus). On the bowl above: a sow led to sacrifice; symposium, komos. On the bowl below: animals.
- C] Leg C: to left of Perseus' head: Περσεύς, retr.
- D] Are the letters copied from an Attic original? Tailed rho. Three-stroke sigma.

- B] Heracles and Cynus.
- C] To right of Nereus: ἡλῖος γερῶν. Below: Χολχὸς ἰμπεριεσεν. ἰολ[αος] or [-εος]. [Ποσ]ειδῶν. Αθ[ε]ναία. ἡρακλῆς. Very small: (Κ)υκ(ν)ος. Α[ρ]ες, retr. To left of charioteer: Φολος, retr. ΗΟΚΜ...Σ? (name of horse). Another horse: [--]γορα or [--]γορα<ς>. [Α]πολλῶν. Διονυσος, retr.
- D] Berlin East. A trick vase, see ABV 685. Furtw. read Φο[β]ος for the name of the charioteer (and this was accepted by Beazley in Proc.), but the lambda is clear in a photo. Φόλος is given in Pape as the name of a son of Silenus killed by Heracles. For the Kyknos story see Shapiro, pp. 64 n. 159 and 115. Zeus seems to appear in the scene. Tiverios 85-86 reaffirms the attribution to Lydos. The vase is discussed also by H.A. Shapiro, AJA 88 (1984) 525 and n. 25, pl. 66, fig. 2 (dr. after AJA 26 (1922) 181 (very small)).

- B] Lip: A: female outline head. B: lost.
- C] Handle zone: A: Ευχερ<ο>ς εποι{ο}εσεν. B: ηοργοτιμ<ο> ηυη<υ>ς.
- D] Beazley in JHS points out that the extra omicron is the correction of the one omitted earlier.

2222.

Berlin 1758.

- A] Plain lip cup. From Vulci. Unattributed. Ergoteles potter. Third quarter sixth. 540-530. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 1758. ABV 162/1, Add.(2) 47. 'Script' 269.
- B] No figured decoration.
- C] A, B, each: Εργοτελες εποιεσεν ηο Νεαρχ<ο>.
- D] Berlin West. The writing resembles Tleson's; see 'Script'. The reading is from ABV.

- B] Lip: A, B, each: cock.
- C] Handle zone: A: Τλεσ<ο>ν ηο Νεαρχ<ο> εποιεσεν. B: Τλεσ<ο>ν ηο Νεαρχ<ο> ε[πο]ιεσεν.
- D] Berlin West.

Berlin 1761.

- A] Plain lip cup. Glaukytes potter. Third quarter sixth. 550-530. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 1761. JHS 52 (1932) 180. ABV 164/3, Add.(2) 47. 'Script' 237.
- B] No figured decoration.
- C] Handle zone: A: Γλαυκυτες εποιεσεν. B: Γλαυκυ<τ>(ε)ς εποιεσ{υ}εν. Under foot, a Gr. resembling the numeral 4.
- D] Berlin West. On B, possibly epsilon over tau, i.e., Γλαυκυτ<ε>ς? Miswritten.

2226.

Berlin 1762.

- A] BF lip cup. From Vulci. Taleides Painter. Taleides potter. Third quarter sixth. 550-530. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 1762 (facs.). CIG 8293. ABV 175/18, Add.(2) 49.
- B] Lip: A, B, each: swan.
- C] Handle zone: A: Ταλειδες : <ε>ποιεσεν.
B: Τα<λ>ει(δ)ες <ε>ποι(.ε)σεν.(1)
- D] Berlin West. Small hasty letters. The inscription on B may be a deliberate mock inscription. Done here from Furtw.'s facs.

(1)delta a smudge. The letter after ποι. is a large smudge, read by Beazley very tentatively as an epsilon.

2227.

Berlin 1763.

- A] BF lip cup. From Vulci. Near the Taleides Painter. Tlempolemos potter. Third quarter sixth. 540-530. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 1763. Beazley, JHS 52 (1932) 171/2 and 172. ABV 177, middle, and 178/1, Add.(2) 50. 'Script' 1010.
- B] On the lip: A, B, each: two lions.
- C] Handle zone: A: Τλενπολεμος : μεποιεσεν. B: Τλενπολεμε : κυνυον.
- D] For the name Tlempolemos in Attica, see ARV(2) 1611 and LGPN ii. "I attach no profound significane, erotic (Duemmler, KS III 359) or other, to the κυνυον, which is probably as a mere flourish." "Cf. Kriton's signature on the Goluchow oinochoe, VPol. 8/5." (Beazley, JHS, pp. 171 and 172, n. 16). - Beazley there mentions a lost lip cup from Vulci with almost identical representations and inscriptions, which he supposes not to be identical with the Berlin cup. But that seems impossible as both cups have A, B, each, two animals (panthers, lions) and on B the notorious κυνυον. The only difference is in the spellings of the name: A: Τλονποσεμος and B: Τλενπονεμε. I have not entered the 'lost' vase separately. - I see that in ABV 178/1 Beazley also assumes that the two vases are identical.

2228.

Berlin 1764.

- A] BF lip cup. From Vulci. Elbows Out (Fellmann). Third quarter sixth. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 1764. *Photo. *B. Fellmann, 'Zwei neue Randschalen des Elbows Out Malers,' AM 99 (1984) 158-59, pl. 26,1-3. Neugebauer, Führer (1932) 70.
- B] Lip: A, B, each: youth attacking a lion.(1)
- C] Handle zone: A: to left of center: χα(ρ)ε και πει τευδε.
B: similar: χαρε και πει τευδε.
- D] Not in Beazley. For the handwriting, cf. Munich 2151, Limassol, Kakoyannis, and Berlin inv. 3680, all attributed to Elbows Out.

(1)his right arm is in a position of one throwing something like a stone, but the hand does not show an object; yet I think he is meant to be throwing a stone. Furtwängler identified him with Heracles.

2229.

Berlin 1765.

- A] Fragmentary BF lip cup. From Etruria. Unattributed. Third quarter sixth. 550-530. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 1765 (facs.). CIG 8312. H. Brunn, Künstler 2, 739. Weil, Arch. Zeitung 1879, 182. Neugebauer, Führer (mention).
- B] Lip: A, B, each: winged figure (Nike?).
- C] Handle zone: A: [--]ιχιεσποι(.)(.σεκμε.(1) B: ι(λ?)πριχλοτεσενκ(.)(2)
- D] The inscription on B may be a mock inscription. That on A resembles more closely a proper signature: [-]ιχ(ε)σ(ε)ποι(ε)μ(ε)(?). Both inscriptions are called senseless by Neugebauer.

(1)The two bracketed letters are: a vertical stroke and an inclined stroke, both uncertain. (2)the dotted letters are in a break. The bracketed lambda has the 'Argive' shape.

2230.

Once Berlin 1766.

- A] BF lip cup. Unattributed.(1) Third quarter sixth. 550-530. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 1766 (facs.). Beazley, JHS 52 (1932) 174. ABV 188/2.
- B] Lip: A: satyr masturbating. B: goat.
- C] Handle zone: A: A(.)^(.)ες : π(.)ισον.(2)
B: A^κ(ι)^ες : π(.)ισον.(3)
- D] It is not clear whether these inscriptions mock signatures or are illiterate copies. The writing very messy.

(1)by the same hand as Villa Giulia 50,679,CAVI 7207; not far from the Xenokles Painter. (2)ABV: A..ες : ποισον. (3)ABV: A.κ(ι)ες : ποισον. This was no doubt intended. The VG cup has A^(.)κ(ι)ες : ποισον, with a space after the alpha. Such spaces appear also on this vase and are here marked by ^.

- B] Prothesis of a woman, with a cortege of lamenting women and men, a chorus of men, chariots, horsemen, a mule cart and women lamenting indoors, reconstructed as 15 surviving, but mostly fragmentary, plaques, probably deliberately broken in antiquity. Mommsen I: Prothesis: F 1811 A: right-hand portion: head of dead woman lying on a couch; behind her, two women to left and column shaft; to left of the couch leg, small remains of perhaps a child. F 1811 B: upper left-hand corner of the same panel, with head of lamenting woman to right; column capital and shaft; bearded man to right, lamenting. (F 1826 (part), with the bottom of his limbs and parts of several women is not inscribed). Mommsen XIII: Quadriga: F 1820 A-B: front part of four chariot horses to right; behind them, scant remains of a woman to left; at right, woman to left. (Other frs. attributed to this plaque are not inscribed). Mommsen XIV: Mule Cart: F 1814: right-hand portion of plaque with heads of two mules to right, nearly naked slave facing and woman to left; to left of mule heads top of olive tree. F 1823: rumps of mules (fr. now lost), part of cart with seated female holding staff in one hand and a horizontal strip of some kind in the other.
- C] Prothesis: F 1811 A: between the couch leg and the trace of the child, vertically down, presumably facing it: [-]ιθ̄̄. Mommsen suggests [Πε]ιθ̄̄.(2) Gr. in the white of the column, coming from the top, vertically down and close to the left edge, i.e. to the woman nearest the dead, but not facing her: [-3-]χαρις, retr.(3) F 1811 B: to left of the column shaft, starting at some distance from the capital, vertically down and facing the column, Gr.: Φαι(.)[-], retr.(4) Above and to right of the man's head, bearing upward, Dip.: Αρ[.]ϕ /// ///[-]. Over the dipinto, beginning over the trace of the sigma, Gr.: εσ[-], the sigma preceded and followed by an erasure.(5) Quadriga: F 1820 A-B: above the head of the woman behind the horses: traces of three letters, Dip.: -?(.)(.)[-]. Between horse legs, downward, Dip.: Σεμος, retr. To right of the horses' legs, vertically down, Dip.: Καλ·λῆφορας.(6) Mule Cart: F 1814: between the mules' necks and the olive tree, diagonally upward: [-]ις. Above the heads of the mules, diagonally downward: Φάλιος. Between the mules and the slave, at mid-height, downward and facing the slave:

Μυ[^]λιος, retr.(7) Between the slaves' and the woman's lower legs downward and facing her: Σιμε.(8) F 1823: to right of the hand holding the vertical staff, bearing slightly upward: Φε[-], no doubt the seated woman's name.

- D] Only three plaques bear preserved inscriptions: Berlin F
1811 A and B; F 1820 A-B; F 1814. The fragments in Athens
(N.M. 2414-2417), often considered part of the Berlin series, were separated as probably from another series by Boardman 63 because of the difference in find spot (see also ABV 687), a view which is supported by Mommsen who points to the different height of the reserved strip above the top meander in 2415 (see Mommsen 63 and n. 453).

(1)the numbering of the frs. differs from Furtw.'s: see the concordance in Mommsen, p. 72. (2)name of a real person; cf.
LGPN, s.v. [i B.C.; the only name ending in]ιθω listed in the reverse index.] Furtw. had read ·PΘO, Hirschfeld in AD ii, p. 5, correctly, ..ΙΘO, but thought the iota might be part of a table he postulated to have stood on the left.

(3)for the restoration see Mommsen 12 and n. 67. Boardman 66 combined this with the Gr. Φαιψ[--] on F 1811 B to make up the unknown name Φαινοχαρις as the name of the deceased, written twice, at the head and foot of the bier. Collignon,
Gaz. arch. 13 (1888) 228 suggested Τιμοχαρις or Φιλοχαρις.
But I think there is space for only three letters if the reconstruction in M.'s pl. 1 is correct. I would suggest Επιχαρις which is a fancy kale-name on Naples Stg. 311 by [Naples Stg. 311 = CAVI 5503.]

the Meidias Painter, ARV(2) 1314/17. Consider also Θεοχαρις (ii B.C.) and Ευχαρις (iii B.C.); see LGPN ii. The inscription need not have begun at the very top of the column shaft. (4)Furtw. had read ·\|ΑΦ, while Hirschfeld in AD ii, 5 only read ΦΑΙ., which is all his colored photo. shows. I see another stroke after the iota in Mommsen's pl.
1a and the colored pl. 1, but not in pl. 1, the reconstruction [the phs. in pl. 1 are older than those of 1a and the colored plate, see Mommsen, p. 73]. This must be part of a nu. Boardman also read Φαιψ[-]. Boardman's fanciful reconstruction of the deceased's name should thus read: Φαιψ[ο]χαρις. Actually, Φαιψ[-] should refer to the woman at left, despite its position, since the man at right is named. Mommsen also gives Φαι[-], retr. (5)so Mommsen's readings, pp. 11-12. The BG trace of the fourth painted letter is shown to be from a three-stroke sigma in Furtw.'s sketch and some phs.; it is the left-hand corner; this letter and the two erasures are evenly spaced, a spacing which is observed by the Gr. letters as well. The relation is that the Gr. epsilon is written over the Dip. sigma and the Gr. sigma is next to the first erasure, with a corner going over it, showing that the erasures preceded the Gr.
It is assumed that the break in which the third painted letter was lost also preceded the Gr. The Dip. had a name beginning with Αρ[ε]φ[] or Αρ[ι]φ[], e.g., Αρ[ε]φ[ιας] or Αρ[ε]φ[κόν] (cf. Hirschfeld, AD ii, 5). (Mommsen n. 61 even mentions the Alcmaeonid name Αριστωνυμος.) The Gr. letters were written with reference to the Dip., leaving the first two letters intact, either replacing the third and fourth letters with Gr. epsilon and sigma, for the purpose of restoring the original name which had been damaged, or replacing it with a new name; in either case intending Αρεσ[] or Αρισ[]. Boardman 66, who thinks the names fictitious, suggests Αρ[χ]εσ[τρατος] or Αρ[κ]εσ[ιλας]. For different scenarios under which all this might have happened, as proposed by Hirschfeld, Boardman and Mommsen, see further Mommsen 12. Furtw., Beschreibung i, 317, who has a sketch, ignored the possibility of a missing third letter and read the second erasure as an iota, arriving at Αρεσι[], but Hirschfeld, recognizing the second erasure, gave Αρεσ[] (see above). It seems impossible to decide whether the Gr. correction of the Dip. was a restoration of the original name or a change to a new one, unless the other Gr. names are thought to favor a reuse. (6) for the horse name Καλλίφορας see Mommsen 45 and nn. Note that both named horses are stallions. (7) the white stick held by the slave intervenes (see Mommsen 48). Cf. adj. μυλίας, 'belonging to the mill'; see LSJ and Boardman 65. (8) Phalios: cf. φαλαρός, i.e. with a white spot, which the hind mule in fact has (M. 49 and n. 349). Mylios is the slave, not as Beazley thought, the other mule, whose name should be [-]ις; Hirschfeld, AD ii, 6 suggests [Τυχ]ις(?), I do not know on what evidence. M. 49-50 thinks that Sime is also a servant.

 D] Irregular lettering. Replica: Berlin 2167, which was found with it. Dotted delta. Zeta with a hook for the vertical.

(1)late archaic; continues the style of the Geras Painter.

Once Berlin 2167.

- A] Frs. of RF pelike. From Cervetri. Argos Painter. First quarter fifth. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2167 (facs.). ARV(2) 288/6, Add.(2) 209.

Berlin 2170.

- A] RF pelike. From Cervetri. Kleophrades Painter. 480-470. Late (Beazley). *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2170 (facs.). *Richter, AJA 40 (1936) 112 ff., fig. 16. Beazley, JHS 30 (1926) 61 and n. 78. ARV(2) 185/28, 1632, Add.(2) 187. *J. Boardman and V. Gehrig, AA 1981, 329-32, figs. 1-3.
 B] A: goddess. B: goddess.(1)
 C] False inscriptions on A and B: A: above, near the margin: Επικτετος and εγραψε. B: on the left: Επικτετος. On the right: εγραψε. Boardman in AA 1981 also mentions traces of genuine inscriptions, which he thought he saw: A: to left of [the goddess'] scepter: a clear H (or possibly a retr. N), ca. midway between her wrist and the scepter's top. Just below her wrist, about the same distance from the scepter as the last, a fainter Attic gamma.(2) B: has only ghosts of letters: above the [goddess'] wrist, a V and Attic gamma(2). Below the wrist, another Attic gamma(2), beneath the gap in the γρ of εγραψε. Beneath the gap in φσ a more clearly preserved ο. He thought he saw other letters but was less confident.
 D] Boardman and Gehrig have shown the signatures to be modern. Richter had pointed out that the vase, though signed Epiktetos, was by the Kleophrades Painter, whence he had been called Epiktetos II. Zahn had assured Beazley that the inscriptions were genuine (see JHS 30).

(1)doubtless an extract from a Judgment of Paris, hence A, Hera, B, Aphrodite (ARV(2) 1632). (2)'Attic gamma' is my term.

To left of folder's top of head, horizontal: Λυκος, retr.
- D] Polylllos: see PA 12034. On A, Leagros appears to be present, on B not ('Script' 63 n. 22). '2.' seems to refer to the slave boy rather than being part of '1.'. - Boardman in 'Euphronios': on B, Leagros kalos does not refer to any person depicted, all of whom are named; on A, however, it is probably tag-kalos as on Louvre G 103.

(1)given as Τρανιῶν in 'Euphronios'. (2)GAI ii, 758. For the lack of aspiration in names beginning with Ηγε- see esp. GAI i, 399-500. (3)omitted in 'Euphronios'.

- D] For Nikostratos see Berlin 2184, CAVI 2295; Beazley, ARV(2) 1603, lists him as a kalos-name here. λεπαστίς· οἶνοχόη καὶ εἶδος κύλικος, Hsch. Attic alphabet for Dipp.; Ionic for the Grr. Furtwängler thought the Gr. incised before firing but this is rightly denied by Hackl and Johnston. - Threatte in GAI i, 35/25 notes that this and the Gr. on Oxford 1965.121, CAVI 5996 (stamnos by the Dokimasia Painter) are by the same hand; the date may be as late as the early fourth (cf. Imag.(2) 15), but see GAI 116 [The Grr. are not Attic, I think, and the date is not so late]. - Further: *TGV 90/2B 14; 155/6F 1; 166/22F 4; cf. pp. 5 and 25. P. 5: Furtwängler stated that the Gr. was incised before firing when the clay was leather hard; Hackl denied this and Johnston agrees with him from the photo. in Kirchner. J. thinks no mercantile Gr. was incised before firing. P. 25: J. discusses the spelling of the Gr. The Gr. is also discussed on pp. 194, 225 and 231.

- D] Berlin West. Beazley, ARV(2) 1606 says: "On the Berlin cup the name is not followed by a predicate; but perhaps the outside inscriptions are intended to continue the inside one." Then the name would be a kalos-name or tag-kalos. The name appears with φιλεῖται on Louvre C 11,224 (ARV(2) 89/20, CAVI 6615) and perhaps there are traces on two other vases (ARV(2)). I think the name refers to the komast, and the two outside inscriptions go together, but do not refer to him. The name is not rare in Attica (see LGPN ii).

spaces between iota and tau, although the surface seems to be preserved; the other letters are very clear. Furtw. read Κεφι[σ]ιος (sic) κα[λ]ος , and this is accepted by Neugebauer. Beazley, in ARV(2), says: "The first letter is a poor kappa, and might be a poorer H; if so, ηεφι[σ]τος κα[λ]ος(?) ". I.e.: ηεφ<α>[σ]τος , but I think the word is clearly miswritten, perhaps for Κεφισιος , but note that Beazley does not list this kalos-name. The name occurs later on Bologna PU 358, CAVI 2573, 'Script' 677.

(1)so Beazley; Triptolemos (wrongly), Furtw. - S. Matheson, GRBS 35 (1994) 351: Hephaestus giving a test drive to the winged chair he made for Dionysus. R.M. Cook, Zeus i (1914) 216: identifies the 'hammer' carried by H. as a double axe and the figure as Dionysus. Beazley, Boardman, ARFV i, (1975), fig. 120, E. Simon, Die Götter der Griechen (1985) 223, fig. 209, and Matheson all prefer Hephaestus.

(the preliminary sketch technique is not Pioneer). *I. Wehgartner in J.H. Oakley, W.D.E. Coulson, O. Palagia, Athenian Potters and Painters: The Conference Proceedings (1997) 203ff., figs. 2 (Int.), 3-4 (foot with signature).
- B] Int.: Achilles tending Patroclus. A-B: Heracles entering Olympus.
- C] Int.: Πατροκλος, retr. Αχ<ι>λλευς(?). A: h[εβε], retr. Αρ[εϛ], retr. Αφ[ροδιτε], retr. B: A vertical stroke reported by Furtwängler, but not in FR. καλο(ς), retr. (h)οραι, retr. Both inscriptions near the Horae. Αοφιτρι(ε), [sic] retr. (belongs on A). ηεστια, retr. ηερμεϛ, retr. Αρτεμυϛ, retr. (Misapplied to Apollo according to Hauser). Heracles says: (Ζ)εϛ φίλε, retr. On the foot profile, in BG: Σοσιαϛ εποιοεϛεν.
- D] Αχ<ι>λλευς, Furtwängler. It could however be that the first lambda is a miswritten iota, since Euthymides (if the vase is his) does not usually double consonants.(2) Hauser explains the kalos by the similarity of οραι to οραιϛ; the final sigma sideways, as often among the Pioneers. Αοφιτριτε for Αμφιτριτε: the error is due perhaps to the fact that this name belongs on A where we have 'Αφ[ροδιτε]. The epsilon of the former smudged. Zeta turned on its side. - Threatte, GAI i, 487, suggests that the omicron in Α{o}<ι>φιτριτε may be a false start for the phi in that name. - For the attributions see Robertson's discussion. Ohly-Dumm in Amsterdam symposium (1984) attributed to Euthymides, not to the Kleophrades Painter as R. wrongly asserted in 'Stele' (1978) 128 n. 21. R. in AVCA attributes to the very early Kleophrades Painter. - Shapiro discusses the name Aphrodite instead of Amphitrite, which occurs also on London B 254, CAVI 4265; and winged Hebe, the future bride of Heracles: h[-]. - Addendum: M. Boss in: Euphronios und seine Zeit (Colloquium Berlin 19-20 April 1991) 87ff.: the preliminary sketch on this vase differs greatly from Euphronios or any other Pioneer and thus the vase should be attributed to a different painter who ought not to be connected with the Pioneers. [This might suit the problem of Achilles' name, but is it not also possible that the preliminary sketch might be put on by a person other than the eventual painter?]

(1) Sosias potter. Hartwig attributed to Peithinos (Meisterschalen 241ff.); Beazley originally to Euphronios (VA 31/12, cf. also Hauser in FR iii, 21, near E.); Beazley later, to Sosias Painter, following Buschor (cf. GVM (1921) 164), ARV(1) 21/1. M. Ohly-Dumm, to Euthymides (Symp. Amsterdam 165ff.). M. Robertson earlier to an unnamed painter very close to Euphronios (HGA 228), later, to the early Kleophrades Painter (AVCA 59). Wehgartner is inclined to consider Sosias as potter and painter; for the lettering of the signature see Berlin 2315, CAVI 2353. (2) However, I. Wehgartner kindly procured for me a detailed photo. of the head of Achilles with part of the inscription. It shows very clearly: |λλευ|, with the two lambdas quite different from each other: the first is an upright Attic lambda with a slightly curved short stroke (the top of this letter is off the picture, but I do not believe that it was intended for an iota); the second is almost like a Latin L (the short hasta is raised just a little bit; also it is very long - much longer than the other lambda's bar).

- D] Done from Furtwängler. - Robertson analyzes the style and dates it to the post-Pioneer generation (kalos-name Athenodotus; ornamentation, etc.), but the style was formed under Pioneer influence.

(1) In Proc. Brit. Acad. Beazley dated the vase in the late sixth, but in ARV(2) he says this is too early. Neugebauer dates shortly before 500. (2) a trace of the omicron? (3) so Furtw., text (there are no facss. for the exterior); probably misread for retr. ναιχι(?).

- B] Int.: Neoptolemos slaying Priam on an altar, using Astyanax as a weapon; Hecuba; a dead body on the ground. Ext.: Iliupersis: Greeks pursuing women.
- C] Int.: N.'s shield device: lion, above which, in BG: καλος. On the altar in BG: Διὸς ἠιερό[ν] | [τέμ]ε[ν]ος, the last word retr. [So Williams]. Below Astyocho's head: Αστυοχ<ο>ς.(3) In the exergue: Εὐ[φ]ρον[ι]ος ἐποίησεν).(4) B: to right of a warrior's head: [Ὀδυσσ]εὺς. A or B: Williams says that the names of Diomedes (where?), Teukros (A), i.e., Τεῦκρ[ος], and Odysseus (B) can be made out. I thought it best to keep in addition the fragmentary letter groups I give in 'Script': --]ον. --]θο[--. B: --]εὺς. An unplaced fragment has: --]δε[--.
- D] + Rome, Vatican(2). The Berlin frs. lost in the war, except for one handle fr. [--]νος could be the fallen warrior's name. Williams says the earliest work by Onesimos (Panaitios Painter). - Anderson says the woman on the Int. is Polyxena, not inscribed. [She is Polyxena on Malibu 83.AE.362 (CAVI 4972), inscribed.] On p. 131 n. 6 A. suggests that Daiphonos [on the Malibu cup] is for Onesimos an alternative for Daiphobos. Hence he suggests (against Williams): Διὸς ἠιερό[ν], and separately [Δαίφ]ονος for the fallen warrior on the Int.; it is written retr. because it originated from the warrior's head.

(1)Close to Proto-Panaitian, ARV(2). Onesimos (P), early (D. Williams); unclear if this is accepted by Robertson. (2)For the joints see Add.(2). (3)The picture, fig. 1 in Williams, shows a clear omicron as the fifth letter; hence Αστυ<α>ν<α>χς is excluded. I assume Astyocho's is an error. (4)the verb in the signature is missing; hence restoration depends on attribution. The iota of the name is apparently not preserved.

Euphronios potter. Second quarter fifth. 480-470. Ca. 470 (CV). *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2282. *CV, Germany 22, pls. 102,1-5, 103,1-6, figs. 1-3 (photos., mainly the old condition) (much bibl.).(1) Beazley, PP 36. ARV(2) 859/1, 1703, Add.(2) 298. 'Script' 717. Robertson, AVCA 156 and fig. 162 (Int.). *Antikemuseum Berlin, Euphronios der Maler (3/20 - 5/26, 1991) 234/56 (present condition: Int., A; bibl.).

- B] Int.: WG: woman facing a seated youth (Achilles and Diomede, Furtw.); probably a libation scene. A-B: RF: A: boys' horse race: two racers; three columns (one fluted). B: very fragmentary: youth with an object that may be a writing tablet; parts of youths and horses.
- C] Int.: in BG on WG: [Ευ]φρωνιος : εποιεσεν.(2) Below the signature, somewhat smaller: [Δι]ομηδ[ε] (Furtw.).(3) A: on the two plain columns, remains of widely spaced letters; no doubt: ho παις καλος.(4) Above: Γλαυκῶν κα[λος]. On the reserved foot profile, in BG: Ευφ[---, no doubt another potter's signature of Euphronios.(5)
- D] Diomede is mentioned as a slave and mistress of Achilles in Il. 9.664f.; the identification was first made by Jahn. - The inscriptions mainly after Furtw.; some letters have since been lost (see 'ftn'). Beazley says this is the latest signature of Euphronios. Attic except for four-stroke sigma.

(1)CV, pl. 102,1 is a photo. of Euphronios' signature. (2)CV gives (in agreement with pl. 102,1): [Ευφ]ρωνιος : εποιεσε[ν]. The phi and final nu are no longer visible, but were reproduced in Diepolder, Pistoxenos-Maler (110th Berlin Winck.) 5ff., fig. 1 and pl. 1; Diepolder, Penthesilea-Maler 1ff., pls. 1 and 2,2, reproduces the old restorations. Berlin cat., p. 235 shows no trace of the first epsilon; the interpoint is triple. (3)now showing only [-]μηδ[-]; see Berlin cat. p. 235 (there may be a slight trace of the omicron). Jahn, AZ 1853, 134, restored: Διομηδη; differently Hartwig. (4)so CV, but Berl. cat. says 'mit buchstabenähnlichen Zeichen'. Nonsense? (5)this fr. mentioned by Furtw. and Hartwig, but the foot is now lost (CV; Berlin cat.).

- A] RF cup. From Vulci. Douris. Kleophrades potter. Early fifth. 500-490. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2283. *ARV(2) 429/21, 1566, 1652, Add.(2) 236 (bibl.). Beazley, Kleophradesmaler 9. *Bloesch, FAS 58/2, pl. 16,7 (profile only). 'Script' 517. *D. Buitron-Oliver, Douris (Kerameus 9, 1995) 60, 74/34, pls. 22-23.
- B] Int.: Nike and warrior. In the surrounding zone: chariot race. A-B: athletes.
- C] Int.: καλ[---, perhaps καλ[ε].(1) In the zone: [ho] παις καλος. Πανατιο[ς καλο]ς. A: ... καλ[ος], retr. B: Πανατιος [κ]αλο[ς]. On the reserved foot profile, in BG: Κλε[ο]φρα[δες επο]ιεσε[ν].

- D] + Vatican, Astarita 134 (now said to be in Berlin). The foot with its signature may go with Berlin 2283 or 2284 (Beazley, Kleophr.). All readings from ARV(2); they seem to be Furtwängler's readings. According to Bloesch, only a shadow of an alpha and two "punktförmige Reste" are now visible in the signature after a partial cleaning. πας is on the Astarita fragment. Furtw. reverses A and B; his facs. shows that the inscription on Beazley's B is not retr., as ARV(2) and B.-O. have it. - Panaitios: connected by Studniczka with the commander of a Tenian trireme that went over to the Greek (Hdt. 8.82); see Studniczka, RE 1931, cols. 1002-1011. - For the interpretation of this and Berlin 2284 see E. Knauer, 'Two Cups by the Triptolemos Painter,' AA 1996, 235. - Attic with four-stroke sigmas. Tailed rho in sig.

(1)B.-O. has καλος.

- B] Int.: surround zone: chariot race. A-B: athletes (to left of handle, javelin thrower; to right of handle, two boxers).
- C] Int.: in the zone: above the figures just below the rim, horizontal and widely spaced: Χαηρεστ[ρατος] κ[αλος].(1) A: above: Δορις εγρα[φσεν].
- D] Replica of Berlin 2283, CAVI 2328, q.v. The foot with the signature of Kleophrades may belong with Berlin 2283 or 2284 (Beazley, Kleophr.). Attic except sigma. Tailed rho.

Buitron-Oliver, Douris (Kerameus 9, 1995) 23-24, 45, 78/88, pl. 58.
- B] Int.: athlete taking off his sandals; with clothes, and higher up, sponge and aryballos; on his right, his stick; standed basin. A-B: school scenes.(1)

- C] Int.: at left, starting above the cothes and running along the margin, ending above the youth: Δορις εγραψε. Ext.: below the top margin, widely spaced: A: ηιπ<π>οδαμας καλος. On the book roll:

ἀ<ν>φι Σκάμανδρον

εὔρων ἄρχομαι

αἰί{ν}δέν. vac.

B: ηιπ<π>οδαμας [κα]λος.

- D] εὔρων = εὔρου, omega for ou. The nu in the last line may be that missing in line 2 (Class. Studies Ullman 19, n. 1). Dotted delta and tailed rho. Lissarrague gives a different text for the book roll, after F. Chamoux, 'Un vers épique mal lu,' Rev. Philol. 1970, 7-10, and C. Calame, in: La part de l'oeil 5 (1989) (forthcoming) (see L., n. 42): moisa moi a{m}phi skamandron {eph}eur' on archomai aeide{i}n, 'Muse find for me on the banks of the Scamander a place to start my song'. I.e., Μοῖσά μοι ἀ<μ>φι Σκάμανδρον εὔρων ἄρχομαι αἰίδε<ν>. This makes a single hexameter of the quotation, but I doubt that it is right, as it involves a major error.

(1)note that B (music instruction) has hanging on the wall a rolled and bound-up book roll and a tied-up set of tablets.

- A] Omphalos phiale in Six' technique. From Italy? Unattributed. Late sixth. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2311. Pfuhl, M&Z i, 334f., iii, pl. 85/310.
- B] Int., around the omphalos: symposium: two youths and two hetaerae; bird.
- C] Beside each figure a few nonsense letters. One inscription is recognizable: νοτ(λ).
- D] After Furtwängler's text. The lambda is shaped like an Attic drachma sign.

Berlin 2313.

- A] Stemmed(?) RF plate.(1) Oltos. Last quarter sixth. Early (Beazley). 520-510 (CV). *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2313 (facs.). Treu, AZ 33 (1875) 88.(2) *ARV(2) 67/139 (cf. 68/13 and 69), 1622, Para. 327. *CV, Germany 22, pl. 135,4-5, fig. 7. *Antikemuseum Berlin, Euphronios der Maler (exhibition Berlin-Dahlem 20-3 - 26-5, 1991) 242/58. *D. - B] Athena, seated, holds up an owl (olive wreath in beak) in her left. On the (stone?) seat, Pegasus in silhouette. Border: Doric kymation.
- C] At right: [---]εποιει vacat.
- D] CV thinks same shape as [Once Joly de Bammerville, Edmond,] RF plate with signature of Sikanos (q.v.), ARV(2) 68/13, CAVI 4031, which has the same Doric kymation. - The writing is sort of feathery.

(1)special type. (2)'Ergänzung und Inschrift,' CV.

Berlin 2314.+

- A] Fragmentary RF cup. From Vulci. Antiphon Painter. Euphronios potter. First quarter fifth. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, pl. 3 (facs. of Gr.). Gerhard, TG, pl. 13,5-6 (Berlin part). C. Bümel, Sport und Spiel (1934), pl. 4 (Berlin part). Beazley, CF 34/19 (Villa Giulia part). *ARV(2) 336/14, 1646, Add.(2) 218. *Photo.
- B] Int.: athlete pouring oil into his hand. At left, a pillar with a capital.
- C] Int.: Λ...(1) On the athlete's right thigh (2): Λαχες καλος. On the pillar, in three lines, aligned on left, down: νο παις | ναιχι | καλος.(3) On the VG fr., in field: Λ[---]. "Below"(4), Gr.: |Λ. Not in TGV.
- D] + Villa Giulia. The Berlin part pared round and much restored.

(1)given in ARV(2); see CF: perhaps Λαχες καλος. (2)"as if he were a statue," Beazley; similarly Furtw. Tiny letters, in BG(?). (3)so ARV(2); Furtw. has καλ[ος]. I did not see the καλος in the photo. In BG? (4)so Furtw.; I do not know if under the foot or not.

Berlin 2315.

- A] RF standlet of Sosian type. Sosias Painter?(1) Unattributed.(2) Last quarter sixth. 510-500. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2315 (facs.). *FR iii, 20 and 13, fig. 6 (dr.). ARV(2) 21, bottom, Para. 323, Add.(2) 154. *I. Wehgartner in J.H. Oakley, W.D.E. Coulson, O. Palagia, Athenian Potters and Painters: The Conference Proceedings (1997) 203-212, figs. 1 (photo. showing part of inscription), 5 (dr. after FR iii), 6 (side) and 7 (profile).
- B] Satyr frontal, sitting on the ground.
- C] Around him(3): Σοσιας ^ εποιεσεν.
- D] Sosias is greeted on Louvre G 44 (CAVI 6419) and Morgantina inv. 58.3282, CAVI 5121, both by Euthymides, and on Louvre G 42 (CAVI 6417) by Phintias. It is also the name of a warrior on Once Naples, Bourguignon (ARV(2) 33/3, CAVI 5507) (Ohly-Dumm, Greek and Related Pottery (1984) 165 n. 11, thinks it is a late work of Euthymides). - Wehgartner thinks Berlin 2315 is not a stand nor a dish; such pieces are dedicatory or funeral gifts, possibly game pieces (F.P. Johnson). An early work probably by the same painter as the famous cup with Achilles healing Patroclus, Berlin 2278, CAVI 2324, a late work. The signatures may be by the same hand but they need not be [I agree: sigma and alpha are very similar, epsilon and nu apparently not (assuming the dr. is accurate; the general ductus is similar]. Wehgartner is inclined to think potter and painter the same person.

(1)might be by the same hand as [Berlin 2278, ARV(2) 21/1, CAVI 2324, by the Sosias Painter], but there is not enough to compare (Beazley). But the cup Berlin 2278 is now convincingly attributed to Euthymides by Ohly-Dumm; see 'Script' 384.

(2)see Robertson, AVCA 59 and Ohly-Dumm in: Greek and Related Pottery (1984) 171 and n. 53. (3)the name is on the left, starting at 8 o'clock, upward; the verb is downward, starting to right of the head.

Berlin 2316.

- A] RF skyphos. From Chiusi. Unattributed.(1) First quarter fifth. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2316. JHS 51 (1931) 55/10, fig. 8 (Dresden fr.). ARV(2) 1559/1.
- B] A: bearded man with his sword, retreating. B: youth with a sword.(2)
- C] A: Αἰσι[μ]ίδες καλός.(3) B: δοκεῖ Χουννοῦντι.(3)
- D] + ex Dresden (see JHS), not inscribed. - Beazley says the last word is misspelled; Furtw. suggested: Χουννοοῦντι, or as Beazley puts it: Χουννοῦντι; see also Rumpf, Gnomon 14, 457; in ARV(2) 110/9, Agora P 9356, CAVI 404, [-]νοον may be from the same name. LGPN ii has the name Συννώων. It could also be ptc. of συννοέω, 'to think upon'. According to N. Slater in: Signs of Orality (Mnemosyne suppl. 188, 1999) 143 n. 2 it was Furtwängler who first considered the last word as a ptc of συννοέω (χουννοῦντι).

(1)some resemblance to Onesimos (P), but not enough to class the vase as in his manner (ARV(2)); in ARV(1) 217/16 said to be in the manner of the Panaitios Painter. (2)Furtw. thinks he is attacking; Beazley, that he may be a companion of the man on A. (3)given as a two-liner in Furtw.'s text. The name here without rough breathing: see GAI i, 501 and ii, 748 and 759.

2355.

Berlin 2318.

- A] RF skyphos. From Vulci. Unattributed.(1) First quarter fifth. 500-490 (CV). *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2318. *CV, Germany 22, pls. 140,1-6 and 143,3, fig. 8 (profile). Rocher, Myth. Lex. ii, 2676, s.v. Memnon. Neugebauer, Führer 108. ARV(2) 36, bottom, Add.(2) 158.
- B] A: Eos with the body of Memnon, between Hermes and a woman (Thetis?). B: The Struggle for the Tripod: Heracles and Apollo between Athena and Artemis.
- C] A: above the scene, covering the whole of it: $\text{ho } \pi\alpha\lambda\varsigma$.(2) To right of the central group: $\kappa\alpha\lambda\omicron\varsigma$. B: $\kappa\alpha\lambda\omicron\varsigma, \kappa\alpha(\lambda)\omicron\varsigma$.
- D] Berlin West. Inscriptions done from Furtw.'s text and CV. $\pi\alpha\lambda\varsigma$ would be miswritten for $\pi\alpha\iota\varsigma$.

(1)same painter as of a cup in the Vatican, which recalls the Pythocles Painter. CV compares Louvre G 115 by Douris. (2)CV has $\text{ho } \pi\alpha\iota\varsigma$.

2356.

Berlin 2320.

- A] RF oinochoe. Painter of Berlin 2268 (Beazley). First quarter fifth. 500 or soon after (CV). *CV, Germany 22, pl. 144,4-6,8,9. ARV(2) 157/84, Add.(2) 181.
- B] Horse and phallus horse, on either side of a standed laver.
- C] On the laver: nonsense: imitation letters (blots), perhaps intended for $\kappa\alpha\lambda\omicron\varsigma$ (so CV).

2357.

Berlin 2321.

- A] RF kyathos. From Vulci. Oinophile Painter.(1) Early fifth. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2321 (facs.). ARV(2) 333/3.
- B] Gigantomachy: Dionysus and two giants.
- C] Above the scene: Παναίτιο[s] and below, non-stoich.: $\kappa\alpha\lambda\omicron\varsigma$.

(1)follower of Onesimos.

2358.

Berlin 2322.

- A] RF kyathos. From Vulci. Onesimos (P). Early fifth. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2322 (facs.). *Beazley, AJA 52 (1948), 337/1. *Classical Studies Ullman i (1964) 21/4 (bibl.). ARV(2) 329/134, 1645, Add.(2) 217. *Photo.
- B] Recitation: in the center, a youth looks into a book roll; before him, a chest, on top of which is a closed book roll. On either side, a youth leaning on his stick, listening.
- C] Above the scene: Παναίτιος , retr. At left: $\kappa\alpha\lambda\omicron[s]$. On the folded roll, in BG: Χίρῶνεια .(1) On the chest, in BG: καλε. To right of the scene: καλος.

- D] Berlin East. - Furtw. gives most alphas as lacking the cross stroke; his facs. generally differs greatly from my notes from a photo.

(1)Χίρωνεία, sc. ἔπη, or, as Beazley: Χίρωνεία? Beazley, in AJA suggests Χιρονεία|καλε̅; but it could also be καλε̅, sc. ἡ κιβωτός.

2359.

Berlin 2324.

- A] RF skyphoid spouted vase. From Vulci. Nikosthenes Painter. Nikosthenes potter. Late sixth. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2324 (facs.). ARV(2) 126/26, Add.(2) 176.
B] A: hunt. B: chariot. On the spout: gorgoneion. On the upper surface, on each side of the spout: a seated youth.
C] On the reserved foot profile, in BG:
N[ικ]οσθενης επο[ι]σεν.(1)
D] Much restored. Letters apparently thick and squat, not resembling Painter N.

(1)so Furtw. ARV(2) gives κ as extant. The first and third sigma's reversed.

2360.

Berlin 2325.

- A] RF slender stand.(1) From Pomarico in Lucania. Antiphon Painter. Early fifth. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2325. ARV(2) 335/1, Para. 361, Add.(2) 217.
B] Continuous: palaestra: youth with halteres; javelin thrower; youth, frontal, with strigil, his left hand on a boy.
D] Berlin East.

(1)'Kesseluntersatz'.

2361.

Berlin 2326.

- A] RF aryballos. From Athens.(1) Clinic Painter.(2) Second quarter fifth. Ca. 470. Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2326 (no facs.). *Beazley, BSA 29 (1927-28) 206/10 (not ill.). ARV(2) 814/97, Add.(2) 292.
B] Mission to Achilles, with Odysseus, Ajax, Phoinix and Diomedes. Shoulder: dogs.
C] Ολυτες, for Ολυτ<τ>ε<υ>ς. Αχιλλευς. Αιας. Φοινιχς. Διαμεδες, for Διομεδες.(3)

(1)found near Hagia Triada, 1879. (2)follower of Makron (early Classic). (3)Διαμεδες, Beazley in BSA: Furtw. had read the first letter as alpha, but Haspels reported to Beazley that the letter was damaged and could be either Δ or Α.

2362.

Berlin 2329.

- A] RF Nolan amphora. From Athens. Nikon Painter. Second quarter fifth. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2329. ARV(2) 651/17.(1)
- B] A: girl with weapons; youth, frontal, arming. B: youth leaning on his staff. At right, pillar.
- C] A: between the figures: κ(α)λος and below: Κ(α)λλι(α)ς.
B: on the pillar, in BG: Χαρμιδες καλος.
- D] Apparently unpublished. - Compare the inscription on the pillar with 'Script' 671 and 672, and with 682 and 683. The youth is no doubt reading the inscription.

(1)the only picture mentioned is Berlin Ap. xxiii.34.1.

2363.

Berlin 2330.

- A] RF Nolan amphora. From Nola. Dutuit Painter.(1) First quarter fifth. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2330. CB ii, 36. ARV(2) 307/4, Add.(2) 212. DAI Rome, neg. 76.533.
- B] A: Dionysus. B: Maenad.
- C] Nonsense: A: at left: (.)οσοκονο. B: at right, below: (.)()υφο.
- D] Done from Furtw. In Caskey-Beazley, Beazley compares Boston 13.188 (CAVI 2777) for one of the inscriptions. Furtw. gives a four-stroke sigma.

(1)connected with the circle of the Diosphos Painter, Beazley.

2364.

Berlin 2331.

- A] RF Nolan amphora. Oionokles Painter. Second quarter fifth. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2331 (no facs.). Kretschmer, Vas. 188. ARV(2) 646/7, Para. 402, Add.(2) 275.
- B] Fight: A: Greek warrior. B: Persian.
- C] A: ho [π]αλς καλ<ο>ς.(1) B: to right of his head: ho παυς, and to left of this: κ(α)λος, retr.(1)
- D] Both παλς and παυς are common with this painter in the ho παυς καλος inscriptions; see Berlin 2334 (CAVI 2366). The form παυς has been discussed as a true alternative form for παυς by Kretschmer, Vas. 188-89, but since παλς is clearly contaminated by καλος, I have wondered if παυς really existed. Threatte in GAI ii, 278-79 now shows that it did not. - Alphas, upsilons and sigmas are very variable.

(1)so Furtw.'s text; the reading uncertain.

2365.

Berlin 2332.

- A] RF Nolan amphora. From Nola. Achilles Painter. Mid-fifth. Ca. 450. 450-455 (Oakley). *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2332 (facs. of Gr.). ARV(2) 988/20. J.H. Oakley, The Achilles Painter (1997) 11, 118/25, pls. 14B (A) and 47A (B); 15, chart 5 (Gr.). W.D. Heilmeyer, Antikenmuseum Berlin: Die ausgestellten Werke (1988) 108-109, no. 3.
- B] A: warrior setting out. B: man.

- C] A: to left of head: Ἀλκαῖος, retr. B: to left and right of head: κ(α)λός. Under foot, Gr.: ΚΠ; see Oakley, pp. 14 with n. 30, and 15, chart 5. Oakley thinks, pi is for poikilos, as first suggested by Beazley, see below; see also TGV 102/16B 25.
- D] Misfired red; the pattern bands are not by the Achilles Painter (Oakley). The inscriptions on A and B go together. Note difference in alphabet (alpha and lambda) in A and B. For the Gr., Beazley, AK 10 (1967) 143, suggested <κᾶδος> (or the like) <π<οικίλος>; see TGV 197 and cf. London E 380, CAVI 4579 .

2366.

Berlin 2334.

- A] RF neck amphora. From Nola. Oionokles Painter. Second quarter fifth. 470-460. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2334. ARV(2) 646/5. 'Script' 889.
- B] A: Dionysus on a donkey. B: maenad.
- C] A: καλο(ς) ἠοπαλς, retr. B: καλε κε παλς.
- D] Lettering very similar to Berlin 2331, CAVI 2364, by the same painter. Done from the facs. in 'Beschreibung'. For the spelling of πας see Berlin 2331. A neat kappa for heta on B: copying mistake? Very idiosyncratic writing.

2367.

Berlin 2337.

- A] RF Nolan amphora. From Nola. Unattributed. Date? *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2337. A. Genick and A. Furtwängler, Griechische Keramik (1883), pl. I.

- B] A: Hera with scepter; Hermes looks back.
- C] A: above Hermes' head: ἠε<ρ>μες. Under the foot, Gr.: Π. See TGV 102/16B 21.

2369.

Berlin 2353.

- A] RF Nolan amphora. From Nola. Polygnotos. Ca. 450. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2353 (facs. of Gr.). ARV(2) 1031/39.
- B] A: Amazon on horseback fighting a Greek warrior. B: three draped youths.
- C] A: between the figures: καλός. Under foot, Gr.: ΣΠΑ·Β. I.e.: σπα·θαι·Β. See TGV 163/18F 4 and p. 230.(1) Hackl, no. 498.

D] σπάθη must be a vase name, perhaps this type of amphora;
see TGV.

(1)Johnston says the B is 'inscrutable,' as it can hardly be a Milesian numeral at this date. The preceding raised dot
(as given by Furtw.) is also curious.

2370.

Berlin 2374.

- A] RF loutrophoros. From Athens. Unattributed. Date?
*Furtwängler, Beschreibung. no. 2374. Furtwängler, La collection

- B] Neck: A, B, each: girl. Body: A: wedding: Doric column; girl with a taenia; youth holding a mirror before her; woman, chair. B: Doric column; taenia; girl with box and taenia; girl; taenia, etc.
- C] Body: A: near the girl: [κ]αλη.
- D] Ex von Sack Collection. Done from Furtwängler's text. - Is this vase = Berlin 2373 (Manner of the Meidias Painter, Sundry), ARV(2) 1322/20?

2371.

Berlin 2382.

- A] RF hydria. From Vulci. Akin to Clio Painter. Third quarter knob while looking back; female flautist; mistress seated; taenia.

- C] Above the heads of the three women: (M)ΑΣΟΣΣκαλος.(1) Above the seated woman: [κ]αλε.
- D] The inscription is unclear. Is (μ)ασοσ a miswritten name?
Beazley does not mention a kalos-inscription. - Furtwängler prints two signs as being on the chest (in red on the black chest); the second is = dotted theta, but I think it is a lock.

(1)the first letter hasty, may be nu or mu (Furtw.).

2372.

Berlin 2384.

- A] RF hydria. From Asia Minor. Manner of Kleophon Painter ii.
Third quarter fifth. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2384.

- B] Apollo and Seven Muses: Apollo tuning his lyre and a muse with an open book roll facing him; a seated muse playing the flutes and a muse holding tablets.
- C] On the book roll, in BG (^ marks a break running down through all lines):
α<ιo^λιo μνοσ(α)^ λοιλυo^(1)
- D] Berlin East. Probably not a sense inscription. The last letter in the second line looks like a delta. Ionic alphabet?

(1)Reading sent me by Elizabeth Rohde, of the museum in East Berlin; see the facsimile in AK. For earlier readings and attempts to make sense of them, see 'Studies Ullman'. In AJA Beazley says he had no note on the inscription.

2374.

Berlin 2391.

- A] RF hydria. From Ampelokepoi, Athens. Unattributed. Date? *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2391. Mylonas, BCH 1880, 373f. W. Herbig, AM 1929, 171/10, fig. 3.
- B] Muses: one seated on a hill, plays the lyre; four others (with trigonon, flutes).
- C] Beside the sitting muse's head and partly on it: Accidental Gr. strokes, made before firing. Read wrongly by Mylonas: Σαμφυ.
- D] Found with Berlin 2392, below. The vase is not inscribed.

2375.

Berlin 2393.

- C] Above the woman: κα(λε).(2) Above Eros: καλος.

To right of the boy: Αλκμεων. Above the girl: Δημώ.
D] Done after Furtw., text. Ionic alphabet.

Berlin 2401.

- A] RF bell krater. Clio Painter. Third quarter fifth.
*Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2401. ARV(2) 1080/1.
B] A: Apollo with muses (Terpsichore and Clio). B: man between two women.
C] A: in small hasty letters, down: (A)πολλων. Hasty, to right of head: Τερπει(χ)ορης, for Τερψιχορης. Above Clio: Κλ(ε)ιω.(1)
D] Done after Furtw., who has no facs. I wonder whether the spelling of Terpsichore omits a phi (Attic spelling intended) or replaces psi by sigma (which is four-stroke here). For the non-Attic ending see GAI i, 132 (Schulze). Small hasty letters. Mainly Ionic, but one three-stroke sigma.

(1)the epsilon lacks the central horizontal (according to Furtw.'s text).

- C] Above the infant [sic?] and below the rim, stoich.
left-aligned three-liner:
Δρομῖππος | καλος | Δρομοκλειδῶ. (1)
- D] Second white used. - Oakley 63-64 thinks this is an everyday scene, whereas J. Reilly, 'Many Brides: >>Mistress and Maid<< on Athenian Lekythoi,' Hesp. 58 (1989) 426-427 had interpreted the scene as a wedding scene, with the bride being handed the παῖς ἀμφιθαλής. - Ionic alphabet. - Oakley, p. 11, wrongly states that the diphthong ει in Δρομοκλειδῶ is represented either by epsilon or iota (his text is unclear), but the photo. shows a certain εΙ.

(1)the inscription is to the right of the left woman's face, close to the top margin and thus above the baby.

- B] Dionysus with two satyrs and ten maenads.
- C] The inscriptions are above the figures and horizontal (except the retr. inscription is to the left of a head facing left): Σιλενος. Ανθε[ι]α.(1) Μακαρια. Περικλυμενε. Φανοπε. Νυμφε. Ναια.(2) Διονυσος. Κο(μ)ος, retr. (see below).(3) Χορω.(4) Χρυσις. Κισσο. καλε (a nymph).
- D] ARV(2), Add.(2) and Robertson give the present location as Berlin 2471, but Para. says: 'believed lost,' K.-D. concurring. (The information comes from Greifenhagen.) Done from 'Beschreibung', which has no facsimiles and from L.-H. I have checked readings in K.-D. The vase is gilded. The inscriptions were originally reddish-white. - Shapiro 172 thinks Makaria may be an invention of the Eretria Painter who is otherwise known as an innovator in personifications. For the choice of names and the qu. of personifications see also L.-H. Makaria is not here the daughter of Heracles; it is the earliest instance of this personification; Reading 52.3.2 (CAVI 6878) is later. L.-H. 227 speculates that Nympe may also mean 'bride' and that the vase may commemorate a dead person who has joined the Dionysiac thiasos. - It seems to me that many of the dancers are exhausted and that the vase celebrates the end of the dance. - Hedreen discusses the names Nympe and Naia.

(1)Ανθεια, L.-H. (2)for the name in the circle of Dionysus, see E. Simon, LIMC iii, s.v. Dione, p. 411. G. Neumann apud K.-D. wonders if it is to be completed as Ναια[s]. (3)the picture (dr.?), pl. 144,d seems to show the first letter as a nu: Νομος, retr.? But Komos is no doubt correct. Miswritten?

Furtw. prints Komos retr., except for the kappa; he gives the mu as an archaic-looking nu. (4)L.-H.: Χορω. But the picture in pl. 144,d shows an omicron open at the bottom and a bottom stroke at the right side, giving the illusion of a reversed omega, but the stroke looks to me like a flaw. However, there are instances of omega lacking the feet.

Berlin 2589.

- A] RF skyphos. From Chiusi. Penelope Painter. Third quarter fifth. Ca. 440. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2589 (facs.).

*Hauser, FR iii, 28-32, pl. 125 (dr.); p. 128, n. 11 (Buschor) (bibl.). CIG 8447b. C. Fränkel, Satyr- und Bakchennamen (1912) 70, 96/x. TAPA 77 (1946) 256. ARV(2) 1301/7, Para. 475, Add.(2) 360 (bibl.). Robertson, AVCA 218-19. A. Kossatz-Deissmann, GVGettyMus 5 (1991) 150, CHORILLOS 1 (bibl.).

- B] Anthesteria: A: satyr swinging a woman. B: woman (the Basilinna) escorted by a satyr.(1)
C] A: above the satyr: Ε(υ)ανεια. Above the girl: [κ]αλη.(2) B: above the woman: Θ(ε)(μ)^ισστῶ.(3) To satyr's right: Χοριλλος.(4) Under the foot, Gr.(5)
D] Berlin East (vidi). Coarse lettering. - A: the Aiora is part of the Anthesteria.

(1)so ARV(2). (2)many readings have been proposed: εἰ ἄδεια (Hiller); εἶα ὦ εἶα (Wolters); εἶ Ἄνθεια καλή (Hauser); εἶα ἄ εἶα (Buschor); Εὐάνθεια καλή (Immerwahr, TAPA). Portrait-kalos. Iota for upsilon, omicron for theta. (3)read retr. by Furtw. (after Heydemann): Θ(ε)μ(ι)σστῶ. Epsilon would be miswritten or written over an omicron. Mu = nu, not retr. Sigmas not retr. FR has οτσοι νοθ, similar to Furtw. Nonsense does not seem likely on this vase, though miswriting does. (4)so Furtw. FR gives: Χοριλλ<ος>. (5)the Gr. is not given in Furtw. or in TGV.

Berlin 2599.

- A] RF skyphos. From Chiusi. Unattributed. Fifth century.
*Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2599 (facs.). Cf. Schöne, Comm. in hon. Momms. 654/12. TGV 168/25F 1 (part). *Hackl 594.
B] A, B, each: owl between olive branches.
C] Grr.: under the foot, near the rim: γλαυ<κες> : ΔΛΔΔ ΙΙΙΙ.(1)
In the center: Α.
D] The punctuation consists of two superimposed hooks (^).

(1)so Hackl. The facs. in Furtw. does not quite agree, giving: γλαυ<> : ΔΓΔΔΙΙΙΙ, the delta with the bottom stroke separated from the diagonals; gamma(?) or lambda(?); delta could be a form of alpha. Furtw. reads γλαυ[κες] κδ', leaving out two signs. Perhaps γλαυ<κες> : δ(α)<> κδ' (?).

2406.

Berlin 2611.

- A] BG kyathos. Unattributed. Date? *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2611 (facs.). Roehl, IGA 526.
B] Undecorated.
C] On the bottom, Gr., 3/4 circle: Χαριλεῶ εἰμι. Plus a N under the mu and a vertical gamma(?) following the nu.(1)
D] Roehl says the inscription is Chalcidian. Owner.

(1)so the facs. in Furtw.; Roehl has a vertical line after the iota instead. Furtw. reads: Χαριλεω εἰμι.

2407.

Berlin 2613.

- A] BG bowl(?). Unattributed. Date? *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2613 (facs.). Mommsen, Unterital. Dial., 316/17.
C] Gr.: φενιλεις, retr.

B] Judgment of Paris.
C] Ερμας. Αλεξανδ[ρος]. Ερως. Ποθος. Αφροδιτη. Αθανα. Ηρα. Ιμερος. [Ζ]εϋς.
D] The dialect is partly Doric, see 'Script'. Cf. the companion piece, Berlin 2634, below. Inscriptions after Furtw. Mixed alphabet, see 'Script'.

2409.

Berlin 2634.

- A] RF hydria From Vulci. Kadmos Painter. Last quarter fifth. Ca. 420. *Furtwängler, Beschreibung, no. 2634. ARV(2) 1187/33, cf. 1184, Add.(2) 341. 'Script' 782. Robertson, AVCA (see below). *H.A. Athena, Aphrodite, Apollon, Demeter, Ganymedes, Harmonia, Ismene II, Ismenos, Kadmos. GAI ii, 127.
B] Kadmos and the Dragon: K. facing the dragon, with Nike, Athena, Demeter, Harmonia, Thebe, Poseidon, Apollo, Artemis, Hermes, and Hera.
C] Ερμας. Ποσειδαν. Αρμονια. Καδμος.(1) Νικη. Αθηνα. Θηβα. Δαματ(α)(ρ)(?). Κορα. Απελλων. Αρταμης.
D] The dialect is partly Doric, cf. 'Script', especially on Ποσειδαν and the dubious ending of Δαματαρ. See the companion piece, Berlin 2633, above; and GAI ii. - For these two vases by the Kadmos Painter with the 'Doric' forms, Robertson, AVCA 319 n. 71 gives as reff.: ML 14 (1903) 19, 40, 42 (32), pl. 2; [and] 15 (33), pl. 3. - R. on pp. 247-48 discusses the names. An anonymous muffled woman on 2634 is interpreted as Europa, Kadmos' sister. The Doric dialect is explained by the conjecture that the vases are inspired by Theban wall paintings, painted during the peace of Nicias (otherwise Thebes was hostile). St. Petersburg, St. 2189 is similar, but is not inscribed. The readings after Furtw. - Mixed alphabet (mostly Ionic, but some three-stroke sigmas), cf. 'Script'.

- B] Komos of four boys (children).
C] Above the first boy: καλος. Above the second boy: Νεανιας. Above the third boy: κ(α)(λ)ος.(1) Above the fourth boy (who holds a torch and a jug): Παιαν. Κωμος.(2)
D] Inscriptions in white; small letters. Ionic alphabet. - Petrakos wrongly identifies the Neanias on the vase with the Attic hero, for whom see S. Solders, Die ausserstädtischen Kulte (1931) 96.

(1)alpha with rounded top and an extra stroke next to lambda.
(2)so Kron, who gives: Παιαν, Νεανιας, καλος, Κωμος. Lissarrague reads differently: καλος νεανιας ('handsome youth'); κομος as the title of the procession. παιαν, a hymn in honor of the gods. But I think this is wrong: each figure is named, although the names are allegorical.

2411.

Berlin 2661.

- A] RF oinochoe (chous). From Athens. Group of Athens 12,144 (manner of Meidias Painter). Last quarter fifth. 410-400.

- thymiaterion; above, laurel branches.
- C] Nonsense: two inscriptions, illegible, in small white letters.

- B] Adonis: youth sitting on a chair and being kissed by Eros; at left, woman with a tray of food; at right, woman with a bird and a lyre.
- C] Above the heads: above the left woman: Εὐνομία. Above the youth: [Α]ῤῶνι[ς]. Above right woman: Εὐκλεία.(2)
- D] The inscription Adonis (as well as the other inscriptions) were discovered by Wehgartner. Beazley had suggested Phaon, others a girl or Adonis. For Eunomia and Eukleia, see R. Hampe, RM 62 (1955) 107ff. LIMC, s. vv. Less reliable is D. Metzler, 'Eunomia und Aphrodite,' Hephaistos 2 (1980) 73ff. W. gives a list of six occurrences of Eukleia on Attic vases. Ionic alphabet.

(1)Smyrna, Spiegelthal Collection. (2)so Hackl; Furtw.'s facs. has an extra vertical between the first pi and drachme sign.

- C] Above the scene, on the moulding, in black on white ground: (A)θηνα(α) υ. :Ηφα[ιστος?].
- D] Ex Fauvel and Pourtalès collections. Unclear whether Hephaestus was depicted and whether Athena's name is in the nom. or in the dat. (which would make this a dedication). Furtw. says that the two dots are definitely punctuation and not an iota; but I note that there is a vacat before the punctuation and the dots are close to the second name. Ionic alphabet.

The two examples from the Agora (1365-66, pl. 44) are there dated ca. 480; 1365 seems to be similar to the Berlin bell. Omega for omicron upsilon. Aiantides: PA 289 (4th cent.); other reff. in LGPN ii, but not ours. Attic alphabet.

- C] By the wreath, Gr. in two lines :
'Ελεφαντί(δ)ος εἰμι ἠι(ε)ἰρός. (2)
- D] Hoffmann in GVGettyMus 4 discusses the inscription at length, revising his views expressed in 'Rhyta' (1962): it was incised soon after the rhyton was made, in the first half of the fifth century. P. Herrmann (by personal communication) dates the inscription in the first third of the fifth century. R.B. Richardson long ago (AJA 2 (1889) 228f.) thought Elaphantis was the Egyptian goddess of Elephantine; this was accepted by Furtwängler in the cat.

of the Sabouroff collection, but in 'Beschreibung' he says that while Elephantis was the wife of Danaus (Apollod.), there are also similar human names. Kirchhoff and Kretschmer thought Elephantis a dead woman; Hoffmann thinks a human dead heroized (because of the word hierós).⁽³⁾ But it could also be the name of a hetaera, since it is taken from an animal.⁽⁴⁾ H. wonders if E. was a hetaera turned maenad, perhaps head of a thiasos, but Burkert denies the last, as leaders were always men. According to Burkert (who was also consulted) hieros refers to the κρίος. Eva Keuls (ditto) thinks it refers to the writer of the Gr.: he is a follower or sacred attendant [sic]. Neugebauer: "Eigentumsvermerk der Elephantis." H. agrees with Burkert that hieros refers to the krios, i.e. the rhyton. - My text is basically from 'Beschreibung'. Attic alphabet. LGPN ii, s.v. Elephantis does not include this vase.

- C] [Under foot?]: Κορινθ<>' Δ. Below: Κοριν<>Π †.
- D] Done from Beazley: κρατήρ Κορινθιοργής is the name for the column krater (parallels). Delta = 10. Pi + drachma mark = 6. Unclear why the vase name is repeated. The stroke before the delta is punctuation. The lower line is not quite in the same lettering as the upper, but it is not certain that it is not by same hand. - Johnston argued in BSA that no price is given, as had been suggested.

Eschbach follows Süsserot in restoring the archon Philokles as the most probable, 392/1. In n. 80 he gives measurements for the length of the name; pl. 5,4 shows the available space. Frel is cited ibid. for other possible archons. - The prize inscription is Attic with Ionic lambda.

Neugebauer, Führer 65 (not ill.). *Beazley, JHS 52 (1932) 199 and n. 4 (not ill.). 'Script' 268. H. A. Shapiro, Art and Cult under the Tyrants in Athens (1989) 73 and nn. 61-62. *H. Mommsen, CV, Germany 61, pl. 40, Beilage I. F. Lissarrague, The Aesthetics of the Greek Banquet, tr. by A. Szegedy-Maszak (1990; orig. 1987) 60-61, fig. 42 (sketch with inscriptions).
- B] Komos: two men seated, one playing the flute, the other holding a large skyphos.
- C] Along the left margin, starting at the top, not filling the whole space, facing the margin: Τάλει[δεσ ἐποιεσε]ν. Above the scene, starting to left of the right komast's forehead: χαίρει και πι[ει].(1) Between the komasts' lower bodies, but closer to the one with the skyphos and facing him: Διονύσιος, retr. On the skyphos, in a zone indicated by two incised lines, Gr.: Καλλίας κ[αλος]. Along the right margin, in a position similar to that of the signature, but not quite parallel to the margin, facing it: Νεοκλείδης καλος, retr.(2)
- D] Beazley left open the possibility that this vase is by the Taleides Painter (see ABV 174, top). The handwriting would suit (see 'Script'). Now cleaned, hence Mommsen definitely att. to the Taleides Painter. - Shapiro: the kalos Neokleides who appears on three BF vases (ABV 176) may be an ancestor of Themistocles; he probably dedicated a marble statuette on the Acropolis ca. 500-490 (DAA, no. 43). A Ceramicus ostrakon of Phrasikles son of Neokles, Delt. 1968, 28, should be read son of Neokleides (Willemsen to Shapiro); this Neokleides may be the kalos. According to Plut., Them. 32,3, Th. had a nephew called Phrasikles. This is the junior branch of the Lykomedai. Cf. also the name Phrasikleia. - Mommsen says that the pertinence of the inscriptions cannot be determined. [I thought, from the positions, that the flautist is anonymous, the bearded komast {that with the skyphos} is Dionysios and Kallias is a kalos, not figured.] M. refers to Louvre F 24, CAVI 6282, as a parallel for drinking inscriptions not on cups. - Attic alphabet. ABV gives the sigmas of Dionysios and the Neokleides inscription as reversed.

(1)so CV, text, but the photo. seems to show a trace of the final iota. Perhaps incomplete (Beazley, JHS); Tillyard omits the last iota. (2)the text in CV reads the inscription upside down.

1966.19, AA 1974, 238-40, figs. 1-2 (parts). 'Script' 404. A. Kossatz-Deissmann, GVGettyMus 5 (1991) 173, STYSIPPOS 1 (much bibl.). *Berlin Euphronios cat. 254/61 (ill.). F. Lissarrague, The Aesthetics of the Greek Banquet, tr. by A. Szegedy-Maszak (1990; orig. 1987) 127, fig. 96 (sketch of A, with inscriptions). *I. Wehgartner in J.H. Oakley, W.D.E. Coulson, O. Palagia, Athenian Potters and Painters: The Conference Proceedings (1997) 207, fig. 11 (shows letters Στυσι only).

- B] A: satyr advancing with spear and pelta.(2) B: satyr playing the flute.(2)
- C] A: under the shield: Σμικρος εγραφεν. Above the head: Στυσιπ[<π>ος καλος]. B: above the head: Τερπαυλος. Starting below the flutes' ends: νετεναρενε(τ)ενετο.
- D] Beazley says that the gap in the name Στυσι[5-6]ς is too great to allow the restoration Στυσιππος (without καλος). The name occurs also on Naples 81,330, CAVI 5457, RF cup by Oltos, there probably with kalos (see ARV(2) 1609), where it is likely to be a pun on Σπεύσιππος. Greifenhagen in Jahrb. reads Στυσιπ[ος καλος], and I see a trace of a pi in the photograph in the Berlin cat. (where however the final sigma does not show). Kossatz-D. takes the name as a satyr name, and I wonder if on both vases the punning human name is not applied to a satyr as a joke. Note that on B Terpaulos, without kalos, is simply a satyr name, but again it may be a pun on a human name like Τέρπανδρος. LGPN ii lists Τέρπαυλος as a human name, citing Wiss. Zeit. Univ. Rostock 16 (1967), p. 452, Para. p. 308 [I can find nothing relevant there] and p. 323. In the other inscription on B, Greifenhagen reads tau for the eleventh letter, both in Jahrb. and AA, perhaps rightly (other tau's are also a bit smeared), and connects the inscription with νήτη, the highest note on the scale. The eleventh letter is somewhat miswritten and may conceivably be a gamma. - Lissarrague draws the 11th letter as a clear tau. But he errs in saying that "The sounds resemble a series of notes and seem to emerge from the flute itself."

(1)"The drawing is very like Euphronios," Beazley. (2)the BF lekythos by the Athena Painter, Athens, N.M. 18,567, CAVI 933, proves to G. that the Berlin amphora also shows satyrs dancing the pyrrhiche.

- B] Bearded man, leaning on his stick and holding out a flute case; his mouth is open. Behind him, strigil and sponge hung up.
- C] To right of his mouth, nonsense: imitation letters: $\pi\nu\omicron(\nu)(\nu)\iota$.(1)
- D] Ex Mainz, Brommer collection. Ex Lembessis. - The inscription is read by Neumann: $\pi\tau\omicron\sigma\sigma\epsilon(\pi\tau\tilde{\omega}\sigma\sigma\epsilon)$: the man, on his way to a symposium, is holding out the flute case to someone, probably a hetaera (not represented), and says to her: 'duck', i.e. he wants to have intercourse. But the inscription seems to be the Karlsruhe Painter's usual nonsense.

(1) I want to thank I. Wehgartner for sending me a picture (the original of fig. 2 in her article). This shows, from the open mouth, slightly bearing upward: $\pi\nu\omicron$... (the rest is unclear). I originally read the inscription upside down: $(\cdot)(\gamma)\omicron(\sigma)(\sigma)\iota$, but this is erroneous. The facs. must be turned 180 degrees: $\pi\nu\omicron(\nu)(\nu)\iota$. The nu's are reversed; they are read as sigmas by Neumann, which is not impossible, but I do not see a tau or an epsilon.

- D] Cup type E (see Kunisch, p. 11); the foot and much of the Int. are lost. The inscriptions taken from the sketches on p. 198. For the interpretation of the scenes see Kunisch, p. 136.

(1)Kunisch indicates the letters here marked as (.) as if they were in rasura; the ph. shows that the BG is 'abgeplatzt' to such an extent that one cannot read the letters in the photo. But I would keep Bothmer's reading of the signature since he probably was better able to see the actual strokes. Bothmer read: ηιερον εποιεσεν.

- D] The lettering of the nonsense on A is different from (smaller than) the sense on B; curious that the more important side has the lesser inscriptions. Are two hands involved in the writing? Caskey-Beazley's readings of A differ somewhat from mine. Hardly Νερευς καλός. Attic alphabet.

- B] A: sacrifice: young flautist; youth bringing up a ram; bearded priest with his hands in a small vessel held for him over an altar by a youth carrying a kanoun; bearded man with his staff. B: satyr and maenads.
- C] All inscriptions horizontal above the heads. A: young flute player: Καλλίας. Youth with sheep: Μαντιθεος. Priest: ---]ξ. Youth: Ιππ[ο]κλ[ης]. Bearded man with staff: Αρεσιος. Under the foot, Gr.: ηε.
- D] For the identification of the names with political figures see Beazley, AJA and CB iii, 77. Beazley read the last letter of the priest's name as sigma (so also Matheson), and Schefold suggested [Κριτια]ς. I suggest xi, whence Peisianax or more likely Phaiax are possibilities. Note that Sue Chapman also drew the priest's final letter looking more like a xi than a sigma. - M. 277 discusses the political implications of the sacrifice: Beazley called it "the oligarch's sacrifice", performed early in the Peloponnesian War. Webster, PP 50 and n. 4 suggested that Boston 95.24, also found in Capua, was made for the same occasion (ARV(2) 1157/iia2, near Christie Painter); more bibl. in M., 340 n. 38: the sacrifice is perhaps for Pythian Apollo. Ionic alphabet for the painted inscriptions. The Gr. has closed heta and archaic epsilon.

(1)so ARV(2); originally Beazley att. to Kleophon Ptr., not his best work; then to his manner; in CB: almost certain it is by the painter himself.

- D] + Florence 11 B 44 + Villa Giulia (CV, pl. Y,5-7). Done for Boston only. - The kappa was repainted when I saw the vase. - This vase is later than Makron (Robertson). The writing delegated to the Telephos Painter (Cohen); cf. Boston 98.931, CAVI 2674. CB gives a history of the collections. CB dr. has an excellent picture of the signature. The signature has tailed rho and four-stroke sigma, whereas the kalos has the three-stroke; letters are disjointed.

(1)CB 58-59 gives the different explanations of the Ext., thinks it is a search party, but does not say specifically that it is for Tithonos.

- D] + fr. ex Leipzig, see Beazley, Campana Fragments 34/25. The glaze on B has flaked off. The fourth letter of the nonsense word is also intended for a sigma. Very casual lettering.

the \omicron , to upper right of D.'s head; the beginning must be to upper left of his head. (3)A: dr. has: $\omicron\sigma\upsilon\langle\sigma$, the right maenad's head intervening. CB, text has: $\omicron\sigma\lambda\langle\sigma$ with three-stroke sigma.

- B] Int.: Eros carrying a youth(1); below, palmette design. Ext.: plain.
- C] Int.: starting at the bottom, along margin:
 $\Delta\omicron\rho\iota\varsigma\ \epsilon\gamma\rho\alpha\phi\langle\sigma\rangle\epsilon\nu\ : \ \chi\alpha\iota\rho\epsilon[\sigma\tau\rho\alpha\tau\omicron\varsigma\ \kappa\alpha\lambda\omicron\varsigma].(2)$
- D] Ex Van Branteghem collection. CB says the old dr. in the German Inst. in Rome shows more letters than are now preserved. [Does this explain B.-O.'s reading, see n. 2 below?] The vase is poorly preserved. Signature and kalos-name are separated by an interpoint also on Louvre G 118; G 120; Leipzig T 509; [Basel Kä 425]. Possibly traces of three letters ($\Pi\lambda$) to left of Eos' wing; but this is quite uncertain. - CB poises the picture so that Eros is carrying the boy horizontally: he is sinking down onto a bed of flowers. Delta not dotted. Tailed rho.

(1)CB has: Int.: Zephyrus and Hyacinthus(?), after Hartwig; but the case is not very strong; it is objected to by Greifenhagen and Sichtermann who interpret the scene as Eros with a mortal. Shapiro also thinks the Int. shows Eros and an unidentified eromenos, not Zephyrus and Hyacinthus.

(2)in lieu of the $\langle\sigma\rangle$ there is a vacat. B.-O. gives $\Delta\omicron\rho\iota\varsigma\ \epsilon\gamma\rho\alpha\phi[\sigma]\epsilon$, etc.

 $[\Pi\alpha\nu\phi\alpha\iota\omicron]\varsigma\ \epsilon\pi\omicron\iota\epsilon\sigma\epsilon\nu.(2)$ A: to right of the third warrior's face, below the margin: $\Pi\alpha\nu\phi\alpha\iota\omicron(\varsigma)$. B: in upper left of the field: $\epsilon\pi\omicron\iota\epsilon\sigma\epsilon\nu$. Under the foot, Gr.: $\text{AT}\Sigma$, the sigma three-stroke and reversed. See TGV 110/14C,1 and Hackl 448.
- D] The same graffito on Boston 95.35 and 13.82, CAVI 2636 and 2770. Johnston lists it under $\text{AT}\Sigma$ with reversed 3-stroke sigma and thinks it Etruscan: owner's name. The letter forms do not contribute to the identification of the alphabet (vidi 1983).

woman's back. Beazley thinks the wineskin is not for wine but for washing, e.g for vinegar. Neat letters. Attic alphabet.

- B] Oedipus and a wingless sphinx.
- C] To right of his head: Οιδιπους.

D] Very small and casual letters. I thought both the scene and specially the inscription false. Omicron upsilon for o is suspicious. Goldman considered the scene and inscriptions genuine; the museum card says that Tarbell and Beazley doubted the vase. Goldman notes that wingless sphinxes do not occur on vases, but are found on other monuments.

B] Shoulder: lions attacking a bull. Body: warrior leaving home (youth and woman).
C] Body: between the heads: Λυκ[ο]ς. Lower down: κα[λ]ο[ς].
D] ARV(2): Lykos might be same as the kalos of [Onesimos and Antiphon Painter, etc.], but this is doubtful [it is not clear to me why: in CB, p. 11 Beazley says that Lykos is a very common name, hence it need not be the same].

(1)BF shape. (2)in CB Beazley suggested the vase might be an 'essay piece' by a very young artist; in ARV(2) he suggests one might think of the Flying Angel Painter.

C] Between the the backs of the fourth and fifth figures: Πανακτιος. Above the sixth and seventh: Πα[υ]ακτι[ι]ος.
Above the head of the first youth: καλος.(2)

D] The writing is in largish letters and resembles the Panaitios Painter's.

(1)so my notes; Beazley has only two pairs. (2)I connected the καλος with the second Παναίτιος, and so apparently does Beazley, whose readings in ARV(2) are however not quite accurate (in BSA even less so).

- B] A: a bearded satyr holds a boy satyr who is standing on his shoulders: "flying angel". B: satyr with a phallus stick raised above his head.
- C] A: to right of the boy's shoulder, downward: κ^αλος.(1) Under the foot, Grr.: XX ΓΛΥΧΝ.(2) Modern: ΣΟΔ = 204.
- D] Beazley in CB thought both A and B related to the Rural Dionysia. Attic alphabet.

(1)the hands of the boy and the father intervene. (2)so TGV 104/19B 5; CB suggested a ligature of lambda and upsilon, while for the other letters (γλυχν) Beazley is unsure whether they refer to something sweet or to three lamps (gamma plus λυχν) (see also TGV, pp. 198 and 241). Hackl no. 195 and I read this Gr. upside down. I thought the Gr. might have been put on before firing.

- C] On the outside of the lip, Gr. two-liner:
ΣϞ[ταδες]|ε[ποιει].(1)
- D] Three-stroke sigma.

(1)so restored in ARV(2), probably because another phiale by Sotades (London D 8, ARV(2) 773/ε), CAVI 4399, has this form rather than εποιεσεν.

Williams in CV, Great Britain 17: the father's name in the signature, if it is genuine, could mean that Hieron was a citizen. W.J. Young reported to Beazley in CB in favor of the genuineness of the sig. Beazley in CB read (according to my note): ἠερῶν Μῆδοντος ἐποί[ε]. [It should be Μῆδοντος: probably my error. Robertson. Mixed alphabet. Alpha mainly with horizontal cross stroke. Theta lacks the dot. Ionic lambda and sigma.

(1)Beazley in CB says that the epsilon is more likely short than long, cf. the Attic deme Περιθοιδα. GAI i, p. 240 also reads Περιθους; cf. ii, 33. (2)Threatte in GAI ii, 40 has the reading Τευδάρεως. (3)Apollodorus 3.10,6 mentions her as a daughter of Leda. She converses with Kleopatra on her left; the woman at right looks to right, i.e. at the egg on A; she is not named. Beazley is puzzled by Kleopatra appearing among the daughters of Tyndareus; see CB, p. 71 n. 4; on Berlin 2291, CAVI 2336, she is Timandra (so Beazley here).

- B] Nereid running. Four dolphins.
- C] To left of her upper body, Gr.: ΘΕΤΕΣ.
- D] Attributed by Hoppin to Euthymides; denied by Beazley in JHS; attributed to the later Menon Painter [Psiax] in VA but not included in AV or ARV(1); in ARV(2) 29, Beazley says "possibly his [Euthymides'], but an early work?", while on p. 1621 he retracts: "it would have been wiser to keep this at a distance from Euthymides, as I have always done hitherto." - When I saw the vase in 1946, I was strongly of the opinion that the inscription was modern, because of the fine incision, the roughness and the flaking off of the glaze. Beazley in CB says: "apparently incised after the firing." I further noted that Vienna, Oest. Mus. 221 (= Kunsthist. Mus. 3614, ABV 106/iii), CAVI 7945, a BF hydria related to the Tyrrhenian Group with Perseus pursued by a Gorgon on the shoulder, has the same inscription for a woman bystander (Dip.), but I now think that this is probably a coincidence and in 'Script' I give parallels for other finely incised graffiti which were no doubt done before firing. Still, the Nereid is not Thetis, and an error has to be assumed. Attic alphabet with cartwheel theta.

- D] The spacing of the inscription on the interior does not allow for the reading παϊςκαλος. Could it be Πα[ραλ]ος, which is known both as a mythical and as a personal name, here used with a punning connotation? Cf. Beazley, JHS 48 (1928) 127. But the inscriptions on the exterior are miswritten, hence this one could also be. To read on the exterior Κρατες Ελεο (for Ἡλείο) and εγραφοε is surely wild speculation. -A. Boegehold in a letter of 4/13/1992 suggests that the object lying under water on the Int. may be a κημός [like a lobster trap, I think], for which see scholia to Ar., Equites 1150 and LSJ, s.v. II 1 (eel-basket).

(1)Int. is often reproduced. (2)this looks suspiciously like the name Κρατες with nonsense letters added (or a father's name?). Lisarrague's dr.: to right of top of head of left satyr bearing upward along his outstretched arm: κρατεσελ.. (3)this could conceivably be badly miswritten for εγραφοε. The sixth letter an indistinct rest.

D] Nonsense typical of this painter. Read as Attic alphabet. The upsilon variable. Bothmer wonders whether the nonsense inscriptions rendered by Beazley as λγιοουκ and υιοσυις are not illiterate attempts of writing Lykos. He thinks Lykos kalos on a cup by the Foundry Painter, Para. 370/33 bis [Malibu S.80.AE.33, CAVI 5037] is the same (as Beazley thought) as that on the Onesimos cups.

 D] Much restored (including the signature, which has closed heta and phi with a long vertical!). Beazley says this vase is a replica of Orvieto, Faina 66, ARV(2), no. 5, CAVI 5822, where he also gives for the only subject 'Youth pursuing a woman,' and where the signature is correct. Four-stroke

Αμ<φ>ι<θ>οε.(2) To right of Heracles' forehead: καλο(ς).(3)
Between the legs of Heracles and a bearded man:
Χοιροςκαλος. Under the foot, Gr.: Νεος.(4)

(1)I had the area cleaned: only a trace remains of the epsilon. The lambda is clearly indistinguishable from an upsilon, although all other lambda's are of the regular Attic shape. On this see Beazley, AJA 45, 599. I think this is a real writing (copying?) mistake. (2)Beazley's restoration; he refers the name to the fleeing Nereid. (3)the sigma with an accidental extra stroke. Beazley suggests that this refers to Heracles. (4)the letters are small, but I thought the inscription looked ancient. For parallels see Copenhagen, Ny Carlsberg 2654 (CAVI 3260) and Mississippi, University Museum 1977.3.57 (ex Baltimore, Robinson), CAVI 5104. Not mentioned in CV.

- D] The scenes on A and B are similar.

(1)so ABV; Beazley says " ... this seems to me even less like an Amazonomachy [as Vian conjectured] than a Gigantomachy." Bothmer thinks it is a Gigantomachy: the fallen woman wears the standard costume of contemporary Amazons, but she may be a giantess (he gives ARV(2) 852/6, by the Suessula Painter, as a parallel). (2)the words slightly separated. This Hippon is earlier than the two praised on RF vases.

Hydrienfragment [sic!] in Boston ... 03.842 (... ARV(2) 1315,2) mit dem Rest einer Beischrift gesichert. Das Vorhandensein dieser Beischrift wird zu Unrecht von L.
Weidauer, AA 1985, 208f. bestritten, da sich Lesungen von
A. Furtwängler immer wieder als zuverlässig herausstellen."
Cf. n. 288: "In der Eumolpos-Deutung folge ich nicht L.
Weidauer, in LIMC iv (1988) 58f., sondern schliesse mich F.
Graf und E. Simon an; vgl. LIMC v, (1990) 613." See for the identification of Eumolpus, H., p. 82. Graf is in RGVV 33 (1974). Simon is in AK 9 (1966) 72-91. But see below, footnote 4.

(1)So Bothmer; formerly called frs. of a hydria. (2)"Laboured copies of pictures by the Meidias Painter" (ARV(2)). (3)Or Φερ<ε>φαττα. For the different forms of Persephone's name, see Kretschmer, Vas. 178 and GAI i, 536. (4)The pi is certain, although its top horizontal is missing. So also FR. Clinton (by letter) observed that this is the sole basis for identifying Eumolpus as a young man holding torches; on London E 140 he is a bearded man holding a scepter (inscribed). He wondered whether the inscription might be misapplied, as E. is a singer and not a torch bearer. Burn: early scholars claimed πος to be legible, hence read [Ευμολ]πος. C. Bérard claimed there was no such inscription and E. Vermeule in 1984 agreed with him. Burn in 1984 read: ος, but no pi. Burn 72: "Since the o is on the very edge of the fragment, it seems uncertain whether or not there was a [Greek pi]." The inscription, in her view, does not help to decide whether to call the figure Eumolpos or (as Bérard) Iacchos, or perhaps the name of another member of the Eleusinian priestly hierarchy. Iacchos is known to have been a torch bearer (Burn 72 n. 11), while Eumolpos is not, but the Thracian costume recalls that worn by his ancestor Musaeus on some vases. Clinton has now published his view of the matter in 'Myth and Cult'. Simon inn. 49 says: "Together with M. Stern I read on it the name (Eumol)pos as did A. Furtwängler a century ago; see Simon [AK 9 (1966)] 72 n. 3 and 89." On p. 105 she argues against the reading Eubouleus proposed by Clinton. See also L. Weidauer, LIMC iv (1988), s.v. Eumolpos nos. 1-3 (3 occurrences, the last is the Boston vase). It is not doubt pertinent to note that Nilsson, Archiv für Religionswiss. 32 (1935) 567ff. n. 76 reports on Hill's reading: [-]πος. B.H. Hill was a most careful scholar.

He wrongly thought the vertical to the left of the phi may have been a false start; it is part of the letter. Greifenhagen, AA 1957, 12 n. 11a omits the sigma. - Bothmer: the fr. joins a Brygan plastic vase in the shape of an owl in the Louvre [no doubt C 979]. B. thinks Phanos must be the same as that on [CAVI 934]. - H. Hoffmann, Sotades: Symbols of Immortality on Greek Vases (1997) 52 lists the Louvre fr. as a fr. of a rhyton (not Sotadean) but his interpretation of the inscription is clearly wrong.

- D] Beazley reverses A and B.

(1)"Somewhat akin to the early work of Douris," ARV(2). (2)the inscription is complete. In AJA 31, Beazley reads: (...ε)ς Πανιονιεν... and speculates:

[στείχω δ' ἐς Πανιωνίην εὐφρανεῶν Πανίωνας]

He notes that Πανιωνίη is not found, but Πανιώνιος and Πανίωνιον are. In AJA 33 he says that [ὀρτήν ἐς] would be better than [στείχω δ' ἐς]. Kretschmer had despaired of an explanation, while Hartwig thought of σπάνιος followed by unclear letters. Cf. the song on London E 270, CAVI 4545, by the Kleophrades Painter, but that is sung by a public performer. Aphaeresis is not a regular phenomenon in Attic: see GAI i,426-27; but this text is of course not Attic. The problem with Beazley's reading is that it does not give the beginning of a song, which is the regular custom, by which the initial words are given in lieu of a title (see Studies Ullman (1964) 47). The aphaeresis 'ς Πανιονιέν would be very awkward at the beginning of a poem. (3)probably complete.

- D] The reading of the Nikostratos inscription is inaccurate both in CB and ARV(2). For the pairing of a N. and a L., generals in 427, see Hartwig and CB. CB remarks that Hartwig had noted that a Nikostratos and a Laches were generals in 427; Beazley says they are not our pair but may have been πατρικοί φίλοι.

(1)Beazley says a donkey, not a mule. (2)The donkey's ears intervene. CB, text, gives the second sigma as extant, but the photo. does not show it. The rho is damaged but probably rho 5. The omicrons are peculiar. (3)The words slightly, but distinctly, separated. The writing is much smaller than the Nikostratos inscription and seems different: note lambda 2 and S 4; omicron S 1. But alpha 9, kappa 6 angular and sigma 1 somewhat rounded are similar (these shapes from the chart in 'Script').

intervenes. But Beazley did not see the upper part of a vertical before the sigma: my reading is correct.

 D] One fr. from Freiburg is now in Boston, another may belong. Beazley says the earliest representation of Pentheus. Drougou n. 105 gives parallels to the name Galene.

(1)the letters αλε, retr., are visible in pl. 6 diagonally downward, along the back of the maenad to right who grabs Pentheus' right arm. (2)a dr. by Beazley shows: 'doubtful if belongs': fr. in Freiburg: [-]λ.ργ.[-]. I do not see where in the Berlin cat. p. 175 this fr. would go. Firm and largish letters. Is [Φι|λ[ε]ργ[ος] possible?

Matheson, Polygnotos and Vase Painting in Classical Athens (1995) 120, 435/PA2, pl. 103 (does not show inscriptions).
 B] A: death of Orpheus (parts of two women).
 C] Between them, horizontally:
 Παντοξενα
Παντοξένα
 Κοριν(θ)οι

 καλαις.
 I.e., Παντοξένα|Κορίν(θ)οι|καλή (under the glaze).
 Παντοξένα|Κορίν(θ)οι|hoρια|καλαις (over the glaze).
 D] Mixed alphabet. The underlined letters are under the glaze (i.e., in preliminary sketch) and were probably written in relief lines, showing up as raised. The text written on the glaze was copied from the preliminary version; the second line was copied twice, the second time wrongly. The inscriptions seem to be by different hands. ARV(2)'s comments are superseded by Sprunt Studies. Of other vases by this painter, Cab. Méd. 846, CAVI 6229, has: Παντοξένα καλὰ Κορίνθοι, and London E 509.4, CAVI 4617, has a different three-line inscription (see ARV(2) 1050/1 and 3). A parallel for raised letters under the glaze, with the inscription repeated (correctly) over the glaze, is Berlin 2264, CAVI 2313, RF cup by Oltos. The vase is said by Furtwängler not to have any other preliminary sketch. - Robertson, not knowing my article in Sprunt Studies, reads (after Beazley): Pantoxena Korinθοι ho[ra]ia kalais. He intends it for: 'Pantoxena is a handsome hen in Corinth' (the city famous for its prostitutes). horaia, literally, means 'in season', by extension 'in the bloom of youth'. kalais is reported, he says, as a Doric word for 'hen'. [He may be right with 'in Corinth', although the formula usually has a personal name in the dative rather than a place name, but he is wrong in the reading ho[ra]ia.]

 D] On Kriseus and Kriseis see CB 37 and cf. Kretschmer, Vas. 206, accepted in GAI i, 261 and 453. I do think (pace Kretschmer) that these names are miswritten for Χρυσεις and Χρυσεις who are wrongly imported here from the Iliad. Makron is a very poor speller, cf. 'Script'. Some remarks on the name Makron are in CB 39. For the shape of the handles (cup type), see Kunisch, p. 15.

(1)O. and S. identify the scene as a procession on foot (recalling the wedding procession) with the χειρ ἐπὶ καρπῶ gesture suggestion abduction. (2)Menelaus attacking Helen: Robertson in 'Ages' believes the attack depicted is at the occasion of the embassy to Troy, not at the end of the Trojan War. Will publish this (see his n. 359). (3)Kunisch: Αινεα[ς]. (4)K. does not give the inscription of Aphrodite in the cat. (cf. also the listing, p. 100 n. 402). The photo. shows it clearly. (5)under the handle, an unnamed youth to left; on his left, upward, the Makron signature. (6)Priam is seated under a handle. Kunisch reads: Πριαμος, retr. (7)K. in cat. has in the sketch: εποιεεν. I cannot verify this in the photos., as the area is all scratched up. On p. 8, K. says the sigma here is four-stroke; so also in the sketch; it is the only 4-stroke sigma on the vase. Cup-type handle. The glaze has flaked off since the inscription was made.

- B] Around the middle: in the center, a boy greeted by a bearded man. On either side, athletes.
- C] In the scene, in BG: Μυρρίνῆς εἰμί, | ναίχι. On the top cap,

Gr.: ἡο παις καλος ἰ. Below, in a different hand, Gr:

ἰ ἡὸς ἕοικεν ἀπὸ τῶν ἑρίων ἔναι{αι}, the last two letters in the line above. On the bottom cap, Gr.: Μυρρῖνῆς εἰμί.

- D] The object is a rattle in the shape of a ball made of a middle strip and two caps sown over the central part. For the interpretation of the third inscription (ἡρία, funerary mounds, a reference to funerary athletic contests) see GRBS; differently Guarducci. Some have doubted the graffiti. The ball was a gift to Myrrhine. The first and third graffiti are by a different hand (the potter's or painter's) than the second (a user's?). The ball was clearly a bespoke gift. Guarducci in 'Tituli' discusses previous bibl. and suggests that ἡρίων keep its meaning 'tomb' and be applied to the feeble-looking boy with the dog; the object, she says, is a rattle and does not imitate a ball.

front horse's front legs: Κασῶν καλος, retr. [Note the spacing: Κασῶν ^ κα^λος; ^ here indicates one empty letter space.] To left of the legs of a nude youth who is calming the front horse, facing him: Ευρυλοχος, retr. There is another inscription above the youth's head and by the front horse's head: probably the other horse's name [Xanthos?]. B: at upper right: Διονυσος.

- B] Top zone: antithetic sphinxes between lions between cocks. Main zone: unusual: Iolaus in a chariot; Heracles beside it; at left, Hermes and Demeter; at right, Artemis and Aphrodite.(2) Bottom: animal frieze.
- C] Top zone: nonsense: between the left lion and the left sphinx: στευσπ, retr. Similarly between the right sphinx and the right lion: σπεχ(.), retr., the last letter smeared?(3) Main zone: between Hermes' and Demeter's lower bodies: ηερμες, retr., not facing him. In a similar position to right of Demeter (who faces left): Δεμετε(ρ), retr., not facing her. Below the horses' bellies (not very close to Heracles): ηερακλες, retr. To left of Iolaus' face: Ιο(λ)εδς, retr.(4) To left of Artemis' body, facing her: Αρτεμις, retr. Between Artemis' and Aphrodite's lower bodies, facing the latter: [Α]φροδιτε, retr.(5)
- D] Note that all inscriptions are retr. regardless of which way the figures are facing. Most letters are distorted in the photo. Typical Tyrrhenian lettering. The inscriptions are similar to Vienna 3613, CAVI 7944, and Louvre E 869, CAVI 6273, both probably by the Archippe Painter.

(1)Beazley compares the Archippe Group and Cab. Méd. 253 (ABV 104/127), CAVI 6097. (2)Bothmer interprets this as Apotheosis of Heracles. Shapiro (with Beazley and against Bothmer) thinks not Apotheosis of Heracles, but simply H. setting out; the divinities are brought in as spectators as often in Tyrrhenian. CV: this cannot be the final arrival of Heracles as Zeus is not present; it is rather an excerpt of an arrival scene as on Cab. Méd. 253 (ABV 104/127) attributed by Bothmer to the same painter. (3)uncertain readings. (4)the lambda does not look right. (5)no trace of the alpha, but there is space: is there some restoration (or an error by the painter)?

(1)B.-O. 40 attributes to Douris himself. (2)late period (B.-O.). (3)"the earliest evidence for the expression," Beazley. For $\epsilon\chi\epsilon$ Beazley refers to Acr. i, 2644, GL i, pl. 112, CAVI 1207. B.O. in cat. has: $\eta\epsilon\pi\alpha\iota[\varsigma]\kappa[\alpha\lambda]\epsilon$. $\eta\epsilon\chi\epsilon\eta\epsilon\sigma\upsilon[\chi]\omicron\varsigma$. I am not convinced that the bracketed letters are not there. 'Auktion' 40 gives the kale-inscription complete but brackets the second chi in the other inscription. The photos. are unclear.

D] Robertson reads Σμικύθιον, but Σμικυθίων is Attic (PA 12,766-71). R.'s text gives ναικι, but the dr. shows ναιχι. The museum no. is not given by Robertson in Burl. nor in Add.(2), but in AVCA R. gives the number as 1973.88. - A similar jumper (high up, with legs drawn up): Corinth CCP-2621, Hesp. 49 (1980) 304/27, pl. 87. - Cohen says the vase is 'related to Euphronios' work'.

At Apollo's left, a winged Iris(1) approaches to fill his phiale. The other two figures are in a procession behind Artemis and Leto: Athena; Hermes looking back at Iris.

- B] A: mule cart with amphorae; driver; leader; behind the cart, two males with spears, facing each other. B: in the center, a bearded man touches the chin of a larger bearded man in supplication; on either side, two bearded men; all but the suppliant carry spears.

- C] Nonsense, deviating into imitation letters, especially on B: A: to left of the driver's head: εω(ο)(.)().(1) Below the cart: two letters. At the right-hand margin: nine letters preserved, incomplete at end. B: nine nonsense inscriptions, six of them between the figures, three near the heads of three figures at left. The six leftmost (four between the figures, two above the heads) begin with epsilon and are all retr.
- D] Brownlee 3-4 and n. 5 mentions connections with other vases in the Princeton Group and with the Painter of Berlin 1686. Beazley in AJA 33 (1929) had assigned six vases to a group on the basis of nonsense inscriptions. Boardman speculated that some of these may be early work by the Painter of Berlin 1686 (CV, Great Britain 14, p. 19). For the inscription with 'omega' see RA, fig. 5. For nonsense inscriptions beginning with epsilon, see Fellmann in CV, Munich 11, on the band cups 2240, 2241, 2242, CAVI 5248-50. - Brownlee interprets B as a parody of Hector's Ransom (without the body).

see Bothmer apud Buitron 97 and 'Script' 86. - According to Robertson in AVCA, the girl [a hetaera] is drawing wine. He interprets the inscription on the skyphos to refer to the vase painter Douris (p. 51): the Pioneer practice of greeting a colleague.

- D] Ex Lausanne, Private (Gilet collection). Attic alphabet. - Mommsen explains the unusual subject: the dead body is transferred to a coffin; two oil lamps show that this takes place at night so that the body can be taken to the grave before sunrise, as prescribed by Solonian law.  [Ι]μερος. Non-stoich. two-liner: κ(α)λε|Κλεοφωνις.(1)
 Κλεοδικ[η]. Φανοδικη. To left of the flying Eros' groin: καλος.
- D] Webster, PP 71 suggests that all the names are those of actual professional musicians in Athens; but Shapiro, 'Person.' 115 n. 250, suggests that Euphemia should perhaps be a personification. LIMC iv, 67, s.v. Euphemia, discusses an Apulian vase with Euphemia. Eupheme was a nurse of the muses (Paus. 9.25,5). - Kleophonis is given as a kalos-name in ARV(2) 1615; the name occurs without kale on a RF bell krater, Group of Polygnotos, in Agrigento, ARV(2) 1055/64, CAVI 87. However I think it is here a punning name; all the names seem brought in for the occasion (cf. 'Script'). Kleodoxa occurs as the name of a flute player on a hydria in Florence (see CV: AZ 8 [1850], pl. 21, etc.) and a stamnos by Polygnotos, London E 454, ARV(2) 1028/14, CAVI 4600. Some of the names are thus real, but nevertheless used as punning names here. kalos refers to the Eros. - The inscriptions incomplete and not accurate in M. Mixed alphabet (mainly Ionic).

(1)the photo. in CV shows no trace of kappa, which is however given in CV's text and in ARV(2). Shapiro gives Kleophonia; Himeros and Kleodike are also given complete.

Tyczkiewicz (1898) [listed in ARV(2), p. 2022] 14/15 [not in CAVI!]: this is undoubtedly the same vase, which reappeared in the Vente Somzée of 1901. For the "syllabic" use of ἠε see also Athens, N.M. 12,441, CAVI 876. Threatte in GAI ii, 39, 45, and 46, explains the use of eta for e differently. Ionic alphabet with omicron for omega.- Oakley reads: ΜΗΛΑΝΟΠ; cf. p. 11. But the E is short; see LGPN ii.

think he is here a servant. This contradicts Beazley's later view: in ARV(1) 20/1 he had considered the figures servants, but in the ms. addenda et corrigenda to ARV(1) he says they are not servants and in ARV(2) he says: "B: man and youth filling the dinos."

(1)cf. GAI ii, 758. (2)The sources give a clear alpha in Πολυλαος, hence Πολυλλος seems to be excluded here. LGPN ii gives Πολύλαος only here, but Πόλυλλος in 'Script' no. 356 (Berlin 2180, CAVI 2291, Euphronios) and in PA 12,033a and 12,034. (3)between the kappa and the lambda is a worn place, whence no doubt C. Robert's Σηκυλινη. On the name see 'Script' no. 361 [St. Petersburg 644, CAVI 7353] and 64 n. 24.

- C] A: χαίρε και πει τευδε.(2) B: χαίρε και π(ι)ει τευ[δε].(3)
- D] See especially Vatican G 61, with parallels. The inscription on B is much more hastily written. By the same hand as other vases of this group? - The photo. in Lissarrague seems to show that there is restoration at the end of the inscription: τευ[δε].

(1)so Para. (2)two dots placed horizontally near the top of the epsilon of πει on A are probably drips. (3)it is not clear from CV whether the last two letters are missing or were not written, in which case read τευ<δε>; but see the photo. in Lissarrague (above, D).

The letters are largish and seem to be in good part real letters, although some are imitation. I see a good many lambda's, some sideways, tau's, and some chi's (perhaps the same letter?); also some u-shaped digammas(2). B: (3).
- D] + Amsterdam 2144 (now in Heidelberg) + Brussels R 430x,y + Villa Giulia 79,591 (3 frs.). (1)ABV 172 (considering only Brussels R 430x and one Heidelberg fr.): near group II of vases signed Sakonides as painter, but "a finer piece". (2)The photo. in CV, Netherlands 8, is not clear and many inscriptions are obscure. (3)my notes are unclear whether B, which exists apparently only

The inscriptions tie in with these groups and are almost like conversations themselves; cf. vases cited in 'Script', pp. 70, 74, 75 and 84. - CV's readings agree with mine; both are more complete than Bothmer's in ARV(2). Επελειος: i.e., Επιλεος = Επιλαος (Pape). 'Επέληος = 'Επιλέως (sic Beazley, ARV(2) 147 and 1576). The form is the same on the four vases by the E. Painter, except once Επελιος beside Επελειος on Munich 2619a (ARV(2) 146/2, CAVI 5321). Epsilon for short iota is said to be rare in GAI i, 138. The name is not in PA. LGPN ii prints 'Επέλειος and adds (Επίλεως(?)). - Ισαρχος for 'Ισαρχος also on Munich 2619a.

- B] Athena (flanked by cocks) and two trainers or officers of the Panathenaic Games.
- C] Nonsense: between the heads of Athena and the left trainer: (σ)ογο. To his right: ιεπος. To right of Athena's head: λο(.). Below, to left of the right trainer: ελοιπος.(1)
- D] Ex Hirsch collection. Shapiro mentions the 'ιεροποιοι' reading of Bieber's and refers to Raubitschek, DAA. [Readings from the photo. in Shapiro differ: between the heads: looks more like: hoσο. To Athena's left: ιενος. To Athena's right: λο(.)^εγοιλο(.). These readings are not certain either as the letters are in part distorted.]

Clearly just nonsense.

(1) Bieber assumes that the second and fourth inscriptions are near-sense: $\iota\epsilon\pi\omicron\nu$ (sic) for $\iota\epsilon\rho\acute{\omicron}\nu$ and $\omicron.\epsilon\rho\omicron\iota\pi\omicron\sigma$ for $\iota\epsilon\rho\omicron\pi\omicron\iota\acute{\omicron}\varsigma$. The photo. in AJA does not show the initial omicron; the second letter does not look like a rho, but it could be incomplete. Bieber also reads the first and third inscriptions together: $\nu\omicron\gamma\omicron-\nu\omicron\nu$.

- D] = GR 46.1864. This is clearly the vase mentioned by Schauenburg, AA 1974, 198ff., and cited in 'Script' 48 n. 44; he reads $\epsilon\iota$ as 2nd sg. of the verb 'to be'. - My comment:

this and the cup CAVI 3804 (below, n. 1) have similar epsilons and general ductus, but 3804 has a normal rho with a large head. The chi's are higher and separate from the rest of the inscriptions. I think both cups are written by the same hand.
- S. has a long discussion of the relations of the two cups.

(1)by the same painter: Germany, Private, BF lip cup, Beazley Archive db, no. 774; K. Schauenburg, AA 1974, 199, 200, figs. 1-3 (all), CAVI 3804 (incomplete entry; better, Kadmos 42 (2003) 148/14). Same omission of π on A and B.

(2)the space between kappa and epsilon seems about 1/2 letter space longer than that on A; hence the restoration $\kappa[\alpha\pi]\epsilon$ seems too long, though not impossible. Beazley's reading is not quite right.

Once Canino.

- A] RF cup. From Vulci. Unattributed. Date? *ARV(2) 1591. Mus.
etr. 34/1414 (inscription) and 137/1515 (vase). *Beazley, AJA 54 (1950) 317 (not ill.).
- B] Int.: two draped males conversing, one with head bent (in melancholy), the other wreathed with flowers.
- C] Int.: Λαβοτος καλός. Κλιταγορα.(1)
- D] The inscription after ARV(2). - Beazley lists Labotos with a question mark; LGPN ii lists the name as Λάβωτος (only here). Λαβώτας is the Doric form of Λεωβώτης (see Pape); the latter accused Themistocles in 471 (see PA 9071). I do not understand the ending -ος (miswritten?). I wonder if Κλιταγορα should not be read as a masculine dative:
Λαβῶτ(α)ς καλὸς Κλιταγόρα«», sc. δοκεῖ. But Kleitagora also appears as a feminine name (Acr. ii, 1445, CAVI 1641), once with καλη (Mississippi, University 1977.3.98, CAVI 5209, ex Robinson). Hence the name could be a kale-name, without the adjective (cf. LGPN ii). Both Labot(a)s and Kleitagora(s) seem to have Spartan connections; see Pape. - It is not clear to me, whether Beazley thinks Κλιταγορα is a fem. or a masculine name; he cites the vase together with other names in -αγορα<ς>.

(1)for Κλειταγόρα. Cf. GAI i, 190ff.

- C] A: to left of her head: ΙΑΡΟΝ. Beneath the left arm: καλος.(1) B: below the sword: ηε(π)αις.(2) Under the shield: καλ[ε].
- D] = Patroni 8. ΙΑΡΟΝ: Beazley suggests 'Ιλάρων(?) (Accepted in LGPN ii.) It should be 'Ιλαρος (see Pape and LGPN ii); it is not clear whether this is a kalos-name or refers to the warrior, or both. Beazley does not list it as a kalos-name. - Small and careless writing.

(1)Beazley considers this word retr., but from the little that is visible in CV, pl. 2,1, it seems to be left-to-right. (2)so CV; the photo. shows only the beginning: παυ(.). For παις.

(1)so the text in CV. In the first inscription the first sigma is given as reversed three-stroke sigma, the second as regular three-stroke. In the second inscription, sigma is regular three stroke, chi is upright; the fourth letter is given as a Roman C (it is probably an omicron), and the last letter as a Roman P; a spear intervenes before the last letter.

G. Rizza, 'Stipa votiva di un santuario di Demetra a Catania, BdA 45 (1960) 249, fig. 7.
- B] Int.: two rampant goats facing. Ext.: ?
- C] Int.: to goats' left, facing out: $\alpha\gamma\pi\iota\omicron\varsigma$ or $\Lambda\gamma\pi\iota\omicron\varsigma$ (a proper name? On the Tyrrhenian amphora in Cervetri (Beazley Archive db, no. 7968, CAVI 3126) it is a satyr name). To the goats' right, similar but facing in and crowded: $[-]\alpha\delta\epsilon(?)$ vacat.
- D] Since C. does not mention the inscription on the right, I am unsure of the reading. She cites the vase for the inscription on the left, claiming that the goat is a wild animal that devours cultivated plants. I wonder if the word refers to the goat at all. Are the goats male?

 C] κελααι[.], retr. Ευ[...]εϛ.(2)
 D] Ex Italian Market. Four frs.

(1)so ARV(2), describing only three frs. (2)I do not understand the inscriptions as given by Beazley. The second must be a name, but the three dots are surely not epigraphical. The first is given as: 'κελααι.retr.'in archaic Attic letters.

- B] No figured decoration preserved.
- C] On the handle, Dip.: [Βρυγος εποιη]σεν.
- D] = New York, Bothmer.

(1)Bothmer in Para.; in ARV(2) wrongly connected with frs. at Center Island, of a cup by Makron. (2)There is confusion in the entry Para. 369, as the reference to the 'Fourteenth Brygos' cup is not at foot and top of p. 1650; foot and top rather refer to the Makron cup frs. 222 bis mentioned on pp. 1654, foot, and 1655, top, and Para. 378, as Makron 222 bis. It is then not clear whether Bothmer's frs. mentioned in Para. 369, which he finds to be from two cups by the Painter of the Fourteenth Brygos, refer to the frs. mentioned on 1650 or those said on 1654-55 to be by Makron, although I believe the former must be meant, even though these cups include frs. in other places. The position of the handle is however clear: originally placed with the Makron frs., it is now tentatively placed by Bothmer with one of his two 'Fourteenth Brygos' cups, which therefore were both signed with the potter's name, since I think there are no εγραψεν signatures on handles. I have so treated this fr.

- D] Largish and clear letters showing faintly in the photo., pl. 110.

- B] A: bearded symposiast, reclining and playing the flutes; youth reclining, with outstretched arm; drapery of a third figure.
- C] A: the flautist: [-]ικα[-].
- D] Why does Kunisch 20 n. 88 list this inscription as (an illegible) kalos-inscription? It should just be the flautist's name. Possible restorations: Ικαρος (LGPN ii, late 5th cent.). Νικαρχος (common). Δικαιος and other names beginning Δικα-. Κιλικας (ibid., ii B.C.). Μαρικας (Athens, Acr. ii, 1512, CAVI 1707: Gr.: Μαρικαδος, which might be a term of opprobrium; mid-fifth, according to LGPN ii). Σικανος (6th cent. potter; 5th.; see LGPN ii).

- B] No figured decoration.
- C] On the right hasta, on the inside, in red: $\eta\epsilon\rho[\acute{\omicron}\nu\ \epsilon\pi\omicron\iota\epsilon\sigma\epsilon\nu\ .(1)$
- D] Type C. - My note from Bothmer gives the inscription as complete: $\eta\epsilon\rho\acute{\omicron}\nu\ \epsilon\pi\omicron\iota\epsilon\sigma\epsilon\nu$. - Kunisch has seven signatures of Hieron in Center Island. I had originally listed only one, from the 'Eye of Greece', p. 45 (see CAVI 3121).

- B] A: head of a trainer to left, holding his staff above his head.
- C] A: above his shoulder: $\sigma[-]$.(1)

- C] On the left hasta of the handle, in the BG area, Gr.: $\eta\epsilon\rho\acute{\omicron}\nu\ \epsilon\pi\omicron\iota\epsilon\sigma\epsilon.$ (1)
- D] Type B. Bothmer thinks this fr. belongs with Kunisch no. 23, which according to Bothmer also has a crouching boy under the handle.

(1)so the sketch in Kunisch, p. 185. The photo. shows a lot of scratches in this area; hence I am not sure that there is not a final nu.

 D] I suspect there are two inscriptions here, a dedication and a kalos-inscription.

(1)Johnson thinks this an unusual combination of a dedication

B] Int.: feet of two figures, one standing, the other seated. A: youth; a bearded man, seated(1); youth leaning on his stick; between the man and the right-hand youth: a shield and sword hung up in their covers. Schwarz thinks these are school scenes. C] A: on the seat, horizontally below the seating area, in BG: κᾶλος. The alpha is at a break.

- C] Cleveland fr.: below the margin, interrupted by the heads: (κ)[.]^λ(ο)(.)υ^αιχι^.
- D] + The Hague OC 125-34. - The inscription may be nonsense, but in view of the letters αχι, it is probably part of a hastily written [ho πας] καλος, ναχι. Disjointed letters.

- A] Fragmentary RF cup. From Gela. Unattributed.(1) Eucharides Painter (Langridge). First quarter fifth. 490-480 (Boulter). *Vidi. *E. Langridge (personal communication). ARV(2) 1570/12, 1637, bottom, Add.(2) 389 (bibl.). *C.G. Boulter, CV, USA 15, pl. 37,1; p. 23 (facs.).
- B] Int.: crouching warrior sacrificing a ram. Ext.: plain.
- C] Int.: around the warrior, starting at lower left: Χα[ρ]ιας κα[λος].(2)

(1)Beazley says that the drapery recalls the Eucharides Painter; but the popular Chairias kalos is of the late sixth century: this must be Chairias II (ARV(2) 1571, top). Langridge lists the vase as by the Eucharides Painter and refers me to CV, Cleveland. (2)Beazley gives the rho as extant, but I did not see it and CV does not have it.

- B] Neck: A, B, each: two women mourning. Body: A: a dead woman on the bier, with six women mourners. B: three male mourners.
- C] Body: nonsense (mock inscriptions): to right of the third mourner's face: ουλτ.(1) To right of of the fourth mourner's head (although she faces left): ουτοοοοο. Above the head of the dead: ου.(2)
- D] The words faintly recall ομοι.

(1)this could be two inscriptions, for two mourners: ου and λτ. (2)lambda's and upsilon's are indistinguishable in these inscriptions. - Mommsen wrongly says in n. 189 that there are dots instead of letters on this vase.

- A] RF lekythos. From Italy. Oionokles Painter. Second quarter fifth. 480-470 (Boulter). *C.G. Boulter, CV, USA 15, pl. 31; p. 20 (facs.). Beazley, Kleophrades-Maler 28/on 79. Haspels, ABFL 73-74. ARV(2) 648/37, Add.(2) 275 (much bibl.). Caskey-Beazley ii, 40 (mention). *Vidi. *E.D. Serbeti, 'The Oionokles Painter,' Boreas 12 (1989) 40.
- B] Warrior cutting off a lock of hair with his sword and placing his armor on a stool.
- C] Nonsense: on his left, not facing him: υγιος εγυ. To right of the stool and an upright spear, which is to right of his face: $\gamma\upsilon\iota\sigma\epsilon\gamma\upsilon$.(1)

- D] Small neat letters. CV's facs. is not quite accurate. The inscriptions are identical except that the first two letters are upside down in comparison with the others. The style of writing does not suit the Oionokles Painter: was there perhaps contamination of inscriptions in this workshop? For parallels to the inscriptions see CB ii (on Boston 01.8028, CAVI 2705, by the Briseis Painter): the similarity of inscriptions shows that the Oionokles, Briseis, Painter of Louvre G 265 worked in the same workshop at one time. For the subject Beazley refers to his 'Kleophr.' 28 and to Haspels, ABFL 73-74.

(1) Serbeti's readings differ: $\lambda\gamma\iota\sigma\epsilon\gamma(\alpha)$. [Alpha upside down]. $\gamma\upsilon\iota\sigma\epsilon\epsilon\alpha\upsilon$. She has a list of these inscriptions and discusses the question of literacy.

- B] Int.: duel of two warriors kneeling on the exergue line. A: a bearded horseman between three and four approaching males. B: in the center, a warrior between four and one approaching males; at far right, a horseman.
- C] Nonsense: imitation inscriptions: A: under the horse's belly: seven letters. Behind the horseman's back: 6-7 letters. Between the heads of two figures approaching from the right: 4-6 letters. B: to right of the heads of the two left-most figures: two nonsense inscriptions. Similar, to left and right of a warrior's head, probably 'naming' the figures next to him: 3-4 and 5 letters. Between a youth approaching from the right and a horse's head: five letters. Under the horse's belly: six(?) letters.
- D] Overlap. - The inscriptions in part imitate naming inscriptions. The photos. are very small and I am not sure that there are any real letter forms among the blots.

- C] Above the head of the left Eros in front: Ερῶς. Above the head of the Eros in the rear: Ερῶς. To upper right of Atalanta's head: Αταλαντε. To left of the right Eros' chest: Εἰρῶς, retr.(2)
- D] Beazley compares the WG lekythos by Douris, Palermo NI 1886, CAVI 6051; Kozloff compares another WG lekythos by Douris, now Malibu 84.AE.770, CAVI 4978 (cf. 'Script' 85). The last is very early, the others are said to be early middle; all are inscribed in Douris' early style. See also B.-O. in note 1, below. Robertson, AVCA 86 thinks all three lekythoi very early and that is probably right. - Brommer thought the inscriptions not genuine: Atalanta pursued by 4 Erotes is unique, as is also the repetition of the word Eros. He suggested the original inscription might have been Aphrodite. Boulter replied in AJA that ultra-violet examination did not show restoration in the name [there is repainting in the tendrils and wreaths.]

(1)Transitional I (Rich) (B.-O.). (2)B.-O., 'Douris' gives Επος, probably for this form.

- C] Gr. : Ζωιλοσ.(1)
- D] Ex Swiss Private. - Zoilos is a common name, especially in the later period, both in Athens and elsewhere. Is this an owner's name? - B] A bearded man with his stick, seated and talking to a naked boy.
- C] To right of the man's face: Πρίαπε. Along the stick, vertically down and facing the stick rather than the boy: ηιπ<π>ια(δ)ες.
- D] ARV(1) lists this vase as belonging to a group of mugs that have the kalos-name Hiketes and are related to late Douris (who has Hiketes on two late cups, Christchurch AR 430 and Bonn 464.34+, ARV(2) 438/138 (= ARV(1) 288/115, CAVI 3178) and 439/159, CAVI 2593). Mention of the Cologne mug has dropped out of ARV(2), hence it is probably not stylistically related to the Hiketes mugs (see also ARV(2) 815, top). - Πρίαπε is a prayer to the god uttered by the man. Hippiades should be the boy's name despite the position. The vase has a clear ηιπιαγες, but the gamma is probably a delta with the bottom stroke omitted; neither Hippiages nor Hippiades are in PA, Pape or LGPN ii. Delta without cross stroke; four-stroke sigma.

- D] I suspect that the the first name is miswritten; it is not in LGPN ii. Cf. also Ruijgh apud Brijder, n. 38. Δωσοῖ could be nomin., see Smyth's grammar p. 71 (but Threatte, GAI ii, p. 259 expresses doubts); vocat. would be Δωσοῖ.

(1)Brijder attributes the vase to an Ainipylos Painter, Deppert to Manner of the Painter of Louvre F 6 (Manner of Lydos); by the same hand as Aachen, Ludwig, Ars Ant., Auktion 5, pl. 26, no. 116, Para. 53. (2)the seventh letter has the shape of an upright 'Ionic' lambda with short right hasta; this shape occurs for both gamma and lambda in BF, the latter already in the seventh century ('Script' 135 and 148). Moon suggests Ανιπυλ<ορ>ος, which he translates 'defender of the gates,' or Ανιπυγος, 'dread bottom.'

(3)Moon says this is vocative of Δοσῶ, i.e. Δοσῶ.

Johnston, who apparently reads ΚΛ with an extra line doubts the ligature stands for the potter Kleophrades. There is discussion of the scene in the Rouen cat., where the reference to a satyr play is rejected. - Drougou mentions and illustrates the Mercantile Gr., citing on p. 48 as parallels Vatican 415 [ABV 388/3] and the RF pelike Copenhagen 149 by the Kleophrades Painter (ARV(2) 184/27, CAVI 3238). ι...εσθε and καλεχοπ... in caps. CV, France 3.

ιεσθε and καλεωπο, retr., with repainting after that.
Old reading by Beazley.

Beazley reads from the Canino cat. and Gerhard's apparatus: to right of the youth's forehead: (κ)αλε(μ)οπος, retr.(5) To right of his middle: $\pi\epsilon\sigma\theta\epsilon$. Beazley thus reads:

 $\kappa\acute{\alpha}\lambda\epsilon\iota\ \mu\prime\ \acute{\omicron}\pi\acute{\omicron}\varsigma\ \pi\acute{\iota}\epsilon\sigma\theta\epsilon$, an Iambic dimeter catalectic.(6)

- D] Beazley cites 3 examples for the omission of heta. He considers $\pi\epsilon\sigma\theta\epsilon$ future [indicative] rather than present subjunctive (see AJA). - [I had thought of reading $\kappa\acute{\alpha}\lambda\epsilon\iota\ \eta\acute{\omicron}\pi\acute{\omicron}\varsigma\ \pi\acute{\iota}\epsilon\sigma\theta\epsilon$, but that still leaves an Ionic lambda, which is perhaps possible (pace Beazley), as Ionic vase inscriptions appear in the later sixth century, e.g. 'Script' no. 327. Is Amati's $\kappa\alpha\lambda\epsilon\iota$ to be rejected?]

(1)Beazley, AJA: not from Nola: no. 575 of Canino cat. of 1829; then intact, but broken before it reached the Compiègne museum; an alien outer part was added, see Beazley, JHS 45 (1925) 286; médaillon and foot are preserved. (2)CV wrongly says that Beazley in VA 6 put the vase close to Psiax. (3)(.) = pointed gamma + iota, close together. (4)for bibliography on these readings see CV, France 16. (5)The first letter is no doubt a smeared kappa; the fifth = heta with a curved horizontal, but read by Beazley as an upside down mu (the lambda he says should also be upside down, since the vase is too early for Ionic lambda [but see above.]). (6)according to Beazley, either retr., with lambda and sigma upside down, or more probably written in three spells: $\kappa\alpha$, retr. + $\lambda\epsilon\mu$ + $\omicron\pi\omicron\varsigma$, retr.

- C] A: the first pair from the left: $\Gamma\upsilon\rho\iota\tau\epsilon\varsigma\ \eta\acute{\alpha}\lambda\iota\omicron\pi\epsilon\epsilon$.
- D] Kuiper lists as: Copenhagen, Chr. VIII 323. Kossatz-Deissmann points out that Fränkel wrongly lists the two names as those of a satyr and a maenad, but they are a human erotic couple. Gyrites and Halioppe only here; see LGPN ii, s.vv. Helioppe is also listed in Pape as an allegorical figure in Empedocles [B 122,1]. The names give the impression of being non-Attic, but the alphabet is alright for Attic. The lines of the inscriptions are curved. Open heta. V-shaped upsilon. - $\Gamma\upsilon\rho\iota\tau\epsilon\varsigma$: from $\gamma\tilde{\upsilon}\rho\omicron\varsigma$, sc. $\pi\acute{\alpha}\lambda\eta$, a wrestling term, because the man bends his body, cf. Philostratos, De gymnastica (Jüthner, 1909) [so R. apud K.; LSJ, s.v., cites Philostr. Gymn. 11.] R. does not explain Halioppe. Both names are cited, from this vase only, in LGPN ii.

(1)the scene is very similar to A. (2)epsilon looks like a c, but may be an irregular epsilon with the upper part lost (Riis). (3)Millingen and CV read Αριστος, retr., but after cleaning only two dots remain. (4)the phi with horizontal hasta; Beazley gives Καλ·λ·ιφορα, but it should be a masculine, cf. Berlin 1720, CAVI 2216. (5)Beazley says this must refer to the charioteer's wife, not the horse, and must be miswritten for Καλ·λ·ι[ι]άα. (6)so Beazley on the basis of Riis' reading: .δρ...ος. CV (and Millingen?) read: Αμ(φ)ιραρος, retr., with phi = omicron, and that was no doubt the restored reading.

- A] RF column krater. From Orvieto. Myson. First quarter fifth. *F. Lissarrague in O. Murray, ed., Sympotica (1990) 202, pl. 21a-b (B, A). CV, Denmark .., pl. 126,2. ARV(2) 241/48, Add.(2) 201. *Bérard, ed., La Cité des Images (1983), figs. 168-69 (A, B).

- D] The inscription is very faint; I may have misread it. Lissarrague gives the number as Copenhagen MN 3836.

(1)this looks like $\kappa\alpha\lambda\omicron\varsigma$ miswritten rather than real nonsense. The last letter is a 'quotation mark'.

- A] RF cup. From Vulci. Oltos. Last quarter sixth. *CV, Denmark 3, pls. 137,2 and 138. *ARV(2) 63/87, Para. 327.
- B] Int.: woman with a laver, about to wash. A: Heracles and Kyknos; on each side, horseman with a void horse. B: Theseus pursuing the Minotaur to right; horsemen as on A.
- C] Int.: around the scene, in an almost complete circle, starting at 5 o'clock and facing out: Μεμ{μ}νὸν καλός. A: to right of Kyknos' (missing) head, to left of the right horses' heads: Χιὸν. ἡερακλες, retr. Left horseman: καλο(ς), retr. Behind the right horseman: καλός. B: name of the left horseman: Διχίς, retr.(1) Name of the right horseman: Γλενος.(2) - Under each handle, starting near B: kalos retr. and incompletely preserved; καλός.(2)
- D] Chion is applied to Heracles' opponent in CV, but Beazley suggests taking it as a kalos-name, with the kalos to right of it: Χιὸν καλός. Chion is the name of a komast on a fr. of a BF stamnos from Locri in Reggio (ARV(2) 1573, CAVI 6885), and according to Beazley also on Amsterdam 2229, by Oltos (ARV(2) 64/100, CAVI 140).

- B] Int.: a bearded symposiast on a couch, about to vomit into a krater, a nude youth assisting him. Ext.: komos: A: column; two youths and two men (one playing the lyre, the other singing). B: two men; flautist; lyre player singing; man.
- C] Nonsense: Int.: above the figures, curving: γοιτ. On the krater, in BG: σνυ(π).(2) A: above scene: ιοσν.(2) B: above scene: three letters.(3)
- D] The pi perhaps lacking the third stroke, which is a Brygan characteristic.

(1)attributed in ARV(2), p. 373, to the Brygos Painter, with the remark that it might be by the Dokimasia Painter; in Para. 366 and 372 definitely given to the Dokimasia Painter. (2)not mentioned in CV. (3)these inscriptions, mentioned in text of CV, are not visible in the photos.

 D] This vase is stated to be Attic in CV.

(1)taken from the photo. in CV: the fourth letter perhaps an upsilon; the text in CV gives only $\eta\iota\omicron\sigma\tau\tau$. . (2)so the photo.; CV's text gives $\eta\iota\upsilon\sigma\sigma\omicron\nu$.

 B] Mistress and Maid: woman seated to right on a chair and holding a plemochoe; above her, at the top, a sash and oinochoe hung up; woman frontal, head to left, with offering tray with fillets.
 C] Between the women, below the top margin, horizontal stoich. two-liner, centered: $\eta\upsilon\gamma\iota\alpha\iota\nu\delta\omicron\nu\mid\kappa\alpha\lambda\omicron\varsigma$.

 D] Stoich. tabella with second word centered. Mixed alphabet. (Ionic with omicron for omega).

 B] A, B, each: owl between olive branches.
 C] A: Gr. in large letters: Κλεισιροδο . B: similar: $-\pi\alpha\rho\iota\omicron$.(1)
 D] Curious writing, with 'calligraphic' curved strokes, high small omicrons, etc. - Is the second inscription the father's name? The inscription is Rhodian.

(1)so the facs. in CV, the first letter being the tip of a lambda or alpha; surely not complete fore.

- A] BF oinochoe. From Italy. Unattributed. Class of London B 524. Second half sixth. *CV, Denmark 3, pl. 123,1. Para. 179/12.
 B] Love-making: youth lifting a woman; at left, youth looking on.
 C] Above the heads in the center: six illegible letters.(1) Nonsense?

(1)tentative reading: $(\lambda)\iota\gamma\lambda\omicron\alpha$; the first letter an 'Argive' lambda?

- B] A: symposium (parts of three reclining banqueters and of a flute girl are preserved). B: komos: Anacreon and companions (parts of four komasts).
- C] A: coming from the (lost) mouth of a singing banqueter: ---π|ενιες vacat, retr.(1) On the cup held out by a lost banqueter: Α|ρε[-].(2) To right of the kylix: ---]ΒΕΛΕ, retr., complete at end.(3) B: name of one reveler: ---]ς. On the arm of the lyre, in red: Ανακρε[ὸν]. From the mouth of a bearded reveler with parasol, the leader of the komos: ΙΟΟΟ, the first O squashed.(4)
- D] Ex L. Curtius collection. - Beazley says: the earliest phase of the Kleophrades Painter, before the end of the sixth century. The singing and dancing reveler: ΙΙΟΟ = ee-ee o-o or the like. The A[-] on the floating fr.: again Anacreon or not? - Beazley has a list of symposiasts and komasts in 'women's clothes,' Brandenburg (ref. in Add.(2)) has a longer one, Boardman (ibid.) in GVGettyMus 3 a still more complete one: these figures need not have any connection with Anacreon; the inscription on the lyre refers more to it than to the figure holding it [sic].

(1)cf. Theognis 1129ff.: 'Ἐμπόμαι πενίης θυμοφθόρου οὐ μελεδαίνων ... ἀλλ' ἤβην ἐρατὴν ὀλοφύρομαι... ; see AJA, p. 153. (2)Α|ρεισιος or Α|ρησιππος? <χ>α|ρε or <χ>α|ρετε, Buhl. - C] Int.: starting to left of Poseidon's face, along margin, counter-clockwise: Χαχρυ^λ[ι]^δὸν ^εποιε.(1)
- D] Oltos has εποιε only here, if Threutte is right (but he cites Beazley too), see GAI ii, 511; otherwise εποιει (ibid., 512).

(1)"There may or not have been an iota after the last epsilon," Beazley. The first iota does not show in the photo.;

it may be before or after the right foot. There may indeed be a trace of a final iota. The trident and some feet intervene.

- C] A: Αμφιλοχος (flautist). Φρυνιχος (chorodidaskalos). Πλειστιας. [...]πενικος.(1) Θεομηδης. Χρεμης.
- D] Matheson: B is connected with A: the subject is a dithyrambic victory at the City Dionysia. In the center (some think) a kind of maypole; but see also her n. 32 (Johansen originally thought of the Anthesteria).

(1)so Matheson; there is no such name ending listed in LGPN ii, reverse index; the reading from Johansen was [-]ενικος, which allows for a number of restorations. GAI i, 138 has [E]πενικος for Επενικος with epsilon for iota.- Where did Threatte get the restoration Επενικος? LGPN ii does not list the name before the fourth century BC.

The same occurs on Boston 01.8058, CAVI 2713, BF hydria related to the Lysippides Painter, ABV 263/6; also under foot and in the Attic alphabet, but not by the same hand. A third occurrence is under the foot of a BF neck amphora by the Antimenes Painter, ABV 269/36, (Ex) Baltimore, Robinson, CAVI 5104; see CV, USA 4, pl2. 28-29 and 30,3 and Johnston in TGV 59, Chapter 3 n. 1, who says the word is "a common way of denoting a plaster foot." - C] A, B, each: ἠοπαῖς καλός. The same, incomplete, on B.
- D] The identification of the man on A is controversial. Beazley says: 'man (Hermes")' and others also assume Hermes, because of the hat (petasos?) hung up by the figure. F.-H. thinks he is Dionysus because of the goats. - A few letters show in the catalogue photo. of A.

 B] Fr. of foot: BG above, reserved on the rim and beneath; on the underside, a BG line near the rim and three concentric lines further in.
 C] On the underside, Gr. in four lines, left-aligned, the first two letters stoich.:
 (θ)υέων vac.
 γάρ ὄζει· ἐπίδοτε
 γάρ vac.(2)
 D] The Gr., in Ionic letters, was written on the sherd, hence B. is probably right in considering it complete. He translates: "In fact it smells of sacrifices. Yes, add <to it>." He considers it a probably non-metrical dialogue and is reminded of Aristophanes. Note that the second phrase is addressed to a plurality. - While each letter can be paralleled in the use of the Ionic alphabet in Attica, the totality of letter forms makes the writing look non-Attic Ionian. I doubt therefore that the Gr. was written by an Athenian.

(1)definitely thought to be Attic. (2)lines 2 and 3 go to the break. (2)see also the analysis of letter forms by Boegehold, 410 n. 4.
